MRS. BOOTH-TUCKER TO TALK.

Big Rally of the Salvationists to be Addressed by the General's Daughter.

Tuesday evening, the Salvationists are to have a grand rally at their hall, 116 West Second street. The principal speaker will be Mrs. Emma Booth-Tucker, Gen. Booth's second daughter, a woman of marvelous ability and second to none as a platform speaker. She will be accompanied by Brigadier Alice Lewis, her private secretary, who has had a wide experience in India and various other parts of the world.

Colonel Higgins, America's new chief secretary, Brigadier R. Evans, of the central chief division, with his staff, several band boys, also officers and soldiers from Bound Brook and Elizabeth will be present. Seats will be free and every one should come early in order to get a seat, as the hall will undoubtedly be packed.

A Missionary Tea.

A missionary tea was given yesterday afternoon by the Women's Home Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian church. Mr. Leggett, of Elizabeth, a talented speaker was present and gave a thoroughly interesting talk to the society, telling something of her experiences. At the close of the meeting the members of the society were served with tea.

—At the meeting of the Woman's Relief Corps held last evening, one member was initiated and three propositions were received.

A DAILY PRESS MEET.

CHANCE FOR BICYCLE RIDERS TO BREAK SCHOLASTIC RECORDS.

The Meet to be Held at Crescent Oval Next Monday—Tandems to Act as Pacemakers—The List of the Officials.

The beginning of the summer vacation for the Plainfield school boys is near at hand, and some of those who have been doing some fast work on the bicycle track are anxious to ride once more in a scholastic race meet. There are several who think that they can lower the present scholastic records which have been made in competition.

For the benefit of these riders, an informal race meet has been arranged by The Daily Press, open to the bicycle riders of Prof. Leal's School and Plainfield High School, and tandem pacemakers will be used so as to give the riders a chance at the present records.

The race meet will be held Monday afternoon at the Crescent Oval, beginning at 3 o'clock. A sanction has been secured from the L. A. W. Racing Board and the meet will be held under L. A. W. rules. The events will all be scratch and will consist of one-half mile, one mile and a two mile race.

George B. Cobb, chairman of the Crescent Wheelmen's racing board and president of the Jersey Wheel Company, will act as referee. The other officials have been appointed as follows:

Judges, Charles C. Lister, captain of the Crcescent Wheelmen. George Proctor Smith, President of the New Jersey Interscholastic Athlectic Association.

Timers, W. H. Rogers, ex-president of the Crescent Wheelmen; J. Hervey Doane, of the Crescent Wheelmen; Gus T. Burglund, trainer of the Jersey Wheel Company's racing team; Richard Stevens, of the Crescent Wheelmen; Wilbur F. Cornwell, first vice-president of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association.

Clerk of the Course, Charles Burdette Morse.

Scorers, A Willis West, president of the Leal's School Athletic Association; Volney F. Green, president of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association; W. E. Probosco, treasurer of the New Jersey Interscholastic Athletic Association.

Umpires, Thomas U. Smith, E. I. Serrell, George B Schoonmaker, George A. Horne and Henry B. Drake.

Among the best known contestants will be William M. McCutchen, Lindley Hillman, Carroll Runyon, and probably Raymond A. McGee. Three tandem teams will do the pacing. They will probably consist of George B. Cobb, Jr., and J. Lake, Ernest T. Hand and Joe Donoghue, and Louis Darling and Bert Hindrichs. Ten cents admission will be charged to the grounds.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. George Demler Tendered a Surprise.

Mr. and Mrs. George Demler, Jr., of Washingtonville, were tendered a surprise party by their numerous friends at their home last evening, the occasion being the eighth anniversary of their marriage. Dancing was indulged in and the party broke up in the small hours of morning.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. George Ackens, Liberty Corner; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Blume, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Demler, Mr. and Mrs. Milligan, Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. S. Mantz, Misses Jennie Simpson, Jennie Gordon, Lizzie Milligan, Brooklyn; Mattie Humble, Sadie Cleaves, Rosie Bartels, Annie Spier, Bessie Bullman, Annie Bolier, Rahway; Carrie Spencer and Messrs. Bartels, Coddington, Smith, Robert and Edward Clark, Mobus, Titus, Luerssen, Spier and Walker.

Mrs. Charles Naylor, of Brooklyn, is visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. S. Sanders, of Orchard place.

A telegram last evening from Plattsburgh, N. Y., announced the serious illness of J. H. Myers, brother of J. K. and Wm. M. Myers, of this city, and today they went to his home.

If it required an annual outlay of $100.00 to insure a family against any serious consequences from an attack of bowel complaint during the year there are many who would feel it their duty to pay it; that they could not afford to risk their lives, and those of their family for such an amount. Any one can get this insurance for 25 cents that being the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. One or two doses of this remedy will cure any ordinary case. It never fails. Can you afford to take the risk for so small an amount? For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

A DAY OF INACTIVITY

Little Change in the Republican Camp at St. Louis.

NO BREAK IN THE WAR ON M'KINLEY

Ohio Man's Managers Now Shouting Finance—The Talk of a New York Bolt — Platt Issues an Appeal for Morton.

St. Louis, June 13.—Inertia has marked the past twenty-four hours in the republican camp. Even the arrival of Senator Quay to reinforce the presence of ex-Senator Platt failed to galvanize the anti-McKinley movement back to any semblance of vigorous life. The corridors around the room where the national committee is going through its monotonous routine of deciding preliminary contests is never uncomfortably thronged at any period. What the decisions of the committee would be appeared to be taken for granted in a majority of cases. Some eccentric departures in the Louisiana contested cases from the ordinary course of rulings scarcely served to give zest to otherwise tasteless proceeding. When the New York contests are reached today or Monday, interest may revive. Some of Mr. Platt's intimates continue to make veiled threats of bolting if the New York contests are decided on the same principles that are alleged to have controlled the committee in other cases, but Mr. Platt himself has carefully avoided committing himself to such a course.

Arrival of Senator Quay.

The arrival of Senator Quay of Pennsylvania last evening stirred into activity the somewhat languid political gossip. The senator was accompanied by his son, Richard Quay. A number of newspaper men called at his apartments at the Southern hotel. Beyond announcing that he was in the fight to stay and that his name would be presented by Gen. Hastings, Mr. Quay declined to be interviewed. He expressed entire ignorance as to what kind of a platform the convention was likely to adopt. He also declined to say whether it was his purpose as had been stated by some of the Pennsylvania delegation to transfer the vote of his state from himself to McKinley when Pennsylvania was called on the rolls. Generally he manifested to his newspaper callers a much greater desire to receive than to give news.

McKinleyites Now Shouting Finance.

Late last night some very decided indications were given as to the course which the McKinley men would probably take on the financial question. Hitherto the Platt men have been shouting "sound money" and the McKinley men have shouted "tariff," and neither side has manifested any disposition to adopt the war cry of the other. Now all this is changed, and the McKinley men are shouting finance. A suggested platform, drafted by Mr. Kohlsaat of Chicago, was submitted to Mr. Hanna and other close friends of Major McKinley, and was taken under consideration. This proposed plank, while following in the lines of the Indiana platform, goes one important step further, and specially declares for the "gold standard." At the same time, however, that this proposition was submitted the suggestion was made that if this platform was adopted by the committee on resolutions, it should be with the distinct understanding that when it was reported to the convention by the committee on resolutions, the chairman should entertain a motion to strike out the words "gold standard," the plank to be so framed that this could be done without interfering with the context or the sense. Such a motion being entertained, the proposition would be subject to debate and could be finally settled by the convention on a test vote. It is understood to be Mr. Hanna's judgment that the words "gold standard" ought not to appear in the platform.

Platt Appeals for Morton and Gold.

Ex-Senator Platt has issued over his signature the following statement: "Gov. Morton will be placed in nomination and cordially supported by his friends. Speaker Reed and Senator Allison will also receive the votes of their supporters, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding. I am hopeful that the convention will recognize the wisdom of making Gov. Morton the presidential candidate and declaring for a gold standard. He is essentially a gold standard bearer as his record demonstrates. From a cursory observation during my brief stay here, I am sanguine that a majority of the delegates favor the continuance of the existing financial system, as interpreted by republican administrations. The New York delegation will certainly do all in its power to put a gold plank in the platform, for New York is for gold." Senator Allison's friends, who have hitherto remained so silent that the impression gained ground that he had been withdrawn from the race, are now assuming an aggressive attitude and assert that he will be supported by vigorous oratory and many votes, when the convention proceeds to nominations.

SPEAKER REED SILENT.

Has Nothing Further To Say Regarding Manley's Celebrated Statement.

Washington, June 13.—Speaker Reed is to-day at the Shoreman in constant telegraphic communication with friends and managers at St. Louis. He had no further comments to make respecting Mr. Manley's celebrated statement of Wednesday evening. It was learned that Manley's statement of Thursday night was prepared in response to Mr. Reed's telegram of inquiry as to the meaning and cause of his original statement, which caused such a sensation. Friends of the speaker in St. Louis wired him that they believed Mr. Manley became panic stricken at the demonstration made by the partisans of McKinley at the first meeting of the national committee and Mr. Manley's regret over his action satisfied them that he "did not mean it." The assertion made by Messrs. Manley and Murray Crane, the latter of Massachusetts, at St. Louis, that the speaker would not under any condition accept the nomination for vice-president, was reiterated by his friends in Washington, so that there need be no misunderstanding on that point. The action of the national committee in throwing out Reed delegates, especially those from Louisiana, was commented on with much bitterness by his friends. Speaker Reed will not go home until after the convention adjourns, but he may go to New York on a business trip, which has been pressing for some days.

Maine Delegates Enroute.

Portland, Me., June 13.—The Maine delegates to St. Louis left on a special train yesterday afternoon via the White mountains. The cars were decorated with flags and banners. One thousand people who had gathered on the platform cheered as the train started and there were shouts of "Stick to your candidate." The enthusiasm manifested for Speaker Reed was great. There are sixty-eight in the party, including Gov. Cleaves, ex-Gov. Burleigh and Hon. Llewellyn Powers, candidate for governor.

Massachusetts Delegation.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., June 13.—The Massachusetts delegation to the St. Louis convention, which left Boston by special train last evening, will make a stop of five hours here to-day. The train is due to arrive in St. Louis tomorrow morning at 10:30. With the exception of W. Murray Crane of Dalton the entire delegation is traveling on this train. He has been in St. Louis for several days.

Gov. Hastings Off for St. Louis.

Philadelphia, June 13.—Gov. Hastings, who will nominate Senator Quay for president of the United States at the St. Louis convention, left Harrisburg yesterday with a party of friends for St. Louis. A special train left here at 10 o'clock last evening over the Pennsylvania railroad with the Pennsylvania delegates and alternates.

Free Silver Candidate Against Grosvenor

Columbus, O., June 13.—The free silver democrats captured the democratic congressional convention of the 11th district, held at Athens yesterday, and nominated a free silver man, William E. Finck of New Lexington, for congress against C. H. Grosvenor.

Hepburn Renominated.

Des Moines, Ia., June 13.—The eighth district republican convention at Leon yesterday renominated W. P. Hepburn for congress by acclamation.

THE CUBAN INSURRECTION.

Dr. Delgado's Case To Be Presented to the State Department.

Washington, June 13.—Dr. Delgado and his son have arrived in Washington and are arranging to pay a visit to Secretary Olney to lay before him in person their grievances against the Spanish authorities in Cuba. They were prevented from doing this yesterday because the cabinet meeting consumed much of the secretary's time. The elder Delgado is in precarious health as a result of the severe wounds inflicted upon him by the Spanish soldiery and so has been compelled to deny himself to all callers.

City Electric Light Plant Enjoined.

Bridgeport, Conn., June 13.—Counsel for the South Norwalk Electric Light company appeared before Judge Hall in the superior court yesterday and asked that an injunction be granted restraining the city of South Norwalk from operating an electric light plant there for public uses. Judge Hall granted the petition without leaving the bench.

Fly Fishing in Maine.

Rangely, Me., June 13.—There was a hearing yesterday before the state commissioners of inland fish and game on a petition closing the south stream of Rangely lake and the pool between Round and Dodge ponds to everything but fly fishing. No opposition was offered and the petition was granted.

Placed on Retired List.

Washington, June 13.—Capt. Allen V. Reed, U. S. N., whose examination for promotion to the rank of commodore resulted in a recommendation against his advancement, was placed on the retired list yesterday.

The Released Reformers.

Pretoria, June 13.—The reformers have paid their fines and have gone to the Rand. Col. Francis Rhodes declined to sign the conditions required and the sentence of banishment will be enforced against him.

DELAWARE CONTEST

Bitter and Exciting Fight Before the National Committee.

ADDICKS IS SCATHINGLY DENOUNCED

At One Time Personal Encounters Seemed To Be Unavoidable—Convention Must Decide the Dispute—Trouble Expected over New York.

Headquarters the United Press, Southern Hotel, St. Louis, June 13.—"I would not vote for J. Edward Addicks if his vote were needed to make the next president of the United States." This declaration, uttered by Senator Thurston of Nebraska, at 10:30 o'clock last night as he stood in the center of his fellow national committeemen, with uplifted arm and closed fist, was the climax of one of the most sensational scenes ever witnessed in a meeting of a similar body on the eve of a national convention. For two hours previous the committee had been listening to the presentation of the cases of the rival delegation from the state of Delaware. That headed by ex-Senator Higgins, claimed to be the regular delegation, and was instructed for McKinley, while the six entered upon Secretary Manley's records as contestants were headed by J. Edward Addicks, and Senator Quay was given by one of the number as their preference for the presidential nomination. Personalities were freely exchanged in the presentation of the respective cases between ex-Senator Higgins, state charman Caleb R. Layton and Mr. Addicks himself, but it was not until the parties in interest had retired that the storm broke forth. Then Senator Thurston, first gaining the floor, commenced an impassioned speech. He reviewed the evidence elicited in the Dupont controversy before the United States senate, and declared that it exposed a state of affairs unprecedented in the history of any state republican party in the country.

Denounced as a Traitor.

Addicks, he said, had been proven a traitor to the cause of republicanism When that party had forty-four senators in the capitol at Washington and but one more was needed to give it the majority of votes over the populist-democratic element, it was Addicks, who by the aid of a democratic governor, brought about a deadlock and prevented Delaware from receiving its proper representation in the senate of the United States. "Talk to me of honor and decency in politics," said the senator, "I tell you here and now that I would not vote for J. Edward Addicks if his vote were needed to make the next president of the United States, and if the necessity demands, I will repeat that statement on the floor of the national convention." The remarks caused both surprise and applause.

Addicks Replies.

The principal address of the other side was made by Caleb R. Taylor, chairman of the convention which nominated Addicks' delegation, who entered a protest against the washing of the dirty linen of the Delaware republicans before the committee. He also made a bitter attack upon the motives of ex-Senator Higgins, whose political fortune, he said, had been made by Addicks. Then Mr. Addicks made a brief address on his own behalf. He claimed that he had been endorsed by the people of Delaware and had destroyed the worst ring that the republican party had ever known. Mr. Higgins replied. He alluded to Addicks as "that creature," and said that his speech showed him to be the "moral idiot" that every one in Delaware knew he was. It was finally decided to refer the contest to the national convention for settlement.

Addicks Bitterly Arraigned.

When the rival delegations headed respectively by Higgins and Addicks were ushered into the committee room, the excitement was intense. Without preliminary, ex-Senator Higgins plunged into the case in behalf of himself and his associates. Mr. Addicks sat close beside him and at times it looked as though the two men might come into personal collision, especially as Mr. Higgins denounced Addicks as the principal of a conspiracy against law and honor, and as a man who regarded neither. Mr. Higgins was followed by Washington Hastings, who was equally emphatic. Turning to Addicks, who sat with a sarcastic smile on his face, he shook his finger under his nose and ejaculated: "This man is governed by a base and selfish ambition. I say it to his face as I have said it before. His name is Addicks. Little as he understands the language of gentlemen, he doubtless understands what I say." Addicks made no response.

Hood's

Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier and building up medicine leads everything ever produced. It is positively the best. Others may make the same claim. But there's this difference: We prove it. Not by antiquity, but by Merit. Not by what we say, but by what Sarsaparilla does. Hood's Sarsaparilla has a record of Cures unequalled in medical history. It positively, perfectly and permanently cures when all other medicines fail. That the keen discrimination of the people recognizes its merit and the cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla, is shown by the fact that they buy Hood's Sarsaparilla in preference and to the exclusion of all others. Hood's Sarsaparilla has a larger sale than all other blood purifiers. It wins confidence everywhere because the statements in its advertising and testimonials are verified by all who take it. No other medicine has ever received such praise, or so many voluntary testimonials of wonderful cures. No other medicine possesses

Delicate Dress Goods.

Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable, NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redyeing. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? OUR NEW WARSHIPS

Secretary Herbert Approves the Investigating Board's Report.

VARIOUS CHANGES RECOMMENDED

Believed That the Vessels Outlined by the Committee Will Be an Improvement Upon Any Yet Built in the United States.

Washington, June 13.—The report of the board on batteries of battleships, of which Admiral Walker is president, has been handed to the secretary of the navy. The report shows that the board considered with much care and in great detail the whole subject of battleships; that it visited Cramps' shipyard for the purpose of comparing the Massachusetts and the Iowa; that it made a careful inspection of the Indiana during her passage from Hampton roads to New York, conducting firing experiments enroute; that it also made several visits to Indian Head for the purpose of witnessing the firing, under different circumstances, against armor plates, including a model turret of the Massachusetts. As a result of its investigations the board recommends a slightly different ship, with a somewhat different arrangement of battery from any heretofore built.

Some of the Recommendations.

While speaking very favorably of the superimposed or double-decked turret, as designed for the Kearsarge and the Kentucky, the board does not recommend installing more turrets of this description until experiments with the two ships named have demonstrated their utility. The hull of the ship recommended is that of the Kearsarge and Kentucky, but so modified as to be similar in many respects to the Iowa. The main battery recommended is composed of four 13-inch and fourteen 6-inch guns, so arranged as to fire two 13-inch and four 6-inch guns directly ahead, two 13-inch and two 6-inch directly astern and four 13-inch and seven 6-inch in broadside. The board also recommends that the normal draft upon which the ship's speed is based should be the fighting draft or the draft of the ship with at least two-thirds of her moveable weights on board. It also recommends various minor changes in quarters and internal arrangements of the ship in the interest of the health and comfort of the enlisted men. It is believed by the department that the ship outlined by the committee as above will be an improvement upon any yet built in this country.

Approved by Secretary of the Navy.

The secretary of the navy, after consulting with the chiefs of the bureaus of ordnance, construction and repair, and steam engineering, has approved the general features of the report of the board and directed that the plans be taken up without delay. The contracts for all the vessels authorized in the new law, battleships and torpedo boats included, will be made within the time prescribed in that act. The secretary has already decided upon all the preliminary steps.

JERSEY FOREST FIRES.

People Around Toms River Again Fighting To Save Their Homes.

Toms River, N. J., June 13.—The inhabitants of Lanoka and Bayville, aided by a number of employes of the Central railroad, are still fighting for their homes against forest fires. The variable winds that prevailed yesterday drove the fire in all directions, turning back the fires, which were set to stop the progress of the flames into sources of danger. Many farm houses are threatened.

To Investigate Condition of Seals.

Washington, June 13.—The president, under the recent act of congress, which directs the "conduct of a scientific investigation of the present condition of fur seal herds on the Pribyloff islands," for which it appropriates $5,000, has appointed David S. Jordan, president of the Leland Stanford university, California, to do the work, and detailed Lieut.-Commander Jefferson F. Moser, Leonard Stejaneger, F. A. Lucas and Charles H. Townsend to assist him.

American Ministers at Plymouth.

Plymouth, June 13.—The American Congregational ministers, who arrived here Thursday from New York on the Hamburg-American line steamer Columbia, will to-day made further visits to places connected with the Pilgrim Fathers, including the place from which the Mayflower sailed. The visitors were received last evening by Archdeacon Wilkinson and the mayor of Plymouth.

Receiver's Accounting Accepted.

Bridgeport, Conn., June 13.—Attorney H. A. Purdy, receiver for the Jefferson Publishing company of Danbury, presented his final accounting to Judge Hall in the superior court here yesterday. It was accepted and an order granted dissolving the corporation and winding up its affairs. The corporation published the Danbury Dispatch.

To Sell a Silver Mine.

Hartford, June 13.—Judge Thayer, in the superior court, has authorized the receivers of the Charter Oak Life Insurance company to sell the Mono silver mine in Utah near Salt Lake City. This mine cost the company over $100,000, but it is believed will bring only a nominal sum.

Steere and Miner Recaptured.

Hartford, June 13.—Steere and Miner, the escaped convicts, were arrested in Essex late yesterday afternoon.

EX-JUDGE MAYNARD'S DEATH.

Passed Away While Sitting in His Room in His Albany Hotel.

Albany, June 13.—Ex-judge Isaac H. Maynard, senior member of the law firm of Maynard, Gilbert & Cone, and former judge of the court of appeals, died suddenly in his room at the Kenmore hotel in this city yesterday afternoon from heart trouble. He was alone in his room and was sitting in a chair at the time of his death. He had just finished his luncheon and was apparently in the best of health, except that he had been undergoing treatment lately for indigestion. Judge Maynard leaves a wife and daughter who have been living at the family home at Delhi. Judge Gilbert of Judge Maynard's firm arrived here last night and took charge of the remains, which will be taken to-day to Delhi. The funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon.

Judge Maynard was born April 9, 1838, at Bovina, N. Y. His earlier years were passed on a farm. He graduated with honor from Amherst in 1862. In September, 1862, he entered the law office of the late Hon. William Murray at Delhi, and was admitted to the bar at Binghamton in November, 1863. He practiced law at Delhi until June, 1865. He removed to Stamford and formed a law partnership with Hon. F. H. Gilbert, which continued until January, 1878. On June 28, 1871, he married Miss Margaret Maurine of Delhi, N. Y. In 1875 he was elected a member of assembly from Delaware county. He served until 1877, when he was elected county judge and surrogate of Delaware county, serving in that capacity until 1884. In 1883 he was a candidate on the democratic ticket for secretary of state, but was defeated. On Jan. 1, 1884, he was appointed first deputy attorney-general and held the office until June 1, when he resigned to accept the office of second comptroller of the United States. On April 1, 1887, he was appointed assistant secretary of the treasury. He resigned the position on the inauguration of President Harrison in 1889. Gov. Hill appointed Judge Maynard one of the commissioners to revise the general laws of the state on May 22, 1889. On Jan. 1, 1892, he was again appointed first deputy attorney-general, and on the 19th of the same month he was appointed by Gov. Flower an associate judge of the court of appeals. This was to fill out an unexpired term. He was nominated by the democratic convention in 1893 to succeed himself, but was defeated by the present Judge Bartlett. Since that election he has been practicing law in Albany.

Work on the Puritan Resumed.

Washington, June 13.—Secretary Herbert has directed that work on the monitor Puritan at the Brooklyn navy yard, which was suspended on account of a controversy between Commander Sperry, in charge of ordnance work, and Constructor Bowles, shall be resumed immediately. The findings of the court of inquiry, which sought to ascertain the facts in the controversy, have not been made public, but it is understood that the court recommends that no further proceedings be taken.

Declines To Serve as Delegate.

Baltimore, June 13.—C. C. Homer, who was elected one of the delegates-at-large to the democratic national convention at the democratic state convention Wednesday, has telegraphed to Senator Gorman declining the honor. Mr. Homer declined to give his reasons for his action, simply saying that they were good and sufficient.

BARATIERI IS FREE

Not Responsible for the Crushing Defeat in Abyssinia.

VERDICT OF ITALIAN COURT-MARTIAL

Prosecution Demanded That He Be Confined in a Fortress for Ten Years with the Attendant Penalties.

Massowah, June 13.—The advocate-general, in closing his address for the prosecution yesterday afternoon at the trial by court martial of Gen. Baratieri, the Italian commander who was defeated by the Abyssinians at Adowa on March 1, with the loss of about 12,500 men killed and wounded, demanded that the general be sentenced to ten years' confinement in a fortress, with the attendant penalties. The judges then retired and after only a short deliberation returned a verdict that the accused was not guilty of the charges preferred against him.

Gen. Baratieri was formerly governor of Erythrea and commander of the Italian forces employed in the campaign against the Abyssinians. He was in personal command of the army when in March last the Abyssinians inflicted a crushing defeat on the Italians. He was being tried by a court-martial for crimes coming under the provisions of articles 74 and 88 of the military penal code, of having on March 1 last attacked the Abyssinians from inexcusable motives under circumstances rendering defeat inevitable, and of having abandoned the chief command of the troops from half-past 12 on March 1 until 9 o'clock on March 3, thereby failing to give the orders required for lessening the consequences of the defeat.

NEW ENGLAND FRIENDS.

Statistical Reports Read at the Yearly Meeting of the Society.

Newport, R. I., June 13.—At the New England yearly meeting of the Society of Friends yesterday 104 representatives from the nine quarterly meetings answered to their names; 32 were absent. Certificates of visiting ministers were read, including, in addition to those previously presented, others from the New York and Ohio yearly meetings. A request from the Fairfield quarterly meeting, asking consideration of the subject of modifying the privileges of birthright members, was referred to the representatives. The statistical reports showed 124 ministers, 234 elders, 48 births, 69 deaths, and 237 admitted; 94 released. Total membership, 4,502, a gain of 115 from last year; 916 children, 517 attending school and 86 in schools taught or controlled by Friends.

TRIVIAL AND EVASIVE.

Postmaster-General So Characterizes Seaboard Air Line Statement.

Washington, June 13.—Postmaster-General Wilson when shown the answer of Captain McBee, general superintendent of the Seaboard Air line, to the charges against that road of padding the mails, gave out the following: "The so-called defense of the superintendent of the Seaboard Air line is trivial and evasive. He will have an opportunity to meet the real charges in criminal proceedings which the department has requested the department of justice to institute. It is not true that any other lines have been found out or suspected of attempting to pad the mails by the department. If he has any information to that effect the department would be glad to get it, so that all may be prosecuted."

Drank Wood Alcohol.

Providence, June 13.—Frank Maloy is at the Rhode Island hospital hopelessly blind in both eyes. Another man whose name is withheld is dead and still another is ill from the effects of drinking wood alcohol. The men were all employed at the American Electrical works at Philipsdale. At 2 o'Clock Leggett's Thermometer Registered 86 Degrees.

Gaius Hoffman, of Bound Brook, is said to be a candidate for the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction for Somerset county, to succeed John L. Anderson, whose term expires in a few months. Other candidates are John S. Haynes, Prof. Mets and John Reger, of Somerville; and J. Newton Voorhees, of Middlebush.

Since his retirement from the U. S. Senate the Hon. George F. Edmunds has resisted all the attempts which have been made by his friends to induce him to exercise from time to time his powerful political influence in Vermont. Mr. Edmunds enjoys excellent health, and expresses himself well satisfied that his political career has come to a close.

The people are beginning to waken to the realization that the City Commissioners on the Watchung avenue opening are not working fast enough. Charles H. Hand has taken hold of the matter, and is circulating a petition asking for more rapid progress in the matter. It is being signed by everybody who is solicited. Again The Press reiterates that the people want this improvement and want it right away.

For rates and other information apply to nearest B. & O. ticket agent. j15

Jolted to Death.

The kidneys are peculiarly sensative to jolting or jarring of any kind, and it is a well-known fact that car drivers and conductors; engineers, brakemen and conductors, are very liable to have kidney or bladder disease in some form. The strain comes on the kidneys, the kidneys cry out in pain (backache.) The victim that owns these sick kidneys often tries to quiet this cry for relief by smothering it under a plaster or deadening it with a liniment.

The disease is there just the same and if you want to cure it perfectly and permanently use Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills. They go to the very seat and root of the trouble, and they stop the pain by curing the disease.

FATE OF NOT BEING VOTERS.

Governor Griggs Scored For Not Signing the Anti-Cigarette Bill.

Mrs S. R. Krom, of this city, who is superintendent of the narcotic department of the State W. C. T. U., has issued the following letter:

Dear Co-workers:—Since writing last week I have received official information with regard to the reason why the Governor declined to sign the bill amending the cigarette and tobacco law. The reason given was that

He did not consider the bill of sufficient importance to be worthy of a place on the statute books ! ! !

Is it not surprising that anyone with intelligence enough to win so high a position as Governor should consider the welfare of the youth of his State of so little importance as not to be worthy of a law for its protection? I do not doubt that if our organization, which asked for the amendment, had been an organization of "voters" the fate of the bill would have been different.

Repeating my advice of last week to do the best we can with the present law and urging you to push on the work with renewed vigor, I remain, etc.

Good Health

and a good appetite go hand in hand. With the loss of appetite, the system cannot long sustain itself. Thus the fortifications of good health are broken down and the system is liable to attacks of disease. It is in such cases that the medicinal powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla are clearly shown. Thousands who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla testify to its great merits as a purifier of the blood, its powers to restore and sharpen the appetite and promote a healthy action of the digestive organs. Thus it is, not what we say but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does that tells the story and constitutes the strongest recommendation that can be urged for any medicine. Why not take Hood's Sarsaparilla now?

THE ST. LOUIS CONVENTION.

Republicans All Ready to Choose a Candidate.

PARTY LEADERS PARLEYING

The Issues of the Hour and the Potency of Each.

What the Great Political "Junta" Is Expected to Accomplish—How a Convention Does Its Work—The Functions of the National Committee—Chances of Contesting Delegations—Great Men of the Party Who Will Take Part—Recollections of Former Conventions.

The 16th of June, the day fixed for the Republican national convention at St. Louis, is now near at hand. The formation of this great deliberate body was completed in the election of delegates two weeks ago. Their assembling is awaited with anxiety, hope and fear by aspirants for political honors, according to their ratings of their chances of success, and with deep interest by the rank and file of the Republican party. The eyes of the people of all parties will be fixed on St. Louis the week of the 16th of June.

The selection of a candidate there is perhaps the selection of a president and the adoption of a national policy, and on that policy the prosperity of the country depends.

The present system of political conventions in America is the result of a century of evolution. State legislatures once named presidential candidates, and at one time they were named in congressional caucus. Conventions were for a long time irregular and informal, and the very effective methods of today are hardly more than half a century old.

"And what are these methods?" some modest citizen may ask. The question is natural enough, for, while political conventions are attended by many thousands, they are missed by as many millions. To appreciate the work of the convention let us first glance at the work that has preceded it.

No sooner has a candidate for the presidency been defeated at the polls than the grist for the next convention's grinding begins to accumulate. The political aspirations of thousands fell with that aspirant, but in the world of politics old hopes never die, and new ones are born every minute. Disappointment is the bitter tonic that increases the appetite for office and strengthens the determination to win.

Delegates and Their Pledges.

The national convention is the culmination of four years of political labor. This is not to say that every delegate is a politician, for perhaps not one-third of the party's representatives can be so classed, but each is in some way connected with the political interests of the locality which he represents. Each is pledged to a policy and possibly to a candidate. If every delegate could be trusted to redeem the pledges made to his people or even to the candidates, forecasting convention work would not be so difficult a matter. But delegates are uncertain quantities, and, though there have been cut and dried conventions in the history of American politics, they have not been many. In almost every instance the convention hall has been a battleground, and the conflict has brought at times some startling and unexpected results. Sometimes in the national situation a crisis arises, one that must be met boldly and without too much deliberation. The very life of a party may depend on the prompt enunciation of a principle of government or a firm protest against some proposed change in the system of national economics. At such a juncture local and personal considerations give way to the supreme question of expediency, and the man who is deemed the best representative of a radical party principle is chosen without debate.

This ability to merge all differences (great ones sometimes) into harmonious effort and to make personal sacrifices upon the altar of party loyalty is the best evidence of the excellence of our political system as well as of the devotion to principle which lurks somewhere even in the most mercenary breast.

Will the Republican convention of 1896 be a convention swayed by devotion to a great party principle or by popular prejudice for an individual? Or will the two influences be combined? Will it declare for the oracle of protection, or the standard bearer of "sound money," or the apostle of conservatism, or the personification of force and intellect, or for the "boss" of Pennsylvania?

THOMAS H. CARTER.
[Chairman of the Republican national committee.

Apparently the question of a candidate is less important in the eyes of the people just now than the question of his principles. That was not the case when Grant was the leader of his party. Hero worship dominated the conventions which named the great general for the presidency. Magnetism swayed the convention which named Mr. Blaine. Today the leading candidate of the Republican party is neither a hero nor a man of great personal magnetism. He is rather the representative of a principle—the principle of protection, which in so many minds is allied with prosperity. Object lessons are great campaign arguments.

The Temporary Roll.

The preliminary work of a national convention begins with the assembling of the national committee. The Republican committee will meet at St. Louis five days before the convention assembles. Its duty is to make up the temporary roll—a duty often delicate because it involves the recognition of contesting delegations, and on the preliminary decision of these contests sometimes depends the control of the convention. Only recently it was claimed that the managers of Mr. McKinley's campaign were relying on the friendliness of a majority of the members of the Republican national committee to give their candidate control of the St. Louis convention.

There are 67 contests for the committee to consider this year, involving the seats of 156 delegates. Alabama, California, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and Arizona have contesting delegations, and it will need a Solomon to determine in some of these cases which of the delegations is entitled to a place in the convention.

The decision of the committee is awaited almost breathlessly by contesting delegations—not that it determines contests finally. All of them must go before the committee on credentials when it is appointed. But possession of a delegate's seat is considered a great advantage.

With the Saturday preceding the convention the clans will begin to assemble. Sunday will find the hotels crowded, and by Monday breathing room will be at a premium. Tuesday morning 15,000 people—delegates and spectators—will move on the auditorium and take possession of it. Most of them will be in their seats at noon, when Chairman Carter of the national committee, stepping to the front of the platform, will pound on the table of the presiding officer to call the convention to order. Most of the 909 delegates will be in their seats, each in the section marked by the banner which bears the name of his state. All of them will face the chairman as he stands with gavel poised and cries aloud, "The convention will come to order." To right and left of the delegates will sit the alternates. On each side of the platform will stretch rows of desks, at which 400 of the working representatives of the great newspapers of the country will sit, pencils in hand, noting the smallest features of the great gathering. Behind the presiding officer will be many distinguished guests—conspicuous Republicans who are not delegates to the convention. Among these will be the members of the national committee. Above the heads of the guests will be the band gallery, and stretching around the four sides of the hall will be galleries, pitched at a sharp angle, from which thousands of men and women will look with intense interest on the gathering below.

Many faces made familiar by newspaper portraiture will be in evidence on the floor. There will be the grizzled countenance of the "easy boss" of New York, ex-Senator Platt. Near him will be the loose jointed Warner Miller of Herkimer, whom Ingalls of Kansas once pictured in the United States senate as an elephant walking a tight rope. Another of New York's "big four" is Chauncey Depew, the ever cheerful president of the New York Central. He will have in his pocket a speech placing in nomination Governor Morton of New York. Another speechmaker conspicuous on the floor will be ex-Governor Foraker of Ohio, known to the paragraphers as "Fire Alarm" Foraker. He will name McKinley if everything goes according to present plans. Ohio's governor, Mr. Bushnell, will be another figure not so familiar.

Missouri's high priest, Chauncey I. Filley, will look from the floor with some amusement at his enemy, Dick Kerens, seated with the national committee. Kerens beat Filley for membership in the committee four years ago, and Filley has retaliated by refusing to let Kerens come as a delegate to the convention.

Philetus Sawyer, who retired recently from the United States senate, will head Wisconsin's delegation, and with him will be his old colleague, John C. Spooner.

The silver haired, vitriol tongued Ingalls will be with the Kansas delegation. San Francisco's famous editor, De Young, so long a follower of Blaine, will be among the McKinley shouters. There will be many of the old Blaine crowd, but their interests will be divided. James S. Clarkson of Iowa, that industrious promoter of booms, will be for Allison. Joe Manley of Maine will be upholding Tom Reed's interests.

Some of Harrison's old friends and supporters will be scattered through the hall. John C. New of the Indianapolis Journal and his son Harry will be on hand, ready to take up Ben's cause at any minute if he will only say the word. Proctor of Vermont will be at the head of his delegation, but he is a convert to McKinleyism. Chandler of New Hampshire will be on hand, uncertain under his state's instructions whether he is for Reed or McKinley. Then there will be Aldrich of Rhode Island and Lodge of Massachusetts and Kellogg of Louisiana, that warhorse of reconstruction days, and Teller of Colorado, who won't play if silver is neglected, and a great many more whose names are linked with the recent history of the Republican party.

The preliminary organization of a convention is usually cut and dried. The national committee names temporary officers and reports them to the convention, which ratifies the selection. But there was a memorable exception to that rule 12 years ago. Then the anti-Blaine men determined to test their strength in the convention by moving to reject the committee's choice for temporary chairman, Powell Clayton, and to name John R. Lynch of Mississippi in his place. Lynch was elected, but the anti-Blaine crowd went to pieces after that, and Blaine was nominated.

When the temporary organization has been effected, the convention, after transacting unimportant business, usually adjourns until the following day, when the committee on organization, named by the state delegations, reports the names of the permanent officers of the convention.

Permanent Organization.

On the second day the temporary chairman resigns his office to the permanent chairman. It is to be hoped that the chairman of the St. Louis convention, unlike the one who presided at Minneapolis, will be able to make his voice heard beyond the first row of delegates.

The rules to govern the convention are adopted, and chief among them is the provision that resolutions must be referred unread to the committee on resolutions.

Then the committee on credentials reports on the contested cases, and the convention, as a rule, votes on them in lump, indorsing the action of the committee.

The committee on resolutions is the last to report. Occasions have arisen where it did not make its report until the candidate had been named. Usually, though, it reports before the nominations are made and its work is second in importance only to the nominating of the candidates. It should be more important even, for if the party is greater than its candidate the declaration of the party's principles should be more important than its nominee.

Curiously enough, there is more anxiety over the work of this committee on resolutions this year than there is over the choosing of the candidate. The business men of the country are standing on tiptoe waiting for the Republican convention to declare for "sound money" or to straddle the currency question. There is no doubt the convention will not declare for free coinage of silver, but just how great a sop it will throw out to the free silver delegates is something which interests the whole country, and the commercial and financial interests of the country especially.

Usually the report of the committee on resolutions is accepted without debate, but it has been amended in the convention within the memory of the present generation of politicians, and in the coming convention it is very likely at least to be debated.

When the platform has been adopted comes the time for choosing a candidate. Then will the eloquent Depew arise to put Governor L. P. Morton in nomination, and the fiery Foraker will perform a like service for McKinley, and Allison and Reed and Quay in their turn will likely be named, and as the name of each is presented the convention will be filled with uproar. Delegates will stand on their seats, shouting and throwing hats and handkerchiefs into the air, men and women will wave flags from the galleries and the band will add to the general din. Twenty minutes is not too long for the convention "rooter" to sustain his enthusiasm.

After the nominating speeches, the seconding speeches, and then when all have spoken fully the praises of their candidates the balloting will begin. The secretary will call the roll by states, and the chairman of each delegation will announce the delegation's vote. If there is any question of his accuracy, any delegate many challenge the vote of his state, and the secretary of the convention will call the roll of delegates from that state.

The first ballot is marked usually by complimentary votes cast for favorite sons. It is seldom decisive, though four years ago a second ballot was not needed. But if on the first or second ballot there seems a reasonable assurance that one of the candidates has enough votes to nominate him there is a rush to "get on the band wagon," which carries all before it.

When the candidate is named, his running mate must be selected. Very little then remains but to appoint a committee to notify the nominees and to pass resolutions of thanks to the officers and employees of the convention.

The coming convention will be interesting, but no more interesting probably than that of 1892. That assemblage was to be tame, according to political prophets. But it developed into one of the most exciting events in the history of the Republican party.

Reminiscences of the Last Convention.

The most remarkable scene of that remarkable convention at Minneapolis did not occur in the convention hall. It was the scene in the corridors of the hotels, in the headquarters of the candidates, on the public streets, when it was known that James G. Blaine had resigned his seat in the cabinet of President Harrison. The news came on the Saturday before the meeting of the convention. Blaine had been in a peculiar position. He did not admit that he was a candidate, and it was stated that the friends of President Harrison had made his life a burden urging him to say that he was not. His friends were making a campaign for his nomination, and they appeared in Minneapolis in force. They were all rather enemies of the administration than friends of Mr. Blaine. Their ambition seemed to be to beat Harrison, and they appeared to consider Mr. Blaine's name the one with which to conjure votes. So great was the magic of that name that even when the candidacy of Mr. Blaine was in doubt men from every section flocked to the headquarters of his managers proffering their support. But the doubt that existed in the minds of those who were not in Mr. Blaine's confidence left conventions all over the country in uncertainty, and so many delegates were instructed for Harrison who felt sure that had it been known Mr. Blaine was a candidate their instructions would have been rather for him. But the fact remained that they were instructed for his chief opponent, and when they arrived in Minneapolis—those who came there before Saturday afternoon—there was as much doubt about Mr. Blaine's candidacy as there had been before the local conventions were held.

Then came the announcement that Blaine had resigned from the cabinet in a curt note, and that this was taken to mean that he was a candidate for the nomination. No one could ever tell just how that news spread over Minneapolis. But once started no man got ahead of it. The first message came over the wires of one of the press associations which ran into a room in the West hotel. As the message came over the wire it was shouted at one of the correspondents of the press association—one of the reporters doing the convention work—and he sped down stairs faster than he had ever moved on a news errand before. The first people he met had not heard the news, but after that it seemed as though the message flashed ahead of him with the air for a conducting medium. All through the hotel lobby as he reached the stairway he could see heads bobbing excitedly, and it was plain the information was there before him. Yet there was no telegraph wire over which it could have reached the lobby sooner than he brought it from that special wire in the room up stairs. And the buzzing that went on in the lobby, and the buzzaing on the street, and the general uproar all over the city which followed the announcement—that was something worth remembering. It was the spirit of the campaign of 1884 revived, and the chant of "Blaine, Blaine, James G. Blaine" was heard echoing all through Minneapolis.

But this, as I have said, was before the convention. It was not a convention scene in the strictest sense, and yet it was a scene incident to the convention and one that might have had a very important bearing on its results if the campaigning of Mr. Harrison had not been done with such consummate skill.

But the scene that will live in history as memorable in the proceedings of the Republican national convention of 1892 was the one that accompanied the casting of the vote of the state of Ohio when the ballot was being taken. That scene had a different significance for different people. To some it was "the renunciation of the presidency" by that favorite son of Ohio, Major William McKinley, Jr. To others it was a betrayal by Major McKinley of the faith he had pledged not to be a candidate before the convention. There is exaggeration in both these views, for whatever Major McKinley had done there is not the least likelihood he could have had the nomination, and whether he did all that could be done to prevent the vote of Ohio being cast for him it is certain he did a great deal. But for the time there seemed to hinge on him the result of the ballot.

Major McKinley Took Part.

Major McKinley had come to Minneapolis an announced supporter of President Harrison. He arrived at night and remained in his private car till morning. Then he went to the hotel, where he established himself in his headquarters and gave emphatic denial to the reports that he was to be a candidate. Mr. Blaine's friends saw already the futility of pressing their candidate in the hope of beating Harrison, and they were looking around for some compromise man who would demand the Blaine strength and at the same time draw from Harrison some of the votes pledged to him. They had hit on Major McKinley as the most likely candidate. The Harrison men, who organized the convention, put Major McKinley in the chair of the permanent presiding officer probably with a view to clinching his allegiance.

On the 11th of June the ballot for the nomination for president was taken. A test vote had been taken on the admission of the delegates from Alabama, where there was a contest, and the Harrison men cast 461 votes against 423 cast by their opponents. But when the balloting began 7 votes were cast by Alabama, the first state on the roll, for William McKinley, Jr. Then followed Arkansas with 1 vote for McKinley, California with 1, Connecticut with 8, Iowa with 1, Kansas with 9, and so it went until New York was reached, and her delegation cast only 10 votes for McKinley. There was a sigh of relief from the Harrison men, but still the casting of Ohio's vote was awaited with intense interest. When the clerk called the state of Ohio, the convention sat silent in deep expectancy while William Hahn, the chairman of the delegation, took the floor. Mr. Hahn said hesitatingly, "In the clouded state of mind in which I am at present I can only state that Ohio gives 44 votes for William McKinley, Jr., and 2 for Harrison."

Then there was cheering all over the hall and through the galleries. Banners waved, and men sprang on their chairs and waved their hats above their heads. But the chairman stood there, his mouth tightly drawn, his white face a little chalkier than usual. "Gentlemen of the convention," he said, when the gavel had brought something like order out of the chaos of sound, "I challenge the correctness of that announcement."

In a moment Foraker of Ohio was on his feet. No friend of McKinley he, but an earnest foe of the administration. "I understood you had left the delegation for a higher place and had substituted an alternate," he cried.

"I am a member of the Ohio delegation," said Major McKinley firmly.

"You have retired from it, and your alternate has taken your place," Foraker persisted. "We do not know you in the delegation."

At this there were laughter and some cheering through the hall. But the gavel brought order again, and the chairman said, "The chair overrules the point of order and asks the secretary to call the roll."

And then, in the hushed silence of listening thousands, the names of the Ohio delegates were called. "McKinley" was the answer of each and every one of them, with the exception of Major McKinley himself and a man named Cooper. They answered "Harrison," and when McKinley's vote was cast the convention hall shook with the cheers of the Harrison men. "Two votes for Harrison and 44 for William McKinley, Jr.," was the announcement of the secretary. Then Cooper changed his vote for McKinley, making the number 45. And then the calling of the roll of states proceeded.

And after this very interesting bit of byplay the roll call showed 525 1-6 votes for Harrison, 182 5-6 for Blaine and 182 for McKinley.

McKinley was never in the race; that was plain. Harrison was nominated before the roll call began.

But it looked for a minute, when the vote of Ohio was announced, as though there might be a stampede to the Ohio candidate. Did McKinley's protest stop the stampede? It is not likely, but it is possible.

SILVER'S APOSTLE.

Life Story of Richard Parks Bland.

A FREE COINAGE CHAMPION.

Looming Up as a Presidential Possibility.

The Stanch Missourian's Long Fight For Free Coinage—Sketch of His Career—An Orphan at Thirteen—His Experiences In the Far West—How He Met His Wife. Pushed Into Politics—His Eleven Terms In Congress—Home Life on the Farm. Personal Characteristics.

"The time has come," the walrus said,
"To talk of many things."
—"Alice In Wonderland."

And now it is time to talk of Bland of Missouri—Dick Bland, as he is fondly termed by all those who live in and around the little town of Lebanon, which has been his home for the last 20 years—time to talk of him because public interest in him is just now at white heat. The silver question, his beloved hobby, to which he has devoted the best years of his life, has now so far developed that the tail has dropped off the interrogation point, and it is no longer a question, but a determined proposition—the gold men say a menace—and Mr. Bland may be called upon to take charge of the great, untutored force which his efforts have evoked.

In view of such a contingency, it is well to know something more about this man, something more than the bare fact that he is and has been for a score or more of years the acknowledged national champion of free silver.

Richard Parks Bland was born near Hartford, Ky., Aug. 19, 1835. His parents were poor. His father died when he was a mere baby, and his mother passed away when Richard was a boy of 12.

From that time the life of Dick Bland reads like most of the histories of America's great men. He first secured work as a hired farmhand at $7 a month. He used to rise before dawn, and after a breakfast of plain, coarse food wait for daybreak to begin his work, which lasted through the burning summer sun until after twilight.

The few hours he had were given to diligent study and were never idle recreation.

In the Wild West.

A few years later the orphan moved with a family of relatives to Virginia City, Nev., and it is of these years in the new, wild west that Mr. Bland tells many amusing and interesting stories. Here he rose to the dignity of schoolteacher, but instead of "branching out," as the young men of today, he saved as much as possible from his small salary for the education of a younger sister. These amounts were sent by travelers in stagecoaches to faraway Missouri. In every way he endured the hardships and sacrifices which make men great.

The youthful schoolmaster after a time became quite a Beau Brummel in the "smart set." He taught singing school and courted many of the fair maidens who learned from him the good old songs.

After a number of years Mr. Bland concluded to visit Missouri, the home of his childhood. Of course he was expected to make the round of the different schools and received a pressing invitation from one of the professors to attend the commencement at Bellevue, a young girls' seminary in Caledonia, Mo.

It was during the period when debates first became a fad, especially at young women's schools. The thrilling subject for that memorable day was, "Does Hope or Memory Exert Most Influence Upon the World?" Miss Virginia Mitchell, daughter of General E. Y. Mitchell and niece of Judge Thomas, now assistant attorney general, a lovely girl with brown curls, violet eyes and a Madonnalike face and gowned in simple white, contended that "hope" excited greater influence, and Mr. Bland thought so too. At least he was inspired with so much of it that he let some expression of it escape him in the course of a conversation with Miss Mitchell. The result was that he was soon recognized as the accepted suitor for her hand, and after a proper term of courtship the young pedagogue took her as his wife.

He "settled down," as the country phrase goes, at Rolla, Phelps county, Mo., in 1865, and began the practice of law. His studious energy and indefatigable will soon won him a place at the head of the local bar. He afterward moved to Lebanon, and it was not long until he was picked out as good congressional timber and sent to Washington to help make the laws of the land.

His untiring fight for free silver, which he continued through the successive sessions of congress held during his eleven terms of service as representative, is a matter of history with which all are acquainted.

His Home Life.

While it cannot be denied that, like an old warhorse, Mr. Bland has found real enjoyment in the endless battle he has waged, his home life in Missouri has been his greatest joy. He is a plain, unassuming man, even in the glare of public life, but at home he is unconventionality itself.

His two story red brick house stands one mile from Lebanon. When he goes into Lebanon twice a week for his mail, he rides an ancient black pony named Mollie, and his feet nearly touch the ground on either side. The people of Lebanon have laughed at Mollie for many a year, but Mr. Bland does not care for their laughing, because Mollie is a "rocking chair pacer" of wondrously easy gait, and Mr. Bland goes in for comfort, not show.

So semiweekly the great advocate of the rights of the white metal rides his venerable black pony into the town and halts at the same hitching post in front of the postoffice and ties her there, and the folks of Lebanon smile and pass the word to one another:

"There come Mollie and Mr. Bland!"

And then they crowd around the latter to shake hands with him and talk politics after the manner of all true Missourians.

There are occasions when Mr. Bland is accompanied into Lebanon by Mrs. Bland and two or three of the six Bland children, and when this is the case Mollie is left at liberty in the big blue grass pasture stretching south of the Bland homestead. The family rockaway is then brought into use, and between its well worn shafts may be seen Peter, the "carriage horse," dear as an heirloom to all the Blands, because Peter has been their carriage horse for 18 years and is just like one of the family. There is a tradition among the people of Lebanon to the effect that Peter has made this trip into town so often that he insists upon its consisting of just so many steps at such a gait, and that when he misses his calculation by half a dozen paces or so he goes back home and starts all over again. This, however, is given only as a tradition, not as a cold fact.

Drives a "One Hoss Shay."

What is true concerning Peter and his sacred claims on the family rockaway is that about three years ago Mr. Bland bought a span of carriage horses and retired Peter to the rustic but honorable plow. The new span of horses were a great improvement on Peter, so far as appearances went, but one day they got frightened at a passing Frisco train and tried to run away with a full cargo of Blands homeward bound, and from that moment Peter had a job for life between the rockaway shafts. The span of "nobby" bang tails were sold by Mr. Bland without a moment's hesitation, and the only good they have ever done the Bland family is to point the old fashioned moral for the benefit of the younger Blands that "handsome is as handsome does."

RICHARD PARKS BLAND.

Either Mollie or Peter, with Mr. Bland solus or accompanied by Mrs. Bland and the children, traverses a pleasant old country road, winding through soothingly rural scenes, when one or the other goes from home to Lebanon or from Lebanon home.

All along one side of the road there has been spread before the eye a succession of fields of wheat, and orchards dot the landscape here and there in a way that would fill the soul of a truant schoolboy with everlasting bliss. As you take the last turn in the road you see the Bland home, a plain two story red brick house, with a quaint wooden portico in front, and the lawn, where Mrs. Bland entertains her neighbors of summer evenings, has for shade several beautiful maple trees. The brown old Missouri road goes right on past the side of the Bland house without stopping, but there is a bowed old tree in the corner of a fence at that exact point, and it is at that tree you stop, and to it you tie your horse and enter Mr. Bland's grounds by a side gate, which opens on a path leading to the front door.

All around stretches the beautifully level landscape, dazzlingly clear in the rarefied atmosphere of the Ozark plateau, and of all that wide and pleasant country but a modest 160 acres under cultivation are Mr. Bland's and 240 acres of "wild land," still verdant with its virgin forest trees. A corner of the uncultivated land touches a corner of the cultivated, and it is the regret of Mr. Bland's life that the former, like the latter, isn't blooming with peach and apple and cherry trees, or green and gold with wheat, or velvety with grass. He says, with a sigh, that his 22 years in congress have prevented his keeping up this farm as it should have been kept up.

And then he looks out across his land with that farm love in his eyes that never dies out of the soul of a country bred boy.

When he is at home, Mr. Bland spends a great part of his time in his study, a tiny bit of a den to the west of the old fashioned hall, with a stove, three chairs and a roll top desk for furniture.

Here he receives callers and talks to them freely the while he chews great wads of tobacco and crosses and uncrosses his legs to suit his comfort. He seldom wears collar or cravat, but his gray beard flows down his broad breast, and somehow you find so much dignity and purpose in this earnest man, forgetful of personal appearances, that you forget them yourself.

Mr. Bland's family consists of his wife and six children. Ten children were born to them, but four of them died. The eldest is Miss Fannie Bland, a girl of 19, who is being educated in Washington. Theodore, a boy of 17, comes next, and he is at school at St. Louis. The home children are Hugh, aged 14; George Vest Bland, aged 12; John, aged 7, and the baby, Virginia Elizabeth, aged 3. The home children run about barefooted, are healthy and strong and would make the White House a scene of continual excitement if their father ever got there.

There is considerable disparity in the ages of Mr. and Mrs. Bland, but that has had no effect upon their happiness. Mr. Bland is 61 years old, Mrs. Bland 43, and yet they say they both feel young and recognize no difference of years.

Mrs. Bland has a placid, quiet face, with large blue eyes. Her hair is generally worn parted in the middle, and any painter would be glad to have her pose for him were he painting a picture of the Madonna. She is remarkable for a woman whose husband has presidential aspirations.

Her candid and frequently expressed opinion is that his chances of landing in the White House are mighty slim. She does not like politics or political life, and the possibility of her reigning in the White House does not dazzle her a bit. She would rather live on the farm near Lebanon. She is vastly more interested in the well being of the farm animals than in the condition of her husband's campaign, and the fact that old Mollie, the horse, was sick would appeal more strongly to her than the news of some backset to her husband's campaign.

Mrs. Bland does all the work of the household, no house servant being employed. One hired man looks out for the farm, and with true democracy he eats his meals with the family. Ordinarily the ex-congressman helps with the farm work, but just now he is devoting much of his time to political matters. Mrs. Bland can hitch up old Mollie or old Peter, and usually she drives to Lebanon once a day. She is a Catholic, and, although her husband was raised a Protestant, the A. P. A. people in his district are bitterly opposed to him and helped in his defeat in the last congressional election.

Liberal In His Religion.

Recently, when spoken to about the A. P. A. opposition because of the religious belief of his wife, Mr. Bland said: "I was born and raised a Protestant. I am one yet, and I am willing to die in the faith, yet I do not consider my chances of heaven any better than the chances of my good wife. If true Christian virtue, character and morality and a life devotedly true to the teachings and precepts of our Saviour are to be the measure of our future happiness, I cannot expect to reach that state of bliss she so richly deserves.

"Let the fact be used for all it is worth. If a man's religion destroys his influence, then it is hardly freedom of conscience.

"If all who profess Christianity would give all their precious time to the relief of the widow and orphan—would give their substance for the care of poor, starving humanity all around them—there would be no more pulling of Christian ears or stirring up of strife among those who profess to follow the 'meek and lowly Jesus.'"

The personal characteristics of the great free silver leader are odd and difficult of delineation. Honesty and fearlessness are prominent and easily discernible attributes, but his other qualities are complex. There is a singular quietness about the man that is misleading. Tenacity of the order which is patient and dogged rather than forcible seems to be his leading trait. With it are caution, great deliberateness and a total disinclination to impulsive spontaneity. Error there might be of prejudice or mistaken idea, but not of rashness. The general outline of the head is indicative of mental abilities which are inclined to be narrow in scope, but great in strength. An idea once conceived would easily blossom into a hobby, not so much because of willingness to weigh the for and against as because of absolute inability to appreciate at its proper value any other point than the one in view. That thought and concentration go but half way is indicated by a curious dissimilarity in size, shape and position of the eyes and eyebrows, a low hung eyebrow denoting concentrative thought; one higher set, lack of such power. The nose is expressive of plodding patience; the mouth and chin, of a dogged will. The gaze of the eyes is unsuggestive of enterprise or of animated ambition. It is veiled and calm, unbending, unvarying, but not lacking in vitality and force. In dress he is thoroughly careless. He wears knee high boots most of the time and a soft slouch hat. His pants are always two or three inches shorter than they should be, but Lebanon mud sticks like cement, and people who live in that district can be pardoned for wearing what are facetiously called "high waters." Mr. Bland chews a quarter of a pound of tobacco every day in the week.

Mr. Bland Is Not Rich.

He is a poor man, simply because a long career in the political whirlpool never blunted the edges of his honesty. He never accepted valuable presents or gifts of any kind. When he rides on a railroad, he pays his own way like any other humble citizen. When he can't pay, he stays at home. He could have all the free passes he wanted for the asking, but he won't ask.

Mr. Bland is above the medium height, compactly built, and when not absorbed by the exactions of his position as a party leader is very social. He is a hard worker and can always be depended on to fulfill his promises, whatever they may be. He is not a man to court attention, for he is naturally a silent man, with no eye for public effect, and, being profoundly engrossed in one great life work, he does not keep a supply of chatter on tap. The only way he can talk is to get stirred up, and he refuses to do the stirring himself, after the manner of some obliging gentlemen in public life.

Although Mr. Bland devotes most of his time and thought to the cause of free silver, it must not be supposed that he has not decided opinions on many other subjects. He is, in fact, a very public spirited man and takes a deep interest in all the live matters of the hour.

An instance may be cited here to show how alive he is to current topics and movements. He was asked recently what he thought of the new woman and woman suffrage.

"The old woman," said Mr. Bland, "is good enough for me. She keeps house; she raises children; she teaches them to be good; she furnishes, indeed, most of the good as opposed to the evil of life; she makes the home. The old woman looks to the man for protection. And so each has her own field, and it seems to me that nature intended it to be this way. No, I do not think much of the new woman as she is pictured and as she often pictures herself. We can get along without her, and we couldn't without the old woman.

"I think the Missouri laws as they are now are very good laws, giving women the right to vote on certain school questions, but I am not sure that the broader field of politics would be good for women to enter or that they could accomplish much good by entering it."

One of his most admirable sentiments is his love of home and his fondness for the simple joys of country life. Not long ago some one asked him what his choice of occupations would be if he had his life to live over again.

"My choice," came the reply promptly, and yet with a tinge of sadness in the words that could not be misinterpreted, "would make me just what I was when I was persuaded against my will to make my first race for congress—a country lawyer, living right here on a farm and contentedly practicing law in Lebanon. I was happier then than I have ever been since—and yet I consider that my political life has been a success so far—and I would have been happier and would be happier today if I had remained a lawyer right here in Lebanon. But I was brought out for the nomination before I knew it by old Judge Bradfield in a paper which he controlled here, and I have been in politics ever since. I have not been disappointed in my political ambitions, but your truly happy man is he who makes a home and stays there and leads a quiet, uneventful life and keeps out of the whirl and hurry. Gratified ambition is far from being true happiness."

"Do you mean—taking a hypothetical case—that in the case of a man, say, who had fought for one principle all through his political life, had lived to see that principle win with the people for the people's good, this man would have done better to have remained a country lawyer?"

"He would have been happier all his life," said Mr. Bland, with perfect sincerity. "He would never have had the glory or the gratified pride of ambition realized, but if he loved the country practice of law, as I did, and home life on a farm, the life which he was used to up to his nineteenth year, as I was, he would have been happier all his life for sticking to it and refusing to be led away by ambitious dreams. And that's what I should do, if I had my life to live over again."

Such is the man whom fate may favor after long years of dalliance, for, if the silver people do all the things they claim they will do at the Chicago convention, there is more than a possibility that Bland will be nominated for the presidency.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

PATHS.

The path that leads to a Loaf of Bread
Winds through the Swamps of Toil,
And the path that leads to a Suit of Clothes
Goes through the flowerless soil.
And the path that leads to a Loaf of Bread
And a Suit of Clothes is hard to tread.

And the path that leads to a House of Your Own
Climbs over the bowldered hills;
And the paths that leads to a Bank Account
Are swept by the blast that kills.
But the man who starts in the paths to-day
In the Lazy Hills may go astray.

In the Lazy Hills are trees to shade
By the dreamy Brooks of Sleep,
And the rollicking River of Pleasure laughs
And gambols down the steep.
But when the blasts of winter come
The brook and the river are frozen dumb.

Then woe to those in the Lazy Hills
When the blasts of winter moan
Who strayed from the path to a Bank Account
And the path to a House of Their Own.
These paths are hard in the summer heat
But in winter they lead to a snug retreat.

MRS. PRATT'S CURRANT JUMBLES.

By FLORENCE H. HUNT.

"NOW, Martha Ann, you be sure to behave the best you know how."

"Yes'm."

"And don't act like you hadn't had anything to eat for a week."

"No'm."

"And be sure to come home 'fore dark. Mis' Pratt will tell you what time it is if you can't get to see a clock."

"Yes'm."

Little Martha Ann walked slowly and primly down the wide, graveled walk leading to the front gate, followed by the watchful eyes of her grandmother.

"You throw yourself back more, Martha Ann. You'll be all round-shouldered if you stoop over like that."

Martha Ann heard the house door close, and she turned around and looked back. One of the front windows of the sitting-room was open, and a little girl of Martha Ann's own age was looking out. She was Esther Cray, Martha Ann's cousin, and she had been shut up in the house for two weeks with the measles. She was almost well now; but her grandmother didn't think it prudent to let her go out of doors, and so only Martha Ann had been allowed to accept Mrs. Pratt's invitation to tea. Mrs. Pratt was an old lady who lived at the other end of the village, and once a year she invited half-a-dozen little girls to tea, following a custom which her mother had begun many years before. Old Mrs. Hobbs was dead now, but her daughter remembered to do the things she had liked.

"I do wish you could go, Essie," said Martha Ann, wistfully.

"Yes, I wish so, too," replied Esther; "but you can tell me all about it. And if she has lemon jelly as she had last year you can put some in your pocket for me;" and Esther laughed.

Martha Ann laughed too, then turned around toward the gate again and went out into the wide, shady road. She walked along on the grass, so as not to get her shoes dusty, and she held up her pink gingham skirt with one hand. She was conscious that she looked well. She had on the white lawn apron which her grandmother had given her at Christmas. This was the first time she had worn it, and it was now June. It had been kept locked up in a cedar chest in the upper hall. Grandmother Cray had taken it out of the drawer in the old-fashioned bureau which was in the room occupied by the two little girls, and put it away. She thought Martha Ann looked at it too often, and that it might become soiled before a time came to wear it. It had been in the cedar chest four months, and Martha Ann was delighted to have it in her possession once more.

Mrs. Pratt's house stood back from the street, and the front yard was full of roses. Little Martha Ann stopped a moment to smell a pink one which bloomed on a big bush near the box-bordered walk.

"That's a beauty, isn't it?" said Mrs. Pratt, appearing on the front porch, a big white apron covering the entire front of her black dress. "Come in, Martha Ann; all the rest are here."

There were four little girls sitting on the long haircloth sofa in the hall. They all wore fresh gingham dresses and stiffly starched white aprons; but Martha Ann's apron was the only one which had embroidered straps over the shoulders. She noticed this at once.

"Why didn't Esther come?" asked Mrs. Pratt; and Martha Ann explained, adding that Esther had been "very sorry."

"Yes, I guess it was a disappointment," said Mrs. Pratt; "but things will happen that way sometimes. Now all you children talk to each other while I see if supper's ready."

The four little girls made room for Martha Ann on the sofa, and she sat down, taking care not to rumple her dress. They all knew each other very well; but they felt rather stiff and formal on this occasion, and they were all glad when Mrs. Pratt came back and called them into the dining room.

On the table was a large platter of cold chicken, flanked on one side by a plate of hot biscuit, and on the other by a dish of stewed potatoes. There were several kinds of preserves, custard pie, a glass dish of apple jelly, and a white china basket of currant jumbles. Mrs. Pratt prided herself on her currant jumbles. She always made them whenever she had company.

The basket stood on a corner of the table close to Martha Ann's right hand. It was full up to the handle.

"Now, children, eat all you want to," said Mrs. Pratt. "I do love to see you get enough."

Martha Ann liked the currant jumbles better than anything else on the table. She knew she never could make Esther understand how nice they tasted.

After supper the little girls went out in the front yard. All except Martha Ann played "Puss in the Corner" among the trees and rose bushes. Martha Ann sat in a low rocker on the front porch and looked on, but she didn't seem to be enjoying it. She sat very still and didn't smile once. She asked the time as soon as Mrs. Pratt came out on the porch after washing and putting away the tea dishes, and when she learned it was seven o'clock said she thought she had better go, as her grandmother had told her to come home early.

"Very well," said Mrs. Pratt; "and I will put some of those currant jumbles up for you to take to Esther. You tell her to think of me when she eats 'em, and next time I invite her to tea, she mustn't have the measles."

Martha Ann smiled faintly and said: "Thank you, ma'am," in a very low voice, and with her soft blue eyes cast down, when she took the paper bag containing the jumbles.

She walked to the gate without looking around at all. When her hand was on the latch she remembered that she hadn't told Mrs. Pratt that she had had a pleasant time. But she didn't go back. After hesitating a moment she unlatched the gate and went out into the road. She walked with her head bent, forgetting all about what her grandmother had said about throwing her shoulders back.

About a quarter of a mile down the road she came to a big stone which lay close to the fence. She sat down on it, the bag of jumbles in her lap. Her face was very sober, and after a few minutes she began to cry softly, wiping away her tears with the skirt of her apron.

Presently she put her hand in her pocket and drew out her handkerchief, folded neatly, just as she had taken it from her bureau drawer. Then slowly, one by one, she brought out four currant jumbles. She cried harder than ever as she looked at them.

While at the table she had slipped them into her pocket when she thought no one was looking, and they had lain a heavy burden on her tender little conscience ever since. She knew she ought to go back and tell Mrs. Pratt what she had done; but it seemed as if it would break her heart to do it.

"I can't—I can't," she sobbed, her little face all puckered up with weeping.

But she did.

Mrs. Pratt was rocking on the porch and knitting on a blue yarn stocking when little Martha Ann came humbly in at the gate again. All the little girls who had been playing "Puss in the Corner" had gone home.

"Well! what on earth brought you back, Martha Ann?" asked Mrs. Pratt. "Did you leave anything?"

Martha Ann burst out crying. She took the four currant jumbles from her pocket and held them out to Mrs. Pratt.

"I took 'em," she sobbed. "I took 'em when you wasn't lookin' at me. I was goin' to take 'em home to Essie."

Martha Ann's eyes were so full of tears that she couldn't see the expression of Mrs. Pratt's face; but she felt the currant jumbles taken from her hand.

"WELL, WHAT BROUGHT YOU BACK, MARTHA ANN?"

"Shall—shall I give—you—these—in the bag—too?" she sobbed.

"No, you keep 'em. Take 'em to Essie, like I told you. I ain't mad at you, Martha Ann. I felt pretty sure you'd come back. I was just sittin' out here to see. I saw you take those jumbles; but of course I couldn't say a word. An' I knew why you was sittin' out here so solemn after supper, and didn't want to play. But I guess you're all right now. You needn't cry any more. Come in and let me wash your face; it's all smouched up."

It was almost dark when Martha Ann reached home, and her grandmother scolded her. So she had to tell why she had stayed so late. She cried again when she saw how the story shocked her grandmother.

"It does beat all how children will act!" said the old lady. "I'm mortified 'most to death, Martha Ann. But you did right to go back and tell, though I don't guess Mrs. Pratt will ever ask you to her house again."

But she did. When Esther was able to go out another invitation came for both little girls. And this time when Martha Ann left Mrs. Pratt's house after tea there was nothing in her pocket except her handkerchief.—N. Y. Independent.

A Rush of Business.

"So you say Smith's new store on the avenue is closed."

"Yes. It is shut up."

"Why, I thought it was doing an immense business."

"That's just what busted it up. It was always so crowded that nobody could get into it."—Texas Siftings.

—It always grieves me to contemplate the initiation of children into the ways of life when they are scarcely more than infants. It checks their confidence and simplicity, two of the best qualities that Heaven gives them, and demands that they share our sorrows before they are capable of entering into our enjoyments.—Dickens.

BIG THINGS IN THE BUG LINE.

Venezuela is a little republic but she has one thing that is the biggest of its kind on earth. It is a bug—the largest insect in all the world. The creature is known as the "elephant beetle," and when full grown it weighs nearly half a pound.

In tropical America occur certain huge species of bugs that are closely related to the familiar electric-light bugs of this country. Like the latter, which has been popularly known only since the introduction of the electric light, they fly at night, living during the day at the bottom of ponds.

There is a butterfly of the Malay Peninsula and Malayan Archipelago which has a spread of ten inches. In India and tropical Africa are found giant forms of those remarkable insects known as "walking sticks." They look like twigs of trees. Some of them measure 18 inches in length. They are related to grasshoppers and katydids.

In Europe giant beetles have a considerable market value, commanding prices in proportion to their size. In London there are regular auctions of insects, and a single butterfly has been known to bring as much as $800. A specimen of the rare and very large Goliath beetle is worth $60. This is the largest beetle of the world, and it first became known through missionaries in the Congo basin.

THINGS STRANGE AND CURIOUS.

West Woolwich, Me., is perhaps unique in not having a dog within the village limits.

A woman in Norway, Mich., coughed so hard a few days ago that she broke one of her ribs.

A balloon sent up from Paris recently attained a height of 15,000 meters, or about 9½ miles, before it came down near Cambrai.

A citizen of Biddleford, Me., who failed to be elected mayor of the town at the recent election, has accepted the janitorship of the city building.

Copenhagen is to have a woman's theater, with women to manage it, women to act all the parts, and women to write the play. A beginning will be made with a play by Margaret Thorson.

Cougars are unusually and unpleasantly numerous in the neighborhood of Hope, Idaho. They are said to be rapidly thinning out the deer in that region and are causing much trouble to stockmen.

A team consisting of three horses and an ox is in regular service hauling lumber to the railroad stations in Aroostook county, Me. The ox is harnessed with bit and breeching, and works harmoniously and well beside one of the horses.

ORIGIN OF FAMILIAR SAYINGS.

"Going to pot" is a reminder of the days when boiling to death was a legal punishment of parricides.

"To be in a brown study" is a corruption of brow study, a study requiring much thought and contraction of the brows.

"Knocked into a cocked hat" is expressive of the ease with which this article, especially when old, assumed almost any shape.

"As dead as a herring" is an expression arising from the fact that herring die very quickly after being taken out of the water.

"Please the pigs" is a corruption of "please the pyx," a receptacle used by clergy of the Roman faith to contain the host or sacred wafers.

"To catch a weasel asleep" is indicative of the extreme vigilance of these animals, who are disturbed, and made wide awake by any sound, however slight.

"As jolly as a sand boy" represents the hopping to and fro of a marine insect seen everywhere along our coasts, whose leaps give the idea of mirth and jollity.

NOTES OF EUROPEAN ROYALTY.

The prince of Wales will have a sale at Sandringham on July 3 of short-horn cattle and Southdown sheep raised by him on his Wolferton farm.

Pierre Loti is said to spend more of his time before the camera than any man in Europe, except Kaiser Wilhelm and the prince of Wales. He has a mania for being photographed in fancy costumes.

Don Antonio Canovas del Castillo, the prime minister of Spain, is an aristocrat of aristocrats and ultra-conservative. "My policy," said he on one occasion, "is to continue the history of Spain, not to reverse it."

The queen regent of Spain has conferred a decoration upon the composer, Don Federico Chueca. Chueca is the composer of the famous march "Cadiz," now the most popular one among the Spanish soldiers. The influential Imparcial, of Madrid, suggests making it the national march, and offers a prize of 1,000 pesetas for a hymn to accompany it.

PICKINGS OF POPULAR SCIENCE.

The eye of the blind fish in the Mammoth cave is a true eye, having all the parts. It is, however, covered by a membrane, and it is probable that the fish receives no more than a mere impression of light.

The beaver has more skill than a government engineer. The dams constructed by beavers are never washed away, while every freshet witnesses the destruction of a portion at least of the government's works on the rivers.

The alligator never leaves fresh water, while the crocodile frequently travels long distances by sea. It has been seen 1,000 miles from land, and it is possible that these sea-going crocodiles have given rise to sea-serpent stories.

The planet Neptune, which had for countless ages revolved in the heavens unseen by anyone on earth, was discovered simultaneously and independently in 1846 by Prof. Adams and M. Leverrier, the two most brilliant astronomers of the day.

KATE'S AIR CASTLE.

"I DON'T believe in love in a cottage," said Kate Mayo, looking defiantly round. "I mean to marry rich."

"Oh, Kate!" cried Helen Dewey, reproachfully.

"Well," said Kate, "I mean it. Who wants to be a drudge, in an ill-fitting dress and last year's style bonnet, just because some idiotic young man asks you to be his wife? My taste is for lace and moire and bonnets that look as if they had floated across the sea on a Parisian zephyr! Moreover, I have a fancy for brown stone houses and coupes, and a box at the opera and a maid."

Kate Mayo spoke as if fate were at her own command, as if she were crowned queen of her destiny. And she was, in so far as wit and beauty may constitute the scepter of one's own existence. Tall and gracefully formed as a Greek statue, her loveliness took you as it were by storm. She was fair as the waxen leaf of a white rose, with pure, straight features, cheeks just tinted with the faint delicate pink that comes and goes like a fleeting shadow, and a little ripe mouth that made one think of the crimson sugar hearts that little children delight in. And Kate had been sent up from the old Mayo farm to see what a winter in New York would do for her, in the way of a life establishment; and Kate had some very decided ideas of her own upon the all-important subject.

"My dear," said Aunt Dewey, solemnly, "all this sounds very mercenary."

"I can't help it, aunt," was Kate's rejoinder. "I am mercenary."

"At your age, Kate?"

"What difference does it make?" said the beauty, with a peculiar shrug of her shoulders. "I'm going in for diamonds and a tour to Europe. Sentiment is very well in a novel, but in real life it doesn't work."

And Aunt Dewey's face of horror only made Kate laugh.

Miss Mayo was decidedly a "success" in metropolitan society that winter. It was not entirely her faultless beauty, nor her readiness of repartee, nor yet the bewitching confidence with which she seemed to take the world's favor for granted, but a mixture and mingling of all three—a something which could hardly be expressed, save by the word "fascination." But notwithstanding her triumphs, Kate Mayo had, as yet, made no election in life.

"My dear," said Aunt Dewey, solemnly, "what was the reason you refused Harry Pelham?"

"The reason? Why, he's a custom house clerk, as poor as can be."

"Mr. Ryerson, then?"

"I've no idea of coming to the poor house before my time!"

"Mr Ryerson is well off, I'm sure."

"The positive degree won't suit me, aunt; I must have the superlative."

"You will die an old maid, Kate."

"Better an old maid than a care-worn old wife."

"Kate! Kate! there is such a thing as going through the woods and picking up a crooked stick. What do you value yourself at, pray?"

"A hundred thousand dollars, at least, and from that up to half a million!" laughed Kate, as she put the last rose into the vase of flowers she was arranging.

"Where will you get such a price as that?"

"Not here just now, to be sure, aunt, but its representative will be here yet."

"Whom do you mean?"

"I mean Mr. Emmett."

Aunt Dewey sat down with uplifted hands and eyes.

"What! the millionaire?"

"Yes, aunt."

"But he is in Europe."

"N'importe—he is coming home soon."

"You have never seen him!"

"I dare say I never shall see him."

"Kate, you are crazy!"

"No, I'm not, aunt; you yourself will own it when you see Mrs. Emmett!"

The audacity of the girl fairly bewildered her sage relative; it was as if a little French grisette had aspired to share the august throne of the Napoleons!

"Well, I never!" gasped Mrs. Dewey.

"But that's no sign you never will, aunt," said Kate.

"But, Kate," suggested little Helen, who had sat by demurely listening, "suppose you fall in love with somebody else?"

"Me fall in love?" said Kate, with a mocking laugh. "Rest assured, Helen, I shall never commit any such absurd piece of folly as that. Haven't I told you that I intend only to marry for money? It may sound a little conceited, but I want a choice setting. Helen, you shall be my bridesmaid when I marry Lawrence Emmett."

Things were at this interesting juncture when one moonlight evening Miss Mayo went up to the park to skate, and came back under the convoy of a tall, handsome young man who had been introduced to her there.

"Did you say his name was St. John?" asked curious Helen, when the cavalier servente had gone. "Oh, Kate, how handsome he is!"

"Nothing of the kind," said Kate, tartly, "only rather pleasant looking."

"But who is he, Kate?"

"Oh, I don't know: a clerk in some bank, I believe."

"Poor fellow!" said Helen, reflectively.

"What do you say that for?" asked Kate, suddenly turning round upon her cousin.

"Because, Kate, if he is poor and obscure, and has come within the magic circle of your fascinations—"

"Nonsense!" said Kate, almost angrily. "Do you suppose every man I look at must of necessity fall in love with me?"

Little Helen looked amazed. This was rather an unexpected mood on Kate's part.

As the winter days went by Kate changed more and more. Sometimes she was strangely soft and lovable; sometimes capricious and given to sudden gusts of tears, like April showers, succeeded by brief sunshine.

"Kate," said Mrs. Dewey, coming one evening into the room where Kate sat, gazing out into the twilight, "have you thought about your dress to-morrow evening?"

"To-morrow evening?"

"Yes; at Mrs. Allaire's. Don't you remember? Mr. Emmett is to be there—your rich husband."

Aunt Dewey spoke almost jocosely. She had come to look upon Kate's castle en Espagne as an actual reality.

"Yes," said Kate, absently, "I remember."

"He saw you at the opera last night and asked who you were."

"Who did?"

"Mr. Emmett."

Kate looked up with a momentary interest.

"Did he? Then perhaps I will wear the blue."

Kate looked lovely as Venus of old in that same blue dress with pearls, and Mr. Emmett, a short, stout man, with a very ruddy face and glassy blue eyes, evidently appreciated it all.

"Oh, Kate!" cried Helen, gleefully, as they were rolling homeward in the carriage; "all the girls are envying you. Mr. Emmett is certainly in love with you."

"He is a clumsy old clown," said the ungrateful Kate.

"But he's so rich."

"Yes," said Kate, "he is rich."

And that was all that was said.

"Kate," said Mrs. Dewey one morning, coming in with a sort of trumphal air, "I've got a grand piece of news for you!"

"And I've got one for you, aunty," said Kate, looking up with eyes that were unwontedly tear-wet.

"Mr. Emmett has called to see me. He requests the privilege of paying his addresses formally to you."

"Tell him he can't have any such privilege."

"Kate!"

"I'm in earnest. Mr. St. John has asked me to be his wife, and I have said—yes!"

"Lawrence St. John—a clerk in a bank, at a salary of $1,500 a year."

"We can live on fifteen hundred dollars a year, aunt, and he is the dearest fellow that ever breathed. As for being a clerk in the bank, I don't care if he was a street sweeper!"

"But, Kate, I thought you were so bent on marrying rich."

"Oh, don't remind me of that! I have been a silly goose, but I have learned my own folly."

"I THOUGHT YOU WANTED TO MARRY RICH?"

"And do you mean to say you will reject Mr. Emmett, a man worth a million of dollars at the very least, in favor of this young St. John?"

"Yes, aunt, I love Mr. St. John."

And in the last words, spoken very quietly, Aunt Dewey learned the folly of further remonstrance. Miss Mayo, with an inconsistency which is not unusual in girls of eighteen, had decided to set all her previous declarations totally at defiance. She had laughed at love all her days. Love was having his revenge at last.

But Mr. Emmett was not to be put off thus. He insisted on a personal interview, not satisfied unless he learned his fate from Miss Mayo's own rosebud lips.

"So you won't have me?" he said, brusquely.

"I'm very much obliged to you, sir," said Kate, falteringly, "but—I—would rather not."

"Like another fellow better, eh?"

"Yes, sir."

"St. John, eh? Penniless chap, with nothing on earth but a handsome face!"

"You are wrong, sir," said Kate, firing up. "He has a noble nature and a loyal soul."

"All humbug!" commented Mr Emmett. "However, do as you like. I've nothing to say. Only I thought you wanted to marry rich."

Kate colored scarlet—the old folly coming back to taunt her.

"We shall be rich, sir," she said, softly—"rich in love and mutual confidence."

"I suppose, now," said the ruddy-faced old gentleman, "you would not believe me if I told you you were going to be Mrs. Lawrence Emmett after all?"

"No, sir; I should not, most certainly."

"It's the solemn truth, notwithstanding. Lawrence Emmett will be your husband!"

Kate looked at him—was he going crazy?

"He is telling you the truth, Kate," said a gentle voice behind her, and she turned to feel her hand in the clasp of Mr. St. John. "When you are my wife you will be the wife of Lawrence St. John Emmett."

"And my daughter-in-law," chuckled the old gentleman, gleefully. "You little fortune-hunter, you've promised to marry a bank clerk, just because you fell in love with him, and you'll marry the millionaire, after all!"

Kate kept her word, and Helen Dewey was bridesmaid to Mrs. Lawrence Emmett after all.—N. Y. News.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The 4 o'clock W. C. T. U. meetings are not closed on Sundays. All are welcome.

—Wall paper, paints, oils, shades and glass, all of the highest grade, at Love's, North avenue.

—An outdoor sociable was held at the Warrenville schoolhouse last evening. It was well attended.

—The case of James McCann, who attempted to shoot his brother, comes up on Monday at the city court.

—Edward Campbell is building his new house on Park avenue. Pearson & Gale have the carpenter contract.

—An Italian marble headstone has been placed on the grave of Charles Boice, at Evergreen Cemetery, by Townsend.

—The first peaches of the season, in Plainfield, were displayed at Neuman Bros. this morning, and they found ready buyers.

—A meeting of the directors of the Plainfield Co-operative Association will be held at 122 Liberty street, Friday night, June 19th.

—Three new members were admitted to the order of the A. O. H. on Thursday evening. They are Martin Kane, Walter Barry and Patrick Revelle.

—James Day's house, 315 Liberty street, is being painted and a new fence put around it. John Smith and Dennis Murray are doing the work.

—Marsh, Ayers & Co. have been awarded the contract for painting and decorating F. C. Lounsbury's new paper box factory on West Second street.

—One of those employed about the Mountain Park Inn says the air is so pure and healthy there that there will be no need for doctors or undertakers this season.

—W. C. Williams, of East Front street, has the contract for clearing off a large tract of building land at Cranford. He is removing the stumps with dynamite.

—Dr. Henry Hunter will speak of his experience in the McAll work in France, at a special service in the Crescent Avenue church at 4 p. m. tomorrow; also at the children's service at 2:30.

—All those who accompany Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., to Asbury Park, June 18th, will have the opportunity of seeing, probably for the first time, the North Atlantic Squadron.

—Some person attempted to enter the home of Abner Bartlett, on Westervelt avenue, Thursday night, but was frightened away. It would not have been well had Mr. Bartlett caught the person.

—"I have been using Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills for the last three or four years, and they have saved us many doctor bills. We always keep them in the house." Mrs. John F. Hall, Neshanic, N. J. Hood's Pills cure sick headache, indigestion.

—A strange, though accurate phenomena, is the fact that Charles Keller, of North Plainfield, had a brood of choice game chickens hatched out on Tuesday, and during the thunder shower on that afternoon every one was hastened to death by a bolt of lightning.

—Two West End residents were patrolling Plainfield avenue, south of Stelle's grove, a night or two ago, when they became suddenly frightened by what appeared to them to be a pair of grown-up pigs. They have come to the conclusion since, however, that the animals were a pair of badgers recently escaped from a menagerie on exhibition at Lambertville. The animals were first seen near the Barnaby mansion and they were traveling close together. One of the young men climbed a tree and the other ran home, while the two beasts went on their way rejoicing. Five boys, who were roaming about Stelle's woods late yesterday afternoon, report having seen the two animals, but they were frightened and ran away. They describe them as resembling a pig, with sharp nose, big ears, short legs and long, flowing, brown hair.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by continually failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists, 75c.

Young mothers dread the Summer months on account of the great mortality among children caused by bowel troubles. Perfect safety may be assured those who keep on hand DeWitt's Colic and Cholera cure, and administer it promptly. For cramps, bilious colic, dysentery and diarrhoea. It affords instant relief. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front Street.

Continuous and increased use attest the great merit of the Royal Baking Powder.

Royal has a larger sale than all other cream of tartar baking powders combined.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE

—It is hard to tell whose political boom is boomingest, but Peck's summer trade is all right.

—The stalls at Alert's hose house have been galvanized by Driver Harry Bush, of the department.

—Rev. R. E. Livermore will lead the meetings at the East Third Street Mission at 7 and 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

—Special reduction in prices of neglige shirts at Crane & Clark's hat and furnishing store, 120 West Front street.

—Quite a little excitement was caused at Hedden's livery stable last Thursday evening by the escape of a live woodchuck that had been brought as a curiosity.

—All the teachers and scholars of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday-school are urged to be present tomorrow morning to receive final instructions for the evening service.

—H. C. McVoy, H. S. Thatcher, J. J. Stryker, Louis Eaton and Charles Stephens, of John Hand Camp, No. 28, S. of V., are arranging a camping trip to the country to take place at an early date.

—Mrs Edward Winter has been selected by the relatives of the late Dr. R. Page to settle up her affairs and to collect moneys due her, and she will thankfully receive the amounts and receipt for them at her home, 215 East Fifth street, or will call at the homes of those who prefer her so to do.

—One of George Voehl's horses attached to a baker's wagon attempted to run away on East Second street this noon. The animal ran quite a distance and almost got away, but was finally caught by the plucky driver, who caught the reins with his left hand, his right being engaged in holding a basket of rolls.

—Howard Bennett, of East Fourth street, while leaving the anniversary exercises of Somerset Council, No. 104, last evening in the Babcock building, came very near receiving serious injuries by the elevator in attempting to board it while in motion. The top of the elevator struck him on the shoulder which nearly threw him under it.

SCHOOL DAYS NEAR AN END.

Names of Graduates of the North Plainfield Public School.

Following are the names of those who will be graduated from the North Plainfield School Thursday evening, June 25th: Misses Sadie Holmes, Adelle Kirby, Emma Stevens, Bertha Stevens, Lydia Loizeaux, Libby Joseph, Mabel Conover, Edith Cooley, Nellie Martin, and Messrs. J. H. VanWinkle, Jr., James K. Arnold, Jr., Rowland Western, Charles Barlow, Wm. Loizeaux, Wm. Pierson. The class motto is "Soar Not so High as to Fall, but Stoop to rise Again."

Wm. E. MacClymont is now teaching the scholars several selections to be rendered at the commencement exercises. Only two members of the graduating class take part in the exercises, and they are Miss Adelle Kirby and Miss Emma Stevens. One will give a recitation and the other an essay.

Inventive People.

F. W. Hammond, of the borough, has been granted a patent on a cover for culinary dishes. S. B. Field has been granted a patent on a toy.

A. L. Wooster, a prominent citizen of Osseo, Mich., after suffering excruciatingly from piles for twenty years, was cured in a short time by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, an absolute cure for all skin diseases. More of this preparation is used than all others combined. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front Street.

KID GLOVES—Over 800 pairs of importer's sample gloves came in the other day and only a small notice in the papers about them, but 400 people saw it and bought the gloves. The balance 400 pair on sale tomorrow, 59c

BOYS—Here's a racket for you. 300 fine cambric shirt waists such as your mothers usually pay 25c for, will go for 13c.

FINE DIMITIES—Stop and take a look in our show window, see those pretty dimities, fine and sheer, ought to bring 12c, but they are yours for 8 cents.

PLAIN NAINSOOKS—A thousand yards of them, such as you usually pay 10c for, but they are only 5c the yard.

SHIRT WAISTS—In the shirt waist manufacturing business ourselves now. There is hardly a style made but what you can find here and if you do want something different pick out your material and we make it for you for 50c. Laundered shirt waists, cambric, 49c. Fine percale waists, 59c. Beautiful lawns, dimity, batiste, etc., lace trimmed, yoke back 98c. Silk waists, colored and black, $1.89.

MATTING—If importers and makers never made mistakes you would never buy matting at such prices. Too many they made and no fault with the goods, but how prices tumble. Think of fine linen warp matting for 13c the yard. We thought they were cheap at 20c and most stores ask 25c for them. Matting porch rugs 10, 15 and 19c each.

SPECIAL—Ladies' skirts made of fine swivel silk, lined with fine rustling percaline, equal to any $5 skirt made. We only ask $2.69. See them.

MEN—Here is a shirt news worth reading. It's the old story of the manufacturer making too many goods more than he could sell, so he accepted our offer 50c on a dollar for his stock. Men's outing shirts 50c kind 32c. Men's silk stripe soft finish outing shirts the dollar kind 59c. Men's silk and wool shirts such as you usually pay $2.00 for we sell for 98c. Proceedings of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County.

[OFFICIAL.]

Adjourned meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Union, held on Thursday, May 21st, 1896, at 2:30 p. m.

Roll call showed the following members present, viz:

Director Hubbard and Freeholders Brucklacher, Burnett, Clark, Ehrlich, Farrell, Hulskamper, King, Krouse, Littell, Miller, Ogden, Robison, Roll, Swain, Tier, Wahl—17.

The minutes of the previous meeting were on motion approved as read

The Board was then addressed by ex-Freeholder Moore and Messrs. Day and Sullivan on behalf of the Elizabeth General Hospital. The needs of the hospital and its financial condition, also the great good accomplished by it, were laid before the Board. By reason of the continually increasing number of patients expenses were correspondingly increased, and the Board was petitioded for a larger appropriation for the use of the hospital in the coming year.

Comptroller Carlton, of Elizabeth, then addressed the Board. He said in part that Elizabeth city desired to reduce its tax rate for the coming year, which would not be possible if county appropriations were increased. He understood that by reason of an unusual number of county bonds falling due this year an increase in appropriations might be necessary, but hoped the Board would meet the situation in some manner which would not make it necessary to increase the county appropriations. He suggested that a portion of the bonds falling due this year be refunded.

The Board, on motion of Freeholder Roll, then went into the committee of the whole.

Upon re-asembling in open session the regular order of business was proceeded with.

COMMUNICATIONS, PETITIONS, ETC.

From Short Hills water works, by Stewart Hartshorn, proprietor, petitioning for permission to lay a line of not less than six-inch water main across Morris avenue, in Springfield, where the same is intersected by Short Hills avenue, and also along the line of Morris avenue, easterly twenty-five feet. The right of way was asked in order to supply certain residents of Springfield with water for household and other purposes, they having petitioned for same. He also agreed to do the work as the Board might direct, and to replace the surface of the street in as good condition as he found it.

On motion of Freeholder Farrell received and placed on file.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

The committee of the whole reported recommending that the sum of $5,000 be appropriated for the use of hospitals for the current year; also that bonds to the amount of $26,000, falling due during the present fiscal year, be refunded at the rate of four per cent. interest, and that the bonds so refunded shall become due and payable as follows, viz:

$8,000 in the year 1907; $9,000 in 1908; $9,000 in 1909.

Freeholder Roll moved the adoption of the report, and on roll call it was adopted unanimously.

The appropriation committee presented the following report, viz:

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders, County of Union:

Gentlemen—Your committee on appropriations beg leave to report that after carefully investigating the needs of the various departments of the county government for the present fiscal year, we regret that in our opinion it will be necessary to increase the amount to be raised by taxation over what it has been in the past number of years, and on account of the growth of the county, and the great increase in its population, it is essential that a number of our appropriations should be increased in order to provide for the necessary expenses of the county and the charges fixed by law. During the past ten years the amount raised for county purposes has increased but little in comparison with the growth of the county. During that time our population has increased from 61,800 to 84,000. Our court expenses in 1885 were $25,194: in 1895 $38,964. The maintaining of our lunacy patients has increased during that time from $23,361 to $33,460. Election expenses from $1,623 to $10,700. These expenses are fixed by law, and are not within the control of the board. The amount of our bonded debt falling due this year is $32,000 as against $18,000 last year. With these cold facts before us we deem it necessary that there should be more money raised, and we therefore recommend that the sum of one hundred and ninety thousand dollars, together with the sum of eight thousand dollars cash now on hand, be appropriated for the current year, and that the said amount be certified to the county board of assessors, and placed in the tax levy for 1896, as per the accompanying resolution:

Resolved, By the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Union that the sum of one hundred and ninety thousand dollars be raised by tax for the use of said county for the year 1896, to be appropriated, together with eight thousand dollars of assets of the county, for the following purposes:

For Courts	$40,000
For County Jail	6,500
For Lunatics	36,000
For Compensation and Law-Expenses of Chosen Freeholders and Committees and Salaries of their Officers	9,000
For Fees of Coroners	1,000
For Elections	11,000
For Stationery	3,000
For Advertising, Publishing and Printing	2,500
For Incidental Expenses and Schools, Burial of Soldiers and Monuments	10,000
Payment of Principal of Bonded Debt	6,000
Payment of Interest on Bonded Debt	22,000
Hospitals	5,000
Payment of Bank Interest on Temporary Loans	1,000
Permanent Improvements of the Public Buildings and Grounds	7,000
Erection and Repair of Culverts and Bridges	23,000
County Road Repairs	15,000
Total	$198,000

Less Assets of the County in Cash 8,000

Total amount Raised by Taxation $190,000

Also all miscellaneous items to be assessed and collected in the manner and at the times prescribed by laws for the assessment and collection of taxes for use of the State and the laws for the assessment and collection of taxes in the cities of Elizabeth, Plainfield and Rahway, in said county respectively; and that the board hereby direct the assessors of the respective townships and wards in said county to assess the said sum of one hundred and ninety thousand dollars on the inhabitants and their estates, agreeable to the law for the time being for the raising of money by taxation for the use of the county of Union, State of New Jersey; and that the said assessors meet at the Court House, in the city of Elizabeth, on the third Monday in July next, at 10 o'clock a. m., to adjust and ascertain the proportion of said sum to be levied in each township and ward of said county; and that the clerk of the board send a copy of this resolution to each of said assessors. Signed,

John Farrell, James C. Ogden, Geo. W. Littell, Addison S. Clark, Jacob Brucklacher, Committee.

Freeholder Farrell moved the adoption of the report, and on roll call it was adopted unanimously.

NEW BUSINESS, RESOLUTIONS.

By Freeholder Miller:

Resolved, That a committee of five (5) be appointed to consider the advisability and probable cost of constructing a new iron drawbridge on South street, Elizabeth, and report the same to this board, as recommended by the last board.

On motion of Freeholder Farrell the resolution was adopted without dissent.

The director appointed as the said committee Freeholders Miller, Hulskamper, Roll, Littell and Brucklacher.

The director appointed as the said committee Freeholders Ehrlich, Farrell, Krouse, Ogden and Burnett.

By Freeholder Roll:

Resolved, That permission be granted to the Short Hills Water Co. to lay six inch water main across Morris avenue, and along said avenue easterly 25 ft., under the supervision of the county road inspector.

Freeholder Swain moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Roll:

Resolved, That the county road committee be and they are hereby authorized to make the repairs to the county roads for the present fiscal year in such manner as they deem best for the interests of the county.

Freeholder Farrell moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Littell:

Resolved, That the director of this board be a member of all committees.

On motion of Freeholder Swain the resolution was adopted without dissent.

By William T. Nichols

[Copyright, 1895, by J. B. Lippincott Co.]

Again the defense had gained an advantage, but the odds were still against it. Three able-bodied assailants remained, and all of them now gave proof that they were armed; for, while Johnson was putting his man out of the fight, the leader and the young fellow opposite me had drawn daggers, although they had been unable to use them in aid of their ally, so speedily had he been worsted. I dare say they had revolvers as well, but preferred cold steel for the work they expected to do. Even on that lonely knoll a fusillade of pistol-shots might have attracted attention from the people of the knot of houses half a mile away. I know that the blades had a most wicked look, and that the sweat gathered on my forehead as I watched them and wondered which of them might be destined for me. I was frightened, thoroughly frightened; such courage as I possessed vanished at the gleam of the weapons, and, could I have fled, not a moment would I have tarried. But there was no escape; I was forced to remain and to see the end, which, though it involved the defeat of the enemy, I had no hand in bringing about.

Well-laid plans once disarranged are generally worse than none at all. The programme of the assailants, no doubt, had been prepared most carefully. After posting one of their number on the landward side of the knoll, the only direction from which, in their ignorance of the line of communication with Johnson's cottage, they would reasonably look for interference, they had advanced, and forced an entrance to the house. Once within, their prey was so completely in their grasp that, I dare say, they felt able to go about their business with cold-blooded deliberation. I do not flatter myself with the belief that my presence disturbed them in the least. But, while the arraignment of Lamar may have been intensely satisfying as a prelude to their vengeance, it was a sad blunder; for it gave Johnson time to reach the scene and to change the whole aspect of the affair.

Had they pressed the attack as soon as their comrade was overthrown, it is altogether likely that one of them might have reached Lamar; but, unluckily for them, they failed to seize the opportunity in the second or two of its existence. Their hesitation, brief as it was, meant defeat; for no sooner had his man fallen than Johnson drew a brace of revolvers from his pockets, and when the strangers started forward they looked into the muzzles of the pistols. Lamar, too, thus protected, had pulled out a key and was unlocking a drawer of the table; and presently he added another ugly-looking weapon to the array trained upon the foe.

"Sorry there ain't none for you, doctor," I heard Johnson remark, "but I guess we can attend to our friends now."

For a moment I thought that two of our adversaries would risk the bullets, though the last comer quailed at the first sight of the fire-arms; but even for them the odds were now too great. They dared not even risk trying to reach their own pistols. They probably had no stomach for such a combat as was now offered them. Reluctantly, step by step, they retreated toward the door. Then, suddenly, with an oath, the leader wheeled about, and, gnashing his teeth in baffled rage, strode from the room.

"Here, you two," cried Johnson, "carry off your wounded."

I doubt if they understood his words, but his gesture as he pointed to the man lying unconscious on the floor was plain enough. Sullenly they picked up their comrade and bore him into the open air. The fisherman followed them to the door, and watched them hurry away toward the stream on the north side of the little hill.

"Come in a boat, eh?" said he. "That's it; you can hear the oars. I'll bet they've something to do with that schooner lying off there in the bay. Well, Mr. Lamar, they're off, and I guess they've had enough, thank ye, for one evenin'."

"It was fortunate they chose to do their talking first and their business afterward," said I. "But I think we're quit of them for some time to come. The abuse that tall chap showered on you was unpleasant, but it was mighty valuable, as I figure it out."

"Did you comprehend?" Lamar asked.

"No, except that he was cursing you as energetically as he could."

He seemed relieved at the answer.

"How are you feeling?" said I. "That's not the sort of entertainment that does you any good. It must not be repeated."

"Yet it has profited me," he answered. "I am stronger, better."

"But you'll pay for it, I am afraid. Let me see how you have stood it."

"Not now," said he, waving me back. "To-night I have work to do. May I request you both to remain here for a time?"

"Certainly. We should not think of leaving you before daybreak."

"That will suffice," he answered. "For the present, I go to my room."

"Johnson, what do you make of all this?" I asked, when Lamar had left us.

"Not much," he answered, "'cept 'twas a close shave for the boss. I thought he'd have trouble with that locked drawer if ever he wanted to get at his guns in a hurry. Why, if he'd tried to open it before I come, they'd have carved him into mince-meat before he could have got to his weepins. He would keep it locked, though, and you know he ain't a man to argy with. Lucky I brought my brace along; but "Why did they pursue him to this corner of the earth? What's the secret, anyway?"

"It's clean beyond me," said he. "Some furrin feud, I reckon."

"This is never the end of it."

"It won't end till somebody's dead," he answered, emphatically. "Like enough a killin' was the start of it."

XXII.

Whatever business was occupying Lamar, it was not the sort to be disposed of quickly. Hour after hour passed, and still he did not rejoin us. At last I climbed the stairs and, knocking at the door of his room, asked if there was anything he desired us to do.

"At present, nothing," he answered.

"No use tryin' to nudge him," Johnson observed, when I returned to the living-room. "He'll let us know fast enough when the time comes. You'd better get some sleep, doctor, if you can curl up comfortable in a chair. I'll stand watch."

Nothing better suggesting itself, I tried to follow the fisherman's advice, at first with very indifferent success. The events of the evening had not been of the sort to make one sleepy. So I sat in my corner speculating on the probable outcome of the encounter. What Lamar's plans would be it was difficult to foretell. Physically he was in poor condition to undertake further flight from his enemies, yet he would hardly dare to remain without establishing a small standing army. Johnson had covered himself with glory, but he was but one man; and I did not enumerate myself as part of the belligerent force. Again, the excitement and worry the presence of his enemies must cause would certainly have an extremely bad effect upon Lamar, aggravating his disease and cutting short even the scant allowance of time I had estimated as his. If anything could have overcome my extreme repulsion for him, it must have been the cool courage he had displayed in the face of danger; but, though I appreciated it, I could not bring myself to a more kindly feeling for the man who had exhibited it in such trying circumstances. What would Dorothy have to say such part of the tale as I could tell her? I was thinking more of her and less of Lamar, when my eyes closed for weariness.

Johnson's hand on my shoulder brought me back from my dreams.

"He's called for you," he said. "He wants you to go up to his room."

"Very well; I'll go; but what's the time?" I asked, grinding my knuckles into my eyes.

"'Most six o'clock. The sun's just risin'."

Reaching the head of the stairs, I heard Lamar's voice from the rear room, one which he had never before invited me to enter.

"Come in," he said. "I regret to have detained you so long, but my task is at last completed."

In spite of his efforts to maintain the old steady tone, his voice sounded hoarse and full of weariness; and all that it suggested was more than borne out by his face, upon which fell the cold light of the morning, revealing with pitiless distinctness the traces of the struggle of an indomitable will against physical weakness. His pallor was ghastly, the skin was drawn above the temples, the cheeks were sunken, the lines about the mouth were grown to furrows. His eyes burned with a feverish fire. The hand which rested on the desk at which he sat shook, notwithstanding its support. I had never seen the man in such a state—so completely mastered by his infirmities. How he had been able to work through the night was almost beyond comprehension, though the bottle of brandy at his elbow showed that he had had the aid of a stimulant. It had carried him through, but at a fearful price. Plainly, it was no longer a question of weeks or months with him; his days, perhaps his hours, were numbered.

On the desk before him lay a sealed letter, a check book, a sheet of paper covered with figures and the little black valise which he had guarded so jealously on our journey to Rodneytown, and which I had not rested eyes upon since the day of our arrival.

He motioned me to a seat beside him.

"Dr. Morris," said he, "last night's visitation warned me to perform certain duties which, in view of my failure of health, had too long been neglected. I desire your assistance in the completion of them."

"I am at your orders," said I. "For the little while that remains for you," I added, to myself.

He opened the hand bag and took from it a paper, which, upon being unfolded, appeared to be a petition or agreement of some sort; for appended to several closely-written paragraphs was a long list of signatures. He gave me no time, however, to decipher either text or names. Striking a match, he set fire to the document, which was burning briskly before he dropped it to the floor. As the flame grew I saw that about it lay several little heaps of fluffy ash, no doubt all that remained of other papers he had chosen to put out of the way. He watched the fire creep along until the whole sheet was ablaze.

"If the question arise, as it may, you can make oath that a document of this appearance was destroyed," said Lamar. "You may feel free to do so. No one suffers by the destruction of it, though many might by its preservation."

"I will certify to the fact," said I. "But who will make inquiry about it?"

"Possibly no one. But, if inquiry is made, they who ask will understand."

He opened the check-book and passed it to me. It was one I had given to him months before, though, as the funds deposited in the bank at Trent stood in my name, he could have had little use for the book. In fact, none of the printed forms had been filled in.

"I desire to make provision for Johnson," he explained. "He is deserving of a ... made a check to his order."

"Very well," said I, picking up a pen. "For how much?"

"Five thousand dollars."

I looked at him in wonder. Was he playing a practical joke of some sort? But he met my gaze, and repeated his words: "Five thousand dollars.' After all, to a man in his position the fisherman's services certainly had been valuable. I filled up the form, and tore it from its stub. Lamar took the slip of paper and thrust it into his pocket.

"You comprehend the reason in these matters," said he. "It is necessary to arrange with an eye to the worst. I fear a sudden failure, a collapse. If such should be my end, I wish to have my affairs in order. For Johnson provision is now made. To Martha, who has been a faithful servant, I would give, let us say, $500. I count upon you to arrange the matter."

"I will do so," said I.

"And as for yourself—"

"You have paid me well," I broke in. But he continued:

"As for you, I desire this: when my death comes, you will regard as your own the money deposited in the bank in your name. There will be no rival claimant. From my memory of the account you submitted recently, I am convinced that you will find a considerable sum remaining after the two payments you know of have been made. I may tell you that the fund has been of late replenished."

"But why should you make me such a bequest?" I began. "I thank you, but—"

"It is no case for thanks," said he. "Am I not free to do as pleases me with my own? Moreover, I have yet another request."

He poured a little brandy into a glass and gulped it down. Then, picking up the letter, he said:

"This I desire you to place in the post at the railway town at once. Then send a telegraphic message. Please write the words; 'Search ended, but without result. Documents burned.' The address the same as that of the letter."

"What signature to the dispatch?"

"None is required. Go at once, and return as soon as possible."

"I shall start immediately," said I, rising. "Take my advice and get some rest, if you can. I need not tell you how you need it. By the way, double the dose of that medicine I brought you last night. I shall return within three hours, and in that time it ought to have some effect."

He bowed gravely, and I left him seated at his desk, a mere wreck of the man he had been even a few hours before. In that strong morning light death's seal appeared to be upon him.

Cautioning Johnson not to leave the house, I hurried across the plain to Mrs. Weston's, harnessed the bay more hastily than he ever had been harnessed before, and started him off briskly along the Bassettville road. I drove fast that morning, as fast as even the swift roadster cared to go. The telegraph operator was just coming on duty when I reined up beside the platform of the railway station, and to him I lost no time in committing the message. Its address, which I copied from that of the letter, was the banking house in New York with which Lamar had communicated previously. Five minutes later I had posted the letter, and was beginning my journey homeward.

Sam Carpenter gave me a friendly greeting as I passed his stable, but there was no time for gossip, and the bay sped by at a gait which no doubt satisfied him that there was urgent need of my services in Rodneytown. Nor did I draw rein until the farmhouses were close at hand and I saw Dorothy at Mrs. Clark's door.

"Where in the world have you been?" she asked, running across the yard to the road, and gazing up at me anxiously. "Mrs. Weston says that you were away all night. And your horse looks as if you had been trying to drive him to death."

"You shall hear all about it, Dorothy," I answered, "but I can't tell you now

I left him seated at his desk.

I must go on to Lamar's; but I'll come back as soon as I can. Things have happened which may make a great difference to us."

I left her somewhat piqued, perhaps, by my brusqueness, and drove on toward the house on the knoll. Johnson was awaiting me at the base of the landward side of the elevation.

"Anything new?" I asked, as I leaped from the buggy.

"Nothin' for the last hour or so. Soon after you left he called me up and give me somethin'—I guess you know what. Since then I've heard nothin' from him."

I ran into the house, climbed the stairs, and knocked at Lamar's door. There was no response. I softly turned the knob, thinking that he might be asleep. He was still seated in his chair, but his head had fallen forward upon the desk, and his arms hung motionless. I sprang to him, raised him, and caught sight of his face. One look was enough. Lamar was beyond the reach of his enemies.

As to the manner of his death I was not long left in doubt. Beside the desk was found a little phial in which remained a few drops of a solution of arsenic. Months before I had brought him the poison, to be used, as he had explained, in certain of his chemical experiments. With the foes who had pursued him so relentlessly close upon him, and with a mortal disease daily sapping his strength, he had chosen thus to end his troubles. He died, I think, as he had lived, strong in his passions and his courage.

It was to be desired, for many reasons, to avoid the notoriety which must surely follow a disclosure of the circumstances of his end. Johnson and I could be depended upon to keep our counsel, and old Martha probably had heard nothing of the attack, and had no reason to suppose her employer's death to have been due to other than natural causes; but even a suspicion of suicide would give rise to most unpleasant gossip, and quite possibly to an official investigation. By law, a certificate of death had to be filed with the town clerk. I realized the weight the people would attach to Banks' signature to such a document in case any question of its accuracy arose, and determined to secure it. My senior heard what I had to say of the facts—enough, probably, to give him an inkling of the truth. Then he seated himself at Lamar's desk—I had taken him to the house on the knoll to view the body of its late master—and filled out a certificate.

"This will, I think, meet your requirements," said he. "It is not too definite, but it will serve. It is recorded here that your patient died of 'heart failure.'"

XXIII.

Not until several months later did I hear something of the part of Lamar's story which explained his coming into my life. A letter from Perez brought this explanation, for which I had been waiting eagerly. Neither Johnson nor I had had signs again of Lamar's pursuers, who, however, we believed, had contrived to secure proof that their intended victim had evaded their vengeance. The strange schooner had not reentered the bay, but the fisherman had heard that a vessel answering her description had lain for three days at anchor in a little harbor some miles up the coast, and that at least four of her people had been away from her throughout her stay. It was his theory that the four revisited the house the night before Lamar's funeral; though the man whom I had employed to assist Johnson as watcher and caretaker, and who was then on duty, reported no unusual happenings, and the fisherman's belief had, so far as I could discover, no more substantial basis than the fact that as he approached the house late that night the sea-breeze bore to his ear faint sounds which he took for those of oars against tholepins.

My term of residence in Rodneytown was closed within a fortnight after the body of the suicide had been committed to the earth; but before I went away there was a wedding, at which an altogether charming bride was given away by my good friend Dr. Banks, standing for the time in loco parentis. In view of the change in our circumstances, I had persuaded Dorothy to consent to an early marriage, and to come with me to Trent, where there promised to be an excellent opportunity to establish a practice, and where the bay might become a doctor's nag in reality as well as in name. And there Perez's letter found us, as happy a pair as the city held within its borders. As Lamar's residuary legatee—if the term can be correctly used in such a case—I was possessed of an inheritance which, with my savings, was ample to support us in comfort for the several years we deemed it wise to allow for the building up of a profitable professional connection.

But now for the letter, which was to tell me all I had ever learned of the career of the man whom I knew as Lamar.

"He was of a family of rank and wealth," it ran. "He had much to content him with his lot, yet he was by nature an intriguer and a plotter, cold, selfish, daring and revengeful. Many hated him, more feared him. So adroit was he in his schemes, that, though they sometimes came to grief, he himself escaped.

"At last he became involved in a political plot of the gravest character, and for once lost his craft. There was a meeting of the conspirators, at which enthusiasm ran high, and, in the furor of the moment, a compact was drawn up and signed by those present. So treasonable was this document that the signers were hopelessly compromised should it fall into the hands of even the most mercifully-disposed government. Within 24 hours after the meeting the paper disappeared. The signers set themselves to search for it, and at last gained a clew. Following this, they discovered that it had come into the possession of a woman of rank, young, beautiful, ambitious, mad for political intrigue, and attached to a rival faction. The fact that she had secured it was sufficient to insure the failure of the project it outlined; but worse than this failure was the menace to the signers. It was resolved to recover the compact at any cost; but then arose the question, who should undertake the difficult task? The man who afterward came to you volunteered, and was accepted.

"He recovered the document. Single-handed, he waylaid the lady's carriage, drove off her servants, and, on her refusal to surrender the paper, cut her throat. As he had expected, the precious paper was found in the bosom of her dress.

"He fled the country forthwith, carrying with him the cause of the tragedy. So long as he retained possession of it, he was certain of holding his co-conspirators at his mercy. Many of them abhorred his bloody deed, but he held their fortunes and perhaps their lives in his hand; and some of them, at least, were forced to aid him in making his escape. The family of his victim swore undying vengeance. Her brothers traced him to Europe, and then to the United States. They were close upon him when he sought your aid: had it not been given, he could hardly have escaped; for in your country a man of his face and accent was easily traced—he impressed the persons he met far too strongly for his own good.

"He had heard of the lonely coast you described to me, and he had carried with him the card he presented to you. It was given to him, not because I was myself involved in the political net, but because others whom I loved were fast in its meshes, and for their sake I desired him not to fall into the clutches of the avengers. When he came to you, the pursuers lost the trail. They searched and searched, but for months without result. After a time I was told of rumors that he had opened correspondence with his brothers at home, and that they were supplying him with large sums. His enemies also heard the reports, and strove in every way to hit upon the channel of communication, but their efforts seemed to be doomed to failure.

"Chance finally did what skill and bribery could not effect. By accident, a traveler, who, through friendship for the murdered woman's kinsmen, had aided them in their hunt, stumbled upon the fugitive's hiding-place, and is even said to have seen, from an ambush of his own, the murderer moving about his retreat. The discoverer lost no time in bearing the news to his allies. Two of the victim's brothers, with a force of assistants in whom they could trust, sailed hence, ostensibly for France. Rumors current here have it that they arrived only to find that their enemy was dead. It is also said that the compact is destroyed. If you have any knowledge of its fate you may relieve many anxious hearts."

Lamar's pursuers had been the avengers of blood. By my aid he had evaded them, yet through me they had come upon him at last. Fortune's caprice had granted him but a reprieve, allowing him, in the end, only the privilege of dying by his own hand rather than by the hands of his foes. Baffled in their vengeance as they would have carried it out, they had as partial compensation the knowledge that they had forced him to the dread alternative. A penalty—if not that which they desired—had been paid for his crime.

THE END.

THE WICKEDNESS OF SLEEPING.

Some of the Notions Which Were Entertained Years Ago.

That idea was almost dominant in religious society 60 years ago, and sometimes assumed forms which, if not ridiculous, were at least quaint. It was, for instance, held to be wrong for any but the aged to sit in easy chairs, not, as is now vainly imagined, from any ignorant idea as to the injury done to the figure, but because "lolloping" betrayed a blameworthy tendency to ease and self-indulgence. That was the origin also of the extraordinary prejudice against taking any extra sleep. The old knew well that sleep, when sleep is not needed, is to the young the most wearisome of all obedience, but nevertheless they believed that to wish to sleep more than a strictly regulated time, which, according to modern hygeists, was too short, was a mark of sluggish self-indulgence, and it was visited, therefore, with moral reprobation.

Early rising was extravagantly praised, not because it lengthened the day, for the early risers went to bed early, but because it was disagreeable; and some curious rules of diet—for example, abstinence from sugar—were defended in part upon the same principle. We have known girls cut off their curls avowedly because they were proud of them, and men go about in shabby clothes, because, as they averred and believed, it was well by diminishing comfort to promote serious reflection.—London Spectator.

Washington's Odd Street Names.

In examining the directory, one cannot help but notice the confusion of names of streets and alleys and courts. For instance, there are four Pleasant alleys in Washington, two Pleasant streets and Pleasant Plains thrown in. There are six Prospect streets, hills, alleys and courts in various parts of the town, and Prospect hills are as numerous out in the District as Fairview school houses are out in Indiana. Washington has six Washington highways, including the alleys of that name. Coming down to alleys alone, there is a simplicity about the names of them that is certainly refreshing. While the people of Washington are quarreling as to whether the name of one of its streets is Stoughton or Staughton, they have allowed some of the alleys to be named as follows: Pigsfoot alley, Cabbage alley, Louse alley, Zigzag alley, Truck alley, Pig alley, two of them; Cow alley, Fighting alley, Bood alley, Tincup alley and so on.—Washington Post.

There may frequently be seen about the streets here a half-breed Indian who comes in from across the Canadian border with snowshoes, moccasins and baskets to sell, says a Saranac Lake correspondent. His name is Macomber. The tribe to which he belongs holds a reservation 12 miles square, and is from the Five Nations. The reservation is known as Caughnawaga. His grandfather has died recently, aged 103, leaving considerable wealth. The old gentleman had been married three times. By his first wife he had six children, by the second 15, and the same number by the third. In reckoning up how many grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and great-great-grandchildren this old Indian had it counted up to over 1,000. Of the 36 of his children 28 are still living, as are most of the grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren.—Utica Morning Herald.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Will Woodland, of the borough, has purchased a Hartford wheel.

Miss Dora Ulrich, of East Fifth street, has received a new wheel.

Thomas H. Stafford, of Grandview avenue, has just received a new Pittsburg wheel.

Geo. McVoy, of East Front street, has been presented with a handsome Crescent wheel.

I. L. McVoy and Allen Squires have purchased Crescent wheels from the F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company.

Mifford R. Giles, of East Third street, was among the century riders that passed through town this morning.

Thomas C. King, of New York, has purchased a Rambler track racer through the F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company.

Miss Minnie Force and Miss Mattie Merrill, of LaGrande avenue, enjoyed a ride on their wheels to Newark on Thursday.

F. W. Schoonmaker, of New Rochelle, has purchased a Cleveland Swell Special from the F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company.

Roger Murray, of West Eighth street, has purchased a combination Cleveland tandem of the F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company.

Frank Havens, Philip Kirch and W. Gordon Williams expect to go to Tomkinsville, S. I., on their wheels this afternoon and view the White Squadron. Williams will take his camera.

John Brower, of East Fifth street, and his friend, Douglass Carter, of Bloomfield, are expected home today after a week's tandem trip to Delaware Water Gap and in southern New York State.

John P. Emmons, of Prospect place, has lost his new Lyndhurst wheel. Last Wednesday evening some one entered Mr. Emmons' barn and removed the wheel. No trace of it has yet been found.

A Jersey City club of fourteen riders passed through Plainfield yesterday morning on their way to New Brunswick. A Crescent tandem led the van as pacemaker, while the other riders were all mounted on Crescents.

A. I. Powell, of the N. Y. A. C., who is at present the best of the amateur riders following the New York State circuit, rides a Cleveland track wheel. Ray Dawson, his clubmate, who is also distinguishing himself there, is a student at Stevens "Prep" School at Hoboken.

Thomas H. Stafford, of Grandview avenue, sails next Saturday for Scotland on the Allen Line steamer "Furnessia." He will go to Glasgow first, after which he will spend about three months in touring Scotland and England on his new wheel. Stafford is an enthusiastic cyclist, and second lieutenant of the Y. M. C. A. cyclers.

The Fowler sextette, which is still at Lister's, went out for another spin yesterday as far as Holly's Corners. The pace was a lively one, and there were very few who cared to follow it for the distance. Gus. T. Burglund has learned to manage the six-seated machine and now steers without trouble. The other riders yesterday were Theo. Lister, Henry Vosseller, Charles Appley, of Elizabeth, and Harry Lister. One seat was empty.

The New York State circuit meet was continued at Rochester last Wednesday. Jay Eaton and H. B. Mosher, of the Jersey Wheel Company's team, both qualified for the final heat in the one mile open, and Eaton finished fourth in the final. Both started in the two-mile handicap. One of the riders fell and Mosher rode into him, Eaton following. Mosher had his face badly cut, but was otherwise uninjured. Eaton escaped injury.

The eighth annual century run between Newark and Philadelphia was held today, and the number of riders that turned out showed very plainly the popularity of the wheel. Seven hundred and thirty-three passed through this city this morning, the Century wheelmen, of Philadelphia, having the largest representation. F. L. C. Martin, of this city, paced the run from Westfield to Princeton. The checkers here were "Manager" William Sweeney, Nathan R. Titsworth, William Mosher and William Waters. There were thirteen women in the party. Accidents were numerous, and quite a number had to stop here for repairs.

MAJ-GENERAL BIRNEY.

Uses Paine's Celery Compound in His Family, and Strongly Recommends It.

Maj.-Gen. Birney, who is now, at the age of 75, practicing law and doing departmental work in Washington, in a letter to Wells & Richarson Company, says:

"My wife has been taking the Paine's celery compound for some time past, and is so much pleased with it that she wishes me to express to you her high opinion of its merits She thinks it is the best remedy she has ever tried."

Gen'l Birney's hearty acknowledgement of the great and lasting good that his family has received from Paine's celery compound is repeated in substance, countless testimonials, written in the same grateful spirit and sent from every part of the country.

Don't sit with folded arms and do nothing toward getting rid of poor health. Drive out all impurities from your blood; build up the vigor of the body with Paine's celery compound—the one remedy that has kept all its promises in the past.

The tired nerves and brain need just the sort of nourishment that this great invigorator is able to supply.

Now is the time when Paine's celery compound, aided by the favorite influences of the season, fairly outdoes itself. It searches out the hidden causes of debility, neuralgia, rheumatism and those constantly recurring headaches. The worn-out nervous tissues are invigorated. Paine's celery compound is the one successful nerve regulator that cures diseases without any possibility of a return of the trouble.

Take Paine's celery compound this very day.

It won't do to postpone getting strong and well until you have a vacation.

Do as thousands of others have done to their great joy, take Paine's celery compound! It will invigorate at once your impoverished nervous system.

If you really want to get well, read the letters recently published from such men as Justice Powers, Congressman Mederith, of Virginia; Congressman Grout, Assistant United States Attorney John C. Capers, Congressman Wilbur, of New York, Congressman Bell, Lieut. McAllister, Congressman Neil and many others who are fully as careful of what they recommend. The perusal of a few of these personally signed, hearty testimonials of Paine's celery compound will give any one a clear idea of what this wonderful remedy is doing in every State in the Union and in every city and village.

It is making people well.

After the adoption of our 1896 model and a careful estimate of the cost of manufacture, we placed the price on the Spalding Bicycle at $100. The price is now $100 and will continue at $100 throughout the season, no matter what other manufacturers may do.

We don't believe it is fair, honest or good business policy to sell a standard article like the Spalding Bicycle at one price in May and reduce its value in June by a material reduction in price. As a matter of common fairness to early purchasers of Spalding Bicycles and as an evidence of good faith on our part we will, in case of reduction in price during the season, send a rebate check to every purchaser of a Spalding Bicycle of the amount of any such reduction that may be made by us during the season. JACKSON DISCHARGED!

ALL THE TESTIMONY IN ACCUSED MAN'S FAVOR.

The Evidence Thus Far Offered Makes Plausible the Story Told by Jackson—Jackson is Now Free—Applause in Court.

At 3:10 o'clock Prof. Carvalho, expert of chirography, testified that the two letters were written by Mrs. Jackson.

Jackson was immediately discharged.

Jackson left the court room amid great applause.

On motion of Prosecutor Voorhees the case of the State against Charles H. Jackson, who was accused of the crime of killing his wife at New Market on the morning of June 6th, was called in the Middlesex county court at New Brunswick before Judge Strong this morning at 10:30 o'clock. There was a large number present, many of whom were from New Market and Dunellen. All the witnesses who were called at the Coroner's inquest were subpoenaed and were in court.

Jackson was there looking pale and careworn. He was represented by George Ransome, of Jersey City, and George Berdine, of New Brunswick.

The first witness called was Dr. Whitford. He testified to the fact of Jackson calling him after having found his wife on the morning of the fatality. After telling him of the shooting he says that Jackson exclaimed: "I am to blame for this; I was cross to her." Jackson also told the doctor that his wife was despondent.

Rev. F. E. Peterson, of New Market, was the next witness and he testified also to the fact of Jackson calling him and telling him that his wife had shot herself. He said that Jackson was in a very excited frame of mind. When they arrived at the scene of the fatality and Jackson found the alleged farewell letter written by Mrs. Jackson, he turned the letter over to the minister.

County Physician Long, who made the examination of remains at the inquest, testified that the first wound was not serious enough to cause death, and that after it was inflicted Mrs. Jackson would have been able to have walked and talked. He stated that he told the Prosecutor last Monday that it was his opinion that it was a case of suicide.

Mrs. Titsworth, in whose home the shooting took and who was an aunt of Mrs. Jackson, stated that Jackson called her and told her of the suicide, and was in an excited mood at the time.

Miss Palmsberg, who resided in the same house, was called and testified to overhearing a conversation between Jackson and his wife, in which the latter asked where the revolver was kept. Jackson refused to tell her. She also testified to having heard the little four-year old son tell about putting the revolver under the pillow of the bed after his mother had shot herself, the circumstance which made it look as though it was not a case of suicide.

Wm. Maynard, of the Winchester Rifle Company, New York, offered expert testimony. Other witnesses were Lillian Gaskill, of Dunellen; J. P. Mosher, of Plainfield; J. P. Carter, of New York, brother of the dead woman; T. Ely Schenck, of New Brunswick. The last three testified to the handwriting of the farewell letter being that of Mrs. Jackson.

An adjournment was taken at noon, the case being called again at 2 o'clock.

THE WIND'S HAVOC.

Limbs Twisted From Stately Trees and Flags Torn to Tatters.

Sunday's storm was a severe one, and the high wind, added to the downpour, managed to twist branches off the trees all over the city. The leaves were almost entirely stripped off the branches in some cases, while elsewhere entire branches were torn off. Grape arbors, high fences and window blinds suffered particularly on the outskirts of the city.

There were very few who ventured out in the morning, and many of those who did had lively chases after their hats, which persisted in flying away.

The flag flying over one of the small buildings on North avenue flew away in the gale and finally landed in the telephone wires, where it waved triumphantly to the breeze.

A large tree, nearly a foot in diameter, was snapped by the wind on the edge of Kayser's woods on Kensington avenue.

In the afternoon a large limb of a tree on East Third street, near Church, was blown off, blocking the sidewalk for some time.

The flag on the Hotel Grenada was torn to tatters.

DEVOTED TO CHILDREN.

EXERCISES HELD IN CHURCHES FOR THE PLEASURE OF YOUTH.

The Rain, However, Made it Necessary for Several Churches to Postpone the Programmes Until Next Sunday.

Stormy weather yesterday seriously interfered with a pleasant observance of Children's Day, but the churches that did celebrate were as follows:

CRESCENT AVENUE CHURCH.

The Children's Day service of the Crescent Avenue Sunday-school, which was to have been held yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock, was postponed on account of the storm, until next Sunday morning at the same time.

The service in the afternoon was also postponed and will take place next Sunday morning before the regular service, beginning at 9:30.

Dr. Hunter, of New York city, who had been asked to make the address to the children, came to Plainfield yesterday, so the Sunday school listened to his address and will continue the service next Sunday morning.

Dr. Hunter is a prominent worker in the McAll mission in Paris, and though a very old man, his address was well adapted to children. Dr. Hunter spoke partly as follows:

"In France many millions of children have never even heard of Christ, they do not know their God as a God of love, but regard him as a God of vengence. It is a sad sight to see so many people, both young and old, living in this idea of the Diety. Sunday-schools in France, under the McAll mission, have been in process for twenty-four years."

WARREN CHAPEL.

Notwithstanding the fact that there was a very small attendance, caused by the storm, the Children's Day services were held as usual yesterday in Warren chapel. The platform was prettily decorated with choice flowers. The programme consisted of an organ voluntary, chorus by the school, prayer, chorus, responsive reading of the Scriptures, chorus, primary class exercise, address by Rev. Dr. Richards, chorus, responsive reading, chorus, presentation of offerings for Sabbath-school missions, presentation of rewards, chorus, doxology, benediction.

TRINITY REFORMED CHURCH.

The violent storm yesterday did not prevent about sixty persons, among whom were several children, from attending service at Trinity Reformed church. The regular Children's Day service, as arranged by the Sunday-school, was postponed until next Sunday morning at 10:45. The decorations of flowers, the festooning of American flags, the sweet singing of numerous canary birds in cages suspended on either side of the church, were admired and enjoyed by those present. The service consisted of a short talk by Superintendent E. L. Anthony and the pastor Rev. C. Schenck. After the service congratulations were showered on Mrs. H. W. Marshall and Harry Clifford Van Emburgh for the artistic results of their labors in decorating the church. The Press prefers to wait until after the children hold their service before describing the beautiful appearance of yesterday, and advises all who can to be present next Sunday morning, when the decorations will be done by the same master hands.

MONROE AVENUE CHAPEL.

The Children's Day exercises at the Monroe Avenue M. E. chapel were held yesterday afternoon, but owing to the storm, the attendance was not large, and a portion of the programme was omitted. The regular Children's Day songs were sung by the Sunday-school, and an appropriate story was read by Walter McGee. The platform was prettily decorated with daisies and other wild flowers, also roses.

FIRST M. E. CHURCH.

It was decided yesterday morning to give up the Children Day exercises of the Sunday-schol of the First M. E. church which were to be held last evening, but when the clouds broke in the afternoon and as most of the children that were to take part in the evening, it was decided to hold the exercises. The programme consisted of a Floral Cantata entitled "The Lovely Garden" or "A Visit to the Garden of Eden." It began with a march of a party of little girls, all carrying flowers. They marched to the platform where the cantata was given. The little girls were supposed to be the flowers and several older ones were visitors wandering among them. Through the assistance of "Faith" they were enabled to view the Garden of Eden, and then they told what they had seen. The cantata included the following: Floral march; recitation, "A

THE SEMINARY CLOSES.

ANNUAL EXERCISES AT THE CHESTNUTS THIS MORNING.

Owing to the Illness of One of the Graduates the Exercises Were Private—Sheepskin Diplomas Were Presented.

The commencement exercises of the Young Ladies' Seminary took place at The Chestnuts this morning at 10 o'clock. Owing to the ill health of one of the class the exercises were strictly private, only the school and a few friends of the graduates being present. The Seminary Hall was made beautiful by a profusion of roses and honeysuckle, and the chairs of the graduates were tied with pink ribbons and a spray of pink rosebuds.

There was but one essay read, and this was an interesting and carefully written thesis on "The Growth of the Library," prepared by Miss Edna Howell. The diplomas were presented by Miss Kenyon with a few words of earnest and practical counsel. The Seminary is one of the few schools that still present diplomas made of genuine sheepskin, and stamped with a genuine seal. One of the the pleasant customs of the commencements at this school is the singing of "Roses Blow," a farewell song of the students to the graduating class. The words of this song were written by a member of the school, and set to a serenade of Beischiett.

Miss Elsie Suffern, one of the graduates, will enter Vassar College in the fall.

PEDALED INTO MANHOOD.

John V. Beekman, Jr., Celebrates His 21st Birthday With a Bicycle Party.

A novel but very enjoyable kind of party was given Saturday afternoon by John V. Beekman, Jr., of West Eighth street, in honor of his twenty-first birthday. A number of his friends were invited to meet at his home Saturday afternoon and bring their bicycles. The party, headed by Mr. Beekman and Miss Morse on a tandem, rode out Park avenue to Metuchen and back. On the return, the party stopped at the home of Mr. Beekman, where a delightful little supper was served. The ride was a very pleasing one with enough adventures to make it exciting, but with no accidents.

Besides Mr. Beekman, the party consisted of Rev. and Mrs. C. L. Goodrich, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Burnett, Mrs. W. S. Lowry, Miss Eda Beekman, Miss J. Louise Jenkins, Miss Mary P. Chase, Miss Julia Belknap, Miss Nellie Winkler, Miss Minnie G. Morse, Miss Kate A. Reed, Rev. W. C. O'Donnell, Lyman R. Allen, Wickam Beekman, George Fuller, Joseph Fuller, Adam Neuman, Charles Belknap and Joseph A. Robinson.

Some of the guests were unable to go on the run but met the party at the house afterwards. They were: Miss Mabel Bonnell, Miss Adelaide B. Parsons, Miss Emma V. Fish, Miss Mary Robinson and Herbert Bonnell.

A Tea and Reception.

The Hillside Tennis and Golf Club will hold a tea and reception on the golf course of the club next Saturday afternoon. Several matches will also be arranged. Further details will be published later.

—There will be a meeting of the Board of Governors of the Catholic Club this evening.

WE MUST BE GOSPELIZED

THERE IS NO CHRISTIANITY THAT IS NOT APPLIED IN EVERYDAY LIFE.

Rev. C. E. Herring's Remarks on the Subject on "What Think Ye of Christ."—Man Must be a Christian at all Times.

Rev. C. E. Herring preached a sermonette last evening on the subject of "What Think Ye of Christ?" It was just the sort of a talk that saved and unsaved need these days, when there is such an inclination on the part of the people to depart from the truth. Mr. Herring said: "What think ye of Christ? There is a tendency on the part of some to think of Christ the Reformer rather than Christ the Redeemer. The larger Christ is a beautiful thought if it does not deprive us of Christ the individual Savior. Christ saves the individual from the wreck has been the teaching of the past; Christ saving the wreck itself is the teaching of the larger Christ; except a man believe in Christ he cannot be saved has been enlarged to except the state believe in Christ it cannot be saved. Human institutions must be gospelized; Christ must save society, commerce, factories, syndicates; the redemption of Jesus must be complete. A man must not be a Christian privately and athestical in his business. This is sound doctrine. There is really no Christianity that is not applied Christianity, and in these times we need to emphasize the thought that Christianity is all-pervasive; it reaches the individual and extends to his business enterprises, yet the broader thought of the larger Christ is a shallower thought of him. Alleviating the condition of man on earth is not as deep a thought as the regeneration of man. The ideal Jesus, the Reformer, is lower than the ideal Jesus, the Redeemer. If the lower ideal is kept in proper relation to the higher thought it is well, but the danger is that we shall forget all about the higher one; we are apt to disparage the blood. This worldliness may over shadow entirely other worldliness. Our anxiety to feed the multitude, to shorten the hours of labor, to alleviate the condition of the labor may cause us to forget the Redeemer. A grander ideal than the brotherhood of man is the Sons of God and the gospel bids us aspire to be Sons."

Lack of Power Now.

The delay in opening the street railway lines is now caused by the inability of the Plainfield Electric Light Co. to furnish a sufficient amount of power to run ten cars. A new dynamo has been secured, and it is expected that the armature will arrive today. It is thought that possibly the lines may be opened tomorrow. Yesterday afternoon two trips were made on West Front street as far as Clinton avenue. Men are now at work clearing the tracks from Clinton avenue to Dunellen. One trip was made Saturday afternoon to Netherwood.

Mr. James Perdue, an old soldier residing at Monroe, Mich., was severely afflicted with rheumatism but received prompt relief from pain by using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says: "At times my back would ache so badly that I could hardly raise up. If I had not gotten relief I would not be here to write these few lines. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done me a great deal of good and I feel very thankful for it." For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

FRACTURED HIS SKULL.

H. J. SMITH, OF WASHINGTONVILLE, FALLS FROM A HAY MOW.

He Was Crossing It on a Plank Which Tipped, Causing Mr. Smith to Fall Fifteen Feet—His Condition Very Serious.

H. J. Smith, who is General Superintendent of the plants of the Edison General Electric Light Company, in New York, sustained serious injuries at his home in Washingtonville yesday by falling from his hay mow.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were entertaining James Redner, of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Hillard, of Metuchen. They were making a tour of inspection of the buildings about Mr. Smith's property, and were in the barn when the accident occurred. Mr. Smith had mounted a ladder and attempted to cross the mow on a plank which tipped to its side, causing Mr. Smith to lose his balance, falling the distance of fifteen feet, striking the barn floor below with a great deal of force on his back and the base of his skull.

He was rendered unconscious. Willing hands quickly conveyed him to the house and Doctors Fritts and Zeglio were sent for. It was seen that he was badly hurt. After the physicians had arrived and made an investigation they found that he had fractured his skull and was injured internally, as he was bleeding from the stomach. He was prescribed for by the physicians and later in the afternoon Dr. Roby, of Brooklyn, the physician of the company of which he is superintendent was sent for His condition is considered serious.

Mr. Smith is one of the best known electrical experts in New York. He was at the head of the big electrical exhibition recently held in the Grand Central Palace in New York, and it was through his efforts that it was made the success that it was.

AN OLD GREENBROOK RESIDENT DEAD

Heart and Dropsical Trouble Carries Off Tunis Brokaw.

Tunis Brokaw, an old and respected resident of Greenbrook, died at the home of his son, William Brokaw, at Dunellen, Saturday, where he has resided for some time, from heart and dropsical trouble. He had been ailing for months, although his condition was not considered critical until a short time before his demise. Deceased was about seventy years of age, and besides his son William, he leaves a daughter, Mrs. Emma Field, of Bound Brook. He was born in the neighborhood and all his days were spent in the vicinity. He was for many years engaged in the butcher business. His former home was near Harris' lane.

A Quiet Wedding, Indeed.

A neat and unique wedding took place yesterday morning during the storm, at the residence of A. G. Vogeller, of West Front street, when Charles Schantz, the head bar-tender for Charles Smith, and Mrs. Elsa Esche, of this city, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. E. Kionka. The ceremony was most carefully planned, for Mr. Vogeller, himself, was not aware of the fact that a wedding was to take place beneath his roof. After dressing, Mr. Vogeller went out for his usual Sunday stroll. While he was absent, the bride and groom, the bridemaid and the best man arrived, as did also the cleryman who was to tie the knot. The bridal party and a select few of their friends dined at Rudolph Speigels afterwards.

Attempted Burglary.

Last night about 12 o'clock someone attempted to rob Dr. Thier's home on Grove street. The window on the porch was opened and an umbrella and a piece of statuary were misplaced. William Thiers came home about 11:30 and sat in his room reading when he heard a strange noise. He awakened his father, but as nothing further was heard no search was made until this morning when the parlor was found in the condition as stated above. The police have been informed of the attempt.

A Mt. Horeb Farmer Dead.

Bartholomew Codington, aged 75 years, an old resident of Mt. Horeb, died at his home Saturday afternoon after a long illness. Mr. Codington was born at Mt. Horeb and was a successful farmer. He had a large circle of friends who will regret to learn of his death. He leaves a wife and eight children. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon from Mt. Horeb church.

Death of Mrs. Heideloff.

The death of Mrs. E. C. Heideloff occurred Saturday, at Boston. She was about twenty-eight years old and leaves a little daughter. The interment will be in the North Plainfield cemetery at 9:15 tomorrow morning.

—Chief Fairchild's name was placed on the borough fire bell today by Townsend, the granite and marble dealer.

TWO YOUNG TOURISTS.

WESTFIELD YOUNGSTERS WHO DECIDED TO TAKE A TRIP INCOG.

They Got as Far as Philadelphia and Then Decided That There Was No Place Like Home—One Had $5 and the Other $1.50.

"I want to get a room here tonight—a cheap one, because I've only got twenty-five cents Thirteen cents belongs to me and twelve cents to that other fellow," was the ejaculation heard by William H. Miller, night clerk at the Hotel Grenada shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday morning. The speaker was a diminutive specimen of a thirteen-year-old youngster, and "that other fellow" was two years his senior.

"My, what are you doing out at this time of night?" asked Mr. Miller, as he eyed the precocious pair with a look of suspicion. "You ought to be home and abed. What's your name and where have you been and where do you live?" asked the night clerk.

The observation that they ought to be in bed and then a running fire of three questions somewhat phased the spokesman of the pair. He stood swinging his arms in a bashful and disconcerted manner for a moment and then said:

"We've been to Philadelphia and we live at Westfield—you know that station on the railroad on the way to Elizabeth," said the youth in a tone of explanation, as though Mr. Miller was not aware of the topography of this particular section of New Jersey.

Further questioning elicited the fact that both boys lived in Westfield and had become tired of the slow and prudish mode of life there. The youngest one did all the talking. He said that he had $5 and "that other fellow" $1.50. They decided to leave their quiet home and see a portion of what the rest of the world looked like. As if by intuition and a recognition of the eternal fitness of things that it would not do to plunge into the hurly burly life too rapidly, they decided to take the first degree of a "tourist" in Philadelphia.

It was to that destination that they bought tickets and a two hours ride on a Blue Line whizzer took them to the Quaker City. The railroad fares depleted their stock of money so that in a day or two they were becoming embarrassed and then they concluded that the life of a "tourist" was not what it was cracked up to be.

The remembrance of three good meals a day and a nice comfortable bed overpowered all the attraction that Philadelphia or any other place could offer and the return home was started. The youngsters got as far as Bound Brook by some hook or crook and from there walked to this city. After hearing their tale, Mr. Miller decided that he would turn the pair over to Police Sergeant Kiely. This was done and after considerable trouble word was telephoned to their parents at Westfield. They asked that the boys be placed in the hotel over night and they would come after them in the morning. At 9 o'clock the pair of embryo tourists were bundled into a wagon and taken home.

Their pockets were filled with railroad time tables, nails, fish hooks, buttons, etc., typical of the rash youth When the youngest one was asked if he would be received at home with a good spanking, he replied: "Yes, I'll get it, but that other fellow won't, 'cause he lives with his uncle."

Broke Two Ribs.

George Gabelhouse, of Arlington avenue, met with a serious accident while riding his wheel Friday afternoon. He was just riding into his yard and turned out to allow his wife to pass when his wheel slipped and he fell, breaking two ribs.

A Brotherhood Conference.

Announcement is made in the advertising columns of The Press today of a conference of the chapters of Brother of St. Andrew, under the charge of the local council, to be held in Grace church next Saturday. The programme is published in the advertisement.

—The trial of James McCann was adjourned until next Saturday morning.

If it required an annual outlay of $100.00 to insure a family against any serious consequences from an attack of bowel complaint during the year there are many who would feel it their duty to pay it; that they could not afford to risk their lives, and those of their family for such an amount. Any one can get this insurance for 25 cents that being the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. One or two doses of this remedy will cure any ordinary case. It never fails. Can you afford to take the risk for so small an amount? For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

THE NOISE BEGINS

St. Louis Crowded with Marching Delegations and Brass Bands.

VISITORS ARRIVING ON EVERY TRAIN

No Apparent Change in the Struggle for First Place—McKinley Still the Choice—Hobart the Favorite for the Vice-Presidency.

St. Louis, June 15.—St. Louis now looks like a convention city. It has hung out its bunting in tasteful profusion to bid welcom to the big republican gathering. A little slow in starting the demonstration, it has landed it in good form at last. All four of the leading candidates—McKinley, Reed, Morton and Allison—have their headquarters at the Southern hotel. McKinley's headquarters are designated by an allegorical representation of "Protection." In the Ohio headquarters on the first floor corridor, where Mark Hanna presides, there is a graceful army of festoons and flags and state shields, and every one of the big crowd of visitors constantly passing in and out is made welcome to a McKinley badge. While it appears to be conceded that McKinley has the votes, it is quite certain that the Maine people have made the finest display in behalf of the man of their choice. The Reed quarters are in the parlors of the Southern, a magnificent suite of rooms that have been elaborately decorated. The largest room on the parlor floor—at the head of the stairs, and in normal times the "ladies' ordinary," is the temple sacred to the governor of New York. The walls and ceiling are profusely draped with bunting, and at one end of the room the serene and tranquil countenance of Morton—rejuvenated a decade or two by the artist—beams upon all who enters those precincts. Down stairs on the office floor, and close to one of the four large entrance doors, another room is fitted up for those who are attached to the political fortunes of Senator Allison of Iowa, and whose faith is strengthened and stimulated by editorial assurances from a Des Moines paper (copies of which are strewn around) that he has no idea of withdrawing from the contest, and that his name will be presented without fail, as a candidate for the presidency. Nevertheless, the Allison boom is not developing the proportions that were expected of it. In the spacious and decorated halls, corridors and public rooms of the Southern the friends and adherents of the several presidential candidates meet as on neutral ground, without the slightest exhibition of political animosity.

No Change in the Sentiment.

The rush of incoming delegates today is continuous, but, though their increased numbers add largely to the volume of sound, no change is indicated in the trend of sentiment. It still runs strongly for McKinley for first place, and with no very marked choice for second place. The vice-president, in fact, seems to be a field marshal's baton, which may be hidden in the knapsack of any one of half a dozen private soldiers who have been named, or, with almost equal probability, may be concealed about the person of some one who has not yet been publicly suggested for the honor.

The Noise Begins.

The era of brass bands and marching clubs has set in to-day. Members of the national committee are pluming themselves upon their success in disposing of the immense mass of work thrust upon them, without holding a Sunday session, against which the conscientious scruples of several of the members strongly rebelled. True, it was nearly 5 o'clock Sunday morning before the last contest was disposed of, and the tired and worn out committeemen crawled away to their neglected beds. But inasmuch as the session began at 10 a. m. Saturday and was continued without adjournment, and with only brief recesses, until all the cases had been disposed of, the extra hours after midnight are regarded as merely an extension of Saturday's legislative day and not as a violation of the Sabbath.

Work of the National Committee.

The committee disposed in all of 168 cases, only referring to the convention for settlement the delegates-at-large from Mississippi, Delaware and Texas and the delegates from two of the New York districts and one California district. The number of cases was so great that, as one of the committeemen frankly admitted, it was a physical impossibility to give all of them a careful judicial consideration, and many of them were decided almost at hap-hazard. A very large proportion of the cases will be fought over again before the committee on credentials when the convention organizes and may delay the nomination until late in the week.

Morton Men Not Pleased.

None of the several hundred Platt-Morton men went to bed until the national committee disposed of the last of the New York contests. Mr. Platt was the one exception. He retired to his room for the night at 11 o'clock. His friends, however, displayed a feverish interest in the outcome, and were unwilling to leave the neighborhood of the national committee's headquarters until a final settlement was reached. Mr. Platt was early astir, and at 8 o'clock his friends began making their way to his rooms. Mr. Platt declined to express an opinion with reference to the national committee's action. Some of the other New York gentlemen, however, were not so reticent. Occupying as they do, intimate, personal and political relations with Mr. Platt they may be fairly supposed to represent his views and what they say, therefore, has all the force of an Catheode statement. It cannot be said that they are "pleased" with the result. They had hoped that Morton men only would be seated. To this extent they are disappointed.

No More Talk of a Bolt.

On the other hand, they were led to believe that the anti-Platt men would be favored without exception. That they are not so favored is naturally a source of gratification to them, and to this extent they are satisfied. As one of the number expressed it to a United Press representative, "We shall acquiesce in the committee's conclusion, for we have won a practical victory, but we would have preferred to have all our men seated." It may be said in this connection that all talk of a bolt of the New York men from the convention is at an end. Mr. Platt will not press the matter any further if the convention shall approve the national committee's action. It really represents a loss to Gov. Morton of only three and a-half votes out of a possible twelve. This means that Mr. Platt and his friends will remain in the convention and participate in its deliberations.

Platt Feels Slighted.

There is openly expressed dissatisfaction among the Platt men this morning that Gov. Morton should have chosen Chauncey M. Depew as the medium through whom to announce his determination not to accept the nomination for the vice-presidency. Mr. Platt was so much surprised when Mr. Depew showed him Gov. Morton's telegram that he instructed Chairman Hackett to wire the governor immediately about it. Mr. Hackett did so. The Platt men cannot understand why Gov. Morton, if he desired that his wishes in regard to the vice-presidency should be made known, did not acquaint the people who are managing his campaign with that fact. They are irritated, and make no secret of their displeasure at the governor's lack of tact, as they term it.

Hobart Leads for Vice-President.

The Platt men deny that any concerted action will be taken by them looking to the nomination of Benjamin F. Tracy of Brooklyn for the vice-presidency. It would appear from the frank expressions which fell from the lips of a number of these men that Gen. Tracy is not popular with them. They say, however, that should the convention develop a strong sentiment for Gen. Tracy they would not oppose it. They are disposed to believe, however, from reports which reach them through the Ohio men, that Mr. Hobart of New Jersey will be the candidate of the McKinley men, in which event his success is practically assured. The friends of the other candidates will not concede this, but they insist that many of McKinley's staunchest supporters are equally friendly to Dingley of Maine, Evans of Tennessee and other gentlemen whose names have been suggested for second place. Ex-judge J. Franklin Foutz, one of the New Jersey delegates, who has been selected to present Hobart's name to the convention, is enthusiastic over the bright outlook for New Jersey's favorite son.

STATE HEADQUARTERS.

Many Handsome Decorations—Where the Delegates Are Located.

St. Louis, June 15.—State headquarters were opened by the delegations from nearly every state to-day. Many of them are handsomely decorated and are thronged with visitors. McKinley badges and buttons are plentiful, and theae is a lively demand for linen dickeys built to fit over the shirt front and ornamented with the stars and stripes and a portrait of McKinley. Aside from the large hall assigned to the New York delegation, T. C Platt has a suite of rooms and Chauncey M. Depew has two rooms on the same floor. The California headquarters are the ladies' parlors of the Southern. A number of ladies helped to entertain visitors there this morning. Chauncey I. Filley has opened sumptuous headquarters at the Planters, where his portraits and buttons are dealt out lavishly. At the end of the room is a motto—"Stand up for Missouri." Mr. Kerens, his rival, has his headquarters at the Southern. New Jersey has taken two floors in a building at 302 Fourth street, half a block from the Southern. One of the most noticeable rooms opened to-day was that of the Tippecanoe club of Cleveland, O. It is on the ground floor of the Southern, and the four walls and the ceiling, as well, are completely hidden by bunting. Like all other Ohio rooms, a big McKinley portrait is the most conspicuous feature of the decoration. Illinois has a large room on the ground floor of the Southern, and Colorado is on the parlor floor of the same hotel. Maine, Michigan, Minnesota and Nebraska also have headquarters at the Southern. Rhode Island, Vermont and Wisconsin are at the Lindell. Connecticut, Maryland and Texas are at the Laclede, and Kansas, Kentucky and Tennessee are at Hurst's.

Reed Still in Washington.

Washington, June 15.—Speaker Reed still remains in Washington, and it is uncertain when he will go to New York. He received no communication from St. Louis this morning save a mail budget, which contained nothing new of importance.

Killed Himself in the Woods.

Erie, Pa., June 15.—Jerry Rhodes, a farmer, who lived at Mill Creek, was found in the woods yesterday with his throat cut from ear to ear. Rhodes had become despondent over his hardships and inability to get ahead in farming, and bidding his family adieu went to the woods and killed himself.

More Emigrants Coming.

St. Johns, N. F., June 15.—The steamer Portia, sailing from Halifax for New York, this morning took 150 emigrants. The present emigration exceeds anything in recent years.

Delicate Dress Goods.

Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable, NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redyeing. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? Laundry drivers will receive your work.

Plainfield, N. J. June 1st, 1896.

Sealed proposals will be received at this office until 7 p. m., June 22nd, 1896, for furnishing all material and labor called for in the plans and specifications for the Lincoln School Building, this city, for the masonry, carpentry and painting. Separate bids will be received for the masonry, carpentry and painting or one bid for the entire work. Plans may be seen at the office of the Architect, Mr. C. P. Karr, 70 Fifth avenue, New York, or obtained at the office of the Board of Education, High School building.

No bid will be considered unless the same is accompanied with a certified check to the order of the "Board of Education of the City of Plainfield" the amount of check in each instance to be as follows: If bid is for entire building $600; if for mason's contract, only $300; if for carpenter's contract only $300; if for painting only $50. Checks from unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned as soon as the contracts are awarded. Checks from the successful bidder or bidders will be retained until the contract is accepted and bonds furnished.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a satisfactory bond for one-half the amount of his contract, accompanied by two sureties thereto, each surety to qualify to the full amount of the bond.

Each bidder is to state the earliest date at which he will agree to complete the building.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to ask for modifications of same.

WORD GOLD OMITTED

Hanna's Financial Plank Will Declare for the "Existing Standard."

FREE SILVER IS TO BE CONDEMNED

Platt Declares the Platform Must Be Out and Out for Gold—Silver Men Say They Cannot Be Tricked with Mere Juggling with Words.

St. Louis, June 15.—Mr. Platt still insists that the word "gold" must appear in the financial plank of the platform. Nothing else he says will satisfy the east. "Will the east not be satisfied with a declaration to maintain the 'present standard' and against free coinage of silver at any ratio?" Mr. Platt was asked. "That is not strong enough," he responded. "We must have gold, gold, in the platform. There must be no mistaking the party's position on the money question." Mr. Platt has been in conference all morning with representative men—not McKinley men—however, he was careful to explain, with reference to the financial plank. He found a gratifying responsiveness to his insistence that the platform should declare for the single gold standard. They are here from the Dakotas, Indiana, Illinois and other western states which are known to be saturated with silver sentiment. These conferences encouraged him to believe that a majority of the convention will not only favor the gold standard but will urge a declaration for it. The seventy-six New York delegates will hold a meeting at their headquarters this afternoon to select the state members of the committees on resolutions and credentials and to consider other matters of detail. It is understood that Edward Lauterbach will be chosen to represent New York on the committee on resolutions and Frederick S. Gibbs on the national committee.

Hanna's Financial Plank.

Yesterday was not a day of rest for Mr. Hanna and his associates. More effective work in the matter of constructing a platform was accomplished than in any twenty-four hours up to date. Mr. Hanna, since coming to St. Louis, has received letters and telegrams from all parts of the country from representative business men giving him frequently in detail their ideas as to what the financial plank should be and how it should be expressed. These have been collated and arranged. The various platforms adopted by republican state conventions have also been carefully analyzed and considered. The result of all this is that early to-day Mr. Hanna prepared a rough draft of the platform, which he has submitted to almost every prominent politician in St. Louis except the free silver men and Mr. Platt and those connected with him in his fight against McKinley. This platform, so far as the financial plank is concerned, is a combination of the sentiments expressed in the New York and Indiana state conventions, but so framed as to omit the words "gold standard." It will declare for the "existing standard" and strongly condemn the free coinage of silver. This financial plank will be preceded, if Mr. Hanna's programme goes through, by a strong and vigorous declaration for a protective tariff and reciprocity, coupled with a brief history of tariff legislation and the disastrous effect upon the country of the Wilson bill, with attending depletion of revenue and the constantly growing deficit.

Can't Fool the Silver Men.

Senator Henry M. Teller, the leader of the silver forces at the republican convention, spent yesterday quietly at the residence of a friend in the suburbs of the city. He came into town this morning and at once went into a conference with the Colorado delegates at their headquarters in the Southern hotel. The only instructions given by the Colorado convention to its delegates-at-large were simply to act in accordance with the views of Senator Teller. For that reason the decision of this conference is awaited with interest. Senator Teller said this morning: "I see by the morning papers that the intention is to omit the word gold from the platform and declare for the existing standard, thereby making the people believe that it was anything else than a declaration for the gold standard. It is a mere juggling of words, and the silver men will not be misled by this construction. Nothing will satisfy them but a clear cut declaration for the free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1."

Crew Barely Escaped.

St. Johns, N. F., June 15.—The schooners Contest and Petunia collided off this port Saturday night. The latter was cut down to the water's edge and her crew of seven men barely escaped. The government has dispatched the revenue cruiser Hope with a store of provisions to relieve the destitute people at White Bay.

Fatally Injured Over a Girl.

Hollidaysburg, Pa., June 15.—John Formholtz and John Lemon, the latter a son of the late ex-auditor general John A. Lemon, quarreled here Saturday night over the affections of a girl whom both had been courting. Formholtz drew a knife and stabbed Lemon twice in the side. Lemon may die from internal hemorrhages. Formholtz has fled.

WARNING TO TURKEY

In Danger of Losing the Good Will of the Powers.

MUST STOP THE ATROCITIES IN CRETE

The German Ambassador Presents a Note to the Sultan Pointing Out the Danger—Austria-Hungary a Balkan Power.

Berlin, June 15.—Under an arrangement with the other ambassadors to the porte, Baron Saurma von Jeltsch, the German ambassador at Constantinople, has had an interview with the sultan and read to his majesty a note warning Turkey against the certainty of losing the good will of the powers by permitting the continuance of the atrocities in Crete. Subsequently the Austrian ambassador, Baron de Calise, obtained an interview with the sultan and emphasized the views which had been expressed by the German ambassador. The Berlin newspapers publish a report that the powers have sent a collective note to the porte which probably has reference to the less formal communication read to the sultan by Baron Sauma von Jeltsch. The separate interview with the sultan by Baron de Calise was due to the fact that he was obliged to make special representations bearing upon the interests of Austria that are involved in the Macedonian question, which is becoming acute. The Macedonian committee, which is sitting in Sofia, Bulgaria, has decided to make a demand for the autonomy of Macedonia and is practically conspiring to bring about an insurrection. It is therefore believed here that Austria has asked the sultan to consent to the occupation of Macedonia by Austrian troops in the event of an uprising there.

Austria-Hungary a Balkan Power.

In connection with this belief it may be noted that M. de Kallay, Austrian minister of finance, in speaking upon the Austrian budget in the reichsrath claimed that Austria-Hungary had become a Balkan power since the empire had acquired Roumania and therefore had a right to interfere in the Balkan peninsula. M. de Kallay in the course of his remarks hinted at, without openly mentioning them, plans which had been discussed at St. Petersburg for a confederation of the Balkan states under Russia's protectorate and said that in connection therewith the prince of Montenegro and the king of Servia were expected to hold a conference with Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria at Sofia at the end of the present month. The physical ailments of the sultan are among the factors which are causing the present diplomatic ferment, and the representations of the German ambassador to Turkey are aimed at immediate practical action in Crete, assisting the kaiser's policy of keeping the peace of Europe. Simultaneously with this move on the part of Germany, Russia has urged the Bulgarian government to put a stop at any cost to the armed bands raised by the Macedonian committee crossing the frontier.

ROW BOAT CAPSIZED.

Two Women and a Man Drowned in the Delaware During a Storm.

Gloucester City, N. J., June 15.—Yesterday morning during a severe storm a row boat containing five people capsized in the Delaware river off here and three of the occupants were drowned. The dead are Mrs. Hannah Richter, Mrs. Kate McCue and John Brewer. Besides the three drowned the boat contained John McCue and William Richter, husband of the two women. Mrs. Richter sang in a concert hall here, and her husband rowed her nightly across the river to their home n Philadelphia. Richter and McCue, after a desperate struggle, were carried shore on the upturned boat. Richster and his wife were only married on last Tuesday.

Great Damage to Small Craft at Barnegat.

Barnegat, N. J., June 15.—The heavy northeast storm which set in Saturday night continued all day yesterday and last night. No special damage has been done in the town. At low tide the water reached a mile inland on the meadows. Great damage has been done to the sailing craft. The pleasure schooner Sans Souci has dragged her anchor and is ashore at Conklin's island, and the Novelette, with a party of Philadelphia ladies on board was caught in the bay at anchor. The damage is estimated at $5,000.

Ex-Judge Maynard's Funeral.

Stamford, N. Y., June 15.—The funeral of Hon. Isaac H. Maynard was held from the First Presbyterian Church, Delhi, N. Y., yesterday afternoon, the Rev. L. F. Richards of Stamford officiating. Nearly the entire bar of Delaware county were present to pay their respects to their former well-known colleague. His former associates on the bench of the court of appeals, and many others who were unable to be present, sent telegrams of condolence. The interment was at Delhi.

Li Hung Chang Honored.

Berlin, June 15.—The emperor received Li Hung Chang, the special representative of the emperor of China to the coronation of the czar of Russia, yesterday. The emperor, who was surrounded by his ministers and other high dignitaries, conferred a decoration upon the Chinese viceroy and the latter presented to the kaiser a number of costly gifts from the Chinese emperor.

Schooner Capsized in the Sound.

Fort Jefferson, L. I., June 15.—The schooner Congress, Capt. Carr, loaded with wood, capsized in the sound off Miller's place Saturday night. The crew was saved. The vessel is now floating westward.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

(Furnished by Weather Observer Neagle.)

Fair Tonight and Tuesday; Warmer Tuesday.

At 2 o'Clock Leggett's Thermometer Registered 86 Degrees.

William C. Whitney is still in the public eye as a favorable candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination. Many prominent members of the party in New York assert that he is their selection for the place. James E. Martine, of this city, still believes that he will be the candidate.

W. H. Miles informs The Daily Press that there need be no fear of blocking the Watchung avenue opening by reason of litigation over the Miles estate. He says that the heirs of the estate dedicated the map for the street to be opened a year ago and the map was filed at the beginning of the year.

A decision of a New York judge concerning liability for jury duty will be of interest to many Plainfield men who reside a part of the time in New York. This judicial authority rules that even though a man may have his voting residence in another State, if he lives a greater part of the time in New York he is liable to jury duty just as though he had a perment abode there.

To listen to the prattle of the Jersey G. O. Pites at St. Louis, one would be impressed with the idea that the nomination of Garrett A. Hobart on the second place of the ticket would result in the complete annihilation of the Democracy in this State. What prattle! So far as State pride goes, the Democrats would be glad to see the Vice-Presidential honor accorded to one of their people, but when it comes to casting a ballot for him because he is of the same State, that is all absurdity. His nomination would doubtless keep a few hundred Republicans in line, but what figure would they cut along side of the thousands of voters who are Democrats at principle, and who will stand by the party's candidate in a National contest.

CELEBRATED INDOORS.

The Turner Fest Held in Saengerbund Hall on Account of Rain.

The disagreeable weather yesterday prevented in a measure the celebration of the National Turner Fest that was to have been held in Hyde's grove. About 75 guests, however, arrived on the 9:54 train yesterday morning, including representatives of the National Turning section, of Newark, Passaic Falls Turn Verein, Paterson society, including the Ladies' Section, Norwegian Turn Verein, of Brooklyn, and delegates from Passaic. The met at Saengerbund Hall on Somerset street and were welcomed by Henry Haurand. John Metzger, of Newark, then took charge of the exercises, which consisted chiefly of turning by the visiting members.

At 1 o'clock the women of the Plainfield society served dinner to the visitors. Those who prepared the dinner were Mrs. Chas. Myer, Mrs. Carl Felber, Mrs. Henry Goeller and Miss Barbara Schlick. In the afternoon the singing section rendered a pleasing programme of music. Charles Dresselt and Henry Wedemeyer gave vocal solos that received hearty applause. A feature was the singing by the Ladies' Section from Paterson. At the close President Schoetlin, of the Plainfield society, made a speech. A meeting of the delegates was held, called to order by Henry Haurand, chairman, and it was decided to hold the prize turning contest in Ulmer's Park, Brooklyn, on Labor Day. John Metzger was chosen chairman of the technical committee, and Henry Haurand, secretary. Each teacher will be requested to send four exercises on each apparatus. The next meeting will be held June 28th, when it will be decided what exercises will be used.

Contract for a Factory.

The contract for the building of the factory for the Hercules Seamless Drawn Steel Tube Company, to be located at Garwood, has been awarded to V. J. Hedden, of Newark, and work will be begun next week. Mr. Hedden and Wallace Buell, president of the company, looked over the ground together last Friday.

Funeral of Mrs. Adams.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Adams, of Terril road and North avenue, were held yesterday afternoon from St. Mary's church and Rev. Father Murphy officiated. A large number of relatives and friends were present. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Informal Supper to Pastors.

An informal supper will be given to the minister of this city this evening, at which time they will meet the State officers of the Christian Endeavor Society and the '96 programme committee. The supper will be held in the Y. M. C. A. building.

Lovely Garden," by Harry Hand; song, "We Are Little Flowers," by Hattie Dunlap, Yeddie Guier, Edna Kennedy and Henrietta Walsh; song, "O Paradise of Beauty Rare;" solo, "Angel of Time," by Miss Margaretta Van H. Barnes; recitation, "Another Garden," by Miss Mabel Jenkins; song, "A Garden Far Away;" solos, O Hear My Simple Story," by Yeddie Guier, Edna Kennedy and Henrietta Walsh; song, "Once More Our Happy Voices," by choir; closing hymn, "Praise We The Father." The children to take part in the floral march were: Jennie Devine, Mamie Devine, Eva Webster, Lucy Jennings, Carrie Mulford, Laura Trembath, Helen Whitney, Grace Ulrich, Helen Harned, Hattie Dunlap, Mabel Vail, Lottie Montrose, Maude Disbrow, Florence Disbrow, Edna Moore, Florence Symons, Mabel Symons and Mabel Jenkins. The three principal characters in the cantata were taken by the following: "Hope," Miss Lydie Pangborn; "Love," Miss Templer; "Faith," Miss Milly Terril. The chorus choir assisted in the musical portion of the programme and was slightly enlarged for the occasion. The platform was arranged with large bunches of daisies, other wild flowers and roses. There was a short address by the pastor, Rev. Charles R. Barnes, D. D.

PRESENTED WITH A TESTIMONIAL.

Appreciation Shown of T. S. Burr's Services to the Plainfield Bicycle Club.

The trustees of the Plainfield Bicycle Club, acting upon a resolution passed by the club at a recent meeting, have sold their Sycamore street property and all apparatus to a syndicate of gentlemen interested in the Boys' Club. While the Bicycle Club will not go out of existence, it was thought by the trustees that this would be a fitting time to show their appreciation of the deep interest and devotion to club matters always shown by their fellow-member, T. S. Burr.

The club is the second oldest organization of its kind in the State, and Mr. Burr's connection with it dates from its earliest days. Under his leadership, and inspired by his energy, the club has planned and carried out the many improvement and additions to its house and grounds, and his home has many times been opened to the board for their monthly meetings, an adjournment always carrying with it an invitation to accept his hospitality as provided for the inner man.

Accordingly a subscription "trustee run" was planned for Saturday afternoon and dinner ordered at the Middlebrook Inn. After enjoying a most sumptuous repast, President VanVleit, in a short speech, presented Mr. Burr with a testimonial in silver, appropriately inscribed as showing the board's appreciation of his long devotion to club interests. Although completely taken by surprise, the guest of the evening accepted the token with one of his characteristic witty speeches, after which the evening was spent in song and reminiscenses of club runs and tours in the days of the good old high wheel.

The present board of trustees is composed of President D. M. VanVleit, Vice-president Dr. D. C. Adams, Secretary J. G. Drayton, Treasurer F. W. Walz, Captain F. L. C. Martin, M. W. Daboll, D. H. Lenox, A. L. C. Marsh, J. P. Mellick and Townsend Rushmore.

RETURNED AFTER NINETEEN YEARS.

A Plainfield Lady Regains Her Wedding Ring Under Odd Circumstances.

Nineteen years ago last Thursday an East Second street lady lost a solid gold band ring, the wedding present of her husband nine years before. The ring was prized highly by reason of its association, and a fruitless search was instituted for it. Last Friday a registered letter was received by the lady and when it was opened she could hardly believe her eyes to see the long-lost ring drop into the palm of her hand. Accompanying it was a note of explanation from a former domestic, in which it was stated that the ring had been found three months ago near the point where it was lost, and seeing the date of its gift engraved on the inside and knowing of the circumstances surrounding its loss, she determined to surprise the owner by its return on her twenty-eighth wedding anniversary. The surprise was a most pleasing one.

BAD SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The Metuchen Recorder Cries Out Against Illegal Liquor Selling.

The Metuchen Recorder publishes the following:

Does Prosecutor Voorhees know that in South Plainfield there is no pretence of observing the law against Sunday liquor selling? In Plainfield and Metuchen, the taverns are kept rigidly closed on Sunday. The consequence is that in South Plainfield, which is about midway between the two, toughs of high and low degree and of all colors flock from both places to that unfortunate village by the score, and there is a regular saturnalia of drunkenness from morning until night. Does the court which licenses them think that two big taverns are just the right proportion for one little church in that sparsely settled village? We will say for the Prosecutor's benefit that there is no justice of the peace and no constable nearer than New Market. Several have been nominated from time to time, but have declined to serve. We will further add that the Prosecutor will find little public spirit to back him in that village. It is doubtful if enough citizens could be got to sign a protest against a renewal of the licenses whose provisions are so flagrantly and habitually violated, and thus rid themselves of this crying disgrace to the good township of Piscataway.

—The head light of the Fifth street trolley car fell off just as it was starting from the North avenue terminus Saturday night about 9:15, and the oil in the fount became ignited. The lantern was completely ruined.

—Mayor Hegeman, of the borough, desires The Daily Press to state that the errors made in the names on the fire bell and the omission of Chief Fairchild's name was an oversight, for which he is exceedingly sorry.

—Dr. H. K. Carroll gave a very interesting talk at Grace M. E. church yesterday morning on the doings of recent M. E. Conference held at Cleveland. The attendance was very encouraging considering the storm.

—At the First Baptist church yesterday morning there were sixty-one persons present. The decorations were very pretty about the platform. Dr. Yerkes preached a strong sermon, and Miss Harris sang a beautiful solo. There was no evening service.

—"I have been using Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills for the last three or four years, and they have saved us many doctor bills. We always keep them in the house." Mrs. John F. Hall, Neshanic, N. J. Hood's Pills cure sick headache, indigestion.

—No Children's Day exercises were held in the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning. They will be held next Sunday. There were about sixty persons present at the church service in the morning, and the pastor, Rev. C. E. Herring, preached an interesting sermon.

—A trial trip was made this afternoon with one of the new trolley cars over the Netherwood line which proved satisfactory. The cars will not run on regular time over the lines until tomorrow or Wednesday, as there is not enough power at present at the electric light station to run more than six cars at one time.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by continually failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

A LEAK

During the storm yesterday one of the skylights on our building blew off and consequently we have a lot of summer underwear for ladies and gentlemen slightly damaged by water. 50 dozen ladies fine ribbed vests that were 18c, now 10c. A lot of gent's fine balbriggan shirts that were 50c, now 33c. Ladies' hosiery. About 50 dozen ladies hose. The 15c quality will go for 10c.

KID GLOVES—Over 800 pair of importer's sample gloves came in the other day and only a small notice in the papers about them, but 400 people saw it and bought the gloves. The balance 400 pair on sale tomorrow, 59c

BOYS—Here's a racket for you. 300 fine cambric shirt waists such as your mothers usually pay 25c for, will go for 13c.

PLAIN NAINSOOKS—A thousand yards of them, such as you usually pay 10c for, but they are only 5c the yard.

SHIRT WAISTS—In the shirt waist manufacturing business ourselves now. There is hardly a style made but what you can find here and if you do want something different pick out your material and we make it for you for 50c. Laundered shirt waists, cambric, 49c. Fine percale waists, 59c. Beautiful lawns, dimity, batiste, etc., lace trimmed, yoke back 98c. Silk waists, colored and black, $1.89.

MATTING—If importers and makers never made mistakes you would never buy matting at such prices. Too many they made and no fault with the goods, but how prices tumble. Think of fine linen warp matting for 13c the yard. We thought they were cheap at 20c and most stores ask 25c for them. Matting porch rugs 10, 15 and 19c each.

SPECIAL—Ladies' skirts made of fine swivel silk lined with fine rustling percaline, equal to any $5 skirt made. We only ask $2.69. See them.

MEN—Here is a shirt news worth reading. It's the old story of the manufacturer making too many goods more than he could sell, so he accepted our offer 50c on a dollar for his stock. Men's outing shirts 50c kind 32c. Men's silk stripe soft finish outing shirts the dollar kind 59c. Men's silk and wool shirts such as you usually pay $2.00 for we sell for 98c. Boy's fine outing shirts, regular 50c quality. Our Price 27c.

Housefurnishing Department.

Our business—not to carry over any summer goods.
Your business—to bring this list with you and get just what we advertise.
You will find others just as good when you get here. This is all for today.
More days coming.

THE FASHION.

It seems to be the fashion in some stores to charge as much as they can for a thing, no matter what it is worth. Now, we don't do that. We are not claiming any extraordinary merit for ourselves, either. We are simply honest. We sell furnishings for every one. We sell for the man who wants his tastes satisfied, irrespective of cost, and for the man who doesn't want to spend his last cent on a tie. We give satisfaction to each and all.

A WOMAN'S HEART.

IT WAS Helen Hoyt's third revolution in the fashionable maelstrom called "society," and as yet, though slightly giddy, she had not lost her head.

Neither had she lost her heart, albeit she was twenty-two, and there are young women who think if they still retain possession of their hearts up to that advanced age they are destined to hold them forever.

It may be doubted if she had a heart to lose. She had a heart, but her head went with it, and when a woman's head goes with her heart she seldom loses it. She may let it go into the keeping of a man, but that is not always losing it, as the term is generally applied among sentimentalists. She knows where it is, and it is never beyond recall. These are the sensible women of the world. Never enthusiasts, but always reliable, and steady to the end, come weal or come woe, if so that the holders of their hearts are worthy. Heroines they may be, sacrificing everything to motives higher than mere sentiment.

That Helen Hoyt was such a woman could not be said definitely, but there was evidence to that effect in the circumstance that three men were swinging uncertainly in the balance before her. This is beyond the power of the emotional enthusiast. She may have three men in the balance at three different times, but never three at one time. She chooses first, and the man puts himself in the balance afterward.

As young as she was, she had reasoned these things out for herself, aided and abetted somewhat by the counsel of the colonel, a man twice her age, a veteran of many emotional battles, and a ripe experience, which had never been rudely shocked by matrimony.

She had seen him much oftener than the three men in the balance, and she had discussed them with him, not always directly, as if she were the interested person, but oftenest under the thin veil of a suppositious case, as is the custom of men and women whose inexperience needs a remedy which they are too diffident to ask for openly. Fortunately for such, there are those who will humor them.

This afternoon Miss Hoyt sat in the quiet drawing-room thinking. The colonel and she had talked a long time the day before on this, to her, all important subject, and he was to come again at five o'clock. To add to the interest of the colonel's visit of counsel their last talk had not been of a suppositious case, but he had made it directly personal, and she had not denied that she was the previously supposed young woman whose destiny was to be determined by question, analysis and reason.

"Ah, me," she thought, "what a study the heart is. I wonder if all women's hearts are as mine will persist in being? I know many men, but of them all it seems there is not one that fills it, and Alice, who is the dearest of girls, says there can be but one. And the colonel—well, the colonel tried to point out the way, but he seems to obscure it by his own presence. Of them all, three stand out distinctly, asking me to choose.

"My head says 'choose,' but my heart remains dumb. If it should speak, I wonder what it would say? I wonder if in all the world there is no magic touch to break its seal of silence. There stands the professor, a man much older than myself; a grave man, noble-hearted and good, devoted to his scientific studies and rising in his profession; ill at ease and slow of speech in the tumult of society; manifesting his brilliancy only in some philosophical or scientific discussion with men; reserved, yet loving me, he says, with an ardent and absorbing love, which must be the pledge of a happy, comfortable future.

"But is it true? Does a woman find in science and philosophy what her heart craves? Will the man who is so profoundly interested in these subjects find his wife a substitute for them? His sweetheart may be for the time, but the colonel says there is much difference between a sweetheart and a wife in most men's minds, and I wish I didn't half believe the colonel."

She laughed a short, hard laugh, and looked out of the window a moment at a man and maid as they walked slowly along, very intent upon each other.

"Sweetheart," she said, almost cynically, and became thoughtful again.

"And next is the artist," her thoughts whispered to her. "The colonel says an artist is lovely to hang on the wall for ornament, but he is of uncertain value as a piece of domestic furniture. Still I like the artist very much indeed. Of course, he is youthful, dreamy and an idealist, with the gaze and locks of a poet, but such things appeal to most young women as they appeal to me.

"Not to my everyday sense, perhaps, but to the artistic longings that move every refined soul, and I hope I am sufficiently refined to appreciate the ideal, although I don't want to neglect the real. His slightest attention is as graceful as a sonnet; so different from the clumsy, well-meant efforts of the professor; but is it sincere? Does he not study it as he would study and fashion a love ditty to me—possibly to some other girl? Men are deceivers ever. With wealth and luxuries lavished upon him he lingers upon the retrospective glimpses of the past; his eyes, dimmed by the subdued, fading tints of rare old tapestries, shrink from the glare and the bustle of the present.

"A career! the word has a brusque and martial sound that disturbs his reveries! Ah, if life were only a sunny morning; a canoe afloat upon a placid stream with a volume of Ibsen and no clocks to tick away the flight of time. Would it not be wiser to accept the bread, somewhat thickly cut, but well buttered, with all that science offers? The colonel says it would; and, really, I begin to think the colonel is a valuable counselor. The fact is, I like the colonel, and when a woman likes a man she likes his advice, and likes to take it, if for no other reason than to please him. Which I think is the height of unselfishness, for advice is so hard to take.

"The colonel smiled at me Sunday when the third man came down to see me. He smiled, too, as if he had found something. But he said nothing directly. I wonder if he thinks I like the third man best. John Franklin, that's a good substantial name, but John isn't quite up to it. He's a Harvard kind of a man, of the sunny, flitting, class-day-in-June type; physically perfect, handsome, stunning, I might say, and much more, he stands at the university gates with empty pockets, half soberly, half gladly, and all problematically, gazing into the great unsolved future.

"It is my mission to help him solve the problem? Does he love me because he is young, and love is the light of youth, shining whither it will? Would he be the same in the aftertimes? Would his promise meet the fulfillment I expect—that any woman would expect? More; that any woman has the right to demand of the man to whom she gives her heart? Is he as sure as the older man? As the sweetheart of his youth fades before him, in his wife, withered by the years that wreck the beauty of so many women, will he in his strong manhood be as tender and loving as he now is?

"The colonel says a woman should not marry a man so near her own age that she should grow old before he does. The colonel, I think, is arguing for himself, because he has waited so long that he must either marry a woman twenty years younger than himself or fill a bachelor's grave. I know it, for he has told me so himself, and he says it is a dreadful thought to thus perpetuate his loneliness.

"Sometimes I feel real sorry for the colonel because he is such a congenial, companionable, honest kind of an old fellow, who would be so nice to have around all the time. Not much romance, of course, but what's romance after the wedding day? Heigho, I wish

"THEN FATE MUST HOLD A ROYAL FLUSH."

I were like Alice. She didn't have to make a choice. The man simply appeared and the choice made itself."

Miss Hoyt arose from her chair and stretched herself as one does when walking. She hadn't thought so much in months, and it made her tired, without accomplishing the purpose sought. The three men were still in the balance, and it showed no variation in favor of any one as against the other two. She stepped to the window as the colonel came up and rang the door bell.

"Oh," she exclaimed, as he entered the room, "I don't know whether I've been asleep or not, but I have surely had an attack of nightmare."

"Three of a kind still in your hand, eh?" he smiled as he shook hands with her.

"Yes," she sighed.

"Then fate must hold a royal flush," he said, "to win the game."

"Can fate hold such a hand?" she asked, hopelessly almost.

"Fate makes its own decrees."

"Then why doesn't it do it in my case? It seems to leave it all to me to do."

"My dear Miss Hoyt," he said to her, more gently than his usual tone of lightness and jocularity, "it is not three men you should have in your head, but one in your heart."

"But which one?" she asked nervously, for she saw the colonel's hand tremble and his eyes were turned from her.

"I cannot tell you if you do not know," he replied, and this time his eyes looked straight into hers and she felt a heart-throb she had never felt before.

"Isn't it funny," remarked Miss Hoyt an hour later, "that I never thought of you?"

"It's a blessing to me that you didn't," he answered, "for if you had ever taken me into your head I would never have got into your heart. A woman," concluded the colonel sententiously, but with infinite satisfaction, "doesn't need a head anyhow; the man is the head of the family."

And Miss Hoyt only smiled and was content with this early assumption of authority, for her heart was at rest, and when a woman's heart is at rest it is easy to smile and be contented.—Detroit Free Press.

He Sniffeth the Earthquake.

It is a well-known fact that horses can hear sounds that are not perceptible to human ears. For days previous to the great earthquake in the Riviera the horses of that locality showed every symptom of abject fear, which continued without change of character, unless it was in the direction of greater frenzy, till the fury of the great convulsion broke forth. Not until a few seconds, however, before the earth began to tremble did human beings hear the subterranean rumblings. One writer from the scene says that in his opinion the horses knew that the great quake was on the way from seventy-two to one hundred hours before their masters heard or felt the first jar.—St. Louis Republic.

SOMETHING NEW.

How Some People Follow Every New Fad.

But the Majority Prefer That Experiments Should Be Tried Upon Somebody Else.

Some persons are always so anxious for something new that it is astonishing they still continue to eat plain bread and butter. They have always thrived well on beef, eggs, and potatoes; but somebody writes an article for a scientific journal, and attempts to show that these foods are neither as cheap nor as nutritious as some other kind of food. Therefore, some persons drop this standard diet and take up whatever some young scientist directs. We cannot understand this. When anything has been thoroughly tried and tested, and found in every way satisfactory, why do some people persist in running after some new-fangled notion? Take cod-liver oil for instance. It has been used for two hundred years with most marvellous success, and in a large variety of complaints. Its success has been no greater in the past than it is to-day. More skillful methods of preparing it, and emulsifying it (for it is generally acknowledged that it should always be given in the form of an emulsion), gives assurance that its future use is bound to be even far greater than ever.

And yet some people talk about a "substitute for cod-liver oil"! Substitute? Why, it is almost laughable. It certainly would be so, were the question not such a serious one. There can be no substitute for cod-liver oil, for there is nothing at all like it known to medical science. When Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with the Hypophosphites has been used for over twenty years, and when thousands have testified to its curative properties, is it not strange that any one would think of trying an experiment with some new preparation of cod-liver oil? When you know you are safe in taking Scott's Emulsion, is it not too risky business to try something new? Do you think Scott's Emulsion could have stood these twenty years, and have a larger sale to-day than ever before, unless it had true, genuine merit. Where do you suppose these substitutes, which do not contain a particle of oil, will be twenty years from now? And where will all the fancy preparations, as the various wines of cod-liver oil, be at that time? It is perfectly safe to predict that before they are half as old as Scott's Emulsion is, they will be forgotten. Do not allow yourselves to be experimented upon; be satisfied with the best; and take advantage of twenty years of ever increasing prosperity.

Scott's Emulsion contains more pure Norwegian Cod-liver Oil than any other emulsion in the world, that will stand the test of time as being a perfect inseparable emulsion. Ask your doctor

CHILDREN'S COSTUMES.

New Things in Dress for the Younger Girls.

The shops are filled this year with the most fascinating materials for girls' frocks. Challies in the Dolly Varden patterns, flowered dimities, colored piques, sheer lawns of every color and design, organdies, and even linens and grass cloths, are considered suitable for children's wear, while in the wool goods there is an endless variety.

The challis are by many mothers preferred to silks, for the old-fashioned idea that silk is a material not to be worn by a girl until she is 18 is not quite done away with, although fashion seems to have changed lately, and the silks are used in great quantities, the pompadour and empire patterns and the Dresden flowers being preferred. Still, there are, as has been said, many women who prefer to use challis for children's wear.

There are but two styles of skirts for children's dresses. One is made very full, and with no goring; this is sewed on to the band in gathers, three rows of fine shirring insuring a better hanging to the skirt, and the fullness being kept as much as possible to the back. Some very smart French frocks have a perfectly circular skirt, which of course hangs without any fulness over the hips, and flares out considerably around the bottom. Ruffles are tabooed, and the skirt is finished with a deep hem. Two rows of insertion let in above the hem, or, if the gown be of wool, with lace laid on the material, are the only trimming ever seen, and this but rarely, for the plain look is considered much smarter.

Guimpe dresses are worn by girls as old as 12, and they are made with very little variation from last year, the difference lying only in the trimming over the shoulders of the dress. Sometimes this is put on in bands of embroidery ruffled one over the other, or in plain bands of pique trimmed with a narrow edge of embroidery. The waist itself is the full baby waist, gathered in at the belt, and an insertion through which ribbon is run finishes waist and skirt. The sleeves are full puffs which reach a little above the elbows, and are finished with the insertion to run ribbon through, and the full stiff look is given to the puffs by means of small tapes inside, which are tied tight or loose, as the case may be. A white dimity with sprays of moss-roses made in the style just described is exceedingly dainty and fresh, with its trimming of moss-green ribbon an inch wide, which, put through the different insertions, is finished with rosettes on either side of the front, and also at the back, but there has the addition of long ends. Another pretty little gown to be worn with a guimpe is of pink and white striped grass cloth. This has the batiste collar edged with embroidery and bright cherry ribbons, which make it look as clean and bright as a new stick of peppermint candy. Another little gown made on these lines is a bright red gingham with a polka dot of white. In this gown the collar and caps over the sleeves are all of the same material, and merely edged with embroidery put on without any fullness, while the little cap pieces are fastened on the waist with tiny white pearl buttons.—Harper's Bazar.

A LEMON CHESS PIE.

Directions for the Making of a Toothsome Dessert.

This pie is somewhat of a puzzle to housekeepers. It is composed of eggs, butter, sugar and lemon juice, so put together that they form a perfectly light, consistent paste if the directions are followed. It will not be possible to expect a successful result unless the directions are implicitly followed, though they contradict the ordinary method of mixing. Measure out three rounded tablespoonfuls of butter, five tablespoonfuls of sugar, the grated yellow peel and juice of one lemon and the yolks of three eggs. Put all these ingredients in a porcelain-lined saucepan, hold the saucepan over the stove and beat the ingredients together continually for five minutes. Do not let the saucepan rest on the stove, but tip it all the time so that every part of the mixture may be moved by the beating. Use an egg whip in beating. Finally, the mixture will have thickened, remove it from the fire and add at once the whites of three eggs beaten to a very stiff froth. Continue to beat in the whites with an egg-whip for five minutes. Line a ten-inch pieplate with rich pastry and pour in the filling. Bake the pie three-quarters of an hour in a rather quick oven. The whites will not separate from the butter and sugar if the pie is properly made. Cut the pie as soon as it is taken out of the oven. Serve it cold or hot. If the butter, sugar and yolks sink to the bottom and the whites rise to the top the pie has not been properly mixed. The secret lies in properly beating the butter, sugar and yolks together over the fire to form a slightly thickened mass, which, when mixed with the whites, becomes a species of sponge. It is an improvement to most sponge cakes to be raised with eggs alone and to heat the yolks of the eggs and sugar over the fire while beating them together. The beating must be stopped a moment or the eggs would be ruined by curdling.—N. Y. Tribune.

Meat Pies.

One pint finely chopped meat, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, two teaspoons grated onion, one egg, one tablespoon butter, one teaspoon flour, one-half gill milk; put butter in frying pan and on the fire with flour, then milk; when it boils up put in seasoned meat, cook for two minutes and set aside to cool. Pastry.—One pint flour, four tablespoons lard, one teaspoon salt, two of baking powder, one tablespoon sugar, generous gill of water, roll out, divide in ten squares, place prepared meat in each square, roll, place in butter pan, wash each roll with the egg; bake 25 minutes.—Boston Globe.

CYCLING COMMENT.

James Bailey and Herbert Randolph rode their wheels to New Brunswick Saturday.

Mr. Hutchins, of Leggett's pharmacy, rode his wheel to Bloomfield on Saturday.

Mae Stroud and Edward Whitlock, of New Brunswick, visited Plainfield Saturday on the wheels.

Clifford M. Crane, of West Eighth street, and Benjamin O. Bowers, Jr., spent Saturday on a tandem, visiting Boynton Beach and Perth Amboy.

Henry Eggerding, of Arlington avenue, and Bronson Smith, of West Eighth street, spent Saturday at Boynton Beach. They rode over on their wheels.

Just as Benjamin LaVere, of East Front street, started on his wheel for New Brunswick on Saturday, he punctured his front tire and had to postpone his trip.

The Hudson county boulevard, Bloomfield avenue, Shore road, Elizabeth-Plainfield road and the old Springfield road are hard and practically free from dust.

Mrs. E. P. Williams and Miss Eleanor Williams, of West Seventh street, and Miss Clara Long, of Park avenue, rode to Boynton Beach on their wheels Saturday and spent the day.

Fred H. Freeman, of Sandford avenue, and his guest, "Geg" Moore, rode over to Boynton Beach Saturday morning, where they spent the day. Some of their friends joined them in the afternoon

The trolley roads are complaining of the inroads upon their business by bicycle riding. It is declared that the receipts of the Newark cars have fallen off this summer as much as $5 per car per day, as compared with last summer's business, and that the bicycle is responsible for a great part of the loss.

The Crescent Wheelmen Juniors held their athletic meet at the Crescent Oval last Saturday afternoon and the races proved very successful. The contestants were numerous and most of the finishes were close and, therefore, exciting. The time made was excellent for such young riders. Quite a number witnessed the games. George Prector Smith acted as referee. All the events were handicapped.

One of the prettiest races was the two-mile bicycle race, the first prize for which was the handsome red sweater donated by The Daily Press. James Taylor started alone from scratch with the nearest rider around the turn at the quarter pole. Taylor rode a game race, however, caught the bunch after two laps and came in the victor after a pretty spurt, amid the plaudits of the crowd.

The 220 yards dash was especially close, Chandor finishing only a few inches ahead of Roome. The one-third mile bicycle race, for boys under eleven, was quite amusing. Nearly twenty started and they rode in true racing fashion, the youngsters fairly doubling up like a jack knife on the home stretch.

There was not a single accident to mar the pleasure of the afternoon.

The summaries were:

100 yards dash—Won by Howard Roome, 6 yards; Harold Chandor, 2 yards, second; Ray Smith, 6 yards, third. Time, 12 4-5 seconds.

One mile bicycle—Won by Roy Radford, 45 yards; Ned Waring, scratch, second; Charles Dodd, scratch, third; Harold Armstrong, 100 yards, fourth. Time, 2:47.

One-third mile bicycle, boys under eleven years—Won by Harris Egan, 15 yards; Joe Hawkins, scratch, second; Eddie Demarest, scratch, third; Roland Rockfellow, scratch, fourth. Time, 57 seconds.

220 yards dash—Won by Harold Chandor, 5 yards; Howard Roome, 12 yards, second; Alfred Egan, scratch, third. Time, 25 seconds.

Two mile bicycle—Won by James Taylor, scratch; Ned Waring, 150 yards, second; Frank Talmage, 150 yards, third. Time, 5:45. Taylor's first mile, 2:37.

Running high jump—Won by Harold Chandor, scratch; Owen Fleming, 1 inch, second; Roy Radford, 4 inches, third. Heighth, 4 feet, 3 inches.

Five-mile bicycle—Won by Charles Dodd, scratch; Frank Talmage, 150 yards, second; Frank Denecklau, scratch, third; Ned Waring, 100 yards, fourth.

Harold Chandor won the prize for scoring the most points.

INS AND OUTS.

The Cuban Giants beat the West Ends Saturday 5 to 4 in a game of ball. The feature was the pitching of Higgins and Evans.

Next Saturday afternoon the baseball team of the Plainfield A. C. will play with the Dunellen team on the grounds of the Dunellen club.

Mayor B. A. Hegeman, Jr., will umpire a game of baseball July 4th, between the bachelors and benedicts. The game will be played on the Y. M. C. A. grounds.

The Plainfield Athletic Club was defeated in a game of baseball with the Westfield Y. M. C. A. team at Westfield, Saturday. Only seven innings were played, during which there was plenty of heavy batting on both sides. The Plainfield boys played a very poor game in the field, which accounts for the defeat in a large degree. The Westfield boys played a very good game in every position of the field. Two of the best players of the Plainfield Athletic Club team were not on the field, much to the injury of the whole team. The features of the game were the excellent batting of McDeed, of Westfield, and of Mark for the Plainfield A. C. The following is the tale of woe:

P. A. C.....	3	3	2	2	2	0	1	—13
Y. M. C. A...	8	0	9	4	5	4	x	—30

Umpire—Mr. Cose.

What gave promise of being a very closely contested game of ball, proved otherwise on Saturday, when the Y. M. C. A. team team met the Harlem Athletic team. The home team have had enough to discourage them. Johnson, the Scotch Plains pitcher, for the second time failed to appear, and on Saturday he sent word at three o'clock that he could not come. Manager McLoughlin would do well to drop such an unreliable player and it is understood that he has, and that just as soon as Chauncey Burt concludes his studies at Princeton he will occupy the position the rest of the summer. Owing to Johnson's absence Major occupied the box, and though not professing to be a pitcher, he did remarkably well. McLaughlin was not able to play on account of illness. Pearson was placed in centre field and covered the position with a good deal of life and snap. A little more practice and confidence is all that he seems to need. Up to the ninth inning, the game was as fine a one as anybody could wish for. The score stock six to four against the home team. In the ninth the visitors started in and knocked out ten runs. This discouraged the home boys and they could not overcome the lead. The visitors did better stick work and secured fifteen hits, against eight for the Y. M. C. A. team. Joseph Sandord and Gifford took care of right field, but the former only played one inning. Sandford distinguished himself by keeping the visitors guessing. The Harlem boys found it very hard to jolly the umpire, who kept strict order, though at one time it looked as though the game would break up The visitors put up a good stiff game and held their opponents down to a few runs. The attendance was fair, but nothing what it should be. It is to be hoped that the people will patronize the games better. Next Saturday the team will play the Montclair team at the latter place. The full score of Saturday's game follows:

WHIST.

The Mail and Express of Saturday has the following extract with regard to the Whist Club of Plainfield: "There is a very sad state of affairs in the Park Club, of Plainfield. Townsend, the star of the team, has imbibed the supporting card game in all its grandeur, and the rest of the team believes absolutely in the old style of play. The result will in all probability be that this celebrated club will have no representatives at the coming congress."

City Treasurer Titsworth is out again after a week's illness.

Did you ever think how readily the blood is poisoned by constipation? Bad blood means bad health and premature old age. DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills, overcome obstinate constipation. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front Street.

Woman, Child and Bicycle Collided.

The bell on a bicycle is sometimes very handy, while it has often been the cause of accidents. An example of the latter occurred this morning at the corner of Front street and Park avenue. Thos. Duffy was approaching the corner, when a woman and child started to cross the street. Duffy rang his bell, but the pedestrians paid no attention until he had almost reached the crossing. There was a collision and the rider was thrown from his wheel. The woman refused to give her name. She was not hurt.

LAWN TENNIS.

The Park Club will hold a tennis tournament on July 4th on the club courts on Washington avenue. There will be both singles and doubles, open only, however, to club members.

Edward Schmith, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Schmith, of Pearl street, died Saturday afternoon after a short illness with lung trouble. This is the third child Mr. and Mrs. Schmith have lost since April 1st. The funeral was held this afternoon from the house.

—Wm. Koehn, of New Market came to town Saturday night on business, and while here became intoxicated. When Marshal Hansen met him he was disorderly and as a result Koehn was arrested. This morning he was fined ten dollars by Justice Crosley. George Zeisz was also arrested by Marshal Hansen last evening for being disorderly while people were coming from church. He was fined five dollars. Both fines were paid.

MASSACHUSETTS SENSATION.

The Threat of a Bolt Caused Much Surprise—Delegates To Meet To-day.

St. Louis, June 15.—The threat of a bolt in the Massachusetts delegation last evening caused a decided sensation, and resulted in the prompt adjournment of the meeting until this morning. Eben S. Draper was elected chairman of the delegation and E. C. Benton its secretary. Up to this point everything went smoothly, but when George H. Lyman of Boston was nominated for member of the national committee, an emphatic protest was at once forthcoming. Immediately following this nomination M. V. B. Jefferson, apparently excited, but with much emphasis, said that if the effort was made to place Lyman on the committee Reed could not have the solid vote of Massachusetts, as in that event McKinley would have three votes on first ballot. Without attempting to argue the matter the session was adjourned at once until to-day, at which time, it was said, Lyman would be elected, as he has twenty-seven out of the thirty votes of the delegation. Senator Lodge will also be elected to-day as a member of the committee on resolutions. This morning the most interesting discussion were the indications given by the Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts delegations of breaking away to McKinley.

CONNECTICUT FOR M'KINLEY.

Fessenden Said To Be the One Delegate for Reed.

St. Louis, June 15.—The Connecticut delegation organized last night, with ex-Gov. Morgan T. Bulkeley as chairman and C. M. Jarvis as secretary and treasurer. Samuel Fessenden was again chosen member of the national committee and appointed member of the committee on resolutions. The meeting was a protracted one, lasting over two hours. Most of this time is said to have been spent in an effort to agree on presenting a solid front on the first ballot for president. C. M. Jarvis afterward said that the member of the national committee, Mr. Fessenden, alone held out for Reed. The other members of the delegation are all pronounced for McKinley, and in his opinion they will vote for him on the first ballot.

Pushing Bulkely for Second Place.

The Connecticut delegation is pushing with engery the candidacy of ex-Gov. Morgan G. Bulkely for second place on the ticket. They are all for McKinley sound money and Bulkely. They base their hopes on the attitude Morton, Reed and other eastern men in regard to the vice-presidency, and point to ex-Gov. Bulkely's record as mayor of Hartford four consecutive and governor of Connecticut two terms, and his business standing and army record, and claim that he is the most desirable man for the place.

WINNER OF THE GRAND PRIX.

Arreau Lands the Great French Turf Prize Before a Distinguished Audience.

Paris, June 15.—The great event in the French turf world, the race for the Grand Prix de Paris, took place yesterday and was won by half a length by M. Edmond Blanc's bay colt Arreau. M. A. Abeille's bay colt Champaubert was second, half a length in front of M. H. Delamarre's bay colt Montreuil, third. The weather was brilliant and a large crowd was present, including the fashionable world. Among the starters was the chestnut colt Shannon, by Atlantic, out of Severn, the property of Henry Ridgway, an American. Shannon ran splendidly and led during a part of the race, but he could not stand the pace and finished fifth. Among those present was the Hon. James B. Eustis, the American ambassador.

A Pitiable Case.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—I earnestly protest against the flippant article which appeared in your issue of Friday last in regard to unfortunate Wilhelm Kempf, who was taken to Morris Plains. The sad affair should cause pity. Mr. Kempf was perfectly sane four weeks ago and also working at that time. I took him into my private home (which is by no means a boarding house) last Monday to protect him in his affliction, as he was homeless and friendless, and also to be able to make the necessary arrangements for his removal. Trusting you will kindly give these lines a space in your paper, I remain,

Most sincerely,

No "Flim Flam" Game

To Be Worked on Early Purchasers of

The Spalding Bicycle

After the adoption of our 1896 model and a careful estimate of the cost of manufacture, we placed the price on the Spalding Bicycle at $100. The price is now $100 and will continue at $100 throughout the season, no matter what other manufacturers may do.

We don't believe it is fair, honest or good business policy to sell a standard article like the Spalding Bicycle at one price in May and reduce its value in June by a material reduction in price. As a matter of common fairness to early purchasers of Spalding Bicycles and as an evidence of good faith on our part we will, in case of reduction in price during the season, send a rebate check to every purchaser of a Spalding Bicycle of the amount of any such reduction that may be made by us during the season This is our meaning of a

INJURIES WERE FATAL.

HENRY J. SMITH SUCCUMBS TO HURTS SUSTAINED BY A FALL.

The Skull Was Fractured and the Best Surgeons Could Not Save His Life—One of the Best-Known Electrical Experts.

The injuries which Henry J. Smith sustained by a fall from a hay-mow in his barn at Washingtonville, Sunday morning, the particulars of which were told in The Press yesterday, proved fatal. Mr. Smith was unable to survive the shock and this morning at 8:50 o'clock his death occurred. Every effort was made to save his life and the Edison Electrical Illuminating Company, of which he was general operating superintendent in New York, sent Dr. Cook, head surgeon in St. Luke's Hospital, New York, and Dr. Weir, assistant surgeon, to his bedside yesterday. After the examination of his injuries the doctors stated that his condition was critical and the chances of recovery were against him.

The announcement of the news of Mr. Smith's death was received with feelings of regret and sympathy all through the city this morning. He was quite well known in Plainfield, where his pleasant manner and democratic spirit made him popular with all with whom he met. All day yesterday telegrams of enquiry from friends in New York as to his condition were received at his home and a number of the officials of the company journeyed thither to learn personally of his condition and to offer assistance in any way possible.

No funeral arrangements have yet been made.

Mr. Smith was one of the best-known electrical experts in the country. He was president of the recent electrical exhibition held in New York, which attracted such widespread attention He entered the employ of the company of which he was the practical head in New York in 1881, when it was a comparatively small concern, located at 255 and 257 Pearl street.

As the science of electricity was developed and applied the company continued to grow, and with every improvement Mr. Smith kept pace. He seemed to take naturally to the practical side of the question. When he started with the company he knew but little of electricity, but after ten years service with them his ability reached that point of value that he was made the head of the operating department in New York, having supervision over six plants used in commercial and street lighting.

He was born in Hector, Schuyler county, New York, and educated in Elmira, N. Y. He leaves a widow, two daughters and one son. He was a member of the Masons, a Knights Templar, and an Odd Fellow. He was forty-two years of age.

RAPIDLY BEING RECOGNIZED.

Machinists' Union Begin to See The Benefit of Being Organized.

About thirty members of the International Order of Machinists of this city met in Central hall last evening and listened to addresses by National Organizer Glen and District Delegate Warner of New York. The object of the meeting, which was an open one, was to perfect the organization in this city, whereby its rights could be secured. Mr. Glen spoke for over an hour telling his experience in various parts of the country. He also gave much advice to the Plainfield men, how they should band themselves together and thus do more efficient work. His main point was that the machinist should get a fair rate of wages and no cutting should be allowed. He gave instances where the lodge was doing this because they were thoroughly organized. Mr. Warner followed with a stirring address, which was of a more local nature. He gave his experience with employers of this city in the interest of the machinists and stated that the rights of the order were rapidly being recognized. He also urged union and combined effort to establish the order firmly in this city.

Master Machinist Dow, of this city, presided and introduced the speakers.

Raised Quite a Sum.

The Primary Teachers' Union meeting was held yesterday afternoon as usual. Mrs. Darby conducted the devotional exercises and Mrs. Powlison taught the lesson. A discussion of the topic "Mothers' Meetings" was in charge of Mrs. Baker. It was announced that the $50 to be sent to the summer school had been received and the donors were heartily thanked for the generosity. The Plainfield Union is the first to send their contribution. This is noteworthy in view of the fact that it is the youngest in the State.

—The residents of New street witnessed a novel sight last evening in the form of a young man mounted upon a wheel being drawn along by a large dog.

VACATION IS AT HAND.

AT LEAST FOR THE PUPILS OF MISSES SCRIBNER AND NEWTON.

A Number of Interesting Papers Read by the Young Students, Followed by the Presentation of a French Play

The closing exercises of Miss Scribner and Miss Newton's school were held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at 303 LaGrande avenue. The programme opened with the reading of the school paper "Once in a While," the first article being a bright little story. "A Visit to the Moon," showing imagination and originality.

After a series of "clippings" came a thoughtful sketch of "The Gypsies," which told something of their origin and peculiar traits, and introduced a number of well known gypsy characters as shown in literature. A recitation, "The Chipmunk," followed, given in a clear, pleasant voice, and this was succeeded by a brilliant performance on the piano of a Rondo of Mendelssohn. The next recitation was particularly well done, and showed careful study and good ability.

The second part of the "school paper" was now read, consisting of three sketches, "The Greek Drama," "Mount Olympus in 1896," and "Some English Clubs." The last of these, written and delivered by one of the graduates, gave a pleasing glance at the old-time clubs of "Merrie England."

The graduates, Miss Laura Lovell and Miss Agnes Swinton Langhorne, received their diplomas.

A change from the usual custom was observed in this respect, as instead of a certificate, a set of books, having on the fly-leaf the usual inscription of a diploma, was presented to each of the young ladies.

The second part of the entertainment consisted of a French play entitled LaVieille Cousine, given in a sprightly manner by five pupils of the school. Below is the programme:

Mme. Langlois—veuve, Mary Anderson Reinhart
Eugenie—sa fille, Sara F. Richards
Caroline—sa fille, Harriet Goddard
Ursule—cuisiniere, Josephine Lapsley
Lili Duroc—la vieille cousine, Margaret Goddard

The French kindergarten and the younger pupils of the school will have their entertainment this afternoon.

ROBBED THE TRUNK.

A West End Merchant Loses a Gold Watch and Some Currency.

John Wilson is the proprietor of a small candy store on Liberty street, adjoining which is an alley, making access to the rear of the store. Near the back door in the store is kept a trunk in which is stored money and jewelry to a considerable extent.

The back door of the store was unintentionally left open about 10:30 Saturday night and some one, seemingly familiar with the place, entered the back door and carried the trunk out into the back yard.

They were making good progress in ridding it of its contents, when they were disturbed and frightened away.

Examination showed that a gold watch and chain and a sum of money were missing. The thieves dropped some of the money in their flight.

Assisted in Building the Camp.

The following named workmen assisted in the construction of the Fresh Air Camp last Saturday: James Ball, Thomas McNeil, H. Brentnall, W. Morris, A. Cowley, Joseph Flack, J. Lebeau, Charles Henderson, Alfred N. Jacobson, Cornelius Barry, S. Smith, T. Brown, D. Regan, J. Stafford, J. Winzenreid, S. Langdan, F. Wharton, D. Thompson and William Jacobson. Under the direction of Alfred Jacobson, as master builder, and William Jacobson and John Winzenreid, assistants, the men were divided into gangs and made rapid progress with the work. The frame was raised and most of the siding put on. Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCutchen and friends came to the ground while the work was in progress. Mr. McCutchen will send stone workers to put up a rustic-stone chimney and open fireplace.

Surprised on His Birthday.

David VanBuskirk, of Somerset street, who celebrated the anniversary of his birthday yesterday, was agreeably surprised last evening to see about forty of his friends walk into his house in honor of the event. Mr. and Mrs. Amos Stites arranged the surprise, which was a complete one. The evening was passed in dancing, and refreshments were served at a late hour. Hermie Smith and Jacob Overland furnished the music.

Back in the Central's Employ.

H. C. Corsa, formerly a detective on the Central Railroad, returned yesterday to the same position for the company. Detective Murphy, of Elizabeth, resigned his position, causing a vacancy which Mr. Corsa is now filling.

RECORDS TOOK A TUMBLE

WILLIAM M. MC CUTCHEN LOWERS 3 AT THE DAILY PRESS MEET.

Probable Last Appearance of This Speedy Little Rider in a Scholastic Event—Details Told of Each of the Events.

Three records took a big tumble at the scholastic bicycle meet held at the Crescent Oval yesterday afternoon under the auspices of The Daily Press. It was probably Wm M. McCutchen's last appearance in a meet, open only to school boys, and he made it a fitting one by breaking the scholastic records for the half mile, the mile and the two mile competition.

The meet was what might be called an informal one, there being but three events, open only to riders of Leal's school and the High school, and no attempt being made to attract a crowd. The mere fact, however, that the races were given under the auspices of The Daily Press attracted many who expected to see some fast riding. It was also understood that an attempt would be made to lower the records. Those who came to see fast riding were not disappointed, for several of New Jersey's best riders were present and acted as pacemakers in the different events.

The first event was the half mile open. There were five starters with McCutchen at the pole. George B. Scribner and Joe Donoghue took the pace together to the stretch when Donoghue paced the last lap, McCutchen close behind. The first three men to finish were W. M. McCutchen, Lindley Hillman and George Coard in the order named. The time was 1:05-2-5. The scholastic record was 1:46 3-5, made in '92 by S. Brittan, of Drisler school.

Six contestants lined up for the mile open. Walter Appley, of Elizabeth Athletic Club, paced the first third, Chas. J. Bird, of the Elizabeth Athletic Club, the second, and J. H. Lake, the third. McCutchen caught the choice position behind the pacemaker while his competitors were strung all around the track. He finished in 2:17 2-5, with Lindley Hillman second and Geo. Coard, third. The scholastic record was 2:32 3-5, made last year by I. A. Powell, of the Cutler school.

There was a field of seven starters in the second mile open but McCutchen outclassed them all. He began to feel the effects of his first two races and his time was not as good, comparatively, as in the other. Joe Donoghue carried the bunch the first mile and then J. H. Lake paced the second mile. McCutchen won easily in 4:53 2-5, with Lindley Hillman, second, George Coard, third, and Roy Phillips, fourth.

The scholastic record was 5:35 1-5 made last year by I. A. Powell, of Cutler's. McCutchen is from Leal's and Hillman and Coard from the High school. Application will be made at once by McCutchen for recognition of his records.

George B. Cobb, chairman of the Crescent Wheelmen's racing board, and president of the Jersey Wheel Company, acted as referee. The judges were Chas. C. Lister, S. Clinton Crane and Geo. P. Smith. To prevent any possible error in timing, there were five timers, J. Hervey Doane, Gus. T. Burglund, Chas. Dupee, Thos. Quinn and J. W. Van Sickle.

The Fowler sextette, under the guidance of Gus T. Burglund, made its first appearance on the Crescent Oval. The riders were just warming up when a slight accident temporarily disabled the six-rider.

CAPITALIST'S PROSPECTING.

Looking Over Sites With a View of Locating Here.

A party of four capitalists, accompanied by their wives, drove up to this city a day or two ago and made a tour of inspection in the Fourth ward. The party also looked over the old Cadmus grist and saw mill site along Green brook near Grant avenue, and seemed very much pleased with that location, particularly so on account of its natural advantages.

The members of the party were pleasant and conversative, but all efforts to have them divulge the object of their visit, were unavailing. From the driver, who brought them up, however, and who overheard the conversation on the way it was learned that the visitors were capitalists, and that they were looking around with a view of establishing a new and extensive industry here.

Mr. James Perdue, an old soldier residing at Monroe, Mich., was severely afflicted with rheumatism but received prompt relief from pain by using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says: "At times my back would ache so badly that I could hardly raise up. If I had not gotten relief I would not be here to write these few lines. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done me a great deal of good and I feel very thankful for it." For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

DINED GOSPEL TALKERS.

PASTORS' ENTERTAINED BY THE '96 C. E. PROGRAMME COMMITTEE.

After the Repast of Good Things the General Work of the Convention Was Explained by Members of the Committee.

An informal reception and supper was given last evening to the pastors of the city at the Y. M. C. A. building by those especially interested in the coming Christian Endeavor convention. The object of the affair was to get the pastors interested and more closely identified with the work. The supper was arranged by Miss Bonnell who poured coffee, as did also Mrs. Wheaton Lowry. They were assisted by Miss Agnes Blair and Miss Florence Hawkins. The table was arranged in the shape of an "E" and was tastefully decorated with flowers and banquet lamps. The guests were: Revs. Yerkes, Richardson, Richards, Goodrich, Honeyman, Herring, Schenck, Livermore and Hand, of Plainfield; Martine and Fletcher, of Dunellen; Ingram, of Trenton and C. Brett, of Jersey City. The programme committee consisting of Rev. Cornelius Brett, Rev. C. E. Herring, Rev. Mr. Ingram and Miss Spangenberg explained in an informal manner the programme for the '96 convention.

E. E. Anthony gave a helpful talk on the needs of the convention which was followed by a discussion of the subject. The '96 committee consisting of E. E. Anthony, J. M. Hawkins, Miss Florence Hawkins, John G. McLoughlin and Miss Bonnell also had something to say regarding the convention. Altogether the meeting was an exceedingly helpful one and will serve to awaken an interest in the coming great convention.

Will Crawford made a very interesting report of the recent conference of the Missionary League of Christian Endeavor Societies of the Reformed church, held at Albany, at which Mr. Crawford was present.

AT THE SEMINARY AGAIN.

The Juvenile Students Had Their Closing Exercises This Morning.

For the last time this school year guests assembled at the Seminary to be delightfully entertained for a couple of hours by the exercises of the primary department. These were held in the large schoolroom, one end of which was made beautiful by screens draped with pink roses, and in front of the screens were a number of small tables covered with wreaths of roses. The programme commenced with a song, "The Angels," given by a chorus carefully trained, and led by Miss Anna O. Marsh. Miss Florence Marsh accompanied on the piano. This was followed by a charming little play written by the theme class, entitled "A Dream," and acted by the Misses Ethel VonBoskerck, Grace and Gladys Kaufman, May Day and Alice Titus. The Misses Mary and Adelaide Case then recited "The King Who Traveled at Home." Miss Ruth Van Vleit delighted her audience with a bear story and the Misses Elsie Harmon and and Anna P. Davis gave a pleasing piano duett. Miss Anna Davis played a solo showing much talent. Seven French recitations followed, by Ruth Titus, Miss Louise Van Sickle, Master Percy Chapman, Misses Louise Van Van Sickle and Grace Pearson, Miss Ruth Titus and Master Percy Chapman, Misses Helen Harman, Florence Beebe, and Isabella Scott. All were well rendered and reflected credit on Mademoiselle Montanari, who had trained the children. "Merry June" was given by a chorus led by Miss Anna O. Marsh. The last number on the programme was a soap bubble drill, most artistically arranged and beautifully carried out. The children were grouped around the tables which were covered with roses and keeping time to the music, blew bubbles of many sizes. Those who took part in the drill were the Misses Anna Davis, Isabella Scott, Angela Brady, Helen Harman, Grace and Gladys Kaufman, Florence Beebe, Louise VanSickel, Gertrude Pearson, Ruth Titus, Adelaide and Mary Case, May Day, Ruth VanFleet, Alice Titus and Katherine Titus.

A cotillion for the children followed under the direction of Mr. Dodsworth's assistant, Mr. Dawes, of New York.

Name Not Made Public.

The Borough Board of Education held a special meeting last night to take up the question of a successor to Mr. Boss, as principal of the school. After full discussion, the Board unanimously agreed to invite to the principalship a thorough educator, whose name is not to be made public until he has accepted or declined the offer. No other business was transacted.

—Are you going on the G. A. R. excursion? Of course. It is the first of the season and will be very pleasant.

WHO OWNED THE DUCK?

A FUNNY ARGUMENT IN THE CITY COURT THIS MORNING.

Thomas Henderson's Brood Was One Short Sunday, While Mrs. Freeman's Was Increased That Number That Day.

One poor little innocent duck has stirred up no end of trouble among the colored residents of Prescott place. The excitement rose to such a pitch that the city had to take a hand and send her representatives to restore order.

Thomas Henderson was the one on whose shoulder the hand of the law fell heaviest. He was arrested yesterday on the charge of being drunk and disorderly and came up for a hearing this morning. He pleaded not guilty and the fun began.

After considerable inquiry, Judge DeMeza learned the cause of the trouble. Henderson keeps ducks and so does his next door neighbor, Mrs. Cecelia Freeman. Both are colored. Last Sunday it rained, as everybody will, perhaps, remember, and on that day Henderson claims he saw one of his little ducks crawl under the fence into Mrs. Freeman's yard.

At any rate, next day Henderson had only seven ducks instead of eight, while Mrs. Freeman had one more than she did the day before. The latter claims that one was hatched out during the night.

When Henderson learned that he was minus one duckling and his neighbor had one more than usual, he grew exceeding wroth and went over and demanded his duck. He didn't get it but returned home to think on the dishonesty of mankind in general. Last evening he went down town and imbibed freely. When he returned he was rather "under the weather." The more his thoughts reverted to the loss of that duck, the more indignant he became. He marched to the home of Mrs. Freeman and in sonorous tones demanded "his duck." The door was slammed in his face and he went skirmishing in the rear of the property, upsetting a chicken coop in his efforts to find the back door.

Judge DeMeza didn't try to settle the duck question, but declared Henderson guilty and fined him $5.

ENOUGH POWER NOW.

A New Dynamo Put in the Electric Light Station Last Night.

Frank Hand, with a gang of men, started in at 12 o'clock last night to change the dynamos at the Plainfield Electric Light station, which gives the street railway a sufficient amount of power to run their cars over the various lines. It required nearly four hours to place the new dynamo in position. Superintendent Adleman had a car standing at the corner of Madison avenue and Front street and as soon as the work was completed a trial trip was made.

Everything was found to work satisfactorily. Car No. 5 came out this morning with new trucks and car No. 1 is now being treated likewise. As soon as car No. 1 is provided with new trucks, the entire line will be opened and all the cars will be run under twelve minutes headway.

JACKSON IN TOWN.

He Viewed the Remains of His Wife in the Vault this Afternoon.

C. H. Jackson, who was discharged from custody yesterday at New Brunswick on the charge of causing the death of his wife at New Market, came to this city last night with J. E. Mosher, and is now at his home on Division street. He spent a very restless night. He says that he did not realize the awful position he was in until he was released. He went to the vault at Hillside cemetery this afternoon and viewed the remains of his wife before they were shipped to Alfred, N. Y., for burial. He had not seen her since the morning that she was found after shooting herself by him in bed.

Funeral of The Late Tunis Brokaw.

The funeral of the late Tunis Brokaw, formerly of Greenbrook took place yesterday from the residence of his son, William Brokaw, at Dunellen. Interment in Bound Brook cemetery.

If it required an annual outlay of $100.00 to insure a family against any serious consequences from an attack of bowel complaint during the year there are many who would feel it their duty to pay it; that they could not afford to risk their lives, and those of their family for such an amount. Any one can get this insurance for 25 cents that being the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. One or two doses of this remedy will cure any ordinary case. It never fails. Can you afford to take the risk for so small an amount? For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

G. O. P. NOW IN SESSION.

THE REPUBLICAN DELEGATES ARE NOW AT WORK IN ST. LOUIS.

Everything Looks Favorable For the Selection of G. A. Hobart for Vice-President—Caucus Nominations of Jerseymen.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

St. Louis, June 16.—The eleventh Republican National convention was called to order at noon today by Chairman Carter, of the Republican National Committee. After prayer was offered by Rabbi Samuel Sale, of St. Louis, Senator Carter read the call of the convention, and nominated C. W. Fairbanks, a delegate-at-large from Indiana, as temporary chairman. C. W. Johnson, of Minnesota, was chosen temporary secretary. The rules of the last convention were adopted.

The secretary called the roll of the States and Territories and each chairman of the various delegations announced their selection for the committees.

After the temporary organization is completed, an adjournment will be taken until tomorrow morning.

New Jersey opened headquarters at 402 South Fourth street, within three blocks of the two great hotels, where so much political light is gleaming these nights. There are two fine, big rooms, gayly festooned with bunting, flags and McKinley pictures. The building is own by Franklin Murphy.

Ex-Judge J. Frank Fort, who has been selected to present Hobart's name to the convention, is enthusiastic over the bright outlook for New Jersey's favorite son. At this State's headquarters Mr. Fort said:

"Yes, New Jersey wants Mr. Hobart's nomination. It would do wonders for us politically. For the past three years we have carried our State, and with Mr. Hobart on the ticket we will be lifted out of the doubtful column. We have never desired it. Now, when we are entitled to, and when the party can transfer us into the Republican ranks for all time, we ask consideration. Mr. Hobart will be an ideal candidate and an able Vice-President. He is one of the brightest men in this country. His zeal for Republicanism, his genial manners, and his sterling integrity, coupled with his wide knowledge of public men and broad grasp of public affairs, will commend him to the people. If the delegates only knew Mr. Hobart as we do, there would be no other name mentioned. Everybody in New Jersey is for Hobart."

A feature of the day was the industry with which the New Jersey men circulated buttons. Mr. Hobart's valet was also plentifully supplied, and the pretty little buttons with faces of McKinley and Hobart side by side and enshrined in the folds of the flag were visible everywhere.

The New Jersey delegation met at noon yesterday and made the following selections: For vice-president of the convention, Franklin Murphy; credentials, John Franklin Fort; permanent organization, Thomas McEwan, Jr.; rules, George Hires; resolutions, Frank Bergen; secretary, John J. Herbert, Jr. Owing to the candidacy of Garrett A. Hobrrt, New Jersey's national committeeman, for second place on the national ticket, no action was taken on committeeman.

Assemblyman Charles A. Reed, of Plainfield, is one of the busy men among the delegation.

Charles J. Fisk, of Plainfield, is one of the big men in the Jersey delegation since the gold plank of the platform has become such a feature. He is one of the big bankers in New York, and sometime ago his firm issued a sound money appeal, asking bankers throughout the country to use their influence with the delegates with a view of obtaining from the convention an unequivocal utterance in favor of maintaining the gold standard. Mr. Fisk sentiments are expressed in these words on the subject:

"What is wanted is a strong expression that the existing gold standard—the standard of the world—will be maintained under all circumstances, leaving the matter of the freer use of silver as money until such time as an international agreement can be reached. A platform like this will restore confidence at home and abroad, give new life to prostrate industries, and start the Nation on a career of solid prosperity."

A Hanging Lamp Fell.

The wire holding a large kerosene lamp over the desk in George Kirch's grocery store on Somerset street, broke last evening about 8 o'clock. In its descent it struck Miss Margaret Kirch, who was sitting near, but did not injure her. When it fell on the floor it set fire to the wood, but the flames were quickly extinguished. A customer in the store threw the lamp into the street, and Mr. Kirch smothered the flames.

VICTORY FOR GOLD

Republican Platform Will Declare for the Yellow Metal.

OUT AND OUT, AND NO EVASION

It Will Be the Majority Report of the Committee on Resolutions—An Agreement Also Reached on the Tariff Plank.

St. Louis, June 16.—Gold has carried the day. The assertion, made by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, late yesterday afternoon, put a new phase on the financial situation and overturned several of the plans which had been formed by those who expected a different result. Mr. Lodge figured that twenty-two out of the forty-five states now forming the union had each selected a member of the committee on resolutions favorable to the gold standard, and that two or three western states were likely to follow suit, thus ensuring a clear majority. The Ohio men somewhat reluctantly recognized that Mr. Lodge was speaking by the card. George A. Robertson, editor of the Cleveland, O., Recorder, who has made a specialty of fashioning the views of the Ohio leaders in this matter, saw ex-Secretary Foster and asked him if he did not know that the people all through northern Ohio were for silver. He replied: "The people of Ohio are republicans and they will stand by sound republican doctrine. Free silver is a heresy and they do not want it."

Even Hanna Preparing To Surrender.

Gen. Grosvenor, who is regarded almost as the mouthpiece of McKinley, said: "The platform will be all right. There will be no occasion for the east to complain on that score. It will be discussed much more, but it is really settled just the same that the declaration will be for gold." And even Mr. Mark Hanna could not dispute the fact that the gold standard plank was in the ascendant. It is somewhat singular that Illinois, which turned the scale in favor of McKinley by instructing for him instead of for Cullom, took a leading part in shaping the course of the middle western states last evening by adopting a gold plank by the decisive vote of 42 to 6. The action of the Idaho state delegation may perhaps be significant of an intent to bolt. It selected all of the usual officers appointed by state delegations except some one to wait upon the nominee for president and vice-president. Beyond this and the exceedingly soft money plank adopted by the Iowa delegation, who favored "gold, silver and paper kept on a parity by the enactment of laws to accomplish it," there were no very significant financial features in the meetings of the state delegations which have occupied so much of the day.

Many Old Leaders Turned Down.

In the selection of the national committeemen for next year, however, many men of national repute were turned down. William M. Hahn, so long a potent factor in Ohio politics, disappears from the list; so does the equally well-known Gen. James S. Clarkson of Iowa, and ex-President Harrison's friend, J. N. Huston of Indiana. Chauncey I. Filley of Missouri sustained another defeat at the hands of his old opponent, Mr. Kerens, and Col. William Lamb, chairman of the republican state committee of Virginia and leader of the Reed forces in that state, was compelled to retire from the national committee in favor of a gentleman holding different views. The case of Joseph H. Manley of Maine is still held under advisement by his delegation, with an intimation that they will probably consider his recent offense in giving up the Reed ship as one of head rather than of heart, and will keep him in his committee membership.

Tariff Plank Also Settled.

Yesterday's proceedings seem not only to have settled the financial plank, but the tariff plank also of the next national republican platform. A sketch of the proposed tariff propositions which it is said was either drawn up by Major McKinley himself, or was submitted to him for approval, proposes an increase of duties all along the line sufficient for the needs of the treasury and the reimposition of protective duties on wool and sugar. The first four paragraphs of the platform are devoted to a denunciation of the democratic policy, to which is ascribed the commerical and industrial depression that has prevailed during the past three years, and a laudation of the republican policy of protection which had prevailed for thirty years previously. There is a strong recommendation for the reciprocity agreements. There is also a recommendation for the imposition of 10 per cent. duty on imports in foreign bottoms. The language of the platform is described as forceful, alliterative and full of catchy phrases, such as are calculated to "bring down the house."

LONG SESSION EXPECTED.

Nominations May Not Be Reached Before Saturday Next.

St. Louis, June 16.—Charles Johnston, chief clerk of the United States senate, who has been selected to serve as secretary of the convention, is an experienced hand at running these large gatherings, and his opinion is that the convention will be longer lived than has been expected. He bases his judgment on the fact that there are something like 160 contests now in sight, and that the deliberations of the committee on credentials, if they extend at all deeply into the merits of the several controversies, will use up the better part of three days while the discussion and votes on the platform in convention will probably use up another, throwing the nominations over until Saturday. It is to cover such a contingency that the tickets of admission are made out for a five-days' convention. More conservative judges, however, give the convention three days with night sessions or three days and a half to run. They contend that many of the contests for seats will be dropped. At the close the delegates will get tired and long for home, so that committees and orators will be disposed to hurry things up.

Rabbi for Chaplain.

The free use which has been made of the name of the American Protective association in connection with the McKinley paeliminary canvass lends interest to the decision of the national committee to invite Dr. Samuel Sale, a leading Jewish rabbi of this city, to serve as chaplain of the convention. Archbishop Kane was first mentioned in this connection, with a view to solidifying the Catholics, but the American Protective association entered a protest and this idea was abandoned. Among Protestant clergymen it was hard to choose one whose appointment would be particularly appreciated as a compliment to his denomination. In the midst of the canvass of names somebody suggested that a good idea would be to offer the appointment to a Hebrew, as this would dispose of the American Protective association and the anti-American Protective association protests, and at the same time please a large body of citizens whose religious convictions are strong.

Hotelkeepers Disappointed.

St. Louis, June 16.—The hotels are feeling keenly the effect of cut and dried convention programmes, for it means the absence of a great crowd of "boomers," the marching clubs and other similar organizations christened in honor of their several candidates, who devote their whole attention to keeping up a racket for their favorite man, but get up no enthusiasm for platforms or other matters which do not lend themselves to picturesque effects and brass-band music. These fellows usually bring plenty of money along, and occupy whole suites or floors at the hotels. Several organizations have telegraphed within the last day or two cancelling their contracts for quarters, as there is nothing to bring them to St. Louis if the ticket is to be settled before the convention begins.

THE WASHINGTON PLATFORM.

Slightly Modified, It Is Adopted by Sixteen States.

St. Louis, June 16.—Sixteen states, embracing New England, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Kentucky, Tennessee and Washington have endorsed in substance the money plank adopted by the last mentioned state at its convention, but it has been somewhat shortened. The Washington plank was originally as follows: "We favor the maintenance of the present gold standard and are opposed to the free and unlimited coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1. We are, however, favorable to an international agreement looking to the general use of both metals as money at a fixed ratio, and commend the efforts in that behalf of the last republican administration." As modified and agreed to by the sixteen states it reads thus: "We favor the maintenance of the existing gold standard, and are opposed to the free coinage of silver except by international agreement for bi-metallism with the leading commercial nations of the world." There is the best reason for believing that this will be the money plank of the platform.

COLORED MEN FOR BULKELEY.

Their Support Pledged to Connecticut's Favorite Son for Second Place.

St. Louis, June 16.—A meeting of colored delegates, presided over by Col. Carson of Washington, D. C., last evening adopted resolutions pledging their support to Connecticut's favorite son, ex-Gov. Morgan G. Bulkeley of Hartford, for the high office of vice-president of the United States, "believing that in him the colored man will have a true and firm friend, loyal as he has been in the past, and a man who will do much to alleviate the state of affairs that obtains in localities where unjust discrimination is made against the negro in the matter of franchise."

Pennsy's Meet in Harmony.

St. Louis, June 16.—The Pennsylvania delegation met in their headquarters at 8 o'clock last evening and held a harmonious session. Gov. Hastings was elected chairman without opposition. M. S. Quay was re-elected national committeeman unanimously. Resolutions favoring the present gold standard were adopted.

Credentials Committee Will Hear Contests.

St. Louis, June 16.—The plan to avoid a hearing of contests in the committee on credentials by adopting as a whole the temporary roll reported by the national committee, is not likely to succeed. A number of the members of the credentials committee said this morning they were in favor of giving a limited but impartial hearing to such of those unseated by the national committee as desired to present their cases.

In combination, proportion and process Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself, and unequalled in true merit.

No other medicine ever possessed so much curative power, or reached such enormous sales, or made such wonderful cures, as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

It is undoubtedly the best medicine ever made to purify, vitalize and enrich the blood.

That is the secret of its success.

Read this statement:

"When my son was 7 years of age, he had rheumatic fever and acute rheumatism, which settled in his left hip. He was so sick that no one thought there was any help for him. Five sores broke out on his thigh, which the doctor said were sores. We had three different doctors. Pieces of bone came out of the sores. The last doctor said the leg would have to be cut open and the bone scraped, before he could get well. Howard became so low that he would eat nothing, and one doctor said there was no chance for him.

"One day, a newspaper recommending Hood's Sarsaparilla was left at our door. We decided to try this medicine. Howard commenced taking it the last of February, after having been sick for a year and a half. He hadn't taken it a week before I saw that his appetite began to improve, and then he gained rapidly. I gave him five bottles, when the sores were all healed and they never broke out again. The crutches he had used for four years were laid aside, as he had no further use for them. I give all the credit to Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. ADA L. MOODY, Fay Street, Lynn, Mass.

Delicate Dress Goods.

Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable. NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redyeing. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? Erysipelas as do other diseases caused by an impoverished condition of the blood, when Bovinine is used. It is not a medicine, but the most perfect food product, containing all the vital principles of lean, raw beef. It is quickly assimilated, and by its wonderful power of creating new flesh tissue and enriching the blood, soon puts the patient in a physical state where disease can find no footing.

Yields Quickly

Bovinine

besides its wonderful effect as a food, is invaluable in such cases as an external application, nourishing by absorption, and creating new, healthy flesh, where the disease is manifested. Dr. H. M. Sanger of Providence, R. I., says that he effected very rapid cures with slight spreading and no suppuration in three cases of erysipelas, two by simply applying gauze saturated with, and the third by injecting Bovinine at the border of the inflamed patch. All Druggists.

BOTH WILL RECOVER

Bank President Wyckoff and His Assailant Improving.

LATTER DENIES HE INTENDED MURDER

Merely Wanted Money To Support His Wife and Children and Decided To Commit Suicide If His Demand Was Refused.

New York, June 16.—President Geo. H. Wyckoff of the New Amsterdam bank, who was shot in the abdomen yesterday by a crank who demanded $6,000, was still alive this morning, and the surgeons at the New York hospital say that there is a chance of his recovery. The crank, whose name was afterward learned to be George D. Clark, entered the main doorway of the bank, at the northwest corner of Broadway and Thirty-ninth street, at 12:45 o'clock. He said nothing to any of the clerks or other officials in the outer office of the bank, but made his way at once to the room of President Wyckoff, which is at the Thirty-ninth street end of the banking room. President Wyckoff was alone in the room when the stranger entered. He was busy with some papers at his desk, but as the door opened he turned and faced his visitor.

Demanded $6,000.

After ascertaining by a question that he was addressing the president of the bank, the stranger presented a slip of paper on which was written the following: "We want $6,000—five $1,000 and two $500 bills. I will shoot you if you make a false move, so be careful. My partner is outside and has you covered. If you make an alarm within three minutes after I leave he will throw a stick of dynamite through the front entrance. Put the money in an envelope; don't talk." The note bore no signature. President Wyckoff, after reading the note, rose from his chair and said: "I can't do that at once. I will have to consult the other officials of the bank."

President Wyckoff Shot.

As he said this he walked towards the door. He had only gotten about twelve or fifteen feet away from his caller, when Clark drew a revolver and fired at him. The ball struck President Wyckoff in the abdomen. He staggered out through the rear door of the room into the main room of the bank, and had made his way to the entrance of the bank when he sank exhausted on the floor. Paying-teller Demarest was one of the first to reach the wounded man, who said: "I am badly hurt; notify my wife and daughters." A number of the other clerks in the bank hurried to assist Mr. Demarest and Mr. Wyckoff was carried back into his private office, where he was laid on a settee. In the meantime two more shots had been heard from the same room, and as President Wyckoff, supported by Teller Demarest and two or three other clerks was assisted into his private office, the strange visitor was seen lying upon the floor, near the desk of Cashier Moore.

Clark Fatally Wounded.

A policeman who had heard the pistol shots ran into the office of the bank and telephoned for an ambulance. After his wounds had been temporarily dressed President Wyckoff was taken to the New York hospital. An investigation of Clark's injuries showed that one shot had taken effect in the left side of the neck; the other was in the side just below the heart, the bullet evidently lodging in the stomach, causing a serious wound, but he will recover.

Did Not Intend To Kill Wyckoff.

At the hospital the assailant, after admitting that Clark was not his proper name, stated to the coroner that he had no particular motive for killing Mr. Wyckoff other than that of getting money for the support of his wife and child. He said he had been out of work for some time. He also said that he did not mean to harm Mr. Wyckoff but had intended committing suicide if his demand was refused.

Supreme Lodge A. O. U. W.

Buffalo, June 16.—The supreme lodge of the A. O. U. W. convened here this morning for its twenty-fourth annual meeting. The report of Supreme Recorder Sackett for the past year shows a total membership on January 1 of 354,389, and the amount paid to the widows, orphans or other dependent beneficiaries of deceased members $7,313,839.41, a total since the order was organized of $65,480,771.67. The total number of lodges on January 1, 1896, was 5,057, an increase of 127 during the year, and 39,473 new members were admitted.

Gentry's Trial Again Delayed.

Philadelphia, June 16.—The opening of the trial of James B. Gentry, the actor, for the murder of Margaret Drysdale (Madge Yorke) the actress, has again gone over until June 22. The continuance was granted because of the inability of Charles W. Brooke, the senior counsel for Gentry, to be present, he now being engaged in the defense of Mrs. Fleming, on trial in New York for murder.

Straw Bail Men Plead Guilty to Perjury.

Boston, June 16.—William Whittier, a straw bail man, pleaded guilty yesterday to the indictment which charges him with two offenses of perjury, in the procurement of bail. Edward J. Morse and Charles Harrison, "business chance" operators, pleaded guilty to similar charges. They will be sentenced later.

Albany, June 16.—Byron W. Kenyon of West Granville Corners has received a civil service appointment as guard in Clinton prison.

WILL BE NO BOLT

Silver Men Intend To Accept Their Defeat Gracefully.

WILL FIGHT TO THE LAST DITCH

Will Warn the Convention That the Defeat of Silver Means the Loss of Several States and Then Accept the Will of the Majority.

St. Louis, June, 16.—There will be no dramatic exit from the national convention, nor will there be held any separate convention by the free silver republicans. The western men see defeat and will accept it as philosophically as possible, although not without vigorous protests both here and at home. No formal conference of the faction of the party was held yesterday or last night, but Mr. Teller, wherever he has happened to be, has been the magnet that attracted every silver man in St. Louis. The private talks he has had with those who believe with him has convinced him that the silver element of the party is deadly in earnest and will not accept anything short of a clear-cut and unequivocal declaration for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. "The managers of Major McKinley's campaign are conducting themselves in a fashion that, to speak mildly, is foolish," said Senator Teller this morning. "Do they think that the voters of the silver states are to be misled by any catch-penny phrase they may insert in the platform?" continued Mr. Teller. "To believe thus is an insult to the intelligence of the people of the west. It matters nothing to us whether the word 'gold' appears in the platform or whether the effort is made to slide under the terms 'existing standard.' Everybody knows that they mean the same thing."

To Meet in Caucus To-night.

Mr. Teller has called a caucus for this evening of the free silver members of the committee on resolutions. He recognizes the fact that the free silver men are in a hopeless minority, but they will go over the ground as carefully as if they controlled the situation. Knowing that they are to meet defeat, plans for the future will doubtless be discussed. When it comes to the meeting of the committee, a plank declaring for free coinage, as interpreted by Mr. Teller, will be submitted by him. This, of course, will be voted down. A compromise will then be offered in the shape of a proposition to coin the American product only. This, too, will meet the fate of the more advanced proposition. It is not improbable that a third proposition promising future legislation favorable to silver will be submitted, the silver men not abandoning hope until every hope has been rejected.

Will Warn the Convention.

The fight will then be carried into the convention. Possibly these same propositions may be submitted there; they certainly will be if the chairman of the convention will entertain the motion. If the financial plank becomes a subject for debate, as it is believed it will be, Senator Teller, Senator Dubois, Congressman Hartman and others of the silver leaders will make brief speeches outlining their position and warning the convention that any plank, however it may be worded, other than a free coinage declaration, will cause the defeat of the ticket in every silver state in the west. It is understood that while Mr. Teller's speech will be earnest to the point of intense vehemence, he will not then and there bolt the convention, but will submit to the majority, satisfied with the warning the silver men gave them.

The Rowboat "Fox" Sighted.

New York, June 16.—The British schooner Josie arrived at City Island yesterday and reported that on June 13, at 3 p. m., she spoke the rowboat Fox, which left this port about a week ago manned by two Norwegian sailors bound for Havre, France. After ascertaining their position the little boat proceed on its voyage. Both men were well and asked to be reported.

The following unsolicited complimentary letter has been received by The Daily Press:

Every citizen of Plainfield should read The Daily Press. It represents truth, candor, manhood, independence and Americanism. It stands for fair dealing and honest politics. It is neither hysterical nor heroic, but firmly and faithfully supports with honor and dignity the cause of pure, patriotic citizenship. It pays American wages to American workmen. It doesn't indulge in low, mean social innuendo. Its chief recommendation is that it is the opposite of the News.

Wm. C. Whitney is to sail for Europe tomorrow. His departure at this time, when his name is prominently spoken of as a candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination, and when the convention is so near at hand, is a reminder of the time two years ago when the Democratic State convention in New York awaited his answer from an ocean steamer as to whether or not he would accept a Gubernatorial nomination. His negative reply at that time is no forerunner of how he would receive the offering of the Presidential nomination. It is the general belief that he would accept it.

FOR SCIENTIFIC STUDY.

The First of the Books for the Babcock Library Now Ready.

The many inquirers for scientific and technical books at the Free Public Library will be glad to know that the generous list of periodicals subscribed to by the Babcock fund are now bound and ready for home circulation. These number 62 volumes, and form the first books to be placed in the Babcock Scientific Library. Although until the much-needed alterations and additions are made to the library building it will not be possible to begin to buy books for the scientific library, it has been decided by the Board to bind the scientific periodicals and place them in the circulating department, in order that readers and students may have the full benefit of them. Containing as they do, the latest information and accounts of the latest developments in both theoretical and applied science, it is believed that the action of the Board in making these circulating books will be highly appreciated by those who are interested in the subjects which they cover. Below is a list of these periodicals:

American Anthropologist, American Engineer and Railroad Journal, American Journal of Science, 2v; American Machinist, 6v; The Builder, 2v; Electrical Engineer, 11v; Electrical World, 2v; Engineering and Mining Journal, 2v; Engineering Magazine, 2v; Geographical Journal, 2v; Iron Age, 12v; Journal of the Franklin Institute, 2v; Journal of the Society of Arts Knowledge, National Geographic Magazine, Nature, 2v; Photographic Times, 2v; Popular Astronomy, Popular Science Monthly, 2v; Popular Science News, Psychological Review; Scientific American, 2v; Scientific American, supplement, 2v; Scientific American, builders' edition.

The closing exercises of the public schools will be held on Thursday evening, June 25th, in the Presbyterian church.

Walter Sisty, of this place, has been appointed assistant deputy warden of the Game and Fish Protective Society. He received his commission last week from the State authorities at Trenton.

The new and improved grounds of the Dunellen baseball club will be ready for use and formally opened on Saturday next. The grounds are opposite the depot and are in far better condition than the old grounds.

Washburn & Washburn, the sewer contractors, had an Armes palace horse car sent to Dunellen on Saturday, in which they are to ship their horses to Massachusetts, where they will begin another large contract job.

Cards are out for the reception of the Young People's Progressive Euchre Club of Dunellen and North Plainfield, which is to take place in Friendship Hall, New Market, on Friday evening, June 19th. Music for the occasion will be furnished by the Ladies' Orchestra, nine in number.

If there is any one thing, among many others, the residents of Dunellen want it is a proper drainage on the main thoroughfare. The gutters are clogged up with weeds and brush, and after a heavy rain the water is deep enough alongside the road for ordinary rowing purposes. There seems to be no proper outlet for the surface water.

Although Captain Fletcher, of the Dunellen baseball team, has gone to Philadelphia on business, he will nevertheless be back in time to see his pet battery, Hayes and Richardson, come up before the Plainfield Athletic Club team on the home grounds next Saturday at 3:45 o'clock. Captain Fletcher has so much confidence in his own nine that he is going to furnish camp stools and umbrellas for all the ladies and their escorts who care to attend and see the Plainfielders wiped from the face of the—diamond.

NEW MARKET.

Miss Mary Brown, of Neshanic, has been visiting in town.

Miss Edna Smalley, of Orange, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Z. P. Osmun.

Dr. Turner has returned home to Elizabeth from a visit with Charles Rogers.

Miss Maud VanDyke, of Somerville, has been visiting Miss Della Dunn for a few days.

A large congregation attended the Children's Day exercises at the First Baptist church Sunday evening. During the evening the Ladies' Orchestra rendered some very fine music which was greatly enjoyed by all.

The whereabouts of Wm. Roantree, of New Market, who escaped from an officer while being taken to the New Brunswick jail last Wednesday for being drunk and disorderly, are still unknown to the police. After the man escaped from the officer he went back to his home and, packing up some clothing and collecting a sum of money from one of his employers, left for unknown parts. No one is known to have seen him since.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Miss Lydia Faulks is entertaining friends from South River.

Henry Southard, the hostler who was injured by the upsetting of the horse palace car at this place several days ago, was taken to his home in North Plainfield, where he is still confined to his bed. "Lilly M," the pacer, who was also injured, will probably have to be shot.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by continually failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

NEED OF TOWN IMPROVEMENT.

Woman's Trained Administrative Powers Needed in Municipal Welfare.

For a city so well governed as Plainfield is, the question is asked by those unfamiliar with its plan and scope why the need of an organization like the Town Improvement Association? For those who are undecided regarding the practical utility of the association's work the following extract from a late number of Harper's Bazar is presented:

"Formerly women employed their trained administrative powers, and strengthened by generations of inherited ability, of attention to the many small details of housekeeping, of patience with minute affairs, simply in ordering their domestic routine to the peace and comfort of the households dependent upon them. At present, women engage largely in wider economics, and devote time, thought and pains to the village streets, the parks, the front yards and back doors, the various conditions of the township in which they live. Studying sanitary science, women are diligent in securing proper drainage, and wives and mothers fight typhoid and diphtheria not merely with the weapons of good nursing and medicine, but with the preventive expedients and judicious measures which keep the vile germs of disease from water, air and soil."

Mrs. W. P. Church, of New York, is visiting at the home of her brother-in-law, F. A. Church, on Craig place.

Mr. and Mrs. Seely Edsall returned last night from an eight-days carriage ride through the northern part of the State.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Matthews returned to their home on Grove street yesterday after a short visit with friends in New York.

Mrs. John Weir and daughters, of Rockview avenue, left yesterday for Hubbardsville, N. Y., where they will remain for the summer.

Mrs. O. S. Teale and daughter Miss Anna have returned to their home on Mercer avenue after a three-weeks visit with relatives in Brooklyn.

SHAKERS AND DOCTORS TALK TOGETHER.

In his able work entitled "Longevity," published a few years ago, Dr. John Gardner, of England, predicts that a vegetable agent will yet be found that shall so retard those changes that bring about old age, as to prolong human life much beyond its present limit.

Acting, perhaps, upon the impulse produced by this thought, many eminent physicians have called from time to time upon upon the Shakers of Mt. Lebanon to inquire of them concerning the secrets of medicinal plants, in which these sincere, simple-minded and God-fearing people are known to be wise and skillful beyond all other men

The Shakers willingly told what they had learned, and in return received from their visitors much valuable information about disease; which they at once made practical use of. The most important point was that if a genuine and certain remedy could be found for indigestion and dyspepsia, and the ailments growing out of it, a long step would be taken in the right direction. Old age, said these physicians, begins in a failure of the digestion, and so do most diseases at any and all periods of life. The result of these consultations was the discovery by the Shakers of the desired specific, made wholly from herbs, and now known as the Shaker Digestive Cordial. Its action is magical and worthy of its origin

Where there is distress after eating heartburn, sick headache, bad taste in the mouth, biliousness, weakness and weariness, cold hands and feet, aversion to food, nervousness, or any other symptom of dyspepsia, the Cordial will prove its curative virtues. Behind it is the reputation of a people who have never defrauded or deceived their fellow men.

In order to test whether this remedy is adapted to your case, at practically no cost, you may procure a trial bottle for ten cents of almost any druggist.

Mrs. R. DeYoung, Middleburg, Ia., writes. I have used One Minute Cough Cure for six years, both for myself and children, and I consider it the quickest acting and most satisfactory Cough Cure I have ever used. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front Street.

A LEAK

During the storm yesterday one of the skylights on our building blew off and consequently we have a lot of summer underwear for ladies and gentlemen slightly damaged by water. 50 dozen ladies fine ribbed vests that were 18c, now 10c. A lot of gent's fine balbriggan shirts that were 50c, now 33c. Ladies' hosiery. About 50 dozen ladies hose. The 15c quality will go for 10c.

KID GLOVES—Over 800 pair of importer's sample gloves came in the other day and only a small notice in the papers about them, but 400 people saw it and bought the gloves. The balance 400 pair on sale tomorrow, 59c

BOYS—Here's a racket for you. 300 fine cambric shirt waists such as your mothers usually pay 25c for, will go for 13c.

PLAIN NAINSOOKS—A thousand yards of them, such as you usually pay 10c for, but they are only 5c the yard.

SHIRT WAISTS—In the shirt waist manufacturing business ourselves now. There is hardly a style made but what you can find here and if you do want something different pick out your material and we make it for you for 50c. Laundered shirt waists, cambric, 49c. Fine percale waists, 59c. Beautiful lawns, dimity, batiste, etc., lace trimmed, yoke back 98c. Silk waists, colored and black, $1.89.

MATTING—If importers and makers never made mistakes you would never buy matting at such prices. Too many they made and no fault with the goods, but how prices tumble. Think of fine linen warp matting for 13c the yard. We thought they were cheap at 20c and most stores ask 25c for them. Matting porch rugs 10, 15 and 19c each.

SPECIAL—Ladies' skirts made of fine swivel silk lined with fine rustling percaline, equal to any $5 skirt made. We only ask $2.69. See them.

MEN—Here is a shirt news worth reading. It's the old story of the manufacturer making too many goods more than he could sell, so he accepted our offer 50c on a dollar for his stock. Men's outing shirts 50c kind 32c. Men's silk stripe soft finish outing shirts the dollar kind 59c. Men's silk and wool shirts such as you usually pay $2.00 for we sell for 98c. Boy's fine outing shirts, regular 50c quality. Our Price 27c.

PLATT WAS IN A RAGE

Miller's Efforts To Depose Him Came as a Surprise.

VERY ANGRY OVER THE INCIDENT

The Personalities Exchanged at the Meeting of the New York Delegates Were Very Bitter—Miller's Attack Met with But Little Support.

St. Louis, June 16.—The efforts of Warner Miller yesterday to depose Platt and elect Chauncey M. Depew chairman of the New York delegation has thoroughly aroused the ire of the Empire state republican leader, and to say that he was angry but faintly describes his feelings. The move came as a complete sarprise even to the anti-Platt element. Of course, Mr. Platt was not expecting any favors from so bitter an opponent as Miller, neither was he anticipating this attack in the caucus of delegates. When the delegation was called to order it was understood that Chauncey M. Depew was to be named as chairman of the delegation. There was no suspicion that there would be any opposition. But Warner Miller had been in conference all the morning with the McKinley managers and with Mr. Matthews of Buffalo, and when the double proposition was made he was upon his feet in an instant. "I move," he said, "that the name of Mr. Depew be substituted for that of Mr. Platt." Surprise was written on all faces and even Mr. Depew seemed taken back. "I do this," continued Mr. Miller, "because the most distinguished man on this delegation has been entirely neglected." There were cries of "No!" and a motion was at once made to divide the question. Mr. Depew was then selected as chairman of the caucus by a unanimous vote. The question was put as to the selection of Mr. Platt as chairman of the delegation, and then Mr. Miller renewed his motion to substitute Mr. Depew's name. Mr. Depew sat silent, but Representative Quigg, in opposing the substitution, attacked Mr. Miller in a vigorous and almost vicious manner. Other speakers denounced Mr. Miller, and then a recess was taken. When the meeting reconvened there was another stormy session. Ex-Senator Warner Miller criticized ex-Senator Platt's denunciation of McKinley, and asked the delegation not to confer upon him the honor of naming him member of the national committee. Mr. Miller in return was severely excoriated by Thurlow Weed Barnes and Senator John Raines. When a vote was taken Platt received fifty-three votes and Miller seventeen. Before adjourning a resolution was unanimously adopted favoring the maintenance of the present gold standard and opposing free silver except by international agreement. The meeting over, Mr. Miller went to Hanna's room. It is thought that Mr. Miller's move is towards the nomination of Depew for vice-president, and that the Ohio people may be willing to assist him.

NOT DESIRABLE TENANT.

Free Employment Bureau Unable To Secure Suitable Quarters in New York City.

Albany, June 16.—Commissioner of Labor Statistics McDonough has returned from an unsuccessful trip to New York city in quest of quarters to establish the free employment bureau in that city which was authorized by an act passed by the last legislature which appropriated $5,000 for the maintenance of such a bureau. Mr. McDonough found that in desirable parts of the city property owners feared that if they rented him rooms their buildings would be over-run by an undesirable class of people. He has commissioned a real estate agent to try and secure suitable rooms for him.

The Fleming Trial.

New York, June 16.—The defense in the case of Mrs. Fleming, on trial for causing the death of her mother, will begin to-day. After the prosecution rested last evening the prisoner's counsel asked Recorder Goff to dismiss the indictments and to advise the jury to acquit the defendant: first, on the ground of insufficiency of proof; secondly, owing to the absence of material proof, and thirdly, because upon the proof his honor could not properly pass a judgment upon the defendant. The motion was promptly denied and counsel took an exception.

Ward Politician Sentenced.

Boston, June 16.—Charles W. Kinney, warden of the ward 19 democratic caucus, which was held in that ward on May 28 last, appeared in the Roxbury district court yesterday on five counts, for unlawfully marking ballots and for hindering several from voting. On the first count a fine of $75 was imposed, and on each of the other counts $50 and two months in the house of correction, making in all eight months' imprisonment and $275 in fines.

New Boilers for the Atlanta.

Washington, June 16.—Secretary Herbert has directed that new boilers and engines be put in the cruiser Atlanta at the Brooklyn navy yard, in accordance with the provision of the naval bill appropriating $100,000 for that purpose. The proposition to fit the Atlanta with twin screws will not be carried out, and she will remain a single screw vessel.

St. Paul Printers' Strike.

New York, June 16.—The striking printers in St. Paul and Minneapolis and their sympathizers are making the statement that the strike was brought on by the publishers, so as to carry out a resolution adopted at the annual meeting of the American Newspaper Publishers' association last February. This statement the officers of the A N. P. A. deny.

PROPOSALS.

Office of the Board of Education.
Plainfield, N. J. June 1st, 1896.

Sealed proposals will be received at this office until 7 p. m., June 22nd, 1896, for furnishing all material and labor called for in the plans and specifications for the Lincoln School Building, this city, for the masonry, carpentry and painting. Separate bids will be received for the masonry, carpentry and painting or one bid for the entire work. Plans may be seen at the office of the Architect, Mr. C. P. Karr, 70 Fifth avenue, New York, or obtained at the office of the Board of Education, High School building.

No bid will be considered unless the same is accompanied with a certified check to the order of the "Board of Education of the City of Plainfield" the amount of check in each instance to be as follows: If bid is for entire building $600; if for mason's contract, only $300; if for carpenter's contract only $300; if for painting only $50. Checks from unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned as soon as the contracts are awarded. Checks from the successful bidder or bidders will be retained until the contract is accepted and bonds furnished.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a satisfactory bond for one-half the amount of his contract, accompanied by two sureties thereto, each surety to qualify to the full amount of the bond.

Each bidder is to state the earliest date at which he will agree to complete the building.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to ask for modifications of same.

By order of the Board of Education
FRED C. LOUNSBURY.
Chairman of Building Committee.

HAVE YOU

seen our New Fountain? It is a beauty and the very latest thing in the way of soda water fountains. One of its best points is the fact that absolutely nothing comes in contact with the syrup but hard rubber and glass thus obviating all danger of contamination from imperfect metal faucets.

"UP-TO-DATE"

GIVE US A CHANCE

TWO DOGS AND A JURY.

MARGUERITO VELASQUEZ was a person of some notoriety on the American side of the Texan frontier. There were patriots, indeed, when members of his acquaintance, notably sheriff's officers, sought his society with an ardor that was difficult to withstand. The present was one of those occasions, and although Marguerito had shown some coyness about accepting the urgent invitation extended to him and had, moreover, given the state officials some healthy exercise before allowing them to deliver it personally, yet he had eventually given way to force of circumstances.

Fortunately for themselves, the representatives of law and order in Jacubaya knew within one hundred miles or so the localities where Marguerito was likely to be found. His natural modesty would, they were aware, prevent his crossing the American border, where his return had long been awaited with anxiety by certain of his compatriots. Therefore the chase had been short.

Still, while it lasted, like most of the proceedings in which Marguerito was actively concerned, it had proved full of interest to the persons sharing in it. But now the object of all these attentions had recognized the uselessness of further resistance, and feeling that he had done his best, was prepared to rest upon his laurels. Wherein his friend, Don Carlos, agreed with him.

The pair, accompanied by a large proportion of the population, made their way toward the courthouse, a building which but unflatteringly illustrated the quality of the law dispensed therein. As a matter of fact, before it became a hall of justice, it had been a loft, and access to it was still gained by means of a ladder. Marguerito, followed by the judge, the jury and the crowd, mounted with impassive slowness, and he was shortly occupying a prominent position in the court.

Don Carlos, who suffered from a constitutional objection to climbing, had elected to remain in the yard below. Knowing from past experience that the trial was likely to be a lengthy process, he gravely seated himself upon the ground and prepared to await events. It should be explained that Don Carlos was not handsome. Neither was he good. Still, he possessed merits which might have been patent to the casual observer. In complexion he was black and tan, being rather like a dachshund in the face, while he strongly resembled a greyhound in the figure. His tail, however, it was impossible to classify, for it belonged to no species or epoch. Owing to his having been dropped by his nurse when a baby, it had a break near the tip, which caused it to curl over his back in coquettish manner far from exemplifying the real solidity of his character, while its length would have done credit to a cat.

Don Carlos himself seemed to be aware that it was not the latest fashion in tails, and he habitually underwent many things in a vain endeavor to sit upon the whole of it at once. He was thus engaged upon the present occasion when, glancing up, he chanced to catch sight of a bull mastiff which was strolling into the yard apparently in search of stray refreshments.

Don Carlos pricked up his ears and blinked his eyes, into which the light of battle gradually crept, until the intruder, unconscious of danger, drew nearer every moment.

In the meanwhile the sonorous tones of the judge, mingled with the drawl of the witnesses, sounded clearly from the open window of the loft above. It appeared that Marguerito was accused of horse stealing this time, and as he listened to the details of his error, as described by the sufferers from it, he felt by no means certain but that this might be the last of his many adventures.

"Judge Hopper's got a hanging look about him this morning," he meditated, with an unemotional face. "If I get off this time I will go home to Conchita, and they shall find me no more."

The last witness for the prosecution finished his tale of woe, and a feeble effort was made at defense, while Marguerito wondered idly if he really were as great a ruffian as the evidence seemed to imply.

Silence broken only by the buzzing of flies fell upon the close room, as the judge seated himself in his wooden chair and prepared to sum up. The culprit, who was looking through the window at his side, appeared to be the only uninterested person present. A deputy standing near was about to call his attention to the proceedings when, following for an instant the direction of the prisoner's gaze, he, too, became absorbed.

The sheriff himself then glanced at the window, through which short barks were beginning to make themselves heard, and after one look he rushed to the door and commenced hurridly descending the ladder. The audience gazed at each other in amazement for an instant, and with a simultaneous movement they took a hurried survey of the yard. Having looked, they wasted no more time, but, with an expression of rapture stealing over their faces, they made for the ladder, accompanied by the prisoner and his guard.

The judge, being left alone in the loft, frowned severely at the empty benches, as he said with impressive dignity: "I guess this court will now adjourn." Then he tucked up his sleeves and made good time for the yard. A vigorous struggle for the best view took place between Marguerito and himself, without either man being in the least aware of the identity of the person by whom he was jostled. Nor would it have made any difference if he had known, because not even for a free pardon would the accused have consented to forego the enthralling sight on which he was feasting his eyes.

Affairs were just at their most exciting stage. The bull mastiff, it appeared, had drawn quite close to Don Carlos before perceiving his presence. He had, then, instead of apologizing for the intrusion, critically examined Don Carlos' tail, afterward giving vent to an insulting bark. This brought matters to a climax, and in less time than it takes to tell the two dogs were so inextricably mixed up that but for the appendage in question waving over the scene like a flag of battle, it would have been impossible to distinguish one combatant from the other.

There was no necessity for the haste displayed by the spectators in reaching the seat of war, for the fray promised to be as long as it was sanguinary. No quarter was asked or desired. The stranger possessed a vast amount of staying power, inasmuch as when he once took hold little short of extracting his teeth made him let go again. But the military tactics of his opponent were new to him, and prevented his getting an opportunity to show what he really could do.

Don Carlos dashed underneath him and sent him sprawling in the mud; he jumped over his back and gave him a perfunctory bite in passing, and he harried his front and rear guards both at the same time, until the bull mastiff felt that, for all the good he was able to effect, he might as well be a toy terrier. The ironical cheers of the crowd incited him to fresh endeavor, and he spent himself in frantic efforts to gain the mastery.

At length, however, he saw a chance.

Making a sudden dash while Don Carlos was in the act of executing one of his wonderful leaps, the bulldog met him in midair, and at last obtained a grip on the enemy's throat. Both dogs fell to the ground, the stranger savagely worrying his apparently vanquished antagonist.

The crowd showed signs of a desire to interfere, but Marguerito waved them back. "Let 'em alone," he said, placidly, "and bet your boots upon old Carlos."

The intelligent animal, as he lay beneath his conqueror, appeared to understand and to be encouraged by the faith reposed in him by his master. He gathered his long legs together, planting them firmly against the enemy's body, and the next development of the case was that the bull mastiff was seen to be taking an entirely involuntary flight through space.

Don Carlos, meanwhile, slowly arose, shook out his tail, and—yawned.

The discomfited interloper, after a short period of meditation in a dust heap, picked himself out of the dirt. He looked back at the field of battle, glanced at the open gate which he had entered, and then in a depressed manner he evidently made up his mind that it was time to leave. He accordingly did so, and not until he had slowly lurched out of sight around a sandy corner did Don Carlos creep up to his master for congratulations. That gentleman muttered something in their native Mexican that was clearly intelligible to his companion, for Don Carlos' eyes said plainly that he found life a very satisfactory thing. With unlooked for docility Marguerito turned to ascend the ladder leading to the loft.

Brought back to everyday life by his movement, judge, jury and audience followed suit in a silence too blissful for breaking.

The prisoner, impassive as ever, resumed his careless survey of the room, letting his gaze rest longest on the benches occupied by the jury.

The judge took his seat, scrutinized the faces of the crowd, and, apparently satisfied by what he read there, cleared his throat and began.

"Gentlemen of the jury," he said, "when we were interrupted by unforeseen circumstances a short time ago I opine that you were just a-goin' to declare that accordin' to the best of your belief the pris'ner was innercent of the charge agin him."

"You've struck it, jedge," unblushingly responded the jury.

The judge frowned down an attempt at speech on the part of the sheriff and turned to Marguerito.

"Pris'ner," he said, "you heerd the remarks of them gentlemen opposite, so you may take it that the proceedin's is concluded. But don't get up to any more of your tricks in this country, for it 'pears likely that next time you won't get off so easy. And now, what'll you take for the dog?"—Pall Mall Gazette.

She Was Grateful.

The plain tailor-made costumes so much in vogue with young ladies are occasionally the cause of amusing mistakes. A young lady in a street car gave up her seat to an elderly woman. The old lady, near-sighted but grateful, was prompt in her acknowledgments. "Thank you, sir," she said; "thank you very much. You are the only gentleman in the car."—Youth's Companion.

TUESDAY, June 16—Sun rises 4:28 a. m., sets 7:33 p. m. Lanterns must be lighted between 8:33 p. m. and 3:28 a. m.

Cyclists desiring to join the League of American Wheelmen will be furnished with application blanks and necessary information by addressing the Cycling Department of the Daily Press.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Miss Mary VanFleet, of East Third street, purchased a Flecturing yesterday.

Thomas Hanna and Frank Randolph, of this city, rode their wheels to Springfield last night.

Rev. and Mrs. C. L. Goodrich, of West Seventh street, went out on an all-day cycling trip yesterday. They made Rahway their destination. They carried their lunch and enjoyed it picnic fashion.

"Manager" William Sweeney wishes The Press to state that he has issued no challenge for a race or thought of doing so despite the statements of another newspaper. He is perfectly capable of holding his own, however, with any of the young riders of Plainfield.

William McCutchen's fast time yesterday at The Daily Press meet was made on a Spalding wheel for which W. H. Rogers, of this city, is agent. Lindley Hillman, who rode second to McCutchen in each event and who is one of Plainfield's most promising riders, is also a rider of the Spalding, which has already carried him to victory a number of times.

Jay Eaton, of the Jersey Wheel Campany's racing team, still continues to hold his own with the cracks on the New York State circuit. Saturday, he rode in the circuit meet at Ilion, and finished second, next to "Eddie" Bald in the half-mile open. H. B. Mosher, of the same team, also rode, but he was pretty stiff from his fall of Thursday, and did not get a place in his heat.

The Jersey Wheel Company's team has at last a mascot. It came last night to Trainer Gus. T. Burgland in the shape of a little English bull-terrier pup, sent to him from across the Atlantic. The dog is registered and has a pedigree that will reach nearly around the Crescent Oval. Gus is delighted with the creature which has already shown a great fondness for bicycles and has christened him "Jersey" after the "fastest wheel on the track."

A. H. Chamberlain, a member of the racing committe of the Metropolitan Cycling Association, and the starter of the Decoration Day Irvington-Milburn race, denied yesterday that he was present at the meeting of the committee this week when they refused to grant the request of the Vim Cycle Club of Newark for a hearing on the protest of Hadfield against his disqualification. "If I had been present," said Mr Chamberlain, "I should have voted against upholding the decision of Referee William R. Pitman, and in favor of Hadfield, the winner of the race.

WITH ROD AND GUN.

John J. Shotwell, R. H. McCollough and James C. Manning left town this morning for the fishing banks and are spending the day fishing.

Pleaded Guilty and Was Fined.

The case of Wm. Pangborn, agent for the S. P. C. A., against Geo. Naylor, charged with cruelly treating a horse, came up before Justice Newcorn yesterday. The defendant plead guilty and was fined $20 and costs. In the case of Mr. Pangborn against Donardo Bunawano, on a similar complaint, the defendant's counsel, Lawyer Hetfield, secured an adjournment for one week.

Exhibition of Pupils' Work.

There will be an exhibition of pupils' work at the Washington School, Friday afternoon and evening, June 19th, from 2:30 to 9 o'clock. An exhibition of class work has been prepared by teachers and pupils of the Franklin School, to be given Wednesday, June 17th, from 2:30 to 5:30 o'clock.

Well Worth Attending.

The "League" entertainment to be held at Vincent chapel this evening will be well worth witnessing. The Grecian tableaux are especially fine and several new ones have been added during the last week. The price of admission is put so low that all can attend. It is twenty-five cents.

The home of Mr. and Mrs Harry McClain, of East Fourth street, has been brightened by the arrival of a young son.

Mrs. Sarah Valiant, accompanied by her granddaughter, Miss Winifred, of Baltimore, are the guests of Councilman and Mrs. John Valiant, of the borough.

Held for the Grand Jury.

Walent Galansky and Annie Klimasisky were brought before Justice Nash this afternoon on the charge of adultry. The charge was made by Roman Klimasisky, husband of Annie Klimasisky. Counsellor W. K. McClure appeared for the defendants and W. S. Angleman for the State. The prisoners waived examination and were held in $100 bond each for the grand jury. Walent Galrnsky was held in $40 bond to appear before the grand jury on another charge of opening a letter.

The Best of Talent.

The vaudeville show which will be presented in Music Hall on Thursday evening of this week will be composed of an aggregation of the best specialty talent on the stage. George Thatcher, under whose management it is given, has secured Wm. T. Bryant and Miss Lizzie Richmond, late of the Seabrooke company; Bobby Gaylor, Stuart McAllister and Miss Allie Hansome, the English ingenue.

Her Day Coming.

Mr. Nextage—My dear, did you mail those letters I gave you this morning?

Mrs. Nextage (removing her wraps)—I did.

"Did you order that flour I told you I wanted?"

"I did."

"How happens it you are so late in coming home this evening?"

"I had to attend a ward caucus."

"What makes you smell so strongly of cloves?"

"We—h'm—we had our meeting in a room over a spice factory."

"Well, you can take the baby and walk with him an hour or two. You've waked him up."—Chicago Tribune.

An Excellent Name.

"How do you like my cake?" fluttered Mrs. Nooleigh, when they had been married only a little while.

"It seems pretty good," answered her husband, looking at the piece on his plate.

"It's marble cake," she explained with considerable pride.

Mr. Nooleigh turned the piece over and tapped it smartly with his kinfe.

"It is an excellent name," he responded, after a thoughtful pause.—N. Y. Recorder.

CHARGED WITH FORGERY.

A Son of the Late Henry Ward Beecher on Trial at Brooklyn.

New York, June 15.—Henry Barton Beecher, son of the late famous preacher of Brooklyn, is on trial before Justice Fursman in the criminal branch of the supreme court on a charge of forgery. The charge of forgery grew out of the collapsing of the American Casualty Insurance & Security company in 1893. The company was organized in Baltimore in 1890. The business was to insure railroads against losses by collisions and other accidents. It was alleged that the company received $7,000,000 from various railroads. They failed for $1,700,000, with assets of $250,000. William E. Midgley, Henry B. Beecher and Vincent R. Solench were indicted for forgery, grand larceny and misdemeanor. Midgley was tried for forgery two months ago in general sessions and acquitted.

SONS OF THE REVOLUTION.

Annual Pilgrimage of the Empire State Society to Newburgh.

Newburgh, N. Y., June 16.—The annual pilgrimage of the Empire State society, Sons of American Revolution, New York city, was made yesterday by steamer to Newburgh and West Point. The boat stopped at Yonkers and brought representatives of the chapters there. The company, including Daughters of the American Revolution, numbered about 600. They reached here at 2 o'clock and went at once to Washington's headquarters, where they were made welcome by the local committee of the Sons. A gavel made of wood from Temple Hill, near this city, where the final encampment of the revolutionary army here was held, was presented to the Empire State society by Quassaick chapter. The pilgrims then inspected the relics in the headquarters building, and afterwards sailed for West Point.

SECURES HER CHILDREN.

Mrs. Slack Must Give Bond To Keep Them Within the Court's Jurisdiction.

Washington, June 16.—Judge McComas late yesterday afternon made an order in the celebrated Slack case that the two little girls be turned over to their mother at once. Mrs. Slack is required to give a bond of $10,000 that the children will not be taken out of the jurisdict n of the court. The court of appea s has issued an order to the court below, sitting as a court of equity, directing it to take no further proceedings in the matter. This procedure will leave the mother undisturbed in the possession of the children, until some action is taken by the supreme court next fall. These children were left by their father's will to their aunt, Mrs. Perrine, and while the will in other particulars has been sustained the mother secures the children.

JAPAN'S NAVY.

One Second-Class Cruiser May Be Ordered in America.

Washington, June 16.—Naval constructors S. Tukakura and S. Sakurai of the Japanese navy were at the navy department yesterday afternoon in company with Commander Mayaoka, naval attache of the Japanese legation. They are here to make inquiries as to American shipbuilding methods and have visited the Cramps' works at Philadelphia and will proceed from Washington to San Francisco to inspect the plant of the Union Iron works. Japan proposes to increase her navy, and bids will be requested of American shipbuilding firms. It is said that the only vessel likely to be called for from this country will be a second-class cruiser, similar to the San Francisco and the Charleston.

HOBART'S BOOM WANES.

IF MORTON SAYS THE WORD HE CAN HAVE SECOND PLACE.

Permanent Organization Effected This Morning—Hobart's Defeat Means War Among the Republicans of New Jersey.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

St. Louis, June 17.—A great surging crowd of delegates, alternates and the big and little fry politicians filled the massive structure in which the National convention is being held this morning, long before the time of 10:30 o'clock, when the permanent organiz ation was to be effected. At that hour the convention was called to order by temporary chairman Fairbanks. Senator Thurston, of New Hampshire, was named for permanent chairman.

Charles W. Johnson, of Minnesota, was elected secretary, and W. E. Kelly, of Kentucky, H. B. Smith, of Michigan, A. B. Humphres, of New York, and A. W. Manlor, of Maryland, were chosen assistant secretaries.

Senator Sewell, of New Jersey, and Congressman Payne, of New York, the latter being McKinley's right-hand man on the Ways and Means Committee, when the famous McKinley bill was formulated, were appointed a committee to escort Senator Thurston to the platform.

As they marched up the aisle, arm in arm, there was an excited scene, delegates yelling at the top of their voices, waving hats, canes and handkerchiefs. The chairman assumed the chair and delivered an address in which he attributed all the reforms and prosperity of the country to the Republicans. It was wildly partisan. Before the convention had proceeded to active work, ex-Governor Foraker raised the excitement to the highest pitch by getting the attention of the throng of delegates and announcing that he had just received a telegram from Governor Morton, in which it was stated that he wanted his name to go before the convention as a candidate for first place.

This announcement gave to the New Jersey delegation a faint ray of hope that such action would keep him out of the race for second place, and thus leave the field to Hobart.

But Governor Morton has not stated that he does not want the second place if he cannot get the first, and the Morton men are still talking of him for the Vice-Presidency. In order for a choice it is necessary that 460 delegates vote for one man, and it is claimed this morning that Morton has 445 delegates from the following States: Rhode Island, Pennsylvania, South and North Dakota, Tennessee, Indiana, Wisconsin, Texas, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Ohio, Missouri, Utah, Mississippi, New York.

One of the most important events of the morning was the decision of the committee on credentials, of which J. Franklin Fort, of New Jersey, is chairman, that the delegates from Delaware, headed by Senator Higgins, were entitled to seats in the convention. They were contested by the delegation headed by J. Edward Addicks, the gas man.

At noon the convention adjourned to two o'clock. The work this afternoon will consist in hearing reports of committees, etc. It is not expected that any ballot will be taken before tomorrow afternoon.

EARLY MORNING GOSSIP.

St. Louis, June 17.—After all, Garret A. Hobart, the Jerseyman who has loomed up so formidable for second place on the National ticket, may be doomed to disappointment. As one sage of the last century has remarked: "Politics is mighty uncertain," and the truthfulness of this is now realized by the men who have been wearing Hobart buttons and shouting for the man who made John Griggs Governor of New Jersey last fall. The first of the week the Hobart boom had the stamp of approval from Mark Hanna. At that time Hanna was boss of the situation. But he was one of the new born bosses and when T. C. Platt, the only all-around boss of the country, arrived, things began to take on another aspect. In the course of political deals which followed, the candidacies of some of the other favorites for second place began to assume more life. The most important of all however, is the announcement that Governor Morton, of New York, is likely to conclude that if he can't get first place, he will take second place. To pacify Platt and the strong combination of which he is the shining light, it is feared that the boomlet of Hobart may possibly fall by the wayside after the complimentary votes have been cast in the convention.

Up to the time that the rumor of Morton's desire to take the Vice-Presdential nomination gained currency, Hobart's campaign had been allowed

THE GHOST DIDN'T COME.

BUT THE POLICE DID AND DISPERSED A CROWD OF PEOPLE.

A Half Thousand Curious West Enders Gathered in the Vicinity of the Cemetery Awaiting a View of the White Object.

Just think of it, a ghost in this city! A report spread through the West End yesterday that the ghost of a well-known old woman, who died recently, had been seen walking in the vicinity of Evergreen cemetery. The mere suggestion that Plainfield had a "really truly" ghost, caused no end of excitement, and early in the evening a crowd began to gather near the corner of John and West Fourth streets, just beyond the cemetery.

The ubiquitious small boy was there in full force, his pockets filled with an extra supply of pebbles, nails, fish-hooks and the like, to keep up his courage. The indifferent father, who had turned a deaf ear to all ghost stories, just "happened" around, while the sister and mother had just come out to get a little fresh air.

By 9 o'clock, the crowd numbered fully five hundred, but still no ghost appeared. The younger watchers became impatient and began to make remarks intended for the ear of the shadowy visitor. One lad, braver than the rest, ventured out toward the cemetery.

"Come on out," he yelled, "I a'int afraid of yer!" But the shadow of a tree seemed to resemble a human figure, and the youngster beat a hasty retreat. The boys yelled singly, in platoons, companies and regiments, but still no ghost appeared.

The noise had the effect of rousing everybody within several blocks of the place and sulphurous fumes began to rise as some tired workman said unpleasant things about ghost watchers.

There was a special officer there but he was not "in it" with the ghost and the crowd refused to move.

"Cheese it, der cop!" shouted one of the enterprising tots, who was vainly hunting for the ghost behind the fence and hitching posts, and then he fled.

If the ghost itself had appeared, the crowd could not have broken up more suddenly than it did when Chief Grant and Patrolman Cooney appeared on the scene. There was a general stampede and some of those who had not seen the officers went home with a long story of how they had been chased by a terrible ghost of wonderful size.

The ghost watchers were thoroughly dispersed for the evening, however, with the exception of a few adventurous characters who, from behind some tree or fence, waited vainly for Mrs. Ghost to walk.

LEAL'S SCHOOL GRADUATES.

Most of the Students Will Continue Their Education at Yale.

The closing exercises of Leal's School will be held tomorrow night at the Y. M. C. A. hall. There will be an address by Rev. W. R. Richards, D. D., a few remarks by John Leal and selections by Conde's Young Men's orchestra and the Lotos Glee Club. The admission will be by invitation.

The graduating class consists of John B. Dumont, Jr., Llewellyn Bull, Gilbert R. Lovell, William Tracy, Joseph Wadsworth, William M. McCutche, Raymond A. McGee, and Benjamin O. Bowers, Jr. The committee in charge of the decorating consists of Messrs. McGee, Tracy, Bull and Dumont. Of all the graduates, five expect to go to college and all have selected Yale. They are Lovell, Tracy, Wadsworth, McCutchen and McGee.

North Plainfield School Alumni Reception

The alumni of the North Plainfield public school will give a reception to the members of the graduating class on the evening of Friday, June 26th, at the public school building. The committee in charge consists of four officers of the alumni association, Clarence L. Murphy, president; Walter L. Place, vice-president; Robert M. Clark, secretary; Frank J. Blatz, treasurer. An entertainment will be given which will be followed by a dance.

Booming in the West End.

A genuine building boom has struck the vicinity of Grant avenue, Sixth and Seventh streets. Ground has been broken for several houses in that vicinity and more will soon follow. Among those who are about to put up first-class dwellings are Messrs. Runyon & Manning, Leight, the architect, Woolston & Buckle, C. M. Thorp, Seaman Williams, the contractor, and others.

Instituted a New Corps.

Mrs. E. C. Morse, of this city, Department President of the Woman's Relief Corps of New Jersey, instituted John N. Wheeler Corps at Montclair last night. She also acted as installing officer.

POSING IN TABLEAU.

CREDITABLE ENTERTAINMENT GIVEN IN VINCENT CHAPEL LAST NIGHT.

Attired in Grecian Costumes, and With Powdered Hair, Face and Arms, Girls Were Grouped Together Prettily.

Instead of the blue skies that had been promised for last evening, it clouded up and the audience at the "League" entertainment at Vincent chapel, already postponed a week on account of rain, was not a large one. It fairly filled the room, however, and certainly enjoyed the programme.

The entertainment was an enjoyable one and the variety of the different selections made it still more pleasant. The first part opened with a march, with hand movements by a number of very little girls who went through the evolutions very well. A well given recitation, "The Three Bells," by Miss Mamie Thatcher followed. Then came a piano solo by two little girls, and an exciting recitation, "The Dandy Fifth," excellently given by Clarence Mills. That favorite selection from De Koven's "Robin Hood," known as the "Armorer's Song," was delightfully rendered by Raymond A. McGee in a manner that called for loud applause. Clarence Mills proved himself a pleasing entertainer on the violin as well as at reciting, and rendered "Gentle Zitella," a Swiss air, in a very artistic manner. After a tenor solo from "Martha" given by Lewis H. Bond, in his usual delightful way, a Japanese fan drill closed the first part. Those to take part in this pretty and graceful little drill were: Misses Florence McDonald, Mabel Smith, Nellie Apgar, Mabel Vail, Mabel Jenkins, Cora Harris, Florence Williams, Lottie Montrose, Grace Webster, Emma Lareu, Ida Tallamy, Florence Symons, Nettie Bauersachs, Carrie Mulford, Lucy Casper, Fannie Dodd.

Part two opened with a recitation, "The Settler's Story," by Miss Bertha H. Whitney. The selection was vividly portrayed and the audience was held spellbound as they listened to the thrilling story with its sad ending. After a splendidly executed piano solo, "Polonaise, in E major," by Miss May Vincent Whitney, Austin E. Armstrong, of Dickinson College, gave two short recitations. The first, "The Kitchen Clock," was rather romantic, but it greatly pleased his listeners, old and young. Romance and humor were included in the second, "So Was I," and everybody laughed, partly at the selection and partly at the delightful manner in which Mr. Armstrong gave it. He is a pleasing entertainer, and the hearty applause he received told plainly that the audience appreciated him.

The entertainment closed with the "Tableaux Mouvant, Poses Plastique," in which the following took part: Misses Etta Raybert, Bessie Cornwell, Margaretta Barnes, Sadie Blimm, C Florence Barnes, Edna Harris, Bertha Jenkins, Sadie Douglass. The young women were all dressed in white Greek costume, with powdered hair, face and arms. The poses were very artistic and, with the colored calcium lights thrown on, they were very beautiful. A competent judge declared them to be equal to those given in the physical culture colleges. Much credit is due to Miss Bertha H. Whitney, who so carefully drilled and arranged the participants. The different tableaux were Seasons Dancing before Time; Sleeping Ariadne; Apollo and Daphne; Cupid and Psyche; Parting of Orpheus and Eurydice; Niobe Groupe; The Muses; Home Scene from the Greeks; Sacrifice of Iphigenia; Night and the Fates; Toilet of the Bride; A Captive; Frieze—Battle of the Amazons; Frieze—Revel of the Muses; Frieze—Chain Dance; Death of Virginia.

Bound Brook to Celebrate.

Bound Brook is to have quite a celebration on July 4th. There will be a big parade, a flag-pole raising and the usal speechmaking. The parade is gotten up by the J. O. U. A. M. of that place and they have secured the Independent Fife and Drum Corps, who will head the line. Franklin Council, No. 41, J.O.U.A.M., will also take part in the parade. Fireworks in the evening will close the celebration.

Dr. O. B. King and wife, of Putnam avenue, leave for their cottage at Avon-by-the-Sea tomorrow.

Mr. James Perdue, an old soldier residing at Monroe, Mich., was severely afflicted with rheumatism but received prompt relief from pain by using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says: "At times my back would ache so badly that I could hardly raise up. If I had not gotten relief I would not be here to write these few lines. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done me a great deal of good and I feel very thankful for it." For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

SALVATIONISTS' WORK.

MRS. BOOTH-TUCKER ADDRESSES A THOUSAND PEOPLE.

She But Faintly Alludes to the Recent Break in the Army Ranks, But Talks of the Soul Saving Work Being Done.

The first appearance in this city of Mrs. Booth-Tucker, wife of the Commander of the Salvation Army, and second daughter of General William Booth, was a remarkable one in many respects, and to the outsiders who carefully watched the proceedings at the Salvation Army Hall, last evening, the meeting must have been one of peculiar interest. Over one thousand persons by actual count were present and for nearly two hours were deeply moved by what was said and done.

The "Central Victory Boys" held their usual open air meeting, and at 8 o'clock they marched into the hall playing one of their familiar tunes. They had scarcely taken their places on the platform when Mrs. Booth-Tucker arrived, accompanied by Chief Secretary Col. Higgins, Brigadier Lewis, Staff Captain Dunham and Brigadier Evans. The band saluted several times, and for a few minutes there was a grand reception and ovation to the Consul. After several earnest prayers had been offered by those who accompanied Mrs. Booth-Tucker, Brigadier Evans in a few well chosen words introduced the speaker of the evening. This again called forth a number of salutes from the band and soldiers.

Mrs. Tucker was attired in the customary Army dress and over her right shoulder was thrown a large piece of white bunting intermingled with the red and blue. She is tall, erect and of a commanding figure, similar to that of her brother. Her countenance is a striking one and one cannot but feel the earnestness and intensity of her presence. Mrs. Tucker spoke in part as follows:

"God bless you! We are all uncles, aunts, cousins, brothers, sisters, forming one great family, fighting in forty-eight countries. Hail to our Plainfield friends.

"Tonight we are going to meet around the Master's feet and claim a specific, definite and a fresh blessing, and thus secure a fresh enlightenment to all. There is abundant grace for all and no one need starve. This evening while sitting at the supper table at the home of Brigadier Evans, I was helped to some pease, which I remarked were wonderful and remarkable for I had never partaken of such pease before. Mrs. Evans said that everything in Plainfield was remarkable and wonderful, and as the pease were rapidly disappearing from my dish, Mrs. Evans said, 'there is plenty more,' and I thought it would be like the Great Supper, when the Angel would say 'there is plenty more.' For those who are timid and afraid of the enemy, methinks I hear the Angel say, 'there is plenty of courage.' For five years I was joint-foreign secretary, and it was my privilege to travel through many countries where the Army has been signally blessed. What the Lord offers me He offers you, and everyone can receive the blessing.

"Those who mourn fail to rise to their full privilege, which is infinitely more beautiful than those pease, if I may be allowed the comparison. Whatever your surroundings are you can meet and conquer difficulties. 'All things are possible with Him.' One of Satan's illusions is that of making one dissatisfied with his surroundings.

"In India the people are a busy set, and our army is obliged to work at night if they wish to reach the working people; and under the beautiful sky, illumined by the moon and stars, our work progresses in a most encouraging manner.

"Americans have got big hearts. They are a wonderful people, and do great things. They are now sending bands of missionaries to all countries, and the time is not far distant when they will send them out by the thousands, for I believe this country is destined by God's grace to do much in all lands. There are times when we become discouraged, and it seems as though our hearts would break, but our Master, who loves us, can bring us through these troubles. The beautiful love of God is so great that we will never be able to comprehend the same.

"I never doubted my father's love, because he loved my brother, and shall we love our Lord any less. We should love all lands and possess that self-sacrificing love which is only perfect in Christ. Love is of little value when it doesn't show itself. I am here tonight to give God the glory, for I have seen some of the grandest manifestations of His love. I have been in the MISSION IN CHINATOWN.

INTERESTING TALK ON RELIGIOUS WORK AMONG CELESTIALS.

Miss Potter From The Morning Star Mission Says That Most Chinese in New York City Live in a Bad Way

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church enjoyed a rare treat yesterday afternoon when they listened with interest to a talk on missions by Miss Potter, of the Morning Star Mission, New York. Mrs. Fish called the meeting to order, after which Miss Mabel Coard sang a pleasing solo, accompanied by Miss Alice Coard on the organ. Miss Potter was then introduced. Her work is chiefly in "Chinatown," New York, and she gave a vivid description of her labors in that locality. The Morning Star Mission was started four years ago and for two years Miss Potter has been engaged in the work. She said that the Chinese were a persistent and business-like race. Some of the stores in Chinatown, she said, were conducted by christian Chinamen who were very respectable. In all, she continued, there are thirty Chinese homes in Chinatown and the rest of the people live in what is called "mess-quarters," where there are no helpful influences. The speaker said that there were between three and four hundred girls living in Chinatown who are under the most harmful influences. Every Sunday there are about 8,000 Chinese in the neighborhood and that is the time when every effort is put forth to reach them by the christian workers. Miss Potter spoke of the encouraging results of the work and urged those present to lend their aid in support of it. Samples of Chinese dresses and photographs of a number of Chinese were shown at the close of the talk, which was followed by an informal discussion on missions.

A Great Bill.

According to the assurance of Geo. Thatcher, amusement patrons are to have quite a treat tomorrow evening at Stillman Music Hall. Mr. Thatcher has secured such well-known artists as pretty Alice Hansom, who is specially engaged for a star part in one of the Frohman companies next season; Miss Ollie Kane, for the past two seasons the leading soubrette with the Frawley Company at San Francisco, and William T. Bryant and Miss Lizzie Richmond, in the funniest of funny sketches, The Tower Scene from Trovatore; Charles Stine, the greatest old man farce comedian extant; Stilyer & Sidney, German dialect comedians, and others, thus making the strongest programme possible. Seats on sale at Leggett's.

Entertained Their Guests.

Mrs. R. W. Darling and daughter were pleasantly entertained Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Sisk, of 701 LaGrande avenue, by a number of friends. Violin, piano and vocal music were the features of the evening. Among those present were: Mrs. George Bedford, Miss B. Netherwood, Miss May Bedford, K. Howard and T. Martin, of New York; Prof. J. Sasson, J. Leighston, J. King and Mr. Scully, of Chicago. Mrs. and Miss Darling leave today for Binghampton, N. Y.

Didn't Know His Own Name.

A man who didn't know his own name, was found by Patrolman Post wandering around in the vicinity of the corner of East Fifth and Richmond streets, last night. Too much liquor appeared to be the cause of his forgetfulness and so Post locked him up. This morning his memory came back when he was brought before City Judge DeMeza and he gave his name as John Murphy. As he was apparently a very inoffensive individual, the Judge suspended sentence on him.

A Laundry for Muhlenberg Hospital.

A laundry is to be put up in the rear of the Muhlenberg Hospital for the convenience of the hospital attendants, as the usual hospital wash is very large and hitherto there has been no regular laundry. The contract has been awarded to George Stimpson. The greatest need, at present, at the hospital, is for more private rooms, as all are now occupied, and there is a demand for more.

If it required an annual outlay of $100.00 to insure a family against any serious consequences from an attack of bowel complaint during the year there are many who would feel it their duty to pay it; that they could not afford to risk their lives, and those of their family for such an amount. Any one can get this insurance for 25 cents that being the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. One or two doses of this remedy will cure any ordinary case. It never fails. Can you afford to take the risk for so small an amount? For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

SOON TO BE THE ALUMNI.

GRADUATING CLASS OF THE PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL.

For the First Time the Members Are Divided Into Three Different Grades—How the Distinction is Really Made

Plainfield has long been famous for her excellent schools and the graduates from the Plainfield High School are received by many of the colleges without taking any entrance examinations. Every year a large class leaves the Grammar School and enters the fourth class of the High School. Gradually the number diminishes as the class advances, some are left behind, others unable to keep up drop out, some of the young men begin their business careers before they complete the course. It is usually, however, a case of "a survival of the fittest," and the gathering of graduates at the end of the four years represent the conscientious and real workers of the class. Of course there are occasions where even the best pupils fail to graduate through circumstances beyond their control.

The class of '96 that graduates on Thursday, June 25th, has passed through the usual vicissitudes and now numbers twenty-three. Louis H. Rand, one of the most promising of pupils, and then president of the class, left two years ago to enter West Point, securing his appointment in a competitive examination. Volney F. Green, one of the best known members of the class, was taken ill nearly a month ago, and is still confined to his home, unable to take his final examinations. Mr. Green was up in his studies to the time of his illness, but the missing of the finals will probably prevent him from graduating.

Since the class of '95 graduated, the studies at the High School have been arranged in three courses, general, classical and English or scientific, from each of which the pupils graduate. The names of those who will graduate are:

General Course—Julia Francoise Bourgeois, Clyde Barrington Burnett, Elizabeth Mott Cahoone, Annie La Rue Carle, Ida Hamilton Clarke, Frank Wilbur Cornwell, Charles Marvin Dolliver, Felix Layat, Mary Grace Steiner, Mildred Titsworth.

Classical Course—Fred Chester Gaskill, Charles Anthony Squires, Fred Squires.

English Course—Florence May Bowman, Raymond Barnes Carroll, James Hazlewood Craig, Henry Eggerding, Mary Scott Hull, Harriet Isabel King, Minnie Viola Mitchell, Grace Elting Overton, Alden Wagner, Marion Alice Maynard.

There are always some pupils that stand especially high and those have been termed the "honor pupils." They are:

First Honor—Clyde Barrington Burnet, Frank Wilbur Cornwell and Fred. Chester Gaskill. Second Honor—Julia Francoise Bourgeois, Florence May Bowman, Elizabeth Mott Cahoone, Charles Marvin Dolliver, Henry Eggerding, Fred Squires, Mary Grace Steiner and Mildred Titsworth.

The highest honors that can be be given are the awarding of the valedictory and salutatory. The class was allowed to select the valedictorian and and salutatorian from among the first honor pupils and Frank Wilbur Cornwell was chosen for the former and Fred Chester Gaskill for the latter. The selections were approved by the teachers.

The motto of the class is "Non praestania sine labore."

The Fourth at the Park Club.

Below will be found the official programme for the Fourth of July celebration at the Park Club. A. Van Deventer and P. B. Matthews are the managers for the ball teams: 10 a. m., ball game between the Cubans and Spaniards of the Park Club. Captains Douglass and Erickson. Umpire, Mayor Hegeman; 2 p. m., two mile bicycle race for Juniors between the ages of 10 and 15 years, beginning and ending at the club house; 3 p. m., tennis tournament on club grounds for members and associates only. Committee, Samuel Townsend, George C. Worth and H. B. Reed. 4 p. m., tea will be served on the pagoda and will be in charge of the following: Mrs. C. A. Reed, Mrs. Samuel Townsend, Mrs. E. T. Douglass, Mrs. B. A. Hegeman, Jr., Mrs. W. J. Roome; 4 p. m., day fireworks; 8 p. m., sharp, grand display of fireworks; 9 p. m., dance. Patronesses are to be announced later.

CONVENTION WAITS

Resolutions and Credentials Committees' Reports Tardy.

WILL BE READY THIS AFTERNOON

Nominations May Not Be Reached Before To-morrow—Hobart and Evans the Favorites for the Vice-Presidency.

St. Louis, June 17.—At the opening of the second day's session of the eleventh national republican convention this morning every indication pointed to a delay until late this afternoon over the report of the resolutions and credentials committees. The sub-committee of the former committee will report at 10 o'clock, and the full committee may be ready to present the platform to the convention early this afternoon. The main features have been agreed upon and, outside of a weak protest which the silver men will make on the floor of the convention, there will be nothing in the way to prevent the speedy adoption of the platform. Just how clear sailing the report of the committee on credentials will have is not so certain. Several of the contests may be fought out in the convention. Prophesying is a risky profession in connection with a body which has already undergone so many lightning changes as have come over this convention, but it looks now as if the nominations would not be reached before to-morrow, at the earliest.

The Vice-Presidency.

It is the programme of the McKinley managers not to have any extended debate on the financial question and if Mr. Teller is the only speaker the previous question on the adoption of the resolution will probably be ordered as soon as Mr. Teller finishes his speech. According to this programme it is not impossible, the McKinley men say, to adopt the platform and nominate both candidates before to-morrow night. Gov. Morton out of the way, the contest for the vice-presidency narrows down to Mr. Hobart of New Jersey and Mr. Evans of Tennessee. At McKinley's headquarters it was stated this morning that either of these men will be satisfactory and the vote of Ohio will probably be divided between them.

Novel Advertising Schemes.

Fakirs and peddlers are in evidence again this morning on the outskirts of the crowd. Canes of American tin and canes with McKinley's head in tin found fast sale, and badges, flags and fans are also in full favor. McKinley emblems are more numerous than all others, and there are some unique McKinley advertisements on view. One was a tall, gaunt man, unshaven, dressed in rags like a tramp and carrying a tattered umbrella and wearing a banner with this motto: "Look out for hard times and cold days if McK. gets left." Another object lesson was two sandwich men who tramped a beat around the square, one attired in elegance, bearing a placard: "The workman under the McKinley bill." The other was in disreputable rags, gaunt and starved looking, and represented "The workman under the Wilson bill."

Quay's Expected Course.

It is reported, upon what appears to be good authority, this morning that Senator Quay has at last definitely settled upon his course of action in the convention. According to the report he will allow himself to be placed in nomination, but after his vote shall have been cast he will, as chairman of the Pennsylvania delegation, rise and change the vote for himself to McKinley. McKinley's friends, however, say that their candidate will have received sufficient votes to insure his nomination before the Pennsylvania delegation is reached on the roll call.

TEMPORARY ORGANIZATION.

Details of the Work Effected at the First Day's Session.

St. Louis, June 17.—The incompleteness of the arrangements at the convention auditorium caused a vast amount of confusion when the republican national convention assembled yesterday. In many cases the section letters and seat numbers did not correspond, and it was a difficult matter to locate seats for which tickets seemed to call. At times all the aisles in the building were crowded with struggling men calling for their seats. Despite the noise and confusion, however, all the leaders of national prominence were cheered as they entered the hall and made their way to their seats. In the seating of the delegations New York was placed in the middle aisle, directly in front of the platform. Maine and Massachusetts had the front seats in the section on the right, while Ohio had the front left hand section, with Pennsylvania right behind. A picture of the late James G. Blaine, hung above the main entrance, elicited much applause.

The Rabbi's Prayer.

It was 12:20 o'clock when Chairman Carter began to rap for order. There was so much noise and confusion that his voice could not be heard twenty feet from the platform. He pounded the table for several minutes trying to obtain something like silence and order. At 12:24 o'clock the audience arose and when Rabbi Sale began his prayer silence was restored. He prayed: "Gracious Father, fountain of life and light, we seek thy presence and implore thy guidance in the tasks and toils before us. O, thou who art enthroned in the souls of men and who ruleth the destinies of nations, deny to us not but show forth thy wondrous ways in this assemblage of thy people. Hearken unto thy servants, the bondmen of freedom. Pour upon them in their service of truth and honor the spirit of wisdom and understanding, the spirit of kindness and of strength, the spirit of knowledge.

From day to day may we grow in the habit of civic virtue, so that our beloved land from hundred harbored Maine to the vine-clad hills of the Golden Gate—from the iceberg north to the warms sunny south, may go from strength to strength until it achieves destiny to become the shining mark for every barque bound for the haven of law and life. Let not the grandeur and glory of our past be dimmed in the present, and may we never be put to shame and grief by the worship of gods of gold and silver. Let us aspire now and at all times to show an admiring world how fond and lovely it is for brethren to dwell in harmony."

Convention Formally Opened.

At the close of the prayer Chairman Carter said: "This convention is assembled in compliance with the terms of a call issued by the national committee on the 14th of December, 1895, which call the secretary will now proceed to read." The secretary did so in a voice which was inaudible at ten feet distance amid frequent cries of "Louder!" Chairman Carter then said: "Gentlemen of the convention, by the direction of the national committee I put for your approval for your temporary chairman the Hon. Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana." Mr. Sutherland, on behalf of the New York delegation, moved that the selection be approved, and this was carried without a dissenting voice. As Mr. Fairbanks stepped forward to deliver his speech a wave of applause ran around the galleries, interspersed with a staccato of cheers. He is a tall, slender man; his features are aquiline, and his forehead is high. His hair is jet black, and he wears a beard. He delivered his speech in clear tones, but his voice lacked a penetrating quality, and he could be heard with difficulty by those in the more remote parts of the hall.

Chairman Fairbanks' Speech.

In his speech Mr. Fairbanks called for a protective tariff and sound money, the maintenance of the Monroe doctrine and the policy of reciprocity. He expressed sympathy for Cuba's cause, and denounced the Wilson bill, which he arraigned for sectional favoritism. He declared that the devotion of the nation to the survivors of the rebellion was never more necessary than now, and asserted that the United States must go on in the development of its navy and merchant marine until the undisputed supremacy of the country upon the high seas is established. His allusion to Jas. G. Blaine in connection with reciprocity was greeted with long-continued applause. At the conclusion of Mr. Fairbanks' speech Chairman of the National Committee Carter moved the appointment of the usual committees. Mr. Lamb of West Virginia moved that the roll of states be called for the naming of the members of the various committees and that all resolutions in relation to the platform be referred to the committee on resolutions without debate. This motion was adopted without opposition, and then the secretary called the roll of states for the naming of committeemen. The members of the various committes had already been selected by the various delegations and the names were handed up to the secretary.

LIQUOR MEN SURPRISED.

Judge Dixon's Temperance Decision at Burlington, N. J., Creates a Sensation.

Burlington, N. J., June 17.—The decision of Judge Dixon of the supreme court yesterday that the excise board has no power to issue liquor licenses and that all licenses issued by them are null and void has caused a great sensation in the camp of the liquor men. The decision, of course, is hailed by the temperance people with delight.

Col. Cole Leaves for Ellerslie.

Albany, June 17.—Col. Ashley Cole, Gov. Morton's private secretary, has gone to Ellerslie, where the governor is staying. The colonel is not expected to return to Albany until after the St. Louis convention.

Delicate Dress Goods.

Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable. NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redyeing. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? Laundry drivers will receive your work.

HIGGINS MEN WIN

Credentials Committee Decide the Delaware Contest.

TEXAS MATTER TO BE SETTLED TO-DAY

McKinley Men Control the Committee and the National Committee's Report Will Be Approved and Presented to the Convention.

St. Louis, June 17.—In the Delaware contests the credentials committee will report in favor of seating the Higgins delegation. The vote was, ayes 31, nays 17. On the resolution to seat the Addicks men the vote was 20 ayes, 29 nays. The committee met in the rooms of the Massachusetts headquarters at the Southern hotel immediately after the adjournment of the convention and organized by electing J. Franklin Fort of New Jersey as chairman. The committee at once discussed the proposition to uphold the action of the national committee in regard to contests and to adopt their work as a whole without taking up individual cases. The matter was discussed at length and aroused a warm debate. The committee then moved to the New Jersey headquarters on Fourth street. A resolution declaring that the roll of delegates and alternates prepared by the national committee for the purpose of the temporary organization be adopted by this committee as the true and correct roll of the delegates and alternates to the convention, and that this committee proceed with the hearing of the contests referred to it by the national committee, viz., the delegates and alternates from the state of Delaware and the delegates and alternates from the state of Texas, was adopted. This showed that the McKinley men of the committee who desired to shut out any further hearing of the contests had won, and that the temporary roll of the convention, as far as completed, would be made permanent, and the work of the convention shortened. At the conclusion of the Addicks hearing the committee adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning, when it will take up the Texas contest between the "lily whites" and "black and tans." Mr. Hepburn will present minority report on the Addicks case.

DEMOCRATIC SILVER MEN.

Call for a Meeting of a "Steering Committee" at Chicago.

Washington, June 17.—Senator Jones of Arkansas, who heads the Arkansas delegation to the Chicago convention, and who is one of the leading men in the silver movement, has invited each silver delegation to the convention to send one representative to Chicago to meet in conference there on Tuesday, June 30, one week prior to the assembling of the democratic national convention. This body of men will be in the nature of a "steering committee," will meet delegates upon their arrival and have general charge of the interests of the silver forces at Chicago. One of the objects of the early meeting of this conference is to watch the action of the executive committee of national democratic committee and the full committee itself, so that no action may be taken by them adverse to the interests of the silver forces. Senator Jones' purpose is to leave no point unguarded by which the silver forces may receive a setback by any action of the anti-silver contingent of the party.

DELAWARE DEMOCRATS.

They Declare for Gold and Against High Tariff.

Dover, Del., June 17.—The democratic state convention met here yesterday afternoon and was something of a love feast. There was no contest over the seating of delegates. Both the temporary and permanent chairmen alluded to the recent republican state convention and said that democrats were not to be bought and sold. The delegates chosen to the national convention are: Senator George Gray, Willard Saulsbury, John F. Saulsbury, Dr. B. F. Lewis, W. H. Boyce and H. S. Pennington. All are gold men except John F. Saulsbury. He was elected to please the local faction of which he is the leader and not for his free silver views. The platform that was adopted favors the present gold standard, declares for honest money and against high tariff.

Deer Plentiful in the Adirondacks.

Albany, June 17.—The state protectors in the Adirondacks report to the state fisheries, game and forest commission that deer are more plentiful in the Adirondacks this spring than in many years past and that sportsmen may look for a very prosperous hunting season next fall.

Free Silver Democrats in Maine.

Bangor, Me., June 17.—The democrats of the Fourth district nominated A. J. Chase of Sebec for congress, and declared for a "free coinage of silver at 16 to 1." The delegates to Chicago were instructed to vote for a free silver plank in the platform.

Will Not Run on a Silver Ticket.

Columbus, O., June 17.—Henry J. Booth, democratic candidate for congress in this district, has withdrawn from the race. It is believed his reason is that while the majority of the party in the district is for free silver he is for the single standard.

A French Baroness Murdered.

Paris, June 17.—The Baroness de Vallee, who was 82 years old, was found yesterday afternoon strangled at her home. Robbery is believed to have been the object of her assassin.

Success of an American Tennis Player.

THE WAR IN CUBA.

Infectious Diseases Playing Havoc in the Ranks of Spanish Troops.

Havana, June 17.—Juan Brito Gonzalez was executed Monday at Crucas, province of Santa Clara, for the crime of rebellion. No fighting of any consequence has occurred since the battle at Najasa. Nothing definite is known of the movements of the rebels under Maceo in the province of Pinar del Rio. The last information regarding them was that they were near Palacios marching eastward. A passenger train has been derailed by rebels near Baino, province of Matanzas. The engineer and fireman joined the insurgents. A meeting of the board of health has been called to adopt measures to prevent the spread of infectious diseases, which are playing havoc in the ranks of the Spanish troops. Surgeon-General Losada left for Matanzas for the purpose of studying means to check the yellow fever in that city.

LAURADA AT PHILADELPHIA.

The Famous Filibustering Steamer Eludes Her Spanish Pursuer.

Philadelphia, June 17.—The filibustering steamship Laurada has escaped the fire of hostile Spanish gunboats and is once more in friendly waters. The famous little fruit steamer passed in the Delaware capes late last evening and arrived here this morning. The last time the Laurada was reported she was skirting the shores of the island of Jamaica within the three-mile limit and a Spanish gunboat was following parallel with her and awaiting the moment she should get out of English waters to open fire on her. The Laurada evidently proved too fast for the Spaniard and left him behind before she was compelled to take to the open sea.

WILL SERVE IN CUBA ONLY.

Campos' Reply To a Decision of Spain To Place Him in Active Service.

Madrid, June 17.—With the view of preventing a duel between Marshal Martinez de Campos and Gen Borreo, the government has decided to employ the former in active service. The marshal, however, declares that he will not accept a command except in Cuba.

TO PROTECT SPECTATORS.

Rules Governing the College Boat Races at Poughkeepsie on June 24 and 26.

New York, June 17.—Capt. Stoddar, supervisor of anchorage, has received from Washington instructions to enforce the laws providing for the safety of passengers on excursion steamers at the Columbia-Cornell-Harvard-University of Pennsylvania boat race and freshmen boat race June 26 and 24 respectively, on the Hudson river at Poughkeepsie. These rules have therefore been adopted to govern the races: All vessels and craft of every description must be anchored at 4:30 o'clock p. m. upon the day set apart for the races and remain anchored during the progress of the races. No excursion steamer, yacht, or craft of any description except the referee's boat and two police boats shall be permitted to follow the competing crews over the course under any circumstances. No vessel or craft of any description shall be allowed inside or west of the police line adopted by the committee.

CONDITION OF CROPS.

Weather Bureau's Weekly Bulletin for Eastern States.

Washington, June 17.—The crop bulletin issued by the weather bureau for the week ended yesterday contains the following resume of crop conditions in the eastern states. New England—Too cool for crops, but most crops growing well; tobacco nearly all set. New York—Pastures greatly improved; spring crops generally flourishing, except hay; nights too cool for corn. New Jersey—Oats, rye, wheat and potatoes much improved. Pennsylvania—Fair advancement made in all crops; wheat and rye maturing, and some hay cut; oats, corn and vegetables in good condition; fruit prospects fair. Maryland—Wheat excellent in east, elsewhere variable; oats fair; corn growing well.

Secretary Franklin Dye, of the State Board of Agriculture, estimates the farming population of New Jersey at 200,000, and the number of voters identified with farming at half that number.

McKinleyism was tried for four years and found wanting. It is not to the credit of the majority of the people to think that they have so soon forgotten the declining times when the apostle of high protection was experimenting on their business.

Ordinarily The Daily Press permits the incipient and swelled head editor of The News to carry on his daily attacks against this paper without a reply, but now and then they smack so much of malicious untruth that a reference to them seems irrepressible. And this is one of the occasions. Last Saturday The Press published interesting features in the form of syndicate articles on the Republican National convention and the life of Richard P. Bland, the noted free silver advocate. Immediately the editor of the rat-trap sheet accused The Press of advocating free silver. But it is useless to daily words as to the animus of the accusation made by this example of a disgraced and sordid journalism. Suffice to say that The Press never has endorsed free silver nor given voice to a sentiment that could be construed as such.

It comes at an opportune and proper time—that declaration of President Cleveland this morning that the Democratic National convention should not be wavered in its devotion to sound money by the talk of the free silver people. Coming at this period when there is such a strong sentiment seemingly permeating the ranks of the party in several States in favor of a fallacious currency, the letter of the President acts as a strong antidote at a time when its effect will be most helpful and encouraging to the Eastern Democrats who have been perplexed at the condition of affairs. It is not written in either an ambigious or dictorial tone: it is likely to lead the way by which the diverse elements of the party on the vital question of money may come together and the ultra silver men defeated in the attempt to force on to the convention a fatal conviction. Mr. Cleveland's announcement that it is his desire to "occupy a place in the party's private ranks" seems to be a virtual statement that he will accept no third term.

Death of ex-Councilman Randolph.

Wilton Randolph, formerly a Democratic member of the City Council from Netherwood, died in New York on Monday. Mr. Randolph was a resident of this city for several years, and one of the charter members of the Royal Arcanum. His death was caused by acute Bright's disease. His remains have been taken to Richmond, Va., the home of his family. He was a son of Colonel James Innes Randolph, and was born in Washington in 1846. He received his name, Wilton, in memory of the country seat of his grandfather, Peyton Randolph, which was located on the James River, near Richmond. He fought in the late war, and in 1866 came to New York city. He was a member of the New York Southern Society, of the Reform Club, and of the Sons of the Revolution. He was a widower. He leaves two sons and two daughters.

McKinley an Uncertain Quantity.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—With what grace and honesty can fair and honest-minded Republicans vote for McKinley as candidate for the Republican party and as an honest exponent of gold as standard, when by every act of Congress the Republican majority have thwarted all movements that would look to the gold standard. His Spinx-like silence on this great question should make men, who are not bound body and soul by party ties, pause.

Models of Simplicity and Safety.

The City National Bank has given the contract for the safes in their new banking apartments at the corner of Front street and Park avenue to F. O. Herring, of Park avenue. They will be of the most improved pattern of the Mossman make. The bank vault and the safety deposit boxes will be a combination of simplicity and safety, and will be of a model that is entirely new.

Captured Two Hoboes.

Early this morning the police were notified that an approaching freight train had a load of tramps aboard. Two policemen went to the station, but the tramps learned of their approach and skipped. The police captured two, however, who gave their names as Anthony Smith and Joseph Miller City Judge DeMeza gave each 30 days.

SALVAVIONISTS' WORK.

north, south, east and west and have seen a good deal of what is being done through the efforts of the Army in dear America. Despite certain difficulties, of which you will not expect me to speak, the sympathy of our friends has become more helpful than ever as it has been extended to us. Our officers have stood firm, thoroughly believing in the Army's principles. They have dedicated themselves to its mission, which is a beautiful fact. We are not discouraged in the least for our eyes are fixed upon God. When I left old England my father bade me good bye and said, 'Give my love to all the dear soldiers. Take their eyes from the controversy and place them upon a bleeding Christ." We are going on with the mission to which God has called us, and we ask you to help us."

At this time Adjt. Taylor was called for and the audience were earnestly asked for a large contribution to carry on the work in Plainfield and help clear the present indebtedness. The response was very generous. While the collection was being taken the band furnished some soul-inspiring music. After remarks had been made by Brigadier Lewis, Col. Higgins and Adjutant Taylor an earnest prayer was offered by Col. Higgins and the meeting was brought to a close.

Mrs. Tucker, in conversation with a Daily Press representative, said: "The press has been very liberal and kind to us at all times, and I believe they now understand the situation perfectly. For a time we were at a standstill, but now we are moving along grandly. In all we only lost about fifty officers, and their places have been filled satisfactorily. I understand that many who left us are now anxious to come back. We are in better condition and stronger than ever at the present time."

A Plea For Sunday-School Teachers.

Dear Pastors and Superintendents.—Does your primary teacher expect to attend one of the three sessions of the "Summer School of Primary Methods" that is to be held this summer? Of course, she would like to go, would be willing to make almost any sacrifice to spend a week with such a company of primary workers as Miss Harlow, Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Skillman, Miss Williams, Miss Struble, and many others equally well-known, besides meeting the great number of teachers interested in the same great work. Possibly the matter of expense may stand in the way. If this should be the case, why couldn't the school send her? Wouldn't this be a good opportunity for the school to express its appreciation of her faithful services Sunday after Sunday, possibly, for several years. Twelve dollars will be sufficient for either one week at Schooley's Mountain or Asbury Park. She will bring home an inspiration and enthusiasm that will influence every department throughout the Sunday-school, giving new life and earnestness to the advancement of the Master's work. Further information most cheerfully given. Address, Miss N. J. Beeching, Plainfield, N. J.

DUNELLEN.

Groendyke were the representatives of the Monday Afternoon Club who attended the reception given the Woman's Reading Club, of Rutherford, at Iviswold, the beautiful home of Mrs. David B. Ivison. Mrs. Yardley, President of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, exhibited the diploma and medal awarded by the Columbian Exposition at Chicago for the library of 400 books written by New Jersey women. This diploma and medal will be placed with the library at the State House in Trenton. Mrs. Florence Howe Halll gave a brief address on the advantages of the General Federation. About 300 guests were present.

ONE-FIFTH DIE!

Troubles Come Thick in Baby's First Year.

Two-Thirds Die in Summer of Bowel Disorders.

The Scourge of Infants Under Five Years.

Why Lactated Food is a Sure Preventative.

It Makes Weaning in Summer an Easy Undertaking.

The first five years of every baby's life is only a sort of probation.

Insurance companies refuse to take the risk of their living, and no one will be surprised who counts the funerals with the white hearse that sadden the streets of every city and village throughout the summer.

Half the deaths in June are those of children under five years.

A third of all who die every year are infants.

If every one of the children who succumb to intestinal diseases had been fed on a diet of pure lactated food there would have been no fatal cholera infantum. The following words from Dr. A. P. Grinnell, the dean of the medical faculty of the University of Vermont, should sink deep into the hearts of every mother who is worried and saddened as the hot days and nights begin to show their debilitating effect on baby's eating, sleeping and growing

"After using lactated food for five years in cases of children suffering from cholera infantum, and in debilitating or wasting diseases, during which time it has never failed me, I have pleasure in calling the attention of physicians to it, and in recommending its use."

There is nothing equal to lacated food to take the place of mother's milk.

It is made for the express purpose of forming a perfect substitute for healthy mother's milk, as analysis will show. Children who are not eating well take lactated food without the need of coaxing.

Baby must not stop eating heartily when hot weather comes. Loss of strength is more dangerous at such times than any other.

The danger lies in the child's food proving indigestible, clogging and irritating, and thus inviting diarrhoea and cholera infantum. For these reasons mothers and physicians find lactated food so necessary and so satisfactory.

The marvelous success of this food in keeping babies strong, well and growing during the most dangerous heated months can be understood by a glance at its thoughtful composition.

Nature's food for babies, the mother's milk, has been the model. The principal element of brest milk is sugar of milk. This is the basis of lactated food. With it are combined the nutritious elements of the great cereals, wheat, oats and barley, so prepared as to be readily digested and assimilated. The addition of the salts found in mother's milk makes lactated food a perfect substitute.

Many a mother, too, has been strengthened by using it. It makes nursing easy by providing an abundance of rich breast milk.

Thousands of infants whose mothers have been sickly, have thrived and grown to be strong children upon lactated food, which is as pure and health-giving as the air among the hills of the Green Mountain State where it is made.

—Charles H. Jackson called at The Press office yesterday and asked that a contradiction be made of the rumor in circulation shortly after the charge of murder was made against him, that he had another wife and family in England. Mr. Jackson says that the untruthfulness of this is evidenced in the fact that he came to this country when a young lad.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by continually failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

DESERVING OF CREDIT.

Miss Louise Lewis Trained The Young Pupils at The Seminary.

In yesterday's report of the children's morning at the Seminary, the name of Miss Louise Lewis was accidentally omitted. The training of the children for the little play, the English recitations, and the novel and charming soap-bubble drill was her work and it deserved hearty commendation. Miss Lewis has been connected with the school for a number of years. Upon her departure she takes with her the affectionate good wishes of her pupils and friends there.

The cotillion which followed the morning exercises was much enjoyed. About twenty couples took part and entered heartily into the fun. The puss-in-the-corner figure, with an unexpected variation, caused considerable amusement and the successful evasion of the house-trap brought out much applause. Mr. Dawes, who managed the affair so successfully and pleasantly, is George Dodsworth's assistant. He will have charge of the dancing class at the Seminary next year.

Kindergarten Exercises.

The French Kindergarten in connection with the Misses Scribner and Newton School, was held yesterday afternoon at 303 LaGrande avenue. Nearly twenty children, boys and girls, took part in the exercises under the direction of their teacher, Miss Elizabeth Fuller. The children were very attractive in their beautiful costumes, and an interesting programme was listened to by a large number of visitors. Miss Fuller who has had charge of this class for the past year, left town today for her home in Plattsburgh, N. Y., and the children will give her a cordial welcome on her return after the summer vacation.

Many were the congratulations received by Miss Hellwig, who can justly be proud of the results obtained by her in this first year of the Plainfield French Kindergarten, of which she is one of the principals.

Not only the amount of work accomplished, but especially the excellent pronounciation of the little ones was highly appreciated by the audience.

Of the same character were the French recitations rendered by the following primary department pupils: Miss Helen Stevens, Masters Willie and Lawrence Smith, Miss Margaret Lowe, Miss Ruth Fredricks, Miss Lillian King, Master Clinton Ivins, Master Edwin Brown, Miss Norma Northrop, Miss Rosa Woltmann, Miss Anna Richards, Master Harold Robert, Miss Charlotte Finch.

Miss Hellwig is the teacher of modern languages throughout the school.

Funeral of H. J. Smith.

The funeral of the late Harrison J. Smith will be held tomorrow. At 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon a short service will be held in the Mary E. Wilson Memorial chapel at Washingtonville, and at 5 o'clock the remains will be taken to the Scottish Rite Hall and a Masonic service held in the evening. Friday morning they will be taken to Elmira, N. Y., for interment.

Will Admitted to Probate.

The will of Samuel P. Dunn, who died recently at Newfoundland, was admitted to probate before the Surrogate of Union county on Monday. The widow, Cornelia G. Dunn, and his late partner, William H. Clark, of New York, were the executors named in the will, both of whom qualified. John H Van Winkle, of the borough, is counsel for the executors.

Everybody is Signing It.

Charles H. Hand, of East Fifth street, started a petition on Saturday to have Watchung avenue opened. In less than two hours over thirty signatures were secured, and the good work is still going on. It not only bears the names of people along the avenue, but the names of prominent people all over the city.

Mrs. Vail, of West Eighth street, and her daughter and son, this morning sailed for Europe on the City of New York.

Wm. T. Baggant, of Chicago and Alton Farm, will have a box party of sixteen Westfield friends at Stillman Music Hall Thursday night.

Wm. Emery, mine host of Scotch Plains, accompanied by his wife and friends, will enjoy the antics of Mr. Thatcher's entertainers at Stillman Music Hall tomorrow night.

A. L. Wooster, a prominent citizen of Osseo, Mich., after suffering excruciatingly from piles for twenty years, was cured in a short time by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, an absolute cure for all skin diseases. EARLY INTELLIGENCE

—Rudy Becker, of Metuchen, will bring a stage-load of ladies and gentlemen tomorrow evening to witness Mr. Thatcher's entertainment at Stillman Music Hall.

—The Westfield sewer workmen were paid off yesterday and as a result of unlimited beer there was a fight last night at almost every house in the Italian quarter. No serious injuries were reported. "Joe," the shanty boss, secured the pay coming to several of the men and then left for New York, as it was not safe for him to remain in town.

Mrs. T. H. Banks has gone to Seabright for the summer.

Isaac Smalley, Jr., of Philadelphia, has returned after visiting his parents in this city for a few days.

Edward B. Clark, of Crescent avenue, and his daughter, Miss Helen Clark, sailed this morning from New York on the City of New York. They were accompanied by Miss May Hurd, of Dover, N. J. Mr. Clark has planned a trip through the British Isles and expects to be gone six or seven weeks.

Mrs. R. DeYoung, Middleburg, Ia., writes. I have used One Minute Cough Cure for six years, both for myself and children, and I consider it the quickest acting and most satisfactory Cough Cure I have ever used. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front Street.

THE FASHION.

It seems to be the fashion in some stores to charge as much as they can for a thing, no matter what it is worth. Now, we don't do that. We are not claiming any extraordinary merit for ourselves, either. We are simply honest. We sell furnishings for every one. We sell for the man who wants his tastes satisfied, irrespective of cost, and for the man who doesn't want to spend his last cent on a tie. We give satisfaction to each and all.

THE MONEY PLANK

Gold Men Controlled the Committee on Resolutions.

THE YELLOW METAL IS UPHELD

Will Report a Straightforward Sound Money Platform Today—Silver Men Displeased at the Meagre Representation Given Them.

St. Louis, June 17.—The committee on resolutions, when the convention adjourned, proceeded at once to the Lindell hotel and organized. Senator Lodge of Massachusetts called the committee to order and nominated Mr. Foraker of Ohio as chairman. Mr. Teller of Colorado placed Mr. Dubois in nomination. Forty-one persons answered to their names. Governor Foraker was elected, thirty-five votes being cast for him and four for Dubois. Those who voted for Dubois were the members from Colorado, Montana, North Carolina and Utah. Mr. Merriam of Minnesota moved that a subcommittee be appointed to draft a platform and present it to the full committee. This suggestion was opposed by Messrs. Teller and Dubois, the leaders of the silver movement, on the ground that it was better to discuss the financial plank in full committee. If its consideration were left first to a subcommittee they contended the arguments against a gold standard plank, which they understood was to be adopted, would have to be made twice. They thought it advisable therefore that so far as that particular plank was concerned the sub-committee might be excused from considering it. Mr. Merriam's motion was carried and the chair appointed a committee consisting of Messrs. Foraker, Merriam of Minnesota, Fessenden of Connecticut, Teller of Colorado, Warmouth of Louisiana and Patterson of Illinois. After some discussion the committee was increased by the addition of two other members, Mr. Burleigh of Washington and Mr. Lauterbach of New York. A motion to adjourn until 8 o'clock was then carried. The silver members of the committee were displeased at the meagre representation given them. They complained also that several members of the committee whom they had regarded as bimetallists have "fallen down," as they phrased it, and joined the ranks of the gold men.

Report May Be Delayed.

A few minutes after 8 o'clock the members of the committee again gathered in the ladies' ordinary of the Lindell, but the sub-committee did not put in an appearance. At 8:40 Gov. Warmouth of Louisiana came over and said that the sub-committee was still in session and requested an adjournment until this morning at 10 o'clock. This was done and the members present were then informally addressed by a delegation of ladies favoring the insertion in the platform of a woman's suffrage plank. It is believed this morning that the committee will not be ready to report to the convention before late this afternoon.

The Financial Plank.

The sub-committee resolved to recommend to the full committee the following financial plank: "The republican party is unreservedly for sound money. It caused the enactment of the law providing for the resumption of specie payments in 1879; since then every dollar has been as good as gold. We are unalterably opposed to every measure calculated to debase our currency, or impair the credit of our country. We are therefore opposed to the free coinage of silver except by international agreement with the leading commercial nations of the world, which we pledge ourselves to promote, and until such agreement can be obtained, the existing gold standard must be preserved. All our silver and paper currency now in circulation must be maintained at parity with gold, and we favor all measures designed to maintain inviolably the obligations of the United States, and all our money, whether coin or paper, at the present standard, the standard of the most enlightened nations of the earth." Senator Teller offered a free silver resolution as substitute, which was voted down.

Comment of the London Times.

London, June 17.—The Times to-day, basing its remarks on the dispatches of G. W. Smalley, its American correspondent, pays a tribute to Mr. Platt's masterly handling of the gold forces at the St. Louis convention. It says that his overthrow of the silverites promises to give a new sensation to the United States. Within three days he has changed the fortunes of his own section and the policy of the republican party.

Trinity's High Grade Seniors.

Hartford, June 17.—The three highest men in the senior class at Trinity are: George Nahum Holcombe, Granby, Conn.; Robert William Curtis, Hartford; George Blodgett Gilbert, Randolph, Vt. Holcombe will be valedictorian and Gilbert will be salutatorian of the graduating class. The juniors' standing will be published on June 23.

Enterprise Arrives at Horta, Fayal.

Boston, June 17.—A cablegram received by the commissioners of the Nautical Training school from Lieutenant-Commander Eaton, U. S. N., announces the arrival of the Enterprise at Horta, Fayal, on the 16th inst., after a passage from Boston of twenty-three days. All well.

Li Hung Chang Dined by the Kaiser.

POTATOES IN PALATABLE WAYS.

Potatoes Warmed in Gravy.—Chop a pint of cold boiled potatoes into half-inch dices. Put a cupful of good gravy (beef, veal or poultry) into a spider, and when hot put in the potatoes, stirring until they are thoroughly mixed with the gravy, and serve hot.

Broiled Potatoes.—Boil large potatoes in their skins, peel and cut lengthwise in rather thick slices. Sprinkle with salt and place in the broiler which should be previously greased. Broil nicely, arrange on a hot dish, butter, and dust with a little pepper, and serve.

Potato Pasty.—Pare, boil and mash very fine some potatoes. Season with salt, pepper, and add a large lump of butter. Make a good pie-paste and roll out the size and shape of a medium-sized pie-plate. On one-half of this place the potato, fold over the other half, pinch the edges closely together and bake in a moderate oven.

Escalloped Potatoes.—Pare and slice potatoes thin. Butter an earthen pudding-dish, put in a layer of potatoes and season with salt, pepper, butter and a little finely-minced onion, sprinkle with a little flour and add another layer of potato; continue till the dish is full and pour a cupful of milk over all. Bake three-quarters of an hour.

Potatoes and Beef.—To boiled and mashed potatoes add some milk, butter and a well-beaten egg. Place a layer of the potatoes on a buttered pudding-dish, then a layer of minced lean beef (cooked), sprinkle with pepper and salt, and repeat layers till dish is full, leaving a layer of potato on top dotted with bits of butter. Bake till top is a light brown.—Ladies' World.

PERSONAL AND LITERARY BITS.

William Morris has been seriously ill, but is once more well enough to attend to his literary and artistic work.

Those who best know ex-Senator Platt, of New York, assert that it is the ambition of his life to be secretary of the treasury.

M. Laroche, the French resident in Madagascar, though a Protestant, makes it a point to attend mass in the Catholic cathedral every Sunday.

Charles de Lesseps and M. Blondin are said to have left France to avoid fresh proceedings about to be taken for the recovery of Panama money.

Mrs. Louise Chandler Moulton is unable to make an intended visit to the south, owing to a broken arm, caused by slipping in the street in Boston the other day.

Lord Rosebery is considered one of the handsomest men in England. "You cannot make a caricature of Rosebery," remarked an English cartoonist recently. "His features are too regular."

George Henry Boughton has just been elected to the Royal academy. He had been an associate since 1879. Though his reputation was made in New York he is an Englishman by birth.

A BATCH OF BIG FISH STORIES.

It is reported that the petrified remains of a whale, 80 feet in length, have been found in the hills north of Lompoc, a dozen miles or so back from the sea, in Santa Barbara county, Cal.

A 20-pound togue, the biggest fish ever known to have been caught in Moosehead Lake, Me., was hooked by a guide a few days ago. It measured three feet four inches in length, and is thought to be the largest specimen of the trout family ever caught in Maine.

An unusually large octopus, with eight arms, each measuring a little less than six feet in length, was killed at Alameda, Cal., a few days ago. The fish fastened its tentacles on a boat which a fisherman was rowing in the harbor. The man rowed his boat ashore, the fish still clinging to it, and killed the octopus with an oar.

A devil-fish, measuring 15½ feet from the tip of one of its eight arms to the tip of another and ten feet from the top of its head to the tip of its longest arm, was killed in the channel at Santa Barbara, Cal., by two boys a few days ago. It was the largest devil fish ever caught in those waters.

PEN NAMES OF GREAT WRITERS.

"Barry Cornwall" was the assumed name of B. W. Proctor. Some of Barry's songs will probably live as long as the English language is spoken.

Robert Southey's pen name was "Espriella Alvarey." It was used in his letters from England. Most of his works were published over his own name.

J. Fenimore Cooper began to write under the pen name of "A Traveling Bachelor." His travels and social condition probably inspired the selection.

Francis Mahoney was long known among his acquaintances as "Father Prout," his best-known book having been entitled, "Reliques of Father Prout."

John Ruskin published his early writings under the pen name "Graduate of Oxford," the selection being obviously influenced by his place of education.

SOME DOGS OF HIGH DEGREE.

In England and Wales there are 154 licensed packs of foxhounds, having 6,239 couples. In Scotland there are nine packs with 326 couples, and in Ireland 17 with 365 couples.

Mulhall says that the largest-known dog was a St. Bernard called "Plinlimmon," exhibited at Birmingham in 1886. The height of this animal was 35 inches, and his weight 214 pounds.

A trained bloodhound has been known to follow the track of a man on horseback, and when the rider passed through bushes the animal jumped up and smelled at the leaves touched by the feet of the horseman.

The "shepherd" of North Europe has been known to historians for over 1,000 years, and it is believed that the remarkable dexterity manifested by this animal in caring for sheep is the hereditary result of training.

FADS OF THE COMING SEASON.

Buttons are a summer craze.

Every tone of violet is favored in Parisan millinery.

All violet bonnets with white satin Alsatian bows are lovely.

Beware of the limp hand shake; it indicates a catty nature.

Tailor bicycle costumes are well worth the cost of their making.

A correct veil is part of the well-gowned woman's essential attire.

Fur will be used in conjunction with chiffon on the dressy summer capes.

Silk petticoats are as wide as the dress skirt and generally much prettier.

Tapestry panels for the nursery illustrate rhymes that are favorites of the juveniles.

Horse-hair lace is used largely in millinery. No dampness can destroy its fluffy beauty.

For a plain organdie gown a certain society leader has bought a sash costing seven dollars a yard.

Delft gowns, which are in reality tailor combinations of cadet blue and white, are being ordered largely.

Artificial violets at two dollars a bunch cannot be told from the real thing and last ever so much longer.

The up-to-date woman carries a silver flask in the recesses of her muff or pocket. She doesn't depend on her vinaigrette to revive her when she feels faint.

PUNNY POINTS PUNGENTLY PUT

Valuable Aid.—"Gobbs, do you help your wife clean house?" "Well, sometimes I knock the soot out of my stovepipe hat."—Chicago Record.

Hunter—"Strange good luck! The story I have so often told in the tavern has now actually happened to me."—Fliegende Blaetter.

First Foreigner—"What do those people in the gallery mean by yelling 'rats?'" Second Foreigner—"Those must be the catcalls of which we read."—Detroit Tribune.

"I hear," said the fond mother, excitedly, "that Willie is learning to play poker at college." "Well," said the old man, "it is a good thing. He'll also learn economy."—Indianapolis Journal.

Guest—"How is this? My bill this time is 12 shillings a day, and last December I had the same room and it was only ten shillings a day." Clerk—"Yes, I know; but the days are much longer now."—Titbits.

Nearly Correct.—"Mr. Perkins, what is your idea of culture?" "Well, Mrs. Perkins, it is letting new neighbors move in without looking to see what kind of furniture they have."—Chicago Record.

HAVE EARS BUT THEY HEAR NOT

According to late statistics there are in the United States 40,000 deaf mutes.

In 1815 the first asylum for deaf and dumb children was founded in London.

The first deaf mute school in Great Britain was established at Edinburgh in 1773.

Deafness does not decrease the chance for life. Deaf people live as long as others.

In 1874 a church mission was established for the benefit of the deaf mutes of the United States.

Deaf and dumb people received systematic instruction at Oxford, in England, by Dr. J. Wallis in 1650.

In 1793 Dr. Thornton, of Philadelphia, published an essay on "Methods of Teaching the Deaf and Dumb."

In 1876 the first deaf mute clergyman was ordained. He was an Episcopalian, and the ordination took place in Philadelphia.

WARRIORS ON SEA AND LAND.

Hardtack is doomed in the French navy. M. Lockroy has ordered that soft bread baked on board shall henceforth be served out to the sailors instead of ship's biscuit.

A novel means of defense has been tried at the town of Holguin, Cuba. As proof against a sudden onslaught that town has been surrounded by thousands of yards of barb wire.

Gen. Saussier, military governor of Paris, who in case of war would act as commander in chief of the French army, though he has reached the age limit, has been continued in office by the minister for three years longer.

Before the 30-knot torpedo boat destroyers have been tested, the British admiralty is demanding a speed of 33 knots in the contracts for the latest vessels of that class. The horse power needed will be almost double that of the 27-knot class.

FAME EARNED IN THEIR YOUTH.

Edison as a boy began the chemical and electrical experiments which have made his name famous.

Franklin was widely known as a writer on economy and political subjects before he had reached 25.

Farquhar finished "The Recruiting Officer," considered to be his best, just before his death at 27.

Michael Angelo at the age of 16 entered an artistic competition with the best-known artists of his time.

Raphael showed his artistic abilities at the early age of 12, when he was widely known as an artist in oil.

Leonardo da Vinci painted several greatly admired allegorical pictures before he attained his majority.

ABOUT THE SENSE OF HEARING.

In the Indian statue of Guadama the lobes of the ears are so long that they reach the level of the lamp.

Deafness is more prevalent in cold than in warm countries, the ears being sensitive to changes of temperature.

The number of suicides among the deaf and dumb is said to be greater than among any other class of unfortunates.

Sea slugs not only hear, but are said by naturalists to emit sounds somewhat like the ticking of a clock.

GERMS.

They Exist Everywhere Now-a-Days.

In the Air and in Our Food and Drink. No One is Free From Them for a Moment.

One reads so much about germs, these days, that he becomes almost afraid to drink a glass of milk or wash his face in a basin of water. Yet those who are most competent to judge tell us that there are many diseases now known to be caused by germs; and probably other diseases will be discovered to be due to germs also.

If you sow wheat in dry dust and keep the soil in that condition, the kernels will not sprout and grow. And if you should sow the grain in very wet soil it will not grow then, but would mould or rot. Therefore we must not only have proper seed, but the soil must also be exactly right for the growth of the seed, if we expect results. Take consumption germs, for instance, you may inhale these germs and yet no harm follow; because the soil in your lungs was in such a healthy condition these disease-germs cannot grow there. Then, again, you may have exactly the right kind of soil in your lungs for the germs of consumption, and yet not have the disease because you have not inhaled the germs. It is certainly true that thousands of persons inhale the germs of consumption, and yet do not have the disease. The fact that this soil must be suitable to germ-life, explains the reason why some children have severe stomach and bowel trouble, and yet others in the same house be unaffected.

There are a number of complaints which may not be due to germs; and yet the principle we wish to establish is the same. Some take cold more easily than others; have frequent attacks of indigestion; become easily exhausted; and show in every way that the body is not strong. What is the best weapon with which to fight germs? A strong constitution. How can you prevent many of the ailments of everyday life? By keeping the body well nourished and the nervous system substantially re-inforced.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites will do all this. It feeds. It nourishes. It builds up. It invigorates. It fortifies. It shields the body from the enemy, and brings victory even in the face of defeat.

It is pleasant to know that such a remedy can be prepared in a form agreeable to the palate and the stomach. It does not nauseate. It does not cause diarrhœa. It does not produce those disagreeable eructations of gas. It does not necessitate bribing or threatening the children. Best of all, it does not have that fishy taste.

Scott's Emulsion contains more pure Norwegian Cod-liver Oil than any other emulsion in the world, that will stand the test of time as being a perfect inseparable emulsion. Ask your doctor.

SPORTS

WEDNESDAY, June 17 Sun rises 4:28 a. m., sets 7:33 p. m. Lanterns must be lighted between 8:33 p. m. and 3:28 a. m.

Cyclists desiring to join the League of American Wheelmen will be furnished with application blanks and necessary information by addressing the Cycling Department of the Daily Press.

CYCLING COMMENT.

David Wood, of Putnam avenue, purchased a Hartford wheel yesterday.

Wm. Stimpson, of The News staff, has just purchased a Crescent from the F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company.

Plainfield has two new members in the L. A. W.—Rev. E. Kionka, 325 West Second street, and W. Peterson, 9387 Prospect avenue

J. H. Lake, the speedy little rider from Port Richmond, Staten Island, is the latest of the amateur riders to appear on a Jersey. He has been training at the Crescent Oval and is very much pleased with the new wheel.

Wm. M. McCutchen, the speedy rider of the Crescent Wheelmen, and his trainer, Elston Leonard, left yesterday afternoon for Norwalk, Conn., where McCutchen rides this afternoon at a race meet on the track there. He is entered for the half and one mile handicap and the half and one mile open. They will return here tomorrow to prepare for the Atalanta Wheelmen races at Waverly Park Saturday.

Chas. G. Carpenter and A. H. Barnett, of the Jersey Wheelmen Company's racing team, left this morning for Waverly under the charge of their trainer, Gus T. Burgland, to prepare for Saturday's races at Waverly Park. They will enter the professional events. J. H. Lake and George Scribner, of the "push" at the Crescent Oval, also went to Waverly today to try the track before Saturday. They will both ride the Jersey in the amateur events.

A bottle filled with pure rubber dissolved in benzine is a valuable addition to a repair kit. It can be used to fill up a cut in a tire, or to replace rubber which may have been scraped from the sides of a tire. To prepare the solution, take 5 cents worth of pure rubber, put it in a bottle with an air tight cork, adding benzine from time to time until the mixture is a trife thicker than ordinary tire cement. In cases of a cut that does not go entirely through the tire, pour a little of the solution into it and let it stand. As the benzine evaporates, the rubber becomes hard and adheres to the tire, making it practically as good as new. Where the rubber has been scraped off, use care not to spread it to thick.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

That enterprising organization, the Alio Athletic Association, whose football team was so successful last fall, will give its first athletic meet at the Crescent Oval on Saturday, June 27th. The events will all be for junior athletes, boys under 15 years of age. The list of events will be as follows: One-third mile bicycle race for boys under 12; one-quarter mile bicycle race; one mile bicycle race; two mile bicycle race; five mile bicycle race; 100 yard dash; 220 yard dash; running high jump; putting the shot, (8 lbs.) All the events will be handicapped. Entries for the different events may be made with any of the following: Roy T. Phillips, 921 Madison avenue; George Coard, 127 East Ninth street; Donald Stuart, 819 Park avenue; Albert Finch, Belvidere and Watchung avenues. The entries close on Wednesday, June 24th. The bicycle races will all be run under L. A. W. rules and sanction.

LAWN TENNIS.

Albert P. Simmonds, who has made an enviable record this season on the tennis court, has just received a letter from E. C. Rushmore, of the Tuxedo Club, inviting him to play on the club's courts in New York. The rule of the club is to extend the invitation to the ten best tennis players in the court, and naturally Mr. Simmonds feels highly honored.

HOBART'S BOOM WANES.

to proceed on the even tenor of its way, the Jerseyman believing that the mark of approval of Hanna would be enough to carry it through to victory. But as soon as the Morton talk was heard the delegates from the Garden State evolved themselves into a band of hard workers and every effort is being made to carry Hobart into the convention with enough support to assure his nomination. Hobart's defeat now would make a bad muddle in the plans of New Jersey Republicans. John Kean wants to go to the Senate, and with Hobart out of the field his chances are favorable.

If Hobart leaves St. Louis unhonored after the convention it is a well-known fact that he will make a fight for the Senatorial election to succeed Senator Smith, providing the Legislature is Republican. This would precipitate a fight between Kean and Hobart that would mean internal warfare in the G. O. P. ranks of New Jersey. Nearly all the appointments that were made at Trenton last fall were with the understanding that if Hobart should fail to land the Vice-Presidential nomination at St. Louis, he should receive the absolute support of the beneficiaries of patronage from Gov. Griggs in a canvass for Senatorial honors. It is a serious moment for the New Jersey machine.

Whitney Will Fight.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New York, June 17—William C. Whitney did not sail for Europe on the White Star line steamship Teutonic as had been his intention, but instead he will remain at home to aid other representative Democrats in the fight for a gold plank in the platform to be adopted at the Chicago convention. The sudden change in Mr. Whitney's plans is regarded as an indication that the Democrats of the East anticipate one of the hardest fights in the history of the party. Mr. Whitney implied as much when seen at his home this morning.

A Shopping Guide.

The Central Railroad Company, ever recognizing the needs of its patrons have just issued a "Shopping Guide" of New York city, which is one of the best and most complete editions on the market. It is published in a convenient size for the pocket and contains a directory of streets and avenues in New York, a diagram of the seats of each theatre, railroad depots, ferries, steamship lines, piers, art galleries, colleges, libraries, car routes, clubs and societies, banks, hotels and other valuable information. The book can be had for the asking.

Church Improvements.

The work of painting the Mt. Olive Baptist church is progressing favorably. Since the work of improving the outside of the church has been under way, the board of trustees have been considering the advisability of improving the interior, and work to that end will soon be started.

No "Flim Flam" Game

To Be Worked on Early Purchasers of

The Spalding Bicycle

After the adoption of our 1896 model and a careful estimate of the cost of manufacture, we placed the price on the Spalding Bicycle at $100. The price is now $100 and will continue at $100 throughout the season, no matter what other manufacturers may do.

We don't believe it is fair, honest or good business policy to sell a standard article like the Spalding Bicycle at one price in May and reduce its value in June by a material reduction in price. As a matter of common fairness to early purchasers of Spalding Bicycles and as an evidence of good faith on our part we will, in case of reduction in price during the season, send a rebate check to every purchaser of a Spalding Bicycle of the amount of any such reduction that may be made by us during the season. This is our meaning of a

HE HAS A WALKOVER.

MORTON WITHDRAWS AND HOBART WILL GET SECOND PLACE.

Platform Adopted as Reported—A Caucus Engineered by Hanna Settles Hobart's Success for Second Place on the Ticket.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

St. Louis, June 18.—It was thirteen minutes after ten o'clock when Chairman Thurston took his place on the platform and at 10:32 he called the convention to order. It was very warm and the spectators and delegates were well provided with fans.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. Mr. Scott, a colored clergyman from Florida, and immediately upon its conclusion Mr. Foraker, chairman of the committee on resolutions, went upon the stage and presented the report on platform.

The first work taken up was the report of the platform committee. The platform was substantially the same as published in the newspapers this morning, declaring for high protection and a gold standard for currency.

After the reading of the platform Senator Teller commenced his opposition speech against the gold plank.

The platform was adopted as reported.

It is announced that forty-seven out of the forty-oight delegates from Illinois, will vote for Hobart for Vice-President.

This weakens Morton's side, and it is claimed that Platt will withdraw his name.

Ex-Governor Brown, of Rhode Island, is said to be a candidate for second place.

It is announced that Morton withdraws from the field. There is great applause from the body of the hall.

Illinois announces that Senator Cullom will not be a candidate for second place.

It looks as though Hobart would have a walkover now.

The balloting for President will take place this afternoon and for Vice-President this evening. The Convention will adjourn sine die this evening.

St. Louis, June 18th—Mark Hanna having carried his edict of making McKinley the nominee for President beyond the point where a revolt is possible, he has now taken up the cudgel of bossism and seems bound to make Garrett A. Hobart his running mate.

For a brief time yesterday the powerful machine of which Hanna is the top, centre and bottom seemed as though it was going to stop.

During this time the Hobart boom waned wonderfully. But it had the stamp of approval from Hanna, and in the zenith of glory he willed that the apparently irresistible power of his machine should haul the Jerseyman through. And it looks now as though it would succeed.

Tom Platt made Hanna mad. Platt has fought him steadily at every move. Hanna has been accustomed to fighting with people who gave in when they foresaw defeat. Platt was a sticker. When he saw that Morton was unable to get first place he determined to land him in the second. Before Hanna could interfere it looked as though the wily boss of New York held the trump card, but it seems not.

Hanna got to work yesterday afternoon and with all of his subordinates he finally made a deal with Evans, of Tennessee, so that after the first ballot is taken, it is expected that Hobart will be the choice.

The Jersey delegates are all wearing smiling countenances as a result. John Kean breathes easier. He knows his chances to reach the United States Senate chamber are wonderfully improved.

Before the convention was called to order this morning a caucus of all the delegates was held. It was engineered by Hanna and by its decision Hobart's nomination seems almost sure for the second place. A resolution was offered that the name for Vice-President be decided as the majority of delegates vote on the first ballot. A two-thirds vote is necessary for nomination, but it is confidently claimed by the McKinley men, who stand sponsors for Hobart, that on the first ballot for the Vice-Presidency they will have 411 votes for Hobart. This will assure his selection and then it will be but a formality to make the nomination by ballot. The scheme was opposed by the Morton men, but to no avail.

Off to the Shore.

The G. A. R. excursion to Asbury Park this morning was quite successful. It required seven cars to convey the Veterans, Women's Relief Corps, their friends and the Plainfield Cornet Band. While the excursionists were waiting the band rendered some airs, thus adding pleasure to the event. The G. A. R. and Women's Relief Corps will remain at the Park today and tomorrow, to attend the meetings of the Encampment which will be held there. A majority of those who went will remain over until tomorrow.

HOLY CROSS FESTIVAL.

AN ANNUAL CHURCH EVENT ACROSS THE BROOK.

The Rooms Presented a Cheerful View as Decorated With Daisies—Pleasant Faces and Ways Made all Happy.

An annual event of real pleasure is the Sunday-school festival of Holy Cross church. This affair was held in the Sunday-school rooms last evening and was thoroughly successful. The rooms presented a cheerful picture, and all who entered were made to feel perfectly at home by those in charge. Tables arranged conveniently about the main room were inviting to all and those who took seats were carefully looked after. A choice collection of daisies formd the principal decorations and they were neatly arranged to the best advantage.

The affair was liberally patronized during the evening by the members of the church, Sunday-school and friends. The committee in charge was Miss Murphy, Miss Georgia Fountain and Miss Agnes Smith. At the candy table where the most delicious homemade sweets were on sale, Miss Rachel Emmons, Miss Fanny Weston and Miss Georgia Fountain, presided and had no trouble in disposing of the candy In a pleasant corner the lemonade well formed an attraction where Miss Helen Warman dispensed the refreshing beverage. Mrs. Mrs. Barker, Mrs. Turrill, Mrs. Brett (and Mrs. Rogers, of Georgia), had charge of the refreshments, while the Misses Ida Fountain, Lena Bremmer, Carrie Drake, Lizzie Jessup, Anna Fiering and Eva Perry were efficient waitresses. Horsley Barker and B. R. Western, who were always on hand, assisted materially in making the affair a success. Rev. T. Logan Murphy pleased the little ones by exhibiting a music box from which all the popular airs were rendered to the delight of the boys and girls. The Sunday-school will receive a neat little sum as a result of the affair.

MARRIED AT RAHWAY.

Miss Gertrude Tier the Bride at a Fashionable Nuptial Event.

One of the most fashionable weddings ever witnessed in Rahway was celebrated last evening when Miss Gertrude Tier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Washington Irving Tier, of Rahway, and niece of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Tier, Sr., of this city, was married to William Drumpelman, also of Rahway. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride at 8 o'clock by Rev. Mr. Leggett, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of that city. The house was exquisitely decorated with palms, ferns and flowers, and the prevailing colors were green and white.

The bride was charmingly gowned in white silk, trimmed with duchesse lace, and the bridemaid, Miss Drumpelman, sister of the groom, wore a gown of green silk and white organdie. The flower girl was Ida M. Tier, of this city, a niece of the bride. She was gowned in white silk, which was also trimmed with duchesse lace Fred Tier, brother of the bride, was best man. The ceremony was witnessed by a large assemblage of guests from New York, Brooklyn, Jersey City and Newark. Those present from this city were: Mr. and Mrs. John H. Tier, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. John H. Tier, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William N. Tier, Mrs. Ira Vail and granddaughter, Miss Lulu Vail, Mrs. J. M. Tier, Miss Gertrude Tier and Miss Elsie Tier.

Among the handsome presents received were a complete silver service and a china set.

Mr. and Mrs. Drumpelman left during the evening for a bridal trip to Niagara Falls and Canada, and on their return will reside on William street, Rahway, where a nicely furnished home awaits them.

WILL MAKE A HARD FIGHT

JAMES E. MARTINE IS OPTOMISTIC OF DEMOCRATIC SUCCESS.

The Farmer Orator Believes That the Action of Cleveland and Whitney Will Warm Up Democrats to Action.

James E. Martine was one of the first men in New Jersey to favor Wm. C. Whitney as a candidate for President, and all along the Farmer Orator has maintained that he should and would probably be the candidate. Mr. Martine was seen by a Press reporter this morning and asked what he thought of President Cleveland's letter and the decision of Mr. Whitney to stay at home and make a fight for his party. He said:

"Most opportune to the cause of true Democracy and success of the Democratic ticket this fall, is the letter of Grover Cleveland and the action of that patriotic citizen and Democrat, Wm. C. Whitney. The action of Mr. Whitney will stay contention and strife in the councils at Chicago, and the Democratic hosts will go forth to battle in November next as a solid phalanx, contending for free raw materials, cheap necessaries of life, and honest money.

"Mr. Whitney's action has brought dismay to the Republican ranks. It has been their hope alone that through internal dissensions in our party they would triumph.

"Men will not be deceived by empty platitudes. 'By their fruits he shall known them' will be the motto that will control the votes of freemen. The fact remains that under the McKinley tariff, mills and workshops throughout the land were closed and wages reduced to the lowest level, while under the Wilson tariff law wages have been voluntarily increased. Broader markets for the products of our handiwork have been opened, and the necessaries of life cheapened to every family. It is defending this record that has won such champions as Grover Cleveland and Wm. C. Whitney.

"I have so much faith in the principles and teachings of my party that I believe the exponents of true Democracy will triumph at the polls."

OFFICERS INSTALLED.

New Leaders of the Bricklayers' Union Take Their Places.

The Bricklayers' and Masons' Protective Union, No. 14, met in their rooms, last night, and after the regular routine of business, the following officers were installed by Deputy Randolph Marsh, for the coming year: President, Theodore Mason; vice-president, Andrew Cox; financial secretary, John Dentz; recording secretary, William McCarty; corresponding secretary, Frank McNurny; treasurer, William Moore; financial committee, William Smith, John Lude, Samuel Hand.

After adjournment, they went to 214 Park avenue, where a host of good things were served. After enjoying themselves for two hours at refreshments, singing and telling stories the evening was pleasantly spent.

MISS MANNING WEDDED.

A Former Plainfield Girl Becomes the Wife of a Hartford Man.

Cards have been issued announcing the marriage of Miss Laura B. Manning, of Elizabeth, to Howard W. Smith, of Hartford, Conn., Wednesday, June 17th. The marriage took place at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Brown, of Elizabeth. Miss Manning is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Manning, deceased, who formerly resided on West Front street. Her grandfather, Jacob Manning, was a prominent citizen of this city, holding the positions of the first President of the First National Bank and Postmaster from 1853 to 1861.

Woman Became Suddenly Insane.

Annie Montgomery, aged twenty-five, who has been residing at the home of Alexander Hill at Bernardsville, became violently insane Sunday, and the other members of the family were compelled to flee for their lives. The woman was finally quieted and was sent to jail at Somerville to await the action of the court.

If it required an annual outlay of $100.00 to insure a family against any serious consequences from an attack of bowel complaint during the year there are many who would feel it their duty to pay it; that they could not afford to risk their lives, and those of their family for such an amount. Any one can get this insurance for 25 cents that being the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. One or two doses of this remedy will cure any ordinary case. It never fails. Can you afford to take the risk for so small an amount? For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

THE SPECTRE IS QUIET.

THE WEST END PHANTOM REMAINED SECLUDED LAST NIGHT.

A Small Crowd Went Away Disappointed at Not Viewing the Apparition.—Will It Appear Again Next Saturday Night?

There was sorrow last night in the West End, for Mrs. Ghost does not yet condescend to walk. Of course, there were a number that saw her, but they were all alone when the apparition appeared. The ghost watchers were still in evidence, but, deeming discretion the better part of valor, they didn't try to arouse the ghost out with shrieks and cat calls.

Patrolman Freleigh was on duty in the vicinity and had his orders to quell all unseemingly disturbances, especially on the part of the ubiquitious small boy. The latter appeared early in the evening, but quieted down when the policeman appeared and soon took his departure. His older brother and his girl came down later in the evening and found the dark shadows much to their liking. He was as brave as a lion and was not afraid of a thousand ghosts, for there were none in sight then.

A party of young men straggled along the north side of West Fourth street—the cemetery is on the other side—and leaned against the fence or sat on the steps of Hope chapel, still waiting for what came not.

It was remarkable that nobody went on the other side of the street and the older brother, when he told his girl how brave he was, always selected an open field with plenty of room behind him.

Quite a number of inquisitive excitement hunters, who had read about Mrs. Ghost in yesterday's Press, strolled in the direction of the cemetery during the evening, but, as the shadowy visitor was not visible on demand, they departed with their curiosity unsatisfied.

Rumor has it that the ghost will appear next Saturday night, walk through the cemetery, give a final moan and then disappear. But who can say?

Banqueted on the Mountain.

The quarterly banquet of the Retail Grocers' Association of Newark was held last night at the Mountain Park Inn. The members of the association drove to this city in a tally-ho, and were a jovial and whole-souled lot of fellows. An elaborate menu was prepared for them at the inn. A liberal amount of wit and humor accompanied the dinner. They greatly admired the natural scenery about the hotel.

Arranging for an Entertainment.

The Germania Beneficial Society held a special meeting last evening. Four new members were initiated. It was decided to have an entertainment with contests on August 17th and 18th. The committee to arrange the details was appointed as follows: M. Menzenback, P. Postler, Otto Keller, Henry Ruppert and N. G. Reupert. Rudolph Speigel was elected secretary in place of H. Baker, resigned.

Selling Cider Without a License.

James O'Brien, of Griggstown, was committed to the Somerset county jail recently to await the action of the Grand Jury. He was arrested on complaint of John Otley for selling cider and wine without a license and for assaulting and threatening to shoot the complainant. O'Brien was bailed out.

Probably a New Arcanum Lodge.

Mr. E. N. Buzby, special deputy grand regent, Order Royal Arcanum, is at present looking over Plainfield with a view of increasing the membership of the Order. As Mr. Buzby is a worker, he will no doubt persuade many young men to either join the present lodge or get a number sufficiently large to start a new one.

To Address Scholars.

The closing exercises of the Washingtonville public school will be held tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock in the school house. Rev. Chas. E. Herring will make an address. Rob't. Clark, one of the trustees, will also speak.

Special Volunteer Service.

A Volunteer special meeting will be held tonight at Reform Hall. Captain Tippet, from National headquarters, assisted by Captain Grady, from Bound Brook, the famous guitarist, will have charge of the meeting.

Perhaps From the Mount.

Mrs. L. Francis Bishop, who has built a house on the mountain top, near the Mountain Park Inn, has a story published in "The Black Cat" for July, entitled "A Message From Where?"

My Angeline.

A number of prominent Plainfield gentlemen are rehearsing the chorus of Mr. Thatcher's new song, "My Angeline," and will be in evidence when Mr. Thatcher ings it tonight.

NEW WAY OF TEACHING

FRANKLIN SCHOOL PUPILS EXHIBIT THEIR WORK.

The Details of the Work Showed Aptitude on the Part of the Scholars and the Efficiency of the Instructor.

The education of the young is one of the most important duties of the country and Plainfield is especially fortunate in that direction. Her schools have been famous throughout the country on account of their thoroughness and completeness, but while many of the citizens of Plainfield have heard about the school system, there are very few comparatively that really understand the details of the work. Many think that their children are taught the same as they were twenty or thirty years ago, but a visit to the exhibition of the work of the pupils in the lower grades, held in the Franklin School building yesterday afternoon and this afternoon, would soon convince them to the contrary.

The exhibition was a very interesting and showed the work of the children from the Kindergarten up to within three grades from the High School. It was not an exhibit from all of the Plainfield schools, but just the grades in the Franklin building.

Temporary tables were arranged around the sides of the assembly hall and on these and fastened to the walls was the work of the children.

One long table was devoted to the kindergarten, and the pharaphernalia and materials used by the teachers were displayed, as well as the little mats, paper figures and embroidery work of the children. The work of the different grades was placed side by side, and gradually changed in character. The writing books of the youngsters were shown the vertical hand, the latest method being used. The rudiments of science, of a very simple sort, are taught in the lowest classes, and the children told something of the common birds and flowers of this vicinity.

The first compositions of the pupils, usually written about a picture pasted on the top of the paper, were, many of them, very original. The drawings of some of the children were quite amusing, especially several of the circus and the circus parade.

Much of the work was exhibited without revision or correction, so that the real work of the children could be seen. There was one change from the old method of teaching that was very apparent and very pleasing, and that was the much more interesting way in which the lessons were presented. From the work of the children it was easy to see that they were getting an intelligent idea of some of the principles of science.

As yesterday was the anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill, the hall was prettily arranged with American flags. Early in the afternoon, a chorus of young girls sang patriotic songs. Miss Bullock, the very capable principal, and her efficient corps of teachers, were present, and received the guests, of whom quite a number came despite the rain. Lemonade was served by the following pupils: The Misses Murray, Dunham, DeLong, Burr and Evans. The exhibition will be continued this afternoon.

Expert Train Running.

For the month of May the record of train movement on the B. & O. railway eclipsed the record breaking record for April, when the passenger trains arrived at their destinations as per schedule ninety-five times out of a possible hundred. The B. & O. Fast Freight Trains between New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore on the east, and Cincinnati, St. Louis and Chicago on the west, are being moved with an equal degree of precision.

The Country Club's Fourth.

The Union County Country Club will celebrate the glorious Fourth as usual this year with fireworks in the evening. A dance in honor of the occasion will be held on the Friday evening previous when the new year of the American Independence will be danced in in royal style.

Have You Noticed It?

It is worth noting the way in which popular favor constantly favors The Daily Press with complimentary advertising. A Press ad now appears on every curtain on the new open trolley cars.

Last Organ Recital.

Prof. William E. MacClymont will give his last organ recital this season at the First Presbyterian church on Monday evening. William Tallamy, solo tenor at St. John's church, Elizabeth, will assist.

Can Now Call the Police.

Fred Barker, night operator at the telephone exchange, is now equipped with a regular police whistle and will be able to call a policeman at once for the patrons of the Telephone Company.

OLD VETS AT THE SHORE

STATE G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT BEING HELD AT ASBURY PARK.

Thousands of the Boys in Blue Are There Renewing Old Acquaintances—Features of The Day in The Parade.

The State G. A. R. encampment began in Asbury Park yesterday afternoon. A meeting of the council of administration was held in the Commercial hotel last evening. Department officers on the field include Commander Henry S. White, Post 61, Red Bank; Senior Vice-Commander E. F. Brainard, Post 11, Newark; Junior Vice-Commander George E. Martin, Post 5, Camden; Chaplain Charles E. Hill, Post 61, Red Bank, and Medical Director M. S. Crane, Post 88, Newark. Members of the official staff present are Assistant Adjt.-Gen. H. C. Terhune, Post 61, Red Bank; Assistant Quartermaster-Gen. E. V. Richards, Post 23, Trenton; Judge Advocate H. L. Hartshorn, Post 5, Camden; Inspector G. R. Patterson, Post 38, Jersey City, and Chief Mustering Officer O. F. Gifford, Post 11, Newark.

The veterans arrived on every train and the attendance this morning will probably surpass that at any previous State encampment.

The feature of today was the grand parade, which started from Railroad square at 2 p. m. It is estimated that 5,000 men were in line. The route of the parade extended nearly two miles through the principal streets of Asbury Park and Ocean Grove. A total of 114 posts were represented, besides the local militia and guests.

The State camp-fire will be held in the Ocean Grove Auditorium this evening. Among the guests who have promised to attend are Gov. Griggs and Gen. Walker, of Indiana, Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic. Prof. Tallie Morgan, assisted by a grand choir of 150 voices, will act as musical director. President E. H. Stokes, of the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association, will make the address of welcome, to which response will be made by Department Commander Henry S. White. Addresses will be made by Rev. George J. Mingins, National Department Commander; I. N. Walker, Gen. James F. Rusling and Charles Burroughs.

The election of officers will take place tomorrow. The prominent candidates are:

Newark sent a large delegation. Large delegations also came from Trenton, Camden, Jersey City, Rahway, Plainfield, Elizabeth and Paterson.

All the public buildings and many business houses in Asbury Park are beautifully decorated in honor of the encampment.

The regular proceedings of the encampment were opened by Department Commander Henry S. White, of Red Bank, at 11 a. m. today. Senator Bradley has been invited to attend as one of the reviewing officers.

Unity Lodge Elects.

The semi-annual election of officers of Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., was held last evening. It resulted as follows: Master of work, Frank Putnam; chancellor commander, J. D. Anderson; vice-chancellor, Frank Green; prelate, N. H. Guttman; master of arms, George Rogers; inner guard, F. Humpston; outer guard, J. W. A. Bauersachs; trustee, J. M. Hawkins. A social time followed the business session.

Bret Harte's New Story.

Plainfielder's will be interested to hear Bret Harte's new story is called "The Indiscretion of Elsbeth," and turns upon a curious episode. The hero of the romance is an American and he becomes enamored of a German princess. This is plausible enough until it is learned the princess appears to the lover in the guise of a dairyman. The tale will appear immediately in an American periodical.

Granted a Divorce.

Chancellor McGill has issued a decree of divorce to Ida M. Babbitt, who brought suit against her husband, George E. Babbitt, some time ago. She was formerly of Plainfield, and was married in the Quaker meeting house several years ago. The testimony in the case was taken before Roderick Byington, as Special Master in Chancery.—Newark News.

NOMINATIONS TO-DAY

Republican Convention Will Probably Adjourn Before To-morrow.

PROGRAMME OF M'KINLEY MANAGERS

Nothing Foreseen in the Way Now of a Speedy Completion of the Work—Nothing in Doubt Except the Vice-Presidency.

St. Louis, June 18.—Unless the unforeseen happens the republican national convention will complete its labors to-day and adjourn sine die. This is the desire of the McKinley managers this morning and there seems to be nothing in the way of their programme being carried out. One prominent worker in the ranks of the Ohio man said this morning that the ticket would be named before to-morrow morning and that it would be McKinley and Morton if the New Yorkers desired the governor's nomination and if he will accept second place. Otherwise Hobart of New Jersey or Evans of Tennessee would be selected as running mate with McKinley, with the chances favoring the Jerseyite. The announcement of the retirement from the party of Teller, Cannon and Dubois because of the defeat of free silver causes much comment, but as these gentlemen have promised to remain neutral during the presidential campaign their loss is not feared but deeply regretted.

Great Victory, Says Manley.

J. H. Manley said this morning that the eastern republicans had won a great victory in this convention in forcing the convention to accept and declare for the maintenance of the gold standard.

The McKinley Parade.

The big McKinley parade last night, though delayed by a thunder storm, came off eventually. There was a very large number of clubs in line, and the dislay was as effective as abundance of red fire, good music, numerous banners and McKinley pictures and cheers and general enthusiasm could make it. A new march, composed for the occasion, was played with success.

SECOND DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

Permanent Organization and Delay over the Platform Committee.

St. Louis, June 18.—There was a repetition yesterday of the scenes of confusion which characterized the assembling of delegates and spectators on the opening day of the republican national convention. The seats of the delegates had been shifted around during the night, and New York was put away in the rear. The delegates from Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Nebraska, and New Jersey were placed between the delegates from New York and the platform. The New Yorkers entered a protest, but it was too late. The Ohio delegation, which had the front left hand section, were moved back two rows of seats, and North Carolina placed in front of them. Indiana, Missouri and Illinois were given better locations. The rest of the states were left undisturbed. Temporary Chairman Fairbanks called the convention to order at 10:40. After the opening prayer by Dr. Williams, the convention was ready for business. Senator Lodge reported that the committee on resolutions was not ready to report. Neither was the committee on credentials. The secretary then read the report of the committee recommending John M. Thurston of Nebraska for permanent chairman. He was elected without opposition and was escorted to the platform amid applause. As soon as he had assumed the gavel he commenced his speech.

Permanent Chairman Thurston's Speech.

He declared that the doom of the democratic party was reached, and that the republican party would be returned to power because it stands for the highest interests of the American people. He said that republican administrations meant "the supremacy of the constitution of the United States, the maintenance of law and order, the protection of every American citizen in his right to live, labor and vote; a vigorous foreign policy, the enforcement of the Monroe doctrine, the restoration of the country's merchant marine, safety under our flag in every port and on every sea, a revenue adequate for all governmental expenditures and the gradual extinction of the national debt, a currency as sound as the government and as untarnished as its honor, whose dollars, whether of paper, silver or gold, shall have equal purchasing and debt-paying power with the best dollars of the civilized world; a protective policy that protects, coupled with a reciprocity that reciprocates, securing American markets for American products, and opening American factories to the free coinage of American muscle; a pension policy just and generous to our living heroes, to the widows and orphans of dead comrades; the governmental supervision and control of transportation lines and rates; the protection of the people from all unlawful combinations and unjust exactions of aggregated capital and corporate power; an American welcome to every God-fearing, liberty-loving, constitution-respecting, law-abiding, labor-seeking, decent man; the abolition of sectionalism, a deathless loyalty to all that is truly American and a patriotism as eternal as the stars." He was loudly applauded as he took his seat. The convention then took a recess until 2 o'clock.

The Afternoon Session.

It was 2:40 o'clock when Chairman Thurston rapped for order. The Illinois delegation presented to the chairman a gavel made from a log of a house in which Abraham Lincoln once lived. Judge Denny of the republican club of Lexington, Ky., presented a gavel made of ash wood cut on the old homestead of Henry Clay. This gavel was presented to Temporary Chairman Fairbanks. The presentation and the speeches of acceptance killed time for fifteen minutes. Then the credentials committee handed in its report. The majority report favored the seating of the Higgins delegation in Delaware, and in the contest of the Texas delegates-at-large they favored the seating of the delegation headed by Grant. In the other contests they reported in favor of sustaining the action of the national committee and making the temporary roll permanent. The minority report was against accepting the roll of the national committee and recommending the seating of the Addicks delegation from Delaware and the Cuney delegates from Texas. Chairman Fort of the committee moved the previous question on the report. Under the rules twenty minutes for debate were allowed each side. Senator Quay requested a division on the question of votes on the states separately which was granted by the chairman. The senator was loudly applauded. On the motion to order the previous question Maine demanded a roll call, and the motion was seconded by Iowa. Mr. Hepburn made the point of order that delegates whose seats are contested had no right to vote. He was overruled.

The Vote in Detail.

On the roll call the vote of Alabama was challenged and changed to 19 ayes and 3 noes. Colorado voted solid and Connecticut followed suit. Maine cast 12 noes; Massachusetts, 2 ayes and 28 noes; New Hampshire, 8 noes; Pennsylvania, 5 ayes and 59 noes; Rhode Island, 8 noes. Florida voted 7 ayes, 1 no. Georgia, 20 ayes, 6 noes. Illinois, 30 ayes, 18 noes. Idaho voted 6 noes. Indiana, 23 ayes, 3 noes. Iowa voted solid, 26 noes. Kentucky, 23 ayes; 3 noes. Missouri, 20 ayes, 14 noes. New Jersey, 20 ayes. When ex-Senator Platt got up to cast the vote of New York he was greeted with cheers and hoots. New York voted 18 ayes, 52 noes. Ohio cast 46 affirmative votes. The total vote to order the previous question on the majority report of the committee on credentials resulted: Ayes, 545½; noes, 359½.

Adjournment Taken.

Gen. Bingham of Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee on rules, then presented his report, which recommended the rules of former conventions. They were read in full, and the report was adopted. Then, amid great applause, at 4 o'clock, it was announced that the committee on resolutions would not be ready to report until evening, and the convention adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning.

AT M'KINLEY'S HOME.

Big Gathering of Friends Receive, with the Major, News from St. Louis.

Canton, O., June 18.—An animated and enthusiastic gathering, many ladies included, are assembled at Major McKinley's residence listening to the reading of the dispatches received every few minutes from St. Louis. Mr. McKinley himself is outwardly calm and gracious as usual, but the natural strain upon him, incident to the situation, manifests itself in his eyes, the only expression he has given of the nervous tension to which he is strung. The question of the most interest has been as to the time the nomination would be made, and opinions pro and con were freely given by all present. But all that the most interested would say was that St. Louis deserved to have the convention at least three days. The popular sentiment of the people of the town was for a daylight nomination. The major's venerable mother came over from her own home to be with her son. As soon as he saw her at the gate, some yards from the front porch, Major McKinley left his company with the words: "There's my mother," and with his hat uplifted he gave her his arm and escorted her into the house. He introduced her to his visitors individually and the experience was plainly most pleasing to the old lady. Although 87 years old Mrs. McKinley bears herself with vigor, takes a deep interest in all that concerns her son, and her pride and enjoyment in his success are delightful to see. The last evening train from the west brought several persons who had been attending the convention and their reports of the situation, especially of incidents not covered in the newspaper reports, greatly interested Major McKinley. Among them was Gen. Russell H. Hastings, who lives in the Bermudas. He went into the army as second lieutenant of McKinley's regiment and was mustered out brevet brigadier-general. After the war he was United States marshal for the northern district of Ohio, succeeding Col. Parsons. Later, for the benefit of his health, he located in Bermuda. The greeting between these comrades at arms was most cordial. Ex-congressman John B. Wise of New York and Murat Halstead, the veteran newspaper man, were also of the party.

Increase of Capital Stock.

Albany, June 18.—The Title Guarantee & Trust company of New York has filed with the secretary of state a certificate of increase of its capital stock from $2,000,000 to $2,500,000. The capital stock of the corporation actually paid in is $2,000,000, and the whole amount of the company's debts and liabilities is $724,399.

One Thousand Japanese Killed.

Yokohama, June 18.—Shocks of earthquake accompanied by a tidal wave have ravaged the northern part of Japan. The entire town of Kamaishi has been destroyed and 1,000 persons were killed. During twenty-four hours there were 150 distinct shocks of earthquake.

Merit

Made and Merit Maintains the confidence of the people in Hood's Sarsaparilla. If a medicine cures you when you are sick; if it cures your neighbors and your friends when they are ailing; if it makes wonderful cures of many diseases everywhere, then beyond any question that medicine possesses merit. That is just the truth about Hood's Sarsaparilla. Prepared by a combination, proportion and process unknown to other medicines, it has curative powers peculiar to itself. We know it possesses great merit because it has

Cures, not once or twice or a hundred times, but in thousands and thousands of cases. We know it cures, absolutely, permanently cures, when all others fail to do any good whatever.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is known to possess merit or the power to cure disease; it is known to be the best building-up medicine on earth; it is known to be honestly advertised, and for these reasons the people buy and take Hood's Sarsaparilla almost to the exclusion of other preparations. Delicate Dress Goods.

Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable, NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redyeing. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? Laundry drivers will receive your work.

Chronic

is a disease hard to cure, as is the morphine habit. Every organ of the body is affected. A continual demand for a stimulant is called for. Food ceases to gratify, in fact, often cannot be retained on the stomach, or when it is the vitiated blood ceases to absorb nourishment from it. Give such sufferers that greatest of food stimulants, blood-enrichers, flesh-creators, a highly concentrated extract of the vital principles of lean beef, it is retained by the weakest stomach and nourishes quickly, so that with renewed tissue and returned strength morbid cravings vanish. Dr. J. B. Mattison of the Brooklyn "Home for Habitues" writes of Bovinine. "It is the best thing on earth of its kind. It is sustaining, nourishing, helpful in every way to patients of my special class."

Bovinine

In Chancery of New Jersey.

To Anna L. R. Mines, Catherine L. Gordon, Josephine R. Morris, Lewis Morris and Robert K. Catlin, absent defendants.

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein Ella T. Slape and Lillian T. Slape, executrices of the last will and testament of William H. Slape, deceased, are complainants, and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of said complainants, on or before the first day of August next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by Charles E. Catlin in his life time, and Gertrude W. Catlin, his wife, to said Ella T. Slape and Lillian T. Slape, executrices of the last will and testament of William H. Slape, deceased, dated May first, eighteen hundred and ninety-five, on lands in the city of Plainfield; and you Anna L. R. Mines, Catherine L. Gordon, Josephine R. Morris, and Robert K. Catlin are made defendants because you are heirs at law of the said Charles E. Catlin, deceased; and you Lewis Morris are made defendant because you are the husband of Josephine R. Morris, and claim a right of curtesy initiate in the said lands and premises by reason of your marriage with the said Josephine R. Morris.

A PATHETIC PARTING

Desertion of Teller, Cannon and Dubois from the Republicans.

SILVER DEFEAT TOO MUCH FOR THEM

Senator Teller's Leave-Taking in Some Respects Dramatic—Carter of Montana Declines To Join the Seceders.

St. Louis, June 18.—The most striking incidents during the past twenty-four hours were not in the convention, although the proceedings yesterday were a trifle more animated than on the opening day, but in the rooms of the committee on resolutions, where Senator Teller declared that he could no longer remain in the republican ranks after it had been committed to the single gold standard. The high personal esteem the members of the committee entertained for Mr. Teller and the heartfelt regret he so plainly showed in being compelled to sever life-long ties gave to the scene unusual interest. To that extent it was dramatic, but it was more pathetic than any thing else, because it was evident Mr. Teller took this course as a matter of conscience and principle and without any other reason. This was fully understood and it was for this reason his associates exhibited equal marks of friendship and regret. Notwithstanding that this was a family quarrel in which two factions were arrayed against each other, it was characterized by a genuine interchange of courtesies which robbed it of all the bitterness which usually accompanies a party schism. Senator Frank Cannon of Utah, still in the thirties, a republican from boyhood and deeply attached to the principles of the party, exhibited almost equal feeling at terminating his political affiliation.

Only Four Bolters.

Notwithstanding the radical position assumed by the silver men it is noticeable that only four, Senators Teller, Dubois and Cannon, and Mr. Cleveland of Montana, announced that they would leave the party. Two other members of the committee, Representative Hartman of Montana and Dr. Mott of North Carolina, stated that they were still republicans, and would stick to the party. When the convention adjourned till to-day, instead of taking a recess until evening, as it was expected to do, in order to hear the report of the committee on resolutions, which, it was stated, would be ready by that hour, rumors were circulated in the convention hall that this course had been taken because several states had threatened to bolt because of the financial plank. Investigation failed to disclose any foundation for these rumors. The vote by which the convention, at the bidding of the credentials committee, refused to reopen any contested cases settled by the national committee clearly showed that the Ohio leaders had the convention well in hand, even in matters where many of the delegates felt a strong personal interest.

Carter Refuses To Bolt.

St. Louis, June 18.—Senator Carter of Montana is no longer one of the five insurgent senators. His associates, Senators Teller, Dubois and Cannon, made plain their positions before the resolutions committee, and what course Senators Carter and Mantle would pursue has been a matter of general interest. The former has notified the silver men that he could not go with them, and that if they bolted and left the convention and the republican party they must do so without him. Mr. Mantle has not yet notified his colleagues to the same effect, but will probably do so to-day.

THEIR FATE IN DOUBT.

Probably 250 Persons on Board the Drummond Castle Drowned.

Brest, France, June 18.—The British steamer Drummond Castle, Capt. N. W. Pierce, from Cape Town for London, came in collision at midnight with an unknown steamer and sank three minutes later with 143 passengers and 104 of her crew, including officers. Two men were picked up, floating on some wreckage, by fishermen off Ushant, near where the steamer went down. It is still hoped, however, that some of the passengers and crew escaped in the boats. The Drummond Castle belonged to the famous Castle line of steamships running between South Africa and London. She was of about 2,350 tons register and was last heard of at Las Palmas, Canary islands, on June 12, last Friday. The fate of the steamer with which the Drummond Castle was in collision is not known, and hopes are expressed that she may be afloat and that some of the passengers and crew of the Castle liner are on board of her.

Six Bodies Recovered.

London, July 18.—The United Press correspondent at Brest telegraphed this morning that no positive knowledge had been obtained up to that time regarding the fate of the missing passengers and crew of the sunken steamer, except that, as before reported, one survivor was at Ushant and two others were at de Molen and that six bodies had been recovered. The correspondent also stated that a search is being made by steamers in the vicinity of the scene of the disaster in the hope of rescuing other survivors. Incoming vessels which have arrived at Plymouth report that upon entering the channel on the night of the 16th inst. they encountered rainy weather and a rough sea, with some wind blowing.

Ran Onto a Rock.

London, June 18.—The Castle Steamship company has received no further news regarding the sinking of the Drummond Castle, outside of a report which said the steamer struck a rock and went down within five minutes, and that there was no collision with another vessel.

THE CUBAN WAR.

Several Engagements Reported — Statement in Defense of Gen. Lee.

Havana, June 18.—Bands of insurgents under the leaders Diaz and Bermudez on the 14th inst. attacked a party of volunteers near Yaguas, in the Pinar del Rio province, wounding a lieutenant and killing a sergeant. A column of government troops came to the assistance of the volunteers and the fight was continued, resulting in the loss by the Spaniard of one lieutenant and six privates of the regulars and one officer and three privates of the volunteers. A band of 700 rebels attacked Pase, in the same province, but were repulsed. A dispatch sent from Havana to Madrid under the date of June 12 having contained the statement that Gen. Lee, the recently appointed United States consul-general, had inspired a feeling of distrust because of the interest he displayed in persons held in custody by the authorities and by having dined with enemies of the Spanish government, it is proper to state that since his arrival here Consul-General Lee, with the exception of having dined with personal friends, has accepted only two invitations. One of these was from Capt.-Gen. Weyler himself. Upon the other occasion the consul-general was the guest at the Hotel Inglaterra of Charles Akers, the correspondent of the London Times. Upon the latter occasion invitations were sent to all of the foreign consuls in Havana.

Within a week Governor Griggs has been honored by the two leading educational institutions of New Jersey. Last week Princeton gave him the degree of LL. D., and yesterday Rutgers conferred the same title.

So William C. Whitney is to stay his trip over the briny deep and use his endeavors in leading the Democracy to a safe and solid stand on the great money question. Even if it is a trifle vulgar, people will be inclined to lenient if we say, bully!

There will be no report by the Watchung avenue commissioners at the next City Council meeting, owing to the absence of W. T. Kirk, who is in St. Louis. The other two commissioners are ready, but Mr. Kirk has been unable to meet with them on account of business interests.

From St. Louis comes the intelligence that the boomers of Garrett A. Hobart argued with some country delegates that the Jerseymen should be preferable to them for Vice-President than Levi P. Morton, because the latter was a Wall street man, and the wickedness of Wall street ought to be rebuked. What inconsistency and what gall! Garry Hobart proclaiming that he is the salvation for the poor man to repose his interests in. Hobart is one of the biggest corporation lawyers in the country and dabbles in Wall street a little himself. He would be laughed at in his own State to make any such argument.

From this time forward William C. Whitney will continue to grow in popular favor as a candidate for President on the Democratic ticket. For several months there has been a quiet sentiment prevalent favoring Mr. Whitney's name for the honor, and that sentiment is bound to develop into a strong demand for him to accept the place. He hasn't said that he wants the nomination nor has he said he don't want it, but his act of yesterday in declaring that he intended to remain in the country and contribute his influence in having the party avoid a fatal financial declaration has served to popularize him at this time more than anything else. All things considered, he would be the strongest man that the party could put in the field.

TRIAL OF EDITOR REINER.

The trial of Dr. Jonn Max Reiner for criminal libel against Mayor John C. Rankin, Jr., was adjourned this morning until the October term.

The witnesses were much perturbed in spirit, and several would like to have important business calling them out of the State. The Evening Herald, of Elizabeth, of which Dr. Reiner is the alleged editor, has continued its attacks on Mr. Rankin, Mayor of Elizabeth, ever since the indictment of the editor. Mayor Rankin has engaged Counselor R. V. Lindabury to conduct his case. Samuel Kalisch, of Newark, will represent Editor Reiner. The trial is before Judge McCormick in the Union County Criminal Court.

It is said that there was a conference of the witnesses who were called by the defendant at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and that they decided to tell the whole story of various alleged violations of law by the Mayor and on which Editor Reiner based his attacks.

SCHOOL MARMS ANGRY.

CLAIM THAT A WESTFIELD PRINCIPAL TOLD UNTRUTHS ABOUT THEM.

Made Derogatory Reports to the Board of Education—Committee Exonerated Them, But Board Refused to Approve.

Two young women who teach in the High School at Westfield have brought suit for libel against Edward Francis, the principal. One of them is a graduate of Vassar College, the other of Oberlin. Both are anxious to have their names kept out of the newspapers.

Mr. Francis has been principal of the Westfield High School for the last eight years. He resigned a few weeks ago, the resignation to take effect June 30th, the end of the present term of school.

The suit is based on charges made by him after he had resigned against the teachers to that School Board. He complained that one of the young women was insubordinate and lacked respect for him as her superior, that on one occasion she tried to gain access to his office in his absence and that she had quizzed pupils to find out what he (the principal) had said in their hearing regarding school work. The second teacher is charged with incompetency.

"She has shown inaccurate scholarship," says Prof. Freeman in the charges. "I have a note from her in which she spells professor with two fs and bilious with two ls. She has introduced and sold to her class books that were objectionable to at least one mother."

A committee of four was appointed to investigate the charges. They exonerated the teachers and recommend their reappointment. It was satifactory explained to them why the first teacher had tried to gain entrance to the principal's room during his absence. They failed to find any evidence to sustain the charge of insubordination. Examination papers proved that teacher No. 2 was competent.

The alleged immoral book complained of was "Castle of Otranto," which, it was shown, was recommended in Shaw's "English Literature," one of the text-books of the school. The letter containing the bad spelling, it was proven, was written by a pupil for the teacher.

The committee's report was referred to the School Board. Much to the surprise of the committee, the board, by a vote of 5 to 4, declined to abide by its recommendation. Nobody in Westfield seems able to explain the action of the board, which is freely criticised.

MAYOR RANKIN LOST HIS EGGS.

The Cruel Tariff Law Prevented Him from Securing a Present from Ireland.

Mary Lowrie is an old and trusty servant in the family of Mayor Rankin, of Elizabeth. Her father is gamekeeper for an Irish Lord, who has an extensive preserve. Mayor Rankin is ambitious to develop a shooting ground at his country seat, and has been stocking it from time to time with choice game. Not long ago Mary, the servant, thought to help her master, and wrote to her father for some Irish pheasant eggs. The gamekeeper shipped a basketful of them to his daughter.

Then came along a notice to Mary from the Custom House at New York that a consignment of eggs from Ireland had been seized under the rules. Mary explained her scheme to the Mayor and asked his advice. Yesterday Mayor Rankin called on Collector Kilbreth, told the story of the eggs, and made an eloquent plea for the release of the eggs. Mr. Kilbreth had to tell him of the law prohibiting the importation of fancy eggs before the Mayor was convinced of the hopelessness of his mission.

He came home to condole with his grateful old servant and start a movement for the repeal of the objectionable clause in the tariff. Meanwhile the eggs will find a resting place in the New York dumping ground for city refuse.

Two neighbors were awakened and, securing a ladder, they learned of the young man's condition. They then secured some hose, which was fastened to a faucet, and began to arouse the sleeper. He quickly came to his senses but had nothing to say.

HER RELIGION A BAR.

Alleged Reason for the Failure of a School Board to Reappoint a Catholic Teacher.

The announcement that the Bound Brook Board of Education has rejected the application of Miss O'Connor for reappointment in the faculty of teachers in the public school has caused a sensation. It had been expected for some time that Principal Hoffman and his full corps of assistants would be retained. But the Board met and by a vote of three to five rejected Miss O'Connor.

Rev. B. T. O'Connell, rector of St. Joseph's church, was visibly excited, but spoke of the incident with sorrow and regret. "Was it because of her religion?" he asked pointedly.

Popular opinion replies in the affirmative. Miss O'Connor is a Roman Catholic. She was born and reared in Bound Brook, and took up teaching as her profession. For several years she taught in nearby towns, and went to Bound Brook at the solicitation of those who knew her experience and abilities. Her faithfulness and care have earned her general praise, and no teacher in Bound Brook is credited with maintaining a higher standard.

PALISADES' CAUSE GAINING.

State Riparian Board to Grant No More Leases to Quarrymen.

Another important step toward the preservation of the Palisades has been taken by the New Jersey Board of Riparian Commissioners. At the last meeting Governor Griggs said he hoped they would pass a resolution to the effect that no more leases of State lands should be given on the Hudson River within the vicinity of the Palisades.

Promptly following up the suggestion of the Governor, the board passed the resolution.

EDSALL'S

Commercial Palace, Babcock Building.

Buy where you can get the best goods for the least money.

The Commercial palace is actually bubbling over with new seasonable goods of almost every variety and kind, and the proprietor can confidently say that never before has he been able to offer such extraordinary inducements as now. Our buyers have been able, from the great quantities of goods we handle, to take advantage of the forced sales of importers and manufacturers who were compelled to turn their surplus stocks into cash, and now our patrons are reaping the benefit of their loss.

—Postmaster Richard Sayre, of Atlantic City, has been suspended by the President pending an examination into the charge that his accounts are seriously short. A deficit of at least $1,300 is alleged. Sayre is a prominent and well-known citizen of that section of the State.

—An opinion by Justice Dixon on the certiorari application of certain temperance people of Burlington against the issue of licences there, as the court practically holds that the Common Council has no power to license saloons, owing to an omission in the ordinance.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by continually failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists, 75c.

It Goes Without Saying

that when when you are suffering from catarrh, you want relief right away. What is the use then of experimenting with blood "cures" upon a disorder resulting from climatic changes? Use a local remedy, for a local disease. Use Ely's Cream Balm which relieves at once the attacks of catarrh and cures chronic cases. 50c at all druggists. This remedy can be safely used by all without injurious results. It contains no mercury or injurious drug of any kind.

WEDDING WASN'T POSTPONED.

Bride's Uncle Attempted Suicide, But the Marriage Occurred on the Date Set.

The attempted suicide of Paul Reusch four weeks ago was supposed to have postponed the wedding of his favorite niece, Miss Barbara Kratzel, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kratzel, and one of the best-known young women in Dunellen society.

But Miss Kratzel had a will of her own, and on the 21st of May, the day set for the wedding, she and her fiance, Henry Weidenhaupt, Jr., of Perth Amboy, went to Westfield and were united in marriage by the Presbyterian minister, Rev. N. W. Cadwell.

Mr. Reusch having so far recovered as to be able to hear the news of the happy event, the announcement of the wedding was made. There is no little surprise among the young people, as it was anticipated that after Mr. Reusch passed the crisis there would be a grand wedding in Dunellen.

THE VICE PRESIDENCY

Struggle for Second Place Waxed Warm This Morning.

GOV. MORTON'S NAME STILL HEARD

He Can Have the Place, It Is Asserted, If He Wants It—Hobart Still on the McKinley Slate and Evans Continues in the Race.

St. Louis, June 18.—The vice-presidential contest is the only matter of any doubt now before the convention and the struggle is waxing warm. The report is again heard at every turn that Gov. Morton has agreed to accept the place and that the McKinley managers will give him their support. Ex-Gov. Foraker is to present Morton's name to the convention. While the name of Henry Clay Evans is still prominently heard in connection with the second place the fight this morning seemed to be between Gov. Morton and Garrett A. Hobart of New Jersey. The latter gentleman could probably develop the greatest strength unless the McKinley managers entered into a deal with the Platt men for the New York governor. The Hobart candidacy is regularly slated as a part of the McKinley programme, but there is no evidence that the McKinley vote can be held together for any vice-presidential candidate. While Senator Thurston has favored Hobart, some of the Nebraska delegates have declared their preference for Morton.

Gov. Bulkely's Boom Rejuvenated.

The boom of Gov. Bulkeley of Connecticut for vice-president, which has not been heard of much for the past two days, has been suddenly rejuvenated, and to-day he is again considered as one of the leaders in the race.

Hanna Is Silent.

It is probable that on the first ballot for vice-president the twenty-four votes of Virginia will be cast solidly for Gen. James A. Walker as a compliment to that distinguished hero of the confederacy. After that has been done it is claimed the vote will be almost unanimous for Mr. Morton if his name should be placed in nomination. With Mr. Morton not a candidate, Mr. Hobart of New Jersey is expected to get about twenty out of the twenty-four votes. The Ohio delegation has held no caucus on the vice-presidential question and none will be held. Each member will be permitted to vote as he pleases. Mr. Hanna has no wish in the matter and positively declines to intimate what he would like to see done. It was given out at the Ohio headquarters this morning that Mr. Hanna considered every pledge kept and every instruction obeyed when the delegates should cast their votes for William McKinley for president of the United States. Efforts have been made to secure some intimation from Mr. Hanna as to what his ideas are with respect to the nomination of a running mate, but to all comers Mr. Hanna is discretely silent. It is admitted at the Ohio headquarters that between eighteen and twenty of the forty-six votes of that state will be cast for Mr. Morton for vice-president. The remainder will probably be divided equally between Mr. Hobart and Mr. Evans.

DEBS TALKS WAR.

Scathingly Denounces Almost Every Feature of Our Government.

Philadelphia, June 18.—Eugene V. Debs, president of the American Railway union, signalized his first appearance in Philadelphia by delivering two scathing diatribes at labor meetings he addressed yesterday that included in their scope of denunciation almost every existing feature of government and society. He unhesitatingly scored the highest legislative and administrative bodies in the land, including the president, congress, the supreme and federal courts, all of which, he declared, were the tools of "the money power," and the oppressors of the people. In conclusion he declared that "If it is necessary for us to go to war to preserve our rights, let us go to war, and the quicker the better. I would rather have the necessary change from the existing order of things accomplished peacefully and constitutionally, but"—and this was added with a studied effort—"I insist upon the change. As for myself, I would rather die with a noose about my neck or be shot to death than die a slave."

Cataract Power and Conduit Company.

Albany, June 18.—The Cataract Power & Conduit company of Buffalo has been incorporated with a capital of $2,000,000 to distribute electricity for light, heat and power in Buffalo; construct conduits, poles or pipes over and under the streets for the conduct of wires and pipes; make machines and equipments for the delivery or practical application of electric or pneumatic or other energy, etc.

Presbyterian Convention in Glasgow.

Glasgow, June 18.—A Presbyterian convention, the sittings of which will be attended by sixty ministers of that denomination from the United States, was opened in this city yesterday, the members attending service in the cathedral. To-day will be taken up by the verification of the delegates' credentials and the lord provost's reception.

Civil Service Appointment.

Albany, June 18.—Anna F. Hutchinson of Buffalo has been appointed, from the civil service list, woman's physician at the Manhattan state hospital at a salary of $1,000 per annum.

$20 Counterfeit Notes.

Washington, June 18.—Another issue of the counterfeit $20 United States note has been discovered in which many changes occur. It is poorly executed.

TO FIGHT FOR GOLD

Senator Gorman, It Is Now Said, Will Go to Chicago.

SILVER WAVE BECOMES ALARMING

William C. Whitney's Decision To Postpone His Trip to Europe To Fight the White Metal Move Draws the Maryland Senator to His Aid.

Baltimore, June 18.—The statement from New York that William C. Whitney has decided to postpone his trip to Europe in order to take part in the deliberations of the democratic national convention caused the statement here that Senator Gorman, too, would participate in the Chicago debate of gold versus silver. The senator, it is said, will accept the vacant position as delegate-at-large created by the declination of Charles C. Homer to serve in that capacity. Senator Gorman has repeatedly asserted that he would not go to Chicago, but the impending fight over the financial plank of the platform to be adopted there, it is claimed, caused him to change his plans. In speaking of the situation to-day one of Mr. Gorman's close friends said: "Senator Gorman did his best in the state convention last week to prevent any foolish action on the currency question. I think it is his duty to go to Chicago and use all his influence there to prevent the national convention from committing party suicide. He has much influence with the southern people, on account of his leadership in the force bill fight." Senator Gorman could not be found in this city this morning, nor at his home in Laurel. It is not known whether or not he has returned from New York, where he was in conference with Mr. Whitney.

NORTH AMERICAN SQUADRON.

The Proposed Manoeuvres This Summer Will Not Be Interfered with.

Washington, June 18.—The navy department has informed Rear Admiral Bunce, commanding the North Atlantic station, that it proposes, if practicable, not to interfere in any manner with the movements and exercises of his squadron during the present season. With this view, Secretary Herbert has been obliged to decline the numerous requests he has received for ships to visit certain places and take part in local celebrations and festivities. The fleet will cruise at sea between Nantucket and the capes of the Chesapeake. It will leave New York about July 15 provided its duties with the naval militia are then completed; will cruise to the southward and enter Hampton roads; then to the northward to Gardiner's bay, Fisher's island, Nantucket island and back to Hampton roads early in October. The manoeuvres will consist of the various squadron movements and formations necessary for fleets and squadrons in time of war; anchoring and getting under way under different circumstances, signalling, target practice, etc. Secretary Herbert is making every effort to collect a large fleet of battleships, monitors and cruisers to take part in these exercises, and it will be the largest fleet ever assembled by the navy department for instructions in fleet tactics.

HIS ACCUSER MAY BE GUILTY.

Edward McCormick Acquitted of the Charge of Murder in New York.

New York, June 18.—Edward McCormick, who was accused of the murder of Mamie Cunningham at 315 East 37th street, May 30, has been exonerated by the grand jury, who dismissed the complaint. Joseph Ferrone, also known as Mareno, who was the chief accuser, was indicted for perjury. A complete alibi was established for McCormick. Joe is now suspected himself of being implicated in the murder, and it is thought that an indictment will follow and that the present indictment on the charge of perjury is to hold him until more evidence can be obtained against him.

Estate of the Late J. W. Mackay, Jr.

New York, June 18.—Surrogate Arnold has granted letters of administration to John W. Mackay of California on the estate of his late son, John W. Mackay, jr., who died in France in October last. The estate is entirely in personal property and it is stated to be worth $665,000.

Raines Liquor Law Receipts.

Albany, June 18.—State Excise Commissioner Lyman reports that the total receipts under the Raines liquor tax law to June 13 are $6,373,728 with six counties to report yet. Commissioner Lyman estimates that the total receipts will certainly foot up $9,000,000.

Gold Coin for Canada.

would make no impression on the number of the germs of consumption that exist in one affected lung. All germs are little enough, but those which cause consumption are very minute. Cod-liver oil won't kill them. We don't know a remedy which will. The germs float in the air and we can't keep from breathing them into our lungs. Then why don't all of us have consumption? Because a healthy throat, sound lungs, and a strong constitution won't allow the germs to gain a foothold.

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod-liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, restores and maintains the strength, increases the weight, heals inflamed membranes and prevents serious lung trouble. This is why it is the food-medicine in coughs, colds, loss of flesh, and general debility.

SCOTT'S EMULSION has been indorsed by the medical profession for twenty years. (Ask your doctor.) This is because it is always palatable—always uniform—always contains the purest Norwegian Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

SPORTS

THURSDAY, June 18. Sun rises 4:28 a. m., sets 7:33 p. m. Lanterns must be lighted between 8:33 p. m. and 3:28 a. m.

Cyclists desiring to join the League of American Wheelmen will be furnished with application blanks and necessary information by addressing the Cycling Department of the Daily Press.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Councilman J. B. Dumont, of East Seventh street, is fast mastering the art of wheel riding.

Jay Eaton finished fourth in the two-mile handicap in the race meet held at Boston yesterday.

Elston Leonard, of Madison avenue, is the first rider in town to have an electric light for his wheel. It has a battery in the lower part weighing only nine ounces.

F. L. C. Martin will act as pacemaker in the century run of the Associated Cycling Clubs of New Jersey Saturday. He will pace from Plainfield to New Brunswick.

Joseph Donoghue, the champion skater, who won his novice race here on Decoration Day, and who has been training at the Crescent Oval since that time, leaves tomorrow for Springfield, Mass., to continue his training. George B. Cobb, Jr., will also go to the same place. Cobb and Donoghue expect to ride at the Fourth of July meet of the Poughkeepsie Bicycle Club.

A meeting of the race committee of the Metropolitan Association of Cycling Clubs was held Monday night and the claims of C. Hadfield, the disqualified winner of the Irvington-Millburn road race of May 30, were considered. The decision of W. R. Pitman, the referee, was sustained, it being the opinion of the committee that they had no power to reverse it. The committee adopted resolutions, stating that they had every confidence in the judgment of Referee Pitman.

The bicycle enthusiasts of Washingtonville turned out Tuesday evening just before dusk to see a match race. Charles Niles and James Walker are both considered good riders, and there has been considerable controversy as to which was the best, so a race was arranged for Tuesday evening. The course was around the triangle, about a mile, starting and finishing in front of Demler's store. The riders were staying well together, and as they began to spurt for the finish, Niles struck a bump and lost his pedal. He started after Walker, however, and finished about a foot behind him. Considerable money changed hands on the result.

The regular monthly meeting of the Crescent Wheelmen was held last evening, and the report of the race committee made. The report was extremely satisfactory especially the financial part which showed a clear profit of over $600. The amount was reported to have been used to entirely clear away the old back debts of the club, and pay something on the three notes that are yet outstanding. The record of the present management of the club is an excellent one, they having raised over $1,200 during the last eight months. If the club continues under the control of such an effective corps of officers for another year, the club will have paid off all their notes, and be entirely free from debt. The outlook for the club is an exceedingly bright one.

City Editor Arthur H. Boyd of the New Brunswick Home News has lost his Keating by the ungraceful act of a thief who rode off on it in broad daylight, while Mr. Boyd was attending to his duties in the Middlesex county courthouse. Mr Boyd mourns his loss in a quarter column editorial, and if all the misfortunes fall on the head of the sneak who took the wheel, his fate will be an unhappy one. The wheel was surmounted by a Chrystie saddle, but as the machine has no distinguishing marks from any other Keating, it is feared that "it is lost and gone forever." However, here is hoping that it may not be thus, and that Mr. Boyd's first love in the bicycle way will return unharmed.

The officers of the New Jersey Division of the L. A. W. are building up the State membership by providing real advantages as inducements. Chief Consul Gentle has devised a convenient little book that will soon be ready for distribution to league members in the State. The book is scarcely larger than a league ticket and contains a list of the official consuls in the State, a complete compendium of the laws passed by the State Legislature affecting wheelmen in any way, list of league hotels with their rates of discount, and considerable additional information calculated to be of use to league members while touring in the State. One valuable hint contained in the booklet is that members should not show their league membership cards until they have been informed of the amount of their bill. It has been frequently the practice of hotel landlords to raise the bill before allowing the discount secured for league members.

AROUND THE BASES.

The New York National League Baseball team will play the Orange Athletic Club at the Orange Oval, Grove street station of D. L. and W. R. R., on Monday, June 22d, at 4:30 o'clock. This will be the first time that the New York's have ever played in this vicinity away from the Polo grounds, and it will afford the lovers of baseball throughout New Jersey an exceptional opportunity of seeing this great team play.

WITH ROD AND GUN.

Daniel Conway caught an eel measuring four feet in length last evening in Hyde's brook.

Charles J. Drake, of Fanwood, has been appointed Deputy Game and Fish Warden of Union county. This appointment is a good one, and violators of the game laws will be diligently looked after. Complaints and information of any violation of the laws if left at the office of Percy C. Ohl, in the Babcock building, will receive prompt attention.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

The Plainfield Athletic Club's nine will go to Dunellen on Saturday afternoon and play ball with the Dunellen team on the latter's new grounds opposite the railroad station.

The challenge of the Montclair High School, to dual athletic games with the High School of this city, has been declined. The boys are so busy with examinations and preparing for Commencement that it was deemed advisable to give up athletics until the close of school.

Next Monday Rev. Father Murphy, of St. Mary's church, will go to Seton Hall College, where he will spend a week.

Practice Makes Perfect.

"Do you know any mitigating circumstances in your case?" said a Texas justice to Sam Johnsing, accused of stealing.

"Lemme off dis time."

"Is it your first offense?"

"Fust offense, sah."

"How did you manage to get the chickens so cleverly without disturbing the dog that was in the yard?"

"Dat comes from practice, boss," said Sam, who felt flattered by the remarks of the court.—Texas Sifter.

NOTES FOR THE ELECTRICIANS.

Electric heating under the most favorable conditions is twice as expensive as that of steam.

The telegraph department of the London post office employs 3,450 messengers.

A farmer and his two sons were instantly killed by lightning near Orange Cal., a few days ago while seated at a table eating supper.

It is now customary to copper-face the bottoms of iron ships by the galvanic process, as a protection against decay.

The city council of New Orleans has just adopted an ordinance requiring the electric railway companies which use Canal street to place uniformed flagmen at the crossings.

Nansen's vessel for the north pole expedition is provided with an apparatus for securing electric power by means of wind-mills. The doctor's supplies will last several years yet.

Telegraphic communication between England and the continent has so enormously increased of late that the British postal department must lay new submarine cables to France and Germany. Those now existing are quite inadequate for the traffic.

Killing aimless dogs and cats is the very latest use to which the scientific chief of police of Hartford, Conn., is putting electricity. In the rear of the station house he has had a cage rigged up with electrical connections. The cage is just lage enough for a dog to stand in. The fore feet of the animal rest upon one electrode and his hind feet upon another. When he is in position an electric current is switched on.

"Do you know, Mrs. Boardman," said the young man who was two months behind in his board, "by means of the cathode rays I could tell everything that is in that plate of hash?" "Well, it's my opinion," replied Mrs. Boardman, "that people nowadays want too much for nothing."—Yonkers Statesman.

FROM SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES.

About 4,000 women are graduates of the principal colleges for women. Probably another 4,000 graduate from co-educational institutions.

Prof. Henry Jones, upon whom the University of Glasgow has conferred the degree of LL.D., began life as a shoemaker in a small village in Denbigshire, England.

Germany and Austria have about 150 cookery schools. A four years' course is necessary before a diploma is granted. Most of the hotel chefs have diplomas from these schools.

Miss Helen Gould, daughter of the late Jay Gould, has completed the full course of the law school at the New York university, coming out with a high average, and will receive a diploma of LL. B.

David Masson, professor of English literature in the University of Edinburgh, and widely known as the biographer of Milton, is about to retire, says the Electric Magazine, and will be given the title of Emeritus professor.

SOME BITS OF BIBLE HISTORY.

Who said: "Be sure your sin will find you out?"—Moses. Num. 32:23.

Who was it that watched a woman's mouth to see if she was praying?—Eli. 1 Sam 1:12.

What criminal in his confession said: "I saw, I coveted, I took?" — Achan. Josh 7:21.

Who is the only woman mentioned in the Old Testament whose age is given?—Sarah, 127 years old. Gen. 23:1.

Who built a monument in the middle of a river, and why?—Joshua, in Jordan, as a memorial of God's deliverance Josh. 4:9.

EARNINGS OF THE RAILROADS.

The Southern railway reports gross earnings for last February of $1,794,918, and net $430,464, against $1,261,908 gross in February, 1895, and net $383,346.

The Chicago & Northwestern Railroad company reports gross earnings for last February of $2,384,172, an increase of $491,554 as compared with the same month last year.

The Philadelphia & Reading's gross earnings for last February are given as $1,350,306, against $1,444,842 in 1895, and net $526,363 in February, 1896, against $568,547 in 1895.

ENGLISH PEOPLE AND EVENTS.

Liverpool policemen have been ordered to learn shorthand.

Liverpool, having discovered that it once gave birth to a poet in Mrs. Felicia Hemans, proposes to erect a monument to commemorate the fact.

An Englishman named Jefferson has started on a 6,000-mile bicycle ride to Irkutsk in Siberia. His machine and baggage weigh 60 pounds.

Birmingham's chief magistrate is to be a lord mayor, too, that title having been recently conferred on the mayors of Liverpool, Manchester and Belfast.

REPUBLICANS PLEASED.

EXPRESS THEIR APPROVAL OF THE ST. LOUIS NOMINEES.

Press Reporters See Prominent Members of the Party in This City and Get From Them Their Concise Opinions.

The announcement of the nominations of McKinley and Hobart was not received with any great degree of enthusiasm by Plainfield Republicans, though it may be said that the members of the party in this city are not of the sort that indulge demonstrative tactics to express their approval of a man. The nominations, however, were greeted with words of approval by most Republicans as will be seen by the following concise interviews with The Press reporters this morning:

Borough Mayor B. A. Hegeman, Jr.: "Great! The ticket is a sure winner. It will get lots of Democratic votes."

Councilman J. B. Dumont: "Good man. I have known him some time and he is a thorough business man. McKinley will create an enthusiasm among the workingmen."

Ex-Councilman E. N. Erickson: "Hobart was John Kean's only competitor and this practically gives Kean the preference for the United States Senate. Personally, I would like to have seen Hobart go to the Senate. I am satisfied, however, with the ticket."

Chief T. O. Doane: "Good ticket and the candidates are all right."

Second Assistant Chief Murray, Jr.: "Hobart is one of the cleanest politicians I know and is a good man."

Freeholder Andrew Lutkins: "Just what I wanted. It suits me to death."

George O. Stevens: "If it suits the people, it suits me."

City Treasurer Alex. Titsworth: "A very good ticket, but McKinley should have come out on the gold standard before."

Councilman Tolles: "Ticket suits me in every respect."

Councilman William A. Westphal: "With such candidates as McKinley and Hobart and the platform as was adopted by the convention, I fail to see why the Republicans cannot land the ticket next fall."

W. R. Codington: "The nomination is just what I had been hoping for and don't think it could have been better, either for the Republican party or for the people at large. No doubt but that it will be a winning ticket."

Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh: "They are ideal nominations, dictated by the people, and for that reason will rouse the enthusiastic support of patriotic voters of both parties Their election is a foregone conclusion."

Justice Wm. A. Newcorn: "Though not the best qualified of all the candidates in the field, it is the strongest ticket that could have been nominated, expressing as it does the sentiment of the people of the present day."

FUN AT THE SHORE.

G. A. R. Excursionists Who Enjoyed Themselves at Asbury Park.

The threatening weather which characterized yesterday morning no doubt detained many people from going on the G. A. R. excursion to Asbury Park.

Those who did go, however, say they had a most enjoyable time and that the weather was delightful until late in the afternoon, when a light fog arose. The ride home by moonlight was a delightful one and was constantly enlivened by the strains of Prof. Guttman's band. The excursion arrived in this city about 10:35, making the run from Asbury Park in one hour and thirty minutes, which is considered excellent time.

Principal Boss, of the North Plainfield public school, is kept at home by illness.

Frank Hand, Jr., of the borough, collided with a door a few days ago and sustained a painful injury to his optic.

Joseph Sattels smiles a broad smile today. His household was graced by a bright youngster this morning. It's a boy, weight 10½ pounds, and Joe says he is a Republican.

If it required an annual outlay of $100.00 to insure a family against any serious consequences from an attack of bowel complaint during the year there are many who would feel it their duty to pay it; that they could not afford to risk their lives, and those of their family for such an amount. Any one can get this insurance for 25 cents that being the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. One or two doses of this remedy will cure any ordinary case. It never fails. Can you afford to take the risk for so small an amount? For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

BUSINESS AND PLEASURE.

The Two Combined Make a Pleasant Time at a German Church.

The annual business meeting of the Ladies' Aid Association of the German Reformed church was held last night. After the business had been dispensed with, the principal feature of which was the reading of the annual report by the secretary, Mrs. M. Menzenbach, and which showed the association to be in a prosperous condition, an entertainment was held which was pronounced by all present to have been a most enjoyable one. The programme in detail was as follows: Congratulating speech, A. Wolff; recitation in German and English, Mrs. Frank; vocal solo, Miss Leona Bertha Hoffman, accompanied by Miss Lillie Zeisz; recitation in German, Otto Kellar; recitation in English, Miss Lottie Chamberlain; recitation in German, E. Wolff; dialogue in English, "One Word Only," Miss Clara Southard and Miss Eva Doeringer; recitation in German, Mrs. Fred Conde; recitation in English, Master Frank Beck; recitation in German, Mrs. Frank; dialogue in German, "The Poor Bird," A. Wolff, H. Grellert, Otto Kellar and H. Eimer.

A JUNE FESTIVAL.

Mt. Zion A. M. E. Church Work to Furnish Their New Edifice.

An apron sale and strawberry and ice cream festival was held last evening in the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church, West Fourth street, the proceeds of which will be devoted to purchasing new carpet for the church.

The interior of the building was prettily decorated for the occasion with flowers and hot-house plants and during the evening a large number attended, making the affair a success, fully up to the expectations of its promoters.

Those in charge were Mrs. Rebecca Voorhees, Mrs. Anna Potter, Mrs. Sarah Marsh, Mrs. Henrietta Grobes, Mrs. Maggie Cannon, Mrs. Abbie Peters, Mrs. Eliza Jackson, Mrs. Martha Hooper, Mrs Sadie Randolph, Mrs. Annie Binn, Miss Bertha Groves and Albert Henry.

GAVE A GOSPEL TALK.

Capt. March Pays a Visit to Her Former Salvation Army Charge.

An audience containing 400 persons gathered at Salvation Army Hall last evening and gave Captain March a royal welcome. Captain Mills, of New York, accompanied the former. The music by the "Central Victory Boys" was inspiring and assisted materially in the service. Captain March, who is now located with the Bowery Corps, gave one of her interesting Gospel talks and everyone present felt the force of her words. Captain Mills followed with a helpful talk. At the close of the meeting all present received a dish of ice cream. After a hearty handshake in bidding the captains good-bye the meeting was brought to an end. Captain March renewed many old acquaintances after the meeting.

On Saturday night a welcome meeting will be held in honor of Adjutant Taylor, who will return at that time.

RECEPTION AT THE LINKS.

A Society Event in Which Plainfield Society Will Take Part.

Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club will hold an afternoon reception at the golf course on Sherman avenue. The following well-known ladies will receive: Miss Walz, Miss Evans, assisted by Mrs. F. A. Barnaby, Mrs E. L. Walz, Miss Waring, Mrs. J. Doull Miller, Miss Schuyler, Miss Dumont, Miss Ginna and Miss Reinhart.

Plainfield society will no doubt be largely represented as the club has established a reputation for giving its friends an enjoyable entertainment on occasions such as this.

The "links" will be open to play and lovers of the popular game of golf will find opportunity to display their skill in the presence of many fair admirers.

Big Break in Prices.

Edsall says there has been recently a "big break" in the prices of shirt waists and other summer goods among the manufacturers and importers, and that his buyers have taken advantage of the great closing-out offers, and can now supply his patrons at just about one-half of former prices. Some unusually good bargains are offered for tomorrow's trade in all of his departments. He sells shirt waists less than the manufacturers can make them up for.

Edward H. Hanigan, Jr., three days old, son of E. H. and Lulu T. Hanigan, of Somerset street, died yesterday. Interment was in Hillside cemetery. The sorrowing parents have the heartfelt sympathy of all in their bereavement.

SPED AROUND THE TOWN

STREET RAILWAY PEOPLE GIVE A TROLLEY RIDE OVER ALL LINES.

People All Along the Routes Decorated Their Houses in Honor of the Event and Cheered as They Passed Along.

The complete trolley system of Plainfield is now running regularly and another of Plainfield's long-planned improvements is a reality. Although the entire route has been open several days it was not until this morning that the cars were run regularly on their time table.

For some time the officials of the railway company have been planning to give a "trolley party" to a number of the leading citizens of Plainfield and surrounding towns and show them the road. Yesterday afternoon was the time chosen and four open cars, well filled with invited guests, made the entire trip of the railway company's lines, about seven miles in all. If goes without saying that everyone was pleased, both with the new cars and the extensions of the company's lines, recently completed.

The guests were invited to assemble at the corner of North and Watchung avenues at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and many minutes before that time a crowd began to gather. There was a sprinkling of guests and a large number of spectators who had come to see the "fun." One by one the cars arrived, all decked with American flags which were fastened to the top, cars and trolley pole. By 3 o'clock two of the cars were crowded and another arrived with a load of the employes of the Chapot glove factory, which is located near the Dunellen line and is greatly benefited by the opening of it. It did not take long for the fourth car to receive its quota of guests and then the procession started out.

Car No. 7 led, manned by Motorman Anderson and Conductor Fahy, while Superintendent John Adelmann and Thomas Nevins, Jr., son of millionaire Nevins who is president of the railway company, occupied the front platform with the motorman. Then came car No. 8, in charge of J. B. Martin and James McCormick, car No. 9, with Mark Hipp and Michael McCarthy as motorman and conductor, and car No. 10, piloted by Motorman Morris Higgins, and Conductor Cockly.

The cars first went down West Front street to Dunellen and their reception along the line was decidedly an ovation. Many of the residents, particularly those living beyond Grant avenue, were evidently very glad to welcome the trolley as flags and bunting were used to decorate a number of the houses while the residents themselves waved vigorously at the open cars and their passengers as they swept by with banners streaming.

Quite a delegation of Dunellenites awaited the approach of the "trolley party" at the Dunellen terminus and just as the cars came to a standstill there, the flag on the Lincoln schoolhouse at Dunellen was hoisted to the top of the pole in honor of the event for, even if the present rulers of Dunellen's destinies don't favor the trolley, the people of that borough do. Some of the employes who remained at the Chapot glove factory saluted the procession most vigorously. Several climbed on the roof and waved large cloths attached to brooms in a manner that almost had the appearance of shipwrecked mariners signaling for help. Back to town again the party sped and again were they received with sundry waves of handkerchief and flag

Superintendent Adelmann next directed the course of his "trolley party" up West Fourth street and everybody along the line, except the ghost in Evergreen cemetery, turned out to celebrate the regular opening of the complete system.

At the terminus at Monroe avenue and West Seventh street, there was, as at the previous one, a general exodus from the car to allow the seats to be reversed. Then everybody scrambled in again, commenting as they did so on the excellence of the new system. Again the procession attracted attention in the business portion of the city and then the leading car turned into Somerset street. A halt was made at the turn-out in front of the North Plainfield public school to allow one car to pass. Car No. 7, was in the lead and Superintendent Adlemann leaned over the front railing to talk with some of the visitors.

"Three cheers for Superintendent Adlemann!" shouted one of the guests and the three were given with a right good will while those in the other cars, who had not heard the first remark, wondered what had taken possession of the inmates of the first car.

"Three cheers for the street railway company!" yelled some one else and the response was a hearty one.

READY FOR THE COLLEGE

PUPILS FINISH THEIR STUDIES IN PROF. LEAL'S SCHOOL.

Addressed by Rev. W. R. Richards on the High Place Which They Will Fill in the World's History—Honors Bestowed

The usual commencement exercises are dull and uninteresting except to those specially interested, but excellent music and a short and very interesting address made the commencement exercises of Leal's School, held in Y. M. C. A. Hall last evening, a very pleasant exception to the rule.

The hall was comfortably filled with an enthusiastic audience. Most of the pupils sat together in a space in the front of the hall, partitioned off for them with maroon and old-gold bunting. Maroon and old-gold were the colors of the class of '96, and bunting of those colors was used in decorating the room.

The exercises opened with a pleasing selection overture to "Jesando," by the Young Men's Symphony Orchestra, led by P. Ludwig Conde. Then followed a well-rendered selection, "The Chapel," by the Lotos Glee Club, of which William E. MacClymont is leader. In response to the loud applause, "Who Built the Ark?" was delightfully given as an encore.

Rev. William R. Richards, D. D., was introduced as the speaker of the evening. After a few introductory remarks, in which he referred to the history of progress as his topic, he said in part:

"That history is the history of a favored class of people, one class rises and pulls the other classes after it. If you go back to the beginning of modern history you will find a sort of class from which a settled order is emerging.

"That is the fendal system. Many of its products are lost, but one in particular remains; that is the gentleman. He was raised above the rest. The trades and professions were not open to him, but he had one thing that he loves better than life, his honor. That has pretty well passed by, the traces of the fendal system are rapidly disappearing. We do not have that kind of gentleman, and I believe we do not need him.

"The question remains, who shall be the favored class? If all are the same and there is no favored class, then we shall be falling back into chaos. There should be some who will shape the careers of the rest. This is said to be the age of the townsman. We could, by no means, afford to lose him at the present time, but the world is shaped too much to his commercial ideas, and our ideas are becoming monitized. If this is the aristocracy, the privileged class of the present age, we need another. That class is not capable of guiding the world. This class may be supplied by our own educated men and women. The scholar should take the place of the gentleman, of the olden time. The universities and colleges have taken the place of the castles; the former are now flourishing, while the latter are in ruins. It is the college men that are to step into the place of the gentlemen. Of course, there are other ways of gaining an education, some men and women lift themselves up to the educated class, but most of them take the way that these young men are going to do.

"The scholar is the only one left to fight against the arrogance of wealth. Every high minded man should assist in keeping the world from valueing everything by a monetary standard. It would be a fatal mistake if the higher education of colleges should separate us from the rest of the world. We should draw up those who have not had the same advantages as ourselves. The question comes, what are these young men going to do with these privileges. I cannot answer better than in the words of the Great Master who, says: 'He, who would be great, let him be your servant.'"

The Lotus Glee Club then rendered "Hark, the Trumphet Calleth" in a delightful manner and gave "The Maid of the Valley" as an encore. The orchestra gave "Pizzuato de Concert" by Boustel and then as an encore, played than inspiring march "The Handicap."

John Leal, the principal of the school spoke a few words, referring to persistency as a needful quality in a young man for success. He then announced the names of the following as having completed their work at the school this year: J. Frank Boone, B. O. Bowers, Jr., F. P. Condit, H. G. Johnson, Gilbert Lovell, Wm. M. McCutchen, Raymond A. McGee, Leo Schwed, Wm. E. Tracy, Joseph T. Wadsworth and A. Willis West.

Of these Lovell, McCutchen, McGee, Tracy and Wadsworth go to college, and all to Yale. The others have taken courses more or less extended to fit them for business careers.

One of the Most Impressive Ever Held in This Section.

The funeral services of the late Harrison J. Smith, of Washingtonville, were held yesterday afternoon from the Mary E. Wilson Memorial chapel, of that place. It was the largest and most impressive funeral ever held in that section, there being fully four hundred people present. Rev. E. M. Rodman, of Grace P. E. church, and a member of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A., officiated, and used the full Episcopal service. Mr. Rodman spoke about twenty minutes. He said that he was not personally acquainted with the departed, but felt constrained to speak concerning him. He spoke of the many qualities of the departed, and eulogized him in the highest terms for his true worth.

A quartette consisting of Miss Glen, soprano; Miss Messersmith, alto; B. T. Barnes, basso, and Robert Clark, tenor, sang. "Jesus is Tenderly Calling," "Abide With Me," and "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

While the funeral cortege was entering the chapel, Mr. Rogers, the organist of Metropolitian Lodge, F. and A. M., of New York, of which the decedent was a member, rendered on the organ "Miserere," from Il Troetore, and while the friends were viewing the remains an improvised funeral march was rendered.

Among the large assemblage of people present was the staff of the departed from the six stations of the Edison Works in New York of which he had charge.

Dr. Adams, William Sebring, Stephen Beeching, John Lewis, Dr Pocock and William Van Sickle, of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. & A. M., acted as escort and pall-bearers from the chapel to Scottish Rite Hall, New York, where the Masonic funeral service was conducted by the lodge of which Mr. Smith was a member.

The floral display represented beauty and grandeur. It would be impossible to give a description of the different pieces. Among them was a large floral chair and several large wreaths and pillows combined. The display at the chapel, which no doubt has never been surpassed, represented $350, and an $800 display was contributed by friends at the funeral service in New York.

The interment was at Elmira, N. Y.

A Dime Sociable.

A dime social was held last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Rugg, on East Second street, under the auspices of Rebekah Degree Lodge, I. O. O. F. A pleasant informal programme was rendered during the evening, which included a reading by G. Thorn, recitations by Lottie Chamberlain and Miss Lillian Thorn and piano solos by Miss Florence Rugg and Miss Cora Sheppard. Games also helped to make the event one of pleasure. Ice cream and cake was served to all, after which the guests left for their homes. There were about fifty present.

Fell Off a Lumber Pile.

May Buckley, of Watchung avenue, was quite severely injured yesterday afternoon while playing with several other children on a pile of lumber in a lot on East Fourth street, near Sycamore. She climbed to the top of the lumber pile, slipped and fell to the ground, a distance of about six feet. She was badly bruised about the hips, but no serious results are anticipated.

Increase of School Children.

The census of school children shows a large increase this year. The total in each ward is as follows:

		Increase.
First ward	655	119
Second ward	802	181
Third ward	648	93
Fourth ward	1198	73
Total increase		466

Bicyclists Attention.

The new ordinance regarding lights and bell on bicycles and riding on sidewalks in the borough of North Plainfield goes into effect today, June 19th. Lamps must be lighted between one hour after sunset and one hour before sunrise. W. A Wilson,

2 Chief Marshal.

BRIDES OF A JUNE DAY.

TWO WEDDINGS SOLEMNIZED IN THIS CITY YESTERDAY.

One Was a Pretty Home Affair and Was Followed by a Reception—The Other Couple Wedded at St. Mary's Parsonage.

A quiet wedding was celebrated yesterday afternoon at 5:30 at the rectory of St. Mary's church when Miss Lucy Rafferty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Rafferty, of East Fourth street, and William Feiring, of the borough, were united in marriage by Rev. Father Smyth. Miss Margaret Rafferty, sister of the bride, was the bridemaid and John P. Powers acted as best man. The bride's gown was white silk with pearl trimmings and lace. She carried a beautiful white ivory prayer book. The bridemaid was gowned in blue crepe de chene trimmed with applique lace. She carried a large bouquet of pink and white roses.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party were taken to the home of the bride's parents on East Fourth street where a reception was held. Preceding the reception a pleasing supper was served, after which an evening of sociability followed.

Miss Rafferty, Miss Anna Feiring, of this city, and Miss Conley, of Bayonne, favored the guests with several well rendered instrumental solos. Later in the evening dancing was enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Feiring were the recipients of a large collection of valuable presents.

The guests present at the reception were: Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Rafferty, Miss Margaret Rafferty, Joseph Rafferty, Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Feiring, Miss Anna Feiring, George Feiring, Louis Feiring, Edward Feiring, Gustave Feiring, Jr, Miss Kittie Mulhearn, George Muller, of this city, and the Misses Conley, of Bayonne.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Feiring left for their newly-furnished rooms in the Voehl building on East Front street where they will reside.

Yesterday afternoon a quiet but beautiful home wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Burr, of Sandford avenue, when their daughter, Miss Helen Ackley Burr, was married to W. Miller Bauchelle, of Elizabeth. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. MacKubbin, of the Westminster Presbyterian church, of Elizabeth. The bride was attended by her two young sisters, the Misses Florence and Frank Burr. J. Fletcher Bauchell, brother of the groom, was best man. A reception followed, at which guests were present from Philadelphia, Elizabeth, Trenton, New York and this city. The house was beautifully decorated by Mrs. L. J. Denton, and a collation was served by Max Wiertz in his unexceptional way. After their return from their wedding journey the young people will begin housekeeping in Elizabeth.

CULVER'S CASE GONE TO THE JURY.

The Case Was Vigorously Fought by the Defense.

The evidence in the case of the State against Nathan Culver, on trial in the Middlesex county court, was finished this noon. After a hot argument by both counsel the case was given to the jury, who were still out at the latest report from New Brunswick. The case has been conducted with a good deal of force on both sides. Culver was represented by ex-Prosecutor Adrain. Yesterday, Prosecutor Voorhees appealed to the court to refrain Adrian from making personal attacks on him while conducting the case. The argument of defense was that the girls to whom it was alleged Culver made improper proposals, were much to blame, as their conduct was far from proper.

Volunteers Active.

The American Volunteers held a most successful meeting last evening at Reform Hall. The soldiers were assisted by Captain Tippett, from New York headquarters, and Captain Brady, from Bound Brook. The latter brought his guitar and sang several solos. Captain Tippett was in charge and gave a soul-stirring Gospel talk, which resulted in several asking for prayers and the conversion of two. The meeting was a deeply spiritual one and of great interest.

Mr. James Perdue, an old soldier residing at Monroe, Mich., was severely afflicted with rheumatism but received prompt relief from pain by using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says: "At times my back would ache so badly that I could hardly raise up. If I had not gotten relief I would not be here to write these few lines. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done me a great deal of good and I feel very thankful for it." For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

WM. M'KINLEY; GARRETT HOBART

The Ticket Nominated by the Republican National Convention at St. Louis.

ONLY ONE BALLOT FOR EACH

Both Nominations Made Unanimous Amid Great Enthusiasm—The Names of Allison, Morton and Quay Presented for the First Place—New York's Governor Not Named for Vice-President—Several Silver Delegates Retire When the Gold Plank Wins.

St. Louis, June 19.—The national republican convention last evening nominated William McKinley of Ohio for president and Garrett A. Hobart of New Jersey for vice-president. Both were chosen on the first ballot and the nominations then made unanimous. The convention throughout the three days was harmonious, despite the fear of serious disturbances over the money plank. That subject, however, was quietly settled and the gold standard was adopted largely through efforts of Senator Lodge and ex-Senator Platt. True, several silver men left the convention, but their leave-taking was friendly and even pathetic. While the convention was in session three days, the work could have been completed on the second day, but the managers believed that the business men of St. Louis were entitled to a three-day convention and so they gave it to them. Mr. Platt carried out his plan and Mr. Morton's name was presented and voted for for president, but he was not nominated for second place. The incompleteness of arrangements on the opening day caused some confusion and inconvenience to the temporary chairman, Mr. Fairbanks, but on the second day when Permanent Chairman Thurston took the gavel everything was running smoothly. Even the seating of the Higgins men over the Addicks delegates from Delaware by the convention did not cause any disorder, although the contest before the committee on credentials was very animated.

Nominations in Order.

It was just one minute after 8 o'clock yesterday afternoon, amidst the greatest excitement, when Chairman Thurston announced that the order of business was a roll call of states for the nomination of a candidate for president. When Iowa was reached John N. Baldwin of Council Bluffs took the platform and nominated Senator W. B. Allison. Henry Cabot Lodge then presented the name of Hon. Thomas B. Reed of Maine. Mr. Reed's nomination was loudly applauded. The nomination was seconded by Charles E. Littlefield of Rockland, Me. When the state of New York was called Mr. Sutherland of Rochester rose and said that the name of New York's favorite son would be presented by another "favorite son of that state and all the states, Chauncey M. Depew." A round of cheers greeted Mr. Depew as he made his way to the platform and proceeded to put in nomination Gov. Levi P. Morton. Mr. Depew's speech repeatedly elicited bursts of laughter and applause, particularly one humorous interpolated passage in which he said: "I wonder what our erring bolting brothers will say when they arrive at the celestial city which is governed by republican principles and are met there by St. Peter with a golden key."

Went Wild over McKinley's Name.

As Ohio was called and Gov. Foraker came to the front there was such cheering as had not marked the proceedings of the convention at any previous time. His speech was repeatedly interrupted with applause and when he placed in nomination Hon. William McKinley of Ohio the convention went wild and pandemonium reigned for five minutes with unrestrained yelling, cheering, horn blowing, whistling, catcalling and all other devices common to such occasions. A number of red, white and blue plumes were uncovered and waved, while almost every delegate seemed to be wildly gesticulating with either a fan or a flag in the air. The band tried in vain to compete with the ear-splitting clamor, but at last the strains of "Marching Through Georgia" caught the ears of the crowd and they joined in the chorus and gradually quieted down. Then a portrait of McKinley was hoisted on a line with the United States flag on the gallery facing the platform, and the cheering began over again, to which the band responded by playing "Rally 'Round the Flag," the convention joining in the chorus. Senator Thurston of Nebraska was recognized and seconded the nomination of McKinley.

Balloting Begins.

At the close of Mr. Thurston's speech cries of "vote!" were raised, interspersed with cries for "Quay!" In the midst of this Governor Hastings took the stand and placed in nomination the name of Matthew Stanley Quay. At the close of his brief remarks the chairman announced that the call of states being completed the order called for balloting for a nominee for president of the United States. Amid a hush, the call of states was begun, and Alabama led off with one for Morton and nineteen for McKinley; Arkansas and California cast their votes solid for McKinley; Connecticut cast five votes for Reed and seven for McKinley; Delaware a solid vote for McKinley; Florida, eight for McKinley; Georgia, two Reed, two Quay and two McKinley; Illinois' vote announced forty-six McKinley and two Reed; Indiana cast its thirty votes for McKinley; Iowa, amid a slight demonstration of applause, cast its twenty votes for Allison; Kansas, twenty for McKinley; Kentucky, twenty-six for McKinley. Louisana cast a curious vote—a half vote for Reed, a half vote for Quay, a half vote blank and eleven for McKinley. So the voting went on without incident until Massachusetts gave one vote for McKinley and the rest for Reed.

New York's Vote Challenged.

The McKinley column steadily increased. There was a decided sensation when the vote of New York was challenged by Warner Miller. It had been announced as fifty-four for Morton and seventeen for McKinley. The delegation voted solidly for Morton till the half votes were reached when the halves divided equally between McKinley and Morton. Then came quite a number of breaks for McKinley and three absentees were noted in the twenty-ninth district, John F. Parkhurst and both the alternates, Charles H. Woodward and Charles T. Andrews. The roll resulted in showing the vote to be exactly as announced: Morton, fifty-four; McKinley, seventeen. When Ohio was reach the requisite number of votes were given to nominate McKinley, and the convention, recognizing the fact without announcement, broke into cheers.

The Vote Announced.

All of the States having been called the chairman stated before the announcement of the result that application had been made to him for recognition by the republicans of the defeated candidates to make a certain motion. He believed it would be the fairest way to recognize them in the order in which the nominations had been made. He then announced that William McKinley had received 661½ votes and the scene of an hour before was repeated. There was not a single one of the fifteen or sixteen thousand people in the great hall who did not do his or her best to swell the sounds of jubilee. At last the chairman got a chance to continue his announcement of the vote. Thomas B. Reed, he said, had received 84½ votes; Senator Quay, 61½; Levi P. Morton, 58; Senator Allison, 35½ and Don Cameron, 1.

Nomination Made Unanimous.

Senator Lodge, rising in his delegation and standing upon his chair, said: "Mr. Chairman—The friends of Mr. Reed have followed him with the same loyalty which he has always shown himself to country and principle and party. That loyalty they now transfer to the soldier, the patriot, the American whom you nominated here to-day, and on behalf of my own state, and I believe all the other New England states that supported Mr. Reed, to pledge a great majority in our own states and our assistance in other states, and all the help we can render for William McKinley. (Cheers.) I move you, sir, that the nomination of William McKinley may be made unanimous." (Cheers.) Mr. Hastings of Pennsylvania, who had nominated Senator Quay, seconded the motion to make Mr. McKinley's nomination unanimous. Thomas C. Platt on behalf of the state of New York also seconded the motion to make William McKinley's nomination unanimous, and declared that New York would give its usual (if not double its usual) majority for the republican candidate. Mr. Henderson of Iowa also seconded the nomination. Yielding to vociferous calls for a speech Mr. Depew mounted his chair in the back part of the hall and delivered a short and humorous address, which caused much merriment. The chair put the question: "Shall the nomination be made unanimous?" and by a rising vote it was so ordered, and the chair announced that William McKinley of Ohio was the candidate of the republican party for president of the United States.

The Vice-Presidency.

When the applause which greeted the announcement of the nomination of William McKinley had subsided, Senator Lodge moved to proceed to the election of a candidate for vice-president, and that the nominating speeches be limited to five minutes. When Connecticut was reached Mr. Fessenden took the stand and placed in nomination Hon. Morgan G. Bulkeley. Judge John Franklin Fort of New Jersey placed in nomination Hon. Garrett A. Hobart. Mr. Humphrey of Illinois briefly seconded the nomination of Mr. Hobart in the name of Illinois. The roll call of the states was resumed and New York had no nomination. When the state of Rhode Island was called Mr. Allen came to the stand and nominated Charles Warren Lippitt. When the state of Tennessee was called Mr. Randolph, a delegate from that state, nominated Henry Clay Evans of Tennessee. The nomination of Mr. Evans was seconded by Mr. Smith of Kentucky, the colored delegate. I. C. Walker of Virginia, colored, put in nomination delegate James Walker. The balloting for vice-president then began. The call had only proceeded as far as South Dakota when it become evident that Hobart had been nominated on the first ballot and the delegates and the crowd in the galleries began to leave the building. Resolutions were offered and agreed to, appointing the chairman, Mr. Thurston, and the temporary chairman, Mr. Fairbanks, chairmen respectively of the two committees to notify the nominees for president and vice-president. Resolutions of thanks were also offered to the chairman, the temporary chairman and the officers of the convention and suitable acknowledgements were made by Messrs. Thurston and Fairbanks. The result of the ballot for vice-president was announced by the chair as follows: Hobart, 533½; Evans, 277½; Bulkeley, 39; Lippitt, 8; Walker, 24; Reed, 3; Thurston, 2; Frederick Grant, 2; Depew, 3; Morton, 1; absent, 23. The chair then formally declared Garrett A. Hobart of New Jersey the nominee of the convention for vice-president of the United States, and the convention adjourned sine die at 7:51 p. m.

CANTON CELEBRATES

McKinley's Town Goes Wild over His Nomination.

BELLS, CANNON AND STEAM WHISTLES

The ex-Governor Receives the News Modestly, But Is Somewhat Flushed and Nervous—Many Neighbors and Visitors Present.

Canton, O., June 19.—The striking of 918 on the fire-alarm bells of Canton, that being the number of delegates in the convention and therefore selected for the purpose, together with the booming of the cannon on the bluff back of the watch factory at 5:19 o'clock yesterday afternoon followed the posted bulletins that the national republican convention at St. Louis had nominated their fellow-townsman Wm. McKinley as its candidate for president and then the pent-up enthusiasm which has been repressed for two or three days with more or less force broke out and far into the night pandemonium reigned. Every device that skill and ingenuity could produce to make a noise was brought into play, not only in Canton, but in all the cities and towns for miles around, in all of which McKinley is a favorite and the principle of protection for which he now stands is the abiding faith of the population.

Wild with Rejoicing.

Steam whistles, single and in chimes, brass mouthed calliopes emmitting frightful shrieks, bells, cannon and ear-peircing horns, all united to create a commotion that might have startled the man in the moon and the dwellers on Mars. Almost as if by magic, too, the streets blossomed forth in the national colors, of designs numerous and various, bunting, flags, streamers and what not, and everywhere the smooth serious face of the new candidate looked forth on the multitude. Canton will be a thing of a beauty for at least a fortnight if not a joy forever. The McKinley house was the center of attraction all day, and many residents and visitors from the surrounding towns called during the day to pay their respects, and generally they stayed to hear the bulletins being read. There was the small army of newspaper men drawn hitherto in anticipation of the event who were made cordially welcome by McKinley and by members of his family and who occupied the front porches and walk leading from the gate to the door in the northern front room where Major McKinley sat and received those who were introduced. In this room was located the long distance telephone which kept the house in communication with the convention hall.

Platform Satisfactory.

Opposite this room, across the hall which divides the house, sat Mrs. McKinley and a number of ladies gathered with her to receive the news of the day. The scene in the house was interesting and impressive throughout the afternoon. Telephone bulletins were read by Samuel Saxon, nephew of the major, and commented on by him. The platform was received over the wires at the house and read with much interest. Maj. McKinley said he was well satisfied with the money plank in the document. The Cuban plank also received his approval, and was in close harmony with his views and wishes in regard to that subject.

Receives Congratulations Modestly.

During the progress of the voting, Major McKinley flushed somewhat and he watched it closely, comparing it with the figures that he had made up from the roll. The vote of New Hampshire apparently was a surprise, and he said: "That must be a mistake." When the vote assuring his nomination was reached a smile of satisfaction spread over his face and he appeared nervous. He received the congratulations of his friends modestly as did also his wife and mother. The latter was almost overcome and soon retired to rest and relieve her nerves.

SOME MAY HAVE ESCAPED.

Thought That Several Passengers Left the Wrecked Drummond Castle in Boats.

Brest, June 19.—It was rumored here this morning, despite the statements that the ill-fated steamer Drummond Castle filled and sank so quickly that there was no time to swing out and lower away the boats, that one and probably more boats filled with passengers succeeded in getting away from the foundering steamer. The truth of the report could not be determined, but strenuous efforts are being made to trace the boats if so be they got away. All the fishermen of Ile de Molene and Ushant are out in their boats searching for survivors of the disaster and for the bodies of victims. They have already found ten corpses. Among the drowned picked up by the fishermen was a young mother, in whose arms was locked, in an embrace that even death had not loosened, the body of her little babe.

A New Matabele Uprising.

Cape Town, June 19.—A new outbreak of natives of Matabeleland has occurred between Umtali and Salisbury. At a meeting in that vicinity on June 9 of a number of chiefs under Makoni all except four agreed to revolt, and several white persons were murdered.

Woolen Mills To Shut Down.

Lowell, Mass., June 19.—The Middlesex mills in Lowell, employing 600 persons, will shut down on July 1 for an indefinite period, because of the unsatisfactory condition of the woolen goods market.

Guilty of Pearl Bryan's Murder.

Cincinnati, June 19.—The verdict of the jury in the case of Alonzo Walling, charged with Pearl Bryan's murder, is guilty with the death penalty.

Delicate Dress Goods.

Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable. NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redyeing. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? Laundry drivers will receive your work.

GOLD MEN'S VICTORY

Silverite Republicans Could Muster Only 110 1-2 Votes.

MAIN POINTS IN THE PLATFORM

White Metal Substitute Laid on the Table and Senator Teller and His Followers Leave the Convention.

St. Louis, June 19.—The platform adopted by the republican national convention begins with an arraignment of the present democratic administration, especially denouncing the recent issues of government bonds. President Harrison's administration is heartily endorsed for its "wisdom, patriotism and success." The tariff plank denounces the democratic tariff as "sectional, injurious to the public credit and destructive to business enterprise. We demand such an equitable tariff on foreign imports which come into competition with American products as will not only furnish adequate revenue for the necessary expenses of the government, but will protect American labor from degradation to the wage level of other lands. We are not pledged to any particular schedules. The question of rates is a practical question, to be governed by the conditions of the time and of production; the ruling and uncompromising principle is the protection and development of American labor and industry. The country demands a right settlement and then it wants rest." Renewal of reciprocity arrangements is demanded "on such terms as will equalize our trade with other nations, remove the restrictions which now obstruct the sale of Amarican products in the ports of other countries and secure enlarged markets for the products of our farms, forests and factories."

The Currency.

On the question of currency the platform declares: "The republican party is unreservedly for sound money. It caused the enactment of the law providing for the resumption of specie payments in 1879; since then every dollar has been as good as gold. We are unalterably opposed to every measure calculated to debase our currency or impair the credit of our country. We are therefore opposed to the free coinage of silver except by international agreement with the leading commercial nations of the world, which we pledge ourselves to promote, and until such agreement can be obtained the existing gold standard must be preserved. All our silver and paper currency must be maintained at parity with gold, and we favor all measures designed to maintain inviolably the obligations of the United States and all our money, whether coin or paper, at the present standard, the standard of the most enlightened nations of the earth."

Minor Declarations.

The platform declares in favor of restoring the discriminating duties for the upbuilding of the American merchant marine, so that American ships may regain the carrying of our foreign commerce, and for the employment of American shipwrights and sailors. As to the veterans of the rebellion the platform favors generous pensions and their employment whenever possible in preference to others. In relation to the massacres in Armenia the platform demands that American citizens shall receive absolute protection for life and property. In regard to foreign relations, the platform favors the control of the Hawaiian islands, the construction and control of the Nicaraguan canal by the United States government, and the purchase of a naval station in the West Indies. The Monroe doctrine, it is declared, must be upheld in its full intent, and "we hopefully look forward to the eventual withdrawal of the European powers from this hemisphere and to the ultimate union of all English-speaking parts of the continent by the free consent of its inhabitants." As to Cuba, the platform says: "We believe that the government of the United States should actively use its influence and and good offices to restore peace and give independence to the island." The continued enlargement of the navy and a complete system of harbor and coast defenses are demanded. The extension of the immigration laws so as to exclude from this country foreigners who are unable to read and write is favored, as is also the extension of the civil service laws wherever practicable. The freedom of the ballot is demanded, and the practice of lynching is denounced as "uncivilized and barbarous." The platform favors a national board of arbitration for labor disputes, the immediate return to the free-homestead policy of the republican party, the admission of the remaining territories as states as soon as possible, representation for Alaska in the United States congress, the restriction of the evils of the liquor traffic, the admission of women to wider spheres of usefulness and welcomes "their co-operarion in rescuing the country from democratic and populistic mismanagement and misrule."

Minority Report.

The reading of the platform concluded, the chairman moved its adoption: Instantly Senator Teller was upon his feet, not waiting for the cheers of the delegates to subside. He was recognized by the presiding officer and presented the following minority report from the committee on resolutions, proposing a substitute for the financial plank which the majority report presented. It was accompanied by a brief report agreed upon by the silver men, as follows: "We, the undersigned members of the committee on resolutions, being unable to agree to that portion of the majority report which treats of the subjects of coinage and finance, respectfully submit the following paragraph as a substitute therefor:

"The republican party favors the use of both gold and silver as equal standard money, and pledges its power to secure the free, unrestricted, and independent coinage of gold and silver at our mints at the ratio of sixteen parts of silver to one of gold." As the clerk read the report, the radical silver men, not a large number, rose in a body and applauded. Mr. Teller then arose and addressed the convention at some length, announcing that if the gold plank was adopted he would withdraw. The speaker's closing remarks, and indeed his entire speech, were delivered with impressiveness, and had a visible effect even upon some of his hearers who did not agree with him. When he concluded Mr. Foraker moved to lay the minority report on the table and his motion was seconded by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts. The motion was carried, 818½ to 105½. A separate vote on the financial plank was demanded by Senator Dubois of Idaho and this resulted in its adoption by the same vote, 818½ to 105½.

Withdrawal of the Silverites.

In the midst of a great uproar Senator Teller rose to a question of personal privilege. He said that with his associates he wanted to file a protest against the action of the convention. Senator Cannon went upon the stage and read the last words of the silver men who had determined to bolt. The delegates soon became impatient at the length of the paper, but the chairman begged them to remain in order, and the reading continued, interrupted occasionally by a voice from the floor or gallery, uttering some derisive remark. Some one shouted "good-by" long before the point of withdrawal had been reached, but Mr. Cannon went on unmindful of it or of the occasional hisses from the crowd. When he had finished reading he made a brief speech in which he said that the minority would not yield on this question, and announced that Utah would withdraw from the convention. The bolters, between thirty and forty delegates, then rose and walked out. Only a portion of the Utah delegation went, and the places of these were at once taken by their alternates. There was great excitement on the floor, not, however, especially connected with the departure of the silver men, and the audience sang the "Red, White and Blue." Before they went out Senators Teller and Cannon shook hands with Chairman Thurston, who bade them goodbye. The following delegates walked out: Entire delegation Colorado, Idaho; Utah, 3; Pettigrew from South Dakota; Harman, Montana; Cleveland and Strother from Nevada.

Senator Mantle Cheered.

Senator Lee Mantle of Montana did not follow the silver men from the hall, but rose to his feet and asked to be allowed to speak. He was recognized by the chairman, who remarked there seemed to be enough delegates left to transact business. Mr. Mantle said that he remained because of his belief in the party and his firm allegiance to it. He was repeatedly cheered. When he had finished he was followed in the same strain by Senator Brown of Utah and Mr. Burley of washington. A motion to adjourn was made, but was overruled by the chair, and three alternates from Utah, the number of bolting delegates from that state, were authorized to represent the state in the convention. The call of states for the announcement of national committeemen was then taken.

TO FIGHT THE RUBBER TRUST.

Former President Banigan Purchases a Factory To Begin the Warfare.

New York, June 19.—Joseph Banigan, former president of the United States Rubber company, otherwise the Rubber trust, has purchased the Saxon cot ton mill at Providence of Chas. Fletcher for $125,000. He will convert the mill into a factory for the manufacture of rubber goods in opposition to the trust, and will place his two sons in charge. Mr. Banigan still holds a small amount of Rubber trust stock. Most of his holding was disposed of several months ago.

MASSACRED IN THE SAHARA.

Confirmation of the Reported Killing of the Marquis de Mores and His Party.

Tunis, June 19.—The report that a party headed by the Marquis de Mores, consisting of thirty-five men, bound for the Soudan to enlist Arab chiefs against the British, has been massacred to a man, is confirmed. The members of the Mores expedition were killed near Gadames, in the Sahara.

California Democratic Convention.

Sacramento, Cal., June 19.—The democratic state convention nominated William T. Jeter for lieutenant-governor and instructed the delegates to the national convention at Chicago to vote as a unit on the silver question. A resolution was adopted instructing the delegates to Chicago to place in nomination for the presidency Stephen M. White of California, should a favorable opportunity arise. The convention then adjourned sine die.

Killed by an Electric Car.

Bridgeport, Conn., June 19.—Mrs. Jane Hall, 60 years old, became confused in front of an electric car on State street yesterday afternoon and was run down. She died in ten minutes. Walter Palmatier, motorman, and John Campbell, conductor, have been arrested, but spectators say they were not to blame. The victim lived with her daughter in Stratford.

Yale Freshmen Defeated.

New Haven, June 19.—University of Wisconsin crew defeated the Yale freshmen on Lake Saltonstall yesterday afternoon by four boat lengths. Time, 12:06.

AT HOBART'S HOME

Paterson Residents Celebrate His Nomination for Vice-President.

PARADES AFOOT AND ON TROLLEY CARS

Hundreds of Women on Bicycles Join in the Jollification—Much of the 4th of July Stock of Fireworks Consumed.

Paterson, N. J., June 19.—Mr. Hobart's nomination at St. Louis was celebrated here, his home, last night with parades on foot and on trolley cars. Hundreds of women on bicycles joined in the jollification and cheered when passing the Hobart mansion on Carroll street. At 10:30 o'clock ten trolley cars, crowded with enthusiastic citizens, were over two of the lines of which the candidate for vice-president is president. Much of the stock of fireworks for the 4th of July celebration was burned in honor of Mr. Hobart's nomination. The jollification continued long into the night.

Garrett A. Hobart was born at Long Branch, N, J. He graduated from Rutger college before he was twenty years old, and studied law with Socrates Tuttle at Paterson, being admitted to the bar in 1866. In 1872 he was elected a member of the New Jersey house, and was re-elected and chosen speaker. He declined an election in 1873, and in 1877 he was elected senator from Passaic county. He was re-elected to this position and served in the office from, that time until the expiration of the year 1882, being president pro tem of the body for the last two years of which he was a member. In 1884 he was nominated for U. S. senator, but was defeated, In 1884 he became a member of the national republican committee. In business life he was active and energetic.

MORTON NOT SURPRISED.

The Governor, However, Seemed Disappointed at the Result.

Ellerslie, Rhinebeck-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., June 19.—When the news of Mr. McKinley's victory in the national republican convention at St. Louis was flashed over the private wire in the residence of Gov. Levi P. Morton at 6:20 o'clock last evening, the governor, who had been close to the instrument all day watching the convention proceedings, leaned back in his chair and said: "McKinley is nominated and the next president has been named." There was something of an expression of disappointment in the governor's face. He sat for a moment in silence, then turning to a representative of the United Press said: "The result is no surprise to me. Since the action of the national committee in regard to the contesting delegates it has been a foregone conclusion that McKinley would be named for president." Shortly before 8 o'clock Mr. Morton sent a telegram of congratulation to Mr. McKinley and later he sent a dispatch to Chauncey M. Depew acknowledging his services at St. Louis in endeavoring to bring about his (Mr. Morton's) nomination for the presidency.

CREATED A SENSATION.

Serious Charges Brought Against an Old Bridgeport Grocery Firm.

Bridgeport, Conn., June 19.—Counsel for Irwin, McBride, Catherwood & company, tea importers of Philadelphia, created a sensation in the superior court yesterday afternoon when their petition for the removal of Noah Rogers as receiver of the insolvent concern of Rogers & Morford, wholesale grocers of this city, was being heard. The plaintiffs' counsel declared that Mr. Rogers was not the right man to hold the position of receiver, because just prior to the firm's assignment, its members had mortgaged their property in this city for $32,000, had purchased a large stock of goods and stored them in various parts of the city to escape the claims of creditors. The book accounts were also arranged so as to deceive examiners and there was no money belonging to the firm on deposit in any of the local banks. The charges were received with amazement, as the firm has been one of the oldest and most reputable in the city.

Alpha Wheel Club Winners.

Norwalk, Conn., June 19.—The winner of the annual ten mile road race of the Alpha Wheel club run yesterday was W. A. Gunther of Norwalk, who finished in 27:57 4-5, winning the first prize, the Burritt cup, and first time prize. Second time prize was taken by H. H. Leopold of Bridgeport, while T. C. Neilson of Port Chester won second prize, and R. F. Cotter of Norwalk the third. T. Hatfield of Newark won third prize.

Britannia a Winner.

Queenstown, June 19.—In a strong southwest breeze and fine weather yesterday afternoon Britannia, Ailsa and Satanita started, under the auspices of the Royal Cork Yacht club, in a race, over a fifty-mile course, for prizes of $400 and $100. Britannia led at the start and won the race. Ailsa was second.

Full accounts of the proceedings of the Republican convention, yesterday, appear in the telegraphic news columns of today's Press.

The Daily Press made no idle boast that it had its "own special correspondent" at St. Louis, but nevertheless Press readers received the latest and most authentic news each day of the convention. And last night a few minutes after the nomination of McKinley had been made, an extra was issued containing the intelligence. The large number of copies sold showed the appreciation of the enterprise.

The nomination of Hobart for Vice-President means that here in New Jersey the Republicans will make a greater effort to carry the State for their party than they have even in the last two years, when they were successful. The political deals and consequences which will depend on Hobart's success infect the party ranks all over the State. Something at stake in which they are directly interested in a political way will drive the leaders into making more of an aggressive fight to bring the State into the Republican column than would be the case if both candidates were removed from the close affiliation with the interests which a New Jersey man's candidacy makes possible. Ordinarily the Republicans in this State have been content to perform their duty to the party in the perfunctory way of casting a ballot for the standard-bearers, but this year they will not only vote but will bring into play every influence to get others to contribute their support to McKinley and Hobart. For years the New Jersey Republicans have been a nonentity in party councils, but now that they have at last gained some prestige it is a natural conclusion that they are going to apply every method of political warfare to maintain that potency, and since the two successive victories in State elections they have become intrenched sufficiently to possess a good fighting ground. New Jersey has never cast a Republican electoral vote, except in '72, and the result of the late spring elections showed that the Democrats are waking from the lethargy which has characterized them for the two years, during which their opponents gained the ascendancy. Therefore, there is no reason for Democrats to be other than optimistic of the result in this State. The party has been reorganized, new and fighting material has been infused into its ranks, and they will go into the campaign, if a rational and popular candidate like William C. Whitney is nominated, to make a successful fight.

THEIR LOVE FOUND A WAY.

Foiled in the First Attempt a Schoolgirl Again Elopes and Is Married.

Miss Carrie Seager, the sixteen-year-old daughter of Isaac Seager, and John Davis, a plumber, of Westfield, eloped last Sunday and were quietly married in New York.

Mr. Seager is a man of some property, a carpenter, and a steward in the Methodist church. His daughter, Carrie, a pretty girl, met Davis last winter, and an engagement followed. The family exerted itself to break it off, but to no purpose. The climax was reached when one Sunday afternoon, some time ago, the couple started to leave town together, and were overtaken at the station by Mrs. Seager, who took her daughter back home again.

Since then the girl had been under constant surveillance, but last Sunday she and Davis met, and went to New York and were married. The affair has occasioned much comment, as the bride is but a mere school girl. Her parents have resigned themselves to the inevitable, and will forgive them.

—James McKinley, who gave his residence as Phillipsburg, went to the hospital yesterday to have a cinder removed from his eye. The man came to Plainfield with the expectation of securing work at the Pond Tool Works, but he was unable to get a job.

At the Somerset street terminus, there was another reversal of seats and passengers and, for a few moments, a little excitement, for in starting off car No. 7 crashed into car No. 8 from behind, smashing the former's fender and generally shaking up the passengers of both cars. No damage of a serious nature was done. The accident was accounted for by the brake, which would not work, according to the motorman's statement.

The procession of trolley cars then returned to the starting point where Chandler M. Riker, of the company, joined the party and took in the Netherwood branch after which the cars came back to North and Watchung avenues, where the party dispersed in all directions.

Congratulations were heaped upon Superintendent Adelmann for the excellent showing the cars made and the fine condition of the road as well as his kindness in arranging the "trolley party."

Among those who spent their afternoon on the cars, beside those already mentioned, were: Dr. Stephenson, Counsellor W. K. McClure, Directors Wm. Brown and J. T. ALL DEMOCRATS ENTHUSIASTIC.

Jersey Party Leaders Express Their Approval of Whitney's Name.

Senator James Smith, Jr., of New Jersey, has arranged to visit Mr. Whitney. It was said by one of his closest friends that he would visit Mr. Whitney in New York today and consult with several other Democratic leaders on the situation.

Allan L. McDermott, former Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, who is at Belmar, got out of his bed at midnight last night to express his delight at Mr. Whitney's decision to stay and fight.

"I consider Mr. Whitney one of our foremost statesmen," said he; "and his opinion on economic questions will have great weight at Chicago in enabling us to obtain a sound platform, without which we will have not the slightest show of success.

"The Democratic party cannot win on a platform for unlimited coinage, at the rate of 16 to 1, or any other rate that proposes to legislate value in the metal. When the convention comes to deal with this question Mr. Whitney will be of great assistance in teaching the delegates that suicide is a sin."

E. F. C. Young, of Jersey City, a member of the Democratic State Committee of New Jersey, is pleased with ex-Secretary Whitney's action in deferring his trip to Europe to lead the fight in Chicago for honest money.

"Mr. Whitney's presence in Chicago," said Mr. Young, "will encourage the advocates of the gold standard, and I shouldn't be surprised if he succeeds in his efforts to have the convention declare in favor of honest money."

—A fight took place this morning at Third and Liberty streets between two boys and was witnessed by a number of men, none of whom made any attempt to stop the disgraceful affair.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by continually failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

MYSTERY OF DARK LANE.

Mission Board Secures the Simmens House and Will Educate Chinese Boys.

On the old road just south of Ash Brook, near Westfield, there is a long, narrow section of highway which has long been known as Dark lane. For nearly a mile the road is shaded on either side by thick woods. Then there is a clearing, and beyond that the forks where the Metuchen district begins. In the clearing is the Simmens house, built several years ago and well appointed and commodious.

A month ago a company of strangers came on and visited the house with a carpenter, who was engaged to put it in order. Except that the strangers appeared to be clergymen nothing was known of them, and in all of the surrounding country there was much speculation as to the tenants. Last week the repairs were completed and today the villagers and country people had their curiosity intensified when two of the gentlemen returned, accompanied by a Chinaman and twenty-eight Chinese lads.

It transpired that the Chinaman is the Rev. Hui Kiu, a Chinese Presbyterian clergyman, who was educated in Cincinnati. His companions, who have taken the house are from the Presbyterian Board of Missions, and the children are the sons of wealthy mandarins who have sent them here to be educated. The parents bear the expense, and as they are all Christians, it is their purpose that the boys be educated to become missionaries. During the summer they will reside here together, under the tuition of Rev. Kiu, who will be assisted by teachers furnished by the Board. In October they will be entered in schools and academies and fitted for college.

The Simmens place was selected at the instance of Miss Carolyn McFarlan, of New York, who, when visiting her sister, Mrs. Charles Ayres, of Metuchen, had seen the house, and considered its secluded location as rendering it appropriate for the purpose for which it is taken. The project is an experiment on the part of the Board and has enlisted much attention.

An Evening's Amusement.

By Elizabeth Timlow.

It was an impromptu entertainment, which, we all know, is usually the most successful. It was just after the holidays, and we had a house party of a dozen congenial spirits at the Hendersons' country home. It had been a gay week, and for this particular evening a long sleighride had been planned; driving rain, all day, prevented this, however, and imposed the necessity of some indoor amusement.

"Why not have an old-fashioned evening of candy pulling and games?" suggested some brilliant spirit—a proposition we all hailed with acclamations of delight!

The coachman, dispatched to two or three of the nearest houses, brought an accession of half a dozen to our numbers, so a lively party soon crowded the laundry kitchen, where we had free scope for our candy. This part of our entertainment needs no description, for we all know that one candy pull is much like another.

But nine o'clock found us all adjourned to the wide old hall, with its great fireplace and huge back log. This was always our favorite rallying ground. Being nearly all old friends, we were ripe for a regular romp.

"We must have the broomstick trick first," cried Alice Henderson, "and Harold is dying to distinguish himself in it."

Harold shrugged his shoulders good naturedly.

"Alice, you are bent on manslaughter with that broomstick business," he protested; but the others, who had never seen it, were clamorous, and Harold consented.

A broom was brought, one having an unusually strong handle. It was laid across two chairs which faced each other. On the back of one was balanced a pair of gloves. This arranged, Harold, armed with a stout cane, very carefully seated himself cross-legged on the broomstick, facing the gloves. If you think this is an easy matter, try it! You will find judicious management very necessary.

Once balanced on the narrow resting place of the broomstick, the object is to knock the gloves off the chair back with the cane, while retaining one's balance. It is exceedingly simple to describe; but, ye gods and little fishes! to accomplish it!—"Hoc opus, hic labor est."

Harold soon succeeded, for he had grown expert by oft-repeated trials, and the others, therefore, were easily persuaded to attempt it. But the involuntary gyrations that the victim makes to retain his equilibrium, and the wild tumbles sidewise that result from the first efforts, are convulsively funny. We always expect to laugh ourselves sore over this, and we always do.

Harold made the next suggestion.

"Come, Judith, you and Holt haven't eaten as much candy as the rest of us, so we'll put you to feeding each other with crackers."

Judith knew what this meant; but Holt had never seen the performance, and he professed his eagerness for an extra course. Alice disappeared to make preparations. She returned with a sheet over her arm, and behind her a smiling maid with a big bowl of cracker crumbs, two saucers and two spoons. The sheet was spread on the floor—a necessary precaution—and the two martyrs to the cause were invited to seat themselves, Turk fashion, upon it, facing each other. This done, they were carefully blindfolded, and each was given a saucer of crumbs and a spoon. Then they began to feed each other. The ridiculously earnest expression of each face, coupled with the wide-open mouths, as each endeavored to insert a spoonful of crumbs therein, convulsed the lookers-on, and their gibes and mocking directions complicated matters further. A heaping spoonful struck against Judith's chin, and most of the contents went down the open neck of her dress. Her vaguely directed spoon encountered Mr. Holt's nose, and his brown beard was liberally powdered.

"This is on the order of a Barmecide feast," laughed Mr. Holt, at last, flourishing an empty saucer. "Miss Judith, are you satisfied with what you didn't get? Suppose we appoint some other victims now."

It was some time, however, before the company considered itself sufficiently amused by this exhibition, and most of us were obliged to take a turn.

"Did you ever pick up potatoes with a teaspoon?" asked Miss Emmet, after a lull, while we took breath. "No? Well, if you'll send for ten big potatoes, Alice, we'll try it. We can use these spoons, though after dinner coffees are more fun."

"If this sort of thing continues," laughed Alice, leaving the hall, "we would better transplant the larder here at once."

"Oh! bring two small baskets, also," called Miss Emmet.

When the things appeared, Miss Emmet arranged the potatoes, which were of goodly size, in two lines of five each.

"Now, Ned," she said, "shall we run a race with these? We each take a basket and a coffee spoon, and see which can pick up the potatoes first in our respective lines. The one who does can impose a forfeit on the other."

"That sounds," observed Ned, "'as easy as rolling off a log.' I have your forfeit in mind, Miss Grace."

"Don't be too sure," laughed Grace Emmet.

They took spoons and baskets and stood ready for the word "Go!" But when Ned began he found the operation more complicated than he had imagined. The potatoes wobbled and rolled around unconscionably.

"My stars! Miss Grace," he cried at last. "You don't mean to say that you have them in already?" as he mopped his perspiring brow, surveying his still empty basket and his five potatoes in different parts of the hall. Grace had reduced it to a science. Of course one was not allowed to push the potato against anything to steady it; but she rolled them sideways, and, holding her spoon in readiness, caught them as the impetus carried them upon the bowl of the spoon.

"Ha! ha! young lady! I see your little game," Ned exclaimed, going to work again. But at that moment Grace deposited her last potato in her basket and gayly cried out: "Muggins!"

"And now, by way of forfeit," she went on, judiciously, "I condemn you to allow me, in the sight of all this company, to place your finger on your nose in such a way that you cannot leave this hall without removing it. Do you believe I can do it?"

"Ordinarily, no," returned Ned, in much dejection; "but after the potato episode I am not prepared to be dogmatic. I will only say to the unenlightened mind it seems impossible."

Nobody knew how Grace would accomplish the feat, and we watched her with much curiosity.

"How many of you think I can do it?" she asked, laughing. "Affirmative, ay; contrary minded, no. The noes have it. Well—"

She led Ned to the staircase and seated him on the lowest step. She quickly slipped his arm through the railing, and bringing it round the newel-post, placed his finger on his nose. There was a shout of laughter, as they saw it was obviously impossible for Ned to rise without removing his finger.

"Beaten again," laughed Ned. "But in return for this, young woman, I propose to hypnotize you so you can't stand alone."

"Oh, no," said Grace, shrinking back. "I can't bear that sort of thing."

"Try me," said Alice, good-naturedly, knowing her friend was really very sensitive about hypnotism. "Though I fancy I shall be a difficult subject."

"I think not," returned Ned, with his head on one side. "You'll do nicely. Indeed, I never failed yet."

He seated her and made mystic passes before her eyes.

"I don't feel a thing," she protested, at last, as one and another inquired with much solicitude how she felt.

"You shouldn't talk to the subject," objected Ned. "However—" with a final grand flourish—"it is accomplished! You cannot stand alone—try it!"

"Indeed I can," returned Alice, springing up lightly. "Behold!"

"Yes, 'behold!'" laughed Ned, with a low bow; "but you are not standing alone, for all of us are standing with you."

"Oh, you wretch! nothing but a miserable pun!" cried everybody, while

POTATO PICKING.

Alice remarked that her good-nature in releasing Grace from the situation had met with the usual reward of virtue in this world.

"Do you know, my friends," remarked one of the outsiders, "that it is eleven o'clock—'time honest folks were in bed, and rogues a-jogging?' You know there is to-morrow's grand smash-up in prospect."

"Oh, that's very early yet," pleaded Alice. "We must have the blind lancers, anyway. Did you never do it? It's great fun. Mamma, will you play for us? Choose your partners, gentlemen, for the New York lancers. No, we can't have two sets, because it's as much fun to look on as it is to dance;" and in a trice Alice had marshalled a set on the floor.

"Now, out with your handkerchiefs!" she ordered. "Yes, you are all to be blindfolded, and dance that way." And amid much laughter she bound up their eyes.

Mrs. Henderson struck up the opening bars, and directly they were all wildly making aimless courtesies, balancing at imaginary corners, and trying to turn opposites—when they found them. All these amid the derisive shouts of the lookers-on, and their urgent entreaties to "keep up with the music."

Each figure involved them more hopelessly than the last, as they grew more complicated. It was irresistibly ridiculous to see profound courtesies made to another person's back or to empty space, or to see partners vaguely feeling for each other. The grand chain utterly demoralized them; and when they dropped at last, laughing and breathless, into their seats, we all concluded that, past experience to the contrary, there was infinite amusement to be had out of a square dance.—Demorest's Magazine.

The Mote and the Beam.

In the corridor outside a hotel dining-room the following conversation was overheard, the speakers a woman and man, proven bride and groom by a hundred outward and visible signs.

She (hanging back at the doorway and whispering)—Don't look so happy. I shan't go in with you while you wear that rapturous expression. Everybody there will know at a glance that we are bride and groom.

He (whispering also)—My dear, take the beam out of your own eye.—Harper's Bazar.

A THIEF IN THE NIGHT.

MICHEL THIVARS

THERE was a large party at the Chateau de Kerdall, near Vannes.

Marquis de Kerdall and his young wife had just returned from a tour of the world on their yacht, during which they had paid flying visits to Africa, America and Oceanica, and they had celebrated their home-coming by gathering together all their friends and relatives at their beautiful country house.

Among the guests was old Dr. Cornabuc, an illustrious member of the Academy of Metaphysical Sciences, so original, so absent-minded, so venerable in his blonde peruke and his costume of the fashion of 1850. Then there was Mme. de Lartigues, an old school friend of the marquise, a brilliant and coquettish Parisienne. And there was Miss Hawthorne, an English maiden lady with youthful propensities. And there were many others, all of whom found plenty of amusement to their heart's content at Kerdall.

Outside of the ordinary pleasures of life, there were some unusual attractions. In the first place, the host and hostess had seen and experienced so much that was novel and startling that their conversation was always fascinating. Then the rooms of the castle constituted a veritable museum, being stocked with rare and curious objects from two continents. And, finally, a menagerie had been created in one corner of the park and stocked with the various animals which M. de Kerdall had picked up during the voyage and brought back to France for purposes of acclimatization. There were gazelles, antelopes, Thibet goats, Nile ibises, rose flamingoes, opossums, beavers, and an Asiatic ape of the mandrill species, as mild as a lamb, but as mischievious as all his kind. An iron lattice cage had been built for him close to the conservatory.

As will be seen, the Chateau de Kerdall was a veritable Eden, but this fact did not prevent little Mme. de Lartigues from dreading the isolated position of the place among the wide expanse of woods and fields.

"I should be afraid to live here all the year round," she said.

"Afraid of what, my dear?" asked the marquise.

"Oh, of robbers; they would fairly revel here."

Robbers! In this mansion filled to the eaves with guests and servants! Everybody mocked at the young woman, and old Dr. Cornabuc told horrible stories about burglars and assassins until Mme. de Lartigues, ashamed of her chimerical fears, was the first to laugh, and when the retiring hour came she mounted to her sleeping apartment on the second floor supplied with a goodly stock of heroism. Within a short time all the occupants of the chateau were in the land of dreams.

How long Mme. de Lartigues slept she knew not. She was awakened by a rattling at her window, which she had left half opened on account of the heat.

What was her terror when, in the feeble starlight, she saw a form climbing noiselessly through the window. She tried to scream, but her throat was parched with fright, and she could not utter a sound.

The man had entered the chamber. Then the poor woman hastily buried her head beneath the bed-clothing. Half dead with fear, she could hear her nocturnal visitor going and coming across the carpet with muffled steps. It seemed as though he must have removed his shoes in order to tread softly.

Bathed with cold perspiration and her teeth chattering, she awaited the mortal blow from the invader. But it did not come.

After about a quarter of an hour, she timidly peeped out. She could see nor hear nothing. Slightly reassured, she recovered the use of her voice, and started a series of shrieks, so sharp, piercing and terrible that in an instant the entire chateau was turned topsy-turvy. Everybody rushed into her chamber with lights in their hands, M. and Mme. de Kerdall at the head.

"What is it? What's the matter?" they cried.

She recounted her horrible vision. They would not believe her; she had been dreaming. Who could have climbed into this chamber, so high above the ground, without a ladder?

"Did you see him plainly?" asked the marquis, with a touch of suspicion in his voice.

"As plainly as I see you, and it even seemed—" She hesitated.

"What?"

"It seemed as though I could recognize Dr. Cornabuc in his blonde wig and redingote."

Everybody laughed. What! Dr. Cornabuc! A man of his age and character scaling windows at midnight! It was certain now that Mme. de Lartigues had been dreaming. They tried to dissipate her fear, and she was just about to persuade herself that she had been the victim of an hallucination, when she happened to cast her eyes upon the bureau, where she had left her jewels.

They were gone! It had truly been a robber!

The laughing suddenly ceased, and they looked at one another in consternation.

All at once another cry was heard, a piercing shriek coming through the stillness of the night. It appeared to emanate from Miss Hawthorne's chamber. There was a rush for her apartment, and the English lady was found standing in the middle of the room, with frightened eyes.

"There! there!" she cried, pointing to the window. "A man! He escaped, but I recognized him."

"Who was it?"

"Dr. Cornabuc!"

"Come, let us go to the doctor's room," said the marquis, knitting his brows. "He will doubtless solve the mystery for us."

All followed Kerdall—the men half-dressed, the women in their white night-robes, all carrying candles—a weird procession.

Upon the entrance of the crowd the doctor hurriedly wrapped himself in the bed-clothes, his wrinkled countenance alone being visible over the top, and this convulsed by anger into a comical grimace. The candle-light was reflected from his bald pate, which shone like old ivory.

"Is this some ill-timed joke?" he stormed. "What is going on? Is the chateau on fire? I heard a terrible outcry, and was just about to inquire into it."

"You must come and join us, doctor," said Kerdall.

"And how shall I do it?" cried the doctor, furiously. "Some rascal has run off with my clothing, and in exchange he has left me this," and he savagely hurled a white object into the middle of the room.

"My corsets!" murmured Mrs. Hawthorne, modestly lowering her eyes.

"And this," continued the doctor, wildly brandishing another article.

"My hat!" cried Mme. de Lartigues.

"This raillery passes all bounds," howled the doctor, whose shining head, with one final grimace, ducked beneath the bed-clothing like a clown going through a trap-door in the Marionette theater.

They knew not what to think. The mystery was growing more complicated. It certainly looked as though a robber had entered the chateau—perhaps a whole band of burglars and assassins. Mme. de Lartigues imagined a troop of brigands armed to the teeth.

"Let us hope they have no guns," said the marquis, to raise the hopes of his guests.

There was no echo to the pleasantry.

Suddenly a strange sound was heard coming from the ground floor. It was certainly the piano in the reception salon, but it was surely being played by goblin fingers, and so furiously that it seemed as though the keys would be broken.

"This is too much!" cried the marquis, rushing toward the staircase, with all the crowd, excepting Dr. Cornabuc, close behind him.

They hastily penetrated the salon. It was empty. The mysterious visitor was gone, but he could not be far away. The crash of china and glass announced his presence in the dining-room.

"DO NOT FIRE, IT IS DR. CORNABUC."

Everybody rushed thither, and the marquis, who was in the lead, dimly saw a form escaping through the window into the garden.

"This time we've got him!" he cried.

The men seized guns and knives from a hunting rack in the vestibule, and started across the garden and park in pursuit of the fugitive, while the women barricaded themselves in the salon and anxiously awaited the result of the chase.

It was about an hour later, in the uncertain light which precedes the rising of the sun, that a servant discovered the mysterious stranger ensconsed among the branches of a large oak. At his call, the marquis and his guests hastened to the spot.

"Come down!" commanded M. de Kerdall, but the bandit only settled himself deeper among the foliage and made no response.

"Come down, or I will shoot!"

And, as there was still no reply, he lifted his gun and already had his finger upon the trigger, when the domestic hurriedly pulled his arm and said:

"Do not fire, monsieur. It is Dr. Cornabuc!"

And sure enough the blonde wig and long redingote could now be seen among the leaves.

But at this moment the first ray of sunlight gleamed in from the east and the oak was illuminated. The marquis suddenly broke into a fit of explosive laughter, and, as his guests gazed up into the tree, they could not keep from following his example.

"The ape!"

Everything was explained. The animal had escaped from his cage the previous evening and had managed to effect an entrance into the chateau. Animated by his instinct of imitation, he had first attired himself in the doctor's effects and then wandered over the house at his own free will.

He was put back into his prison after some little trouble, and at breakfast the party enjoyed a hearty laugh at the adventures of the night.

But Dr. Cornabuc did not appear at the table. He left the chateau at an early hour, furious and without taking leave.

Since this episode he has never set foot at Kerdall, and he has never lost a feeling of deep antipathy to Mme. de Lartigues and Miss Hawthorne.

"How could they have mixed me up with a monkey?" he wants to know.—Translated for the Argonaut from the French by E. J. Wheelock.

WORK AND WEAR.

Repairs to Machinery While in Motion.

How Waste May Be Prevented and Energy Maintained.

If a machine works, it must wear out. It matters not whether it is the common plow of the field or the most complicated printing press. Work means waste. It is certain that these machines would last much longer if they did not wear out. Then only some accident would necessitate the purchase of new parts.

The human body is a complicated piece of machinery which is constantly at work. There is not an activity of the body, from the movement of a muscle to the digestion of food, which does not cause waste. Physiology teaches that we are constantly being supplied with new material to take the place of that which is worn out.

When the body is debilitated by disease, how quickly it could be built up, provided we could only allow all the parts complete rest. But, of course, this is impossible, for the changing of the foods into the various organs and tissues of the body means work, and this work means waste. However, we can aid the body in its work and save it much labor.

We can take especial care to use only those foods which are easily digested, and yet are highly nourishing. When it is necessary to add some valuable food which is also a medicine, as cod-liver oil, then we can save the body an immense amount of work by digesting the oil before giving it. How can an oil be digested? If you will consult some work on physiology you will learn that an oil is digested when it is broken up into minute globules, so small that high powers of the microscope are necessary to see the little drops of fat. When the oil has been digested in this way it is called an "emulsion."

This is why Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites is so easily borne by delicate stomachs, does not cause diarrhœa, and never produces gas in the stomach. When persons are ill, the digestion is also weak. But Scott's Emulsion is already digested, hence the body is not obliged to expend strength in preparing it for absorption. You at once see the advantage of Scott's Emulsion over raw cod-liver oil. It also contains the hypophosphites which every one recognizes as such strong tonics to the nervous system.

Scott's Emulsion has been indorsed by the medical profession for twenty years. Ask your doctor. Because it is always palatable—always uniform—always contains the purest Norwegian Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites. Insist on Scott's Emulsion with trade-mark of man and fish. Put up in 50c. and $1.00 sizes. The small size may be enough to cure your cough or help your baby.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Mifford Giles, the racer, is stopping in town for a few days.

The Plainfield wheel made by Horace J. Martin is a great seller, and every purchaser is well satisfied. The wheel can be seen at his store at the corner of Park avenue and West Second street.

Ex-Policeman Robt. Randolph tried to master the art of mounting and riding a wheel yesterday. He rode all right until he struck a soft spot in the road, and he had to get off in the mud.

Whitfield Frazee left his Apollo wheel standing outside of J. W. Gavett's store on West Front street, this morning, when someone ran a tack through the back tire. He was out of sight of the wheel for about only two minutes.

The Victor Wheelmen met at the home of Israel Jones last evening and organized with nine members, after which the following officers were elected: President, Bert Harvey; vice-president, Peter Simmons; secretary, Joseph Bolden; captain, Israel Jones; lieutenant, Simon Springs. An adjournment was then made till next Thursday night.

The century run of the Associated Cycling Clubs, of New Jersey, will pass through here tomorrow morning at about nine o'clock, stopping for a half hour's rest. The route through here will be in from Scotch Plains on East Front street to Watchung avenue to North avenue to Park avenue. The run is from Newark to Asbury Park. F. L. C. Martin, of this city will pace from Westfield to New Brunswick.

The third of the general runs of the Y. M. C. A. Cycling League was held last evening, the destination being Orange. Plainfield had twenty-two riders, the most of any of the league clubs. Passaic, which is not in the league, sent a delegation of twenty-eight. Captain Thos. A. Cuming commanded the Plainfield party, assisted by First Lieutenant Laing. The ride was a very pleasant one. Ralph Tolles and Edward Laing had punctures, but that only added to the excitement. A pleasant entertainment and a pleasing collation were enjoyed at Orange. The road between Milburn and Orange was in very bad condition, but the run was enjoyed all the same.

WITH ROD AND GUN.

Fred Firstbrook and Wm. Stewart, of the Fourth ward, fished at Bound Brook yesterday, but they could easily carry home all they caught.

The Hope chapel baseball team will cross bats with the Cuban Giants next Saturday afternoon on the LaGrande avenue grounds.

AROUND THE BASES.

Fred Firstbrook and Will Stewart spent yesterday at Bound Brook angling for the finny tribe.

The batting order of the Plainfield Athletic Club and the Dunellen teams for their game at Dunellen tomorrow afternoon is as follows:

Celebrated Her Birthday.

Miss Alice Titus, of West Fourth street, gave a birthday party yesterday afternoon at her home in honor of her cousin, Miss Whitney, of Brooklyn. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in playing games, and towards evening refreshments were served. There were about twenty present who enjoyed the hospitality of the young hostess.

Free.

To each and every purchaser tomorrow, Saturday, at the Grand Union tea and coffee store, 138 West Front street, will be given a Japanese bamboo fan 10x10½; presents given to customers. A large stock of both useful and ornamental household articles always on hand to select from.

Eczema is a frightful affliction, but like all other skin diseases it can be permanently cured by applications of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It never fails to cure Piles. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

Mothers will find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy especially valuable for and whooping cough. It will give prompt relief and is safe and pleasant. We have sold it for several years and it has never failed to give the most perfect satisfaction. G. W. Richards, Duquesne, Pa. Sold by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

Marriage of Miss Biglow.

The marriage of Miss Alice P. Biglow, the second daughter of Mrs. A. W. Biglow, of New York, to John David Kelly, of Toronto, Canada, took place Tuesday noon in the Mount Morris Baptist church. Rev. Dr. Edward Judson, of the Judson Memorial church, performed the ceremony, that was followed by a breakfast at the home of the bride's mother. Miss Gladys Biglow, daughter of L. H. Biglow, Jr., of Central avenue, was flower girl. Herbert Biglow, a brother of the bride, attended Mr. Kelly as best man. The ushers were S. H. Ward and L. H. Biglow, Jr., a brother of the bride.

It Was a Fine Stream.

There is a "professional gentleman" in Portland who would make a successful horse swapper. Having a farm to sell recently, this descendant of the Pilgrims advertised it, and soon afterward a gentleman called on him to speak about it.

"Well, judge," said he, "I have been over that farm you advertised and find it all right except the fine stream of water you mentioned."

"It runs through the piece of woods in the lowest part of the meadow," said the judge.

"What! that little brook? Why, it doesn't hold much more than a spoonful. I am sure if you would empty a bowl of water into it, it would overflow. You don't call that a fine stream, do you?"

"Well, if it were much finer you couldn't see it at all," said the judge, blandly.—Portland Express.

Womanlike.

"Now, dear, I have one favor to ask of you."

"It is granted."

"Then please don't tell me that you have never loved before, that you never dreamed that you could love, that I'm the only girl you have ever been engaged to, that—"

SHAKERS AND DOCTORS TALK TOGETHER.

In his able work entitled "Longevity," published a few years ago, Dr. John Gardner, of England, predicts that a vegetable agent will yet be found that shall so retard those changes that bring about old age, as to prolong human life much beyond its present limit.

Acting, perhaps, upon the impulse produced by this thought, many eminent physicians have called from time to time upon upon the Shakers of Mt. Lebanon to inquire of them concerning the secrets of medicinal plants, in which these sincere, simple-minded and God-fearing people are known to be wise and skillful beyond all other men

The Shakers willingly told what they had learned, and in return received from their visitors much valuable information about disease; which they at once made practical use of. The most important point was that if a genuine and certain remedy could be found for indigestion and dyspepsia, and the ailments growing out of it, a long step would be taken in the right direction. Old age, said these physicians, begins in a failure of the digestion, and so do most diseases at any and all periods of life. The result of these consultations was the discovery by the Shakers of the desired specific, made wholly from herbs, and now known as the Shaker Digestive Cordial. Its action is magical and worthy of its origin.

Where there is distress after eating heartburn, sick headache, bad taste in the mouth, biliousness, weakness and weariness, cold hands and feet, aversion to food, nervousness, or any other symptom of dyspepsia, the Cordial will prove its curative virtues. Behind it is the reputation of a people who have never defrauded or deceived their fellow men.

In order to test whether this remedy is adapted to your case, at practically no cost, you may procure a trial bottle for ten cents of almost any druggist.

Rheumatism Cured in a Day.

N. P. SCHOOL PRINCIPAL

HIS NAME IS ANDREW D. WARDE AND HE COMES WELL RECOMMENDED.

He Will Personally Teach Some of the Higher Branches and Will Exercise a Careful Supervision Over the School.

The newly elected principal of the North Plainfield public school has accepted the position tendered and will enter upon the duties of his position at the opening of the Fall term.

His name is Dr. Andrew D. Warde, of Otsego county, New York. Dr. Warde is just in the prime of life, forty-two years of age, and comes with the highest of recommendations from the school authorities of New York at Albany, as well as from each place where he has taught. They all represent him to be a hard-working, up-to-date, practical, successful principal. The North Plainfield school board expect to co-operate with him to make the school fully equal, in all departments, to any school of its grade elsewhere. He will personally teach some of the higher branches, and friends of the school are hoping he will see the way clear to introduce not only the kindergarten features for primary scholars, but a business course for such boys as must leave off study entirely at or near graduation. In both these as well as other practical matters, the Doctor is a staunch believer.

Dr. Warde's parents are from New England. He spent three years in study at Hartwick Seminary, N. Y.; took the State Normal School course at Albany; graduated from McKendree College, Illinois; took the full classical course at the Albany State Normal College, and has taught, in all, fifteen years; seven of them in Michigan. He is a writer for the educational papers and magazines and has lectured, but spends almost his whole time in actual educational work, on which subject he is an enthusiast. He received the degree of Ph. D. from McKendree College.

CONCUSSION OF THE BRAIN.

A Bicycle Rider Badly Hurt at the Crescent Oval.

Fred Adams, of Netherwood avenue, sustained serious injuries about dark last evening about dark while riding his wheel at a rapid pace on the Crescent Oval. The front forks of his wheel gave way, and he was violently thrown to the ground. When picked up by friends Adams was found to be unconscious, and it was learned on examination that his head, face and body was severely cut and bruised.

He was taken to Dr. Davis' office on Park avenue, where he was treated. The doctor learned that there was a slight concussion of the brain. Adams was taken home later, and is now somwhat improved though he is in a critical condition. It is not believed that his injuries will prove fatal.

Children's Day Exercises.

The First Baptist church will celebrate Children's Day tomorrow. At 9:30 o'clock in the Sunday-school rooms there will be recitations and singing by the little people of the primary department, solos by members of the church choir and other interesting exercises. At 10:45 o'clock Rev. Dr. Yerkes, will preach a sermon approprite to the day, and music by the choir will harmonise with the occasion.

The Children's Day exercises at the Congregational church will be held tomorrow morning.

The Sunday-school of the Park Avenue Baptist church will hold its Children Day exercises tomorrow morning. They were posponed from last Sunday.

Bound for Europe.

Harry Stafford, of Grandview avenue, sailed for England this morning on the steamship Furnessia.

Miss Christiana Sorensen, of Webster place, sailed for Europe today on one of the Thingvalia Line steamers. She will visit relatives and friends in Denmark, and will return home early in the fall.

Mrs. Herman Hansen, of Harrison street, sailed for Europe this afternoon per steamer Thingvalia. Her destination will be Copenhagen and she goes to visit her mother and other relatives in Denmark, expecting to be absent until about the middle of Septemper.

If it required an annual outlay of $100.00 to insure a family against any serious consequences from an attack of bowel complaint during the year there are many who would feel it their duty to pay it; that they could not afford to risk their lives, and those of their family for such an amount. Any one can get this insurance for 25 cents that being the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. One or two doses of this remedy will cure any ordinary case. It never fails. Can you afford to take the risk for so small an amount? For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

BEST IN THE COUNTRY.

PLAINFIELD GETS A WORLD'S FAIR MEDAL FOR A SCHOOL EXHIBIT

The Judges Declare That the Collection Offered by the High School Was the Best One on Exhibition Out of Many.

The oft-referred to excellence of the Plainfield Public Schools exists, not only in the eyes of the Plainfield public, but is recognized by the rest of the country as well. That fact is very plainly shown by a certificate of award and a handsome bronze medal just received by Supt. Maxson from the World's Columbian Commission for the Plainfield Public Schools. The award is for systematic teaching in all grades, fitting students in Greek and Latin to enter college, and also preparing them to enter business at the earliest age possible. When the great number of schools that were represented at the World's Fair by exhibits is remembered, the honor conferred on Plainfield is a high one. The exhibit that secured the award is at Trenton.

The medal is of bronze, nearly four inches in diameter. On the opverse side is a heroic figure of Columbus in armor, with his head bare and his long hair hanging over the neck, with the legend, "Christopher Columbus, October 12, MCCCCXCII." On the reverse, figures representing music and the arts recline on either side of the globe, supported on an oblong scroll bearing the inscription, "World's Columbian Exposition in commemoration of the 400th anniversary of the landing of Columbus, MDCCCXCII—MDCCCXCIII." Below the scroll show the hull and lower sails of the caraval Santa Maria.

Mayor Gilbert Advises.

Mayor Gilbert has called Superintendent Adelmann's attention to the fact that the trolley cars must be run cautiously and that the motormen must ring their gongs and slow up at crossings.

Superintendent Adlemann informed a Daily Press representative today that he had given the motormen on the street cars strict orders to slow up at crossings and to ring their gongs. If any complaints are received the men will be dealt with severely.

A Big Snake.

Philip Zimmer, of Belmont avenue, had a visitor Thursday night that was anything but welcome. He was out in the yard and just approaching his chicken house, when, in the fast failing light, he saw an immense black snake, fully six feet long, just about to enter the abode of his poultry. After some scrambling he captured the reptile and took it to his machine shop on Exchange alley, yesterday, where he exhibited it to his friends.

Not So Enthusiastic After All.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—What has become of all the pent up enthusiasm that was to burst when the God and idol of protection was nominated? Here in a city with five hundred majority and a city of millionaires, they are as quiet as their Sphinx-like candidate! Does it worry them that their Napoleon was nominated on the same day that the greater Napoleon received a Waterloo? J.E.M.

A Pretty Mountain Cottage.

The handsome new cottage recently erected for Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Herring, on Johnston's Drive, near "Penny Orchard," was completed by Contractor Herman Hansen today, and aside from a few little touches to the building, it is now ready for occupancy. The building is one and a half stories in height, with a peaked roof. The building will probably be enlarged next season.

A Minstrel at a Church Affair.

A variety entertainment will be given at the Fanwood club house, Monday evening, July 6th, for the benefit of All Saints P. E. church. Among those who will appear are George Thatcher, of this city; Mr. Foster, of the Modjeska Company, of New York; Alfred E. Pearsall, of Westfield; and a leading tenor from Trinity church, New York.

The World Certainly Moves.

J. W. Stewart, the wheelwright, this morning was the guest of John B. Brown on a ride on a trolley car. This was Mr. Stewart's first ride on any kind of a car. He has lived here all his life and the last time he was at Newark was over fifty years ago and then he walked there.

End of School Days.

The closing exercises of the Washingtonville district school were held in the Wilson Memorial chapel yesterday afternoon. There were songs and recitations by the pupils and an address by Rev. Chas. E. Herring, of this city. Robert Clark, Jr., one of the trustees, was present and made a few remarks.

Mrs. Parsell, of Arlington, and Mrs. Fair's brother, of Keyport, spent yesterday with Mrs. Mary E. Crawford, of Park avenue.

WILL MACADAMIZE NOW

SOMERSET BOARD OF FREEHOLDERS DECIDE TO STOP LITIGATION.

Have Concluded That it is Best to Make the Mountain Avenue Improvement—Spent $1,200 in Fighting the Case.

The Somerset County Board of Freeholders transacted important business, yesterday, at their meeting in Somerville when they decided to abide by the recent decision of the Supreme Court, which upheld the mandamus compelling them to macadamize Mountain avenue in the Borough of North Plainfield, and the road between Bound Brook and Somerville. The case has been in litigation for over a year, and has created a great deal of interest not only in Somerset county, but throughout the State at large.

Over a year ago the abutting property owners on Mountain avenue, North Plainfield, petitioned the Freeholders to macadamize that street from Somerset street to Terrill road, a distance of two and a quarter miles. Under the State Road Act, when a majority of the property owners thus petition, the Freeholders are compelled to make the improvement. But the Somerset Board is made up largely of members from the country districts, and they were averse to complying with the requirements of the law, as a portion of the expense of the improvement devolves on the county. The rest is paid by the State and the benefited property owners. As soon as the Freeholders refused, action was commenced by the interested parties to compel them comply with the conditions of the State Road Act. The mandamus was issued. The Freeholders employed counsel, and have spent $1,200 in litigation over the case, but were decided against.

At the meeting yesterday there was a disposition on the part of some of the obstinate members to carry the case to a higher court, but the conservatism of some of the other members prevailed, and it was decided to let the proceedings drop and commence the improvements.

Freeholders Barkalew and Lutkins were in favor of making the improvement, and it was largely through their influence that the action was taken yesterday. The vote of the Board on the question was seven for to three against.

CREDITABLE WORK OF SCHOLARS.

Practical Teaching Observed in the Irving Public School.

An exhibition of the work executed during the past year by the pupils of the Washington School was held yesterday afternoon and evening. The attendance on both occasions was quite large and everyone expressed themselves as highly pleased with the creditable showing made by the pupils.

The various teachers of the school, assisted by teachers from other schools, received the visitors and conducted them through the various rooms where the work was on exhibition.

The first work shown the visitor was that done by the beginners, and the grade was designated as first year grade A. The work in this grade was confined mostly to very simple methods and here the scholors were given their first instruction of the new style of vertical writing.

From one to another of the rooms the visitor was shown, and it was very easy to notice the improvement as one viewed the more advanced work done by the older pupils. In the highest grade a very practical form of work was shown—that of learning the scholars to write letters and make out bills.

The teachers of the school are: Miss M. E. Humpstone, principal; Miss A. W. Beream, Miss J. Owen, Miss S. L. Wood, Miss M. Cory and Miss A. Sime.

CLASS OFFICERS.

Pupils Who Are at the Head of the Graduating Class.

While there are the honors at the High School conferred by good scholarship, still the class organization allows the members to show their favor in electing the class officers. The present graduating class, the class of '96, has its officers as well as the rest. They were elected last fall and are as follows: President, Wilbur F. Cornwell; vice-president, Miss Grace E. Overton; secretary and treasurer, Charles Noble; prophet, Miss Mary Hull; historian, Miss Bessie Cahoone; orator, Henry Eggerding; poet, Charles M. Doliver.

To Connect the Fire Alarm.

A representative of the Gamewell fire alarm system will arrive in the borough Monday and connect the fire alarm box system with the new bell placed in the recently constructed tower.

SIX UP BEFORE THE CADI

TWO CASES OF WHERE CULPRITS COULDN'T CURB THE TONGUE.

One Woman Objected to Being Called "An Old Thing," and Her Tormenter Was Warned to Keep a Quiet Tongue.

There was the usual Saturday morning batch of cases in the city court this morning but the humid weather made everyone in a hurry to get through with the cases and depart. There were three adjournments.

The case of James McCann, who attempted to shoot his brother several weeks ago, as was told at the time in The Press, came up before City Judge DeMeza and was adjourned two weeks.

The case against Chas. Fry, for using profane and indecent language, was adjourned for one week, as was that of Chas. Saueraker, who was charged with fighting and using indecent language.

Frank Buck, a man with a family, indulged in too much fiery liquor last evening and was arrested on Richmond street for being drunk and disorderly. Sentence was suspended on him.

Thomas Marley and James White were arraigned on the charge of quarrelling and fighting on the morning of June 5th. The story told by the two combatants was substantially the same. White was walking along near Goff's saloon on Liberty street and looked at Marley who passed by.

"What the —— are you looking at?" growled Marley.

"You're a —— big bluff," was White's reply. Next morning they met near the same place and Marley punched White. They clinched, and John Goff, hearing the sound of the scuffle, appeared and separated them. City Judge DeMeza decided there was no case against White and dismissed him, while he fined Marley $3.

Maggie Webster, a colored maiden, was ordered to appear at 9 o'clock this morning to answer to the charge of using indecent language, but it was 9:45 before she entered the courtroom, fanning herself.

"I've been looking for the court, but I couldn't find it," she explained in answer to the Judge's query. The complaint was made by Mrs. Maggie Connett, who charged Maggie with remarking to Mrs. Connett's sister-in-law on June 16th, "What do you want to talk to that old thing for; she's nothing but an old thing." And then Mrs. Connett told the Judge "I don't care to go to church any more because she makes so much fun of me."

While the sister-in law was on the stand testifying that she had heard no insulting remarks, Mrs. Connett confided to Roundsman Frederickson and Will DeMeza, to the latter's evident amusement, all her troubles, and she wanted to know why it was that she couldn't talk when she wanted to.

Maggie Webster claimed that it was all untrue, but the Judge differed with her and declared her guilty. He suspended sentence on her with a warning. As Maggie reached the sidewalk after the trial she was heard to remark: "I'll catch her at church next Sunday."

NO FIREWORKS THIS FOURTH.

Country Club to Do Away With a Pyrotechnic Display This Year.

The Park Club will probably be the only local club to celebrate the Fourth of July with an exhibition of fireworks. The Union County Country Club will take their fireworks out in a dance on the evening of July 3d. The Board of Governors decided to give up the usual display of fireworks on account of the actions of the crowd that always assembles to see them. Last year they trampled over the lawns, flowers and hedges of the neighbors in a wanton manner, and to prevent anything like, that this year it was deemed better to give a dance instead. The Hillside Tennis and Golf Club will not celebrate either.

Working On The Camp.

Rapid progress is being made at the camp for sick children and the prospects are exceedingly bright for a prosperous season. On Tuesday Albert Jacobson, Wm. Kriney and John Wenzell contributed their work for the day, and Joshua Forster, Samuel Forster and Albert Jacobson did the same Wednesday afternoon. The roof to the building is nearly completed and the floor is laid. Today J. P. Emmons, the mason, commences the work of erecting the stone chimney which has been donated by Chas. W. McCutchen.

A Far-Sighted Roman.

Lucretius once remarked: "The hours fly along in a circle." So they do, old man, and on the new Waterbury watches at Collier's they fly along so rhythmically and correctly that the entire solar system keeps time to them. If you want a guarantee against missing a good time, call at 103 Park avenue and try the newest, cheapest and and best watch in the market.

SOME FOOLS STILL LIVE

A FRANKLIN PARK FARMER TACKLES THREE-CARD MONTE.

An Ancient Game Played Successfully on a Jersey Farmer Who Loses $3,000 by His Avarice for Money.

Columbus Beekman, a Franklin Park farmer, worth a quarter of a million dollars at his own estimate, is $3,000 poorer than he was yesterday. A stranger who palmed himself off as William Howe, President of the Princeton Bank, aided by an assistant who played three-card monte, buncoed him.

Howe appeared at Franklin Park yesterday morning and said he wished to buy a farm for a woman friend who had $25,000 to invest. Mr. Beekman got into the stranger's buggy, intending to ride at Dayton to look at a farm. On the way they met a tall slim man, on foot, wearing a linen duster. He said he was a wealthy Southerner, and exhibited a roll of money. The three men sat down by the roadside. The "Southerner" pulled out a pack of cards and did the old three-card monte trick.

"Pick out the red spot," he said to Mr. Beekman. Beekman did do so, and the monte man said, "You have won $5," and then paid him the money. Howe, who affected not to know the newcomer, also won $5. Stakes were raised to $5,000, and Beekman and Howe won. The stranger demanded, before paying, that Howe and Beekman demonstrate that they could have paid him $10,000 had they lost.

Beekman took Howe's advice to go to the Cranbury bank and draw out $3,000. Howe offered to add $7,000 in order to collect the bet from the Southerner. All three then drove to the Cranbury bank. Mr. Beekman then drew a check for $3,000, got the cash, and, as a token of good faith, the three men agreed to put their money in one satchel while they went to view Beekman's farm. About a mile and a half down the turnpike the swindlers handed the satchel to the farmer and drove away, promising to return later and settle matters.

They did not come back. Mr. Beekman opened the satchel. It contained only an empty tin box. A change of satchels had been made in the wagon.

AN EXCITING RUNAWAY.

A Horse Goes Tearing Through Crowded Streets But Does No Injury.

People on West Front street, Park and North avenues, witnessed a most exciting runaway last night about 6 o'clock. The horse and phaeton which figured in the incident belonged to School Commissioner F. C. Lounsbury, of Plainfield avenue.

The rig was standing in the driveway at Mr. Lounsbury's home, when the coachman attempted to get into the wagon for the purpose of driving to the North avenue station for Mr. Lounsbury. The horse started before the man could get hold of the reins, the animal made a short turn into the streel and upset the wagon, throwing the occupant into the road. The horse continued through Front street and Park avenue and North avenue at a terrible speed and was finally caught at the North avenue station.

A remarkable thing regarding the runaway is that there was no serious damage, in spite of the fact that the streets were crowded with wagons and wheels.

All that was left of Mr. Lounsbury's wagon was the wheels. The top and body were completely wrecked. The horse escaped with a slight cut on the leg. The coachman was not injured.

CLOSE OF MISSES DAY'S SCHOOL.

The Young Pupils Render An Interesting Programme

Among closing entertainments of North Plainfield private schools, none have been more pleasant than that given yesterday morning by the pupils of the Misses Day at their home on Mercer avenue. The following programme was well rendered, reflecting much credit on teachers and pupils:

Bicyclists Attention.

The new ordinance regarding lights and bell on bicycles and riding on sidewalks in the borough of North Plainfield goes into effect today, June 19th. Lamps must be lighted between one hour after sunset and one hour before sunrise. W. A Wilson,
2 Chief Marshal.

ENDEAVOR CONFERNCE.

PLAINFIELD SPEAKERS ADDRESSES MIDDLESEX COUNTY UNION.

A Party From This City Drove to Metuchen in a Stage and Participated in the Interesting Features of the Meeting.

A very interesting and helpful Christian Endeavor Conference was held yesterday afternoon and evening at Metuchen, by the Middlesex Local Union. The programme included the names of several Plainfielders, and the Plainfield Endeavorers were cordially invited to be present.

The afternoon session included addresses on Junior Endeavor, by speakers from New York and New Brunswick, and various committee conferences, one of which the missionary conference was conducted by Miss Alice B. Spangenberg, of Netherwood. Between the sessions the visiting Endeavorers were entertained by those of Metuchen.

A large party of Plainfielders composed of the Park Avenue Baptist Endeavorers and their friends drove over to Metuchen in a large stage to attend the evening session. The stage was crowded, and the evening warm, but Endeavor songs shortened the way, and the drive was a very pleasant one. The song service was nearly ended, as the Plainfield delegation entered the Reformed church, already well filled. They were just in time to listen to Miss Alice B. Spangenberg's address: "Every Christian Endeavorer a Missionary." In her usual earnest way, Miss Spangenberg pleaded for a deeper consecration to the work of missions, for the sake of Him who had commanded His followers to disciple all nations. Rev. T. E. Davis, of Bound Brook, next made some statements concerning New Jersey's accommodations at the Washington '96 Convention.

Then came an address by Miss Florence G. Hawkins, the earnest young secretary of the Plainfield Union. Her subject was "What relation should exist between society and union?" and her talk was a very practical and helpful one, showing that if the right relationship did exist it was because the Endeavorers, as individuals, were living the true Christian Endeavor life. Very plainly she told of the responsibility that rests on each one, and with heartfelt earnestness she begged the Endeavorers to go forward in the Christian life, seeking each day to do more truly "whatever He would like to have them do."

The last address, "Feeding upon heavenly manna," a plea for devotional Bible study, was by Rev. John Howard Raven, pastor of the church in which the conference was held. He also conducted the closing consecration service, in which a number of Endeavorers took part. Then, with a farewell song and the Mizpah Benediction, the company separated. The Plainfielders packed themselves into their stage and drove home through the moonlight, singing nearly all the way, the sound of their young voices stealing far over the silent fields. In spite of the hot night and the long drive they had thoroughly enjoyed themselves and received many helpful thoughts from the conference.

TUMBLED FROM HIS BIKE.

Billy McCutchen Sustains Injuries Which Keeps Him Off the Track for a Time.

William M. McCutchen, the Crescent Wheelmen's crack rider, returned from Norwalk, Conn., Thursday, in a rather demoralized state. A section of his face, arms, side and knees had been cut and bruised while his shoulder blade had been dislocated. In consequence, it will be at least a month, so the doctor says, before he will be able to ride in a race again, and now he is just able to move around. The cause of the trouble was a tumble on the track at Norwalk.

The races were held on Thursday instead of Wednesday, on account of rain, and McCutchen started in the one mile handicap from the eighty-yard mark, having the race almost in his grasp. He caught the limit men in less than a third and started to pass the bunch when his fork-crown gave way and he was thrown forward striking on his neck and shoulder with the results above mentioned.

The track was clay, but had it been gravel McCutchen's physiognomy would have been effectively spoilt. As it was he came out remarkably lucky.

Mr. James Perdue, an old soldier residing at Monroe, Mich., was severely afflicted with rheumatism but received prompt relief from pain by using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says: "At times my back would ache so badly that I could hardly raise up. If I had not gotten relief I would not be here to write these few lines. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done me a great deal of good and I feel very thankful for it." For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

HANNA THE LEADER

His Election as National Committee Chairman Was Expected.

NEW YORK CITY TO BE HEADQUARTERS

The Resolution Making the Ohio Manager Also Chairman of the Executive Committee Came as a Surprise and Is a New Venture.

St. Louis, June 20.—The election yesterday of Mark Hanna as chairman of the new republican national committee was no surprise, but the resolution making the chairman of the national committee ex-officio chairman of the executive committee is a new departure. It is said to have been suggested by Mr. Hanna himself. It has always been the custom in the national and state committees of all parties to elect a party leader as chairman of the executive committee, but this year Mr. Hanna will take the lead in all matters in the campaign. After Mr. Manley had called the national committee together yesterday it was announced that Senator Quay had positively refused to permit his name to be used in connection with the chairmanship. Then, on motion of Committeeman Payne of Wisconsin, seconded by Pennsylvania and New York, Mr. Hanna was unanimously elected chairman of the committee. J. H. Manley of Maine was elected temporary secretary, James S. Burke of Pennsylvania assistant secretary, and Col. H. L. Swords of Indiana was re-elected sergeant-at-arms. Behind closed doors there was an animated discussion of the question of the location of the permanent headquarters for the campaign. Chairman Hanna wanted the headquarters in Cleveland, but there was an emphatic protest by the members from the east and south. They warned Mr. Hanna that the Ohio idea could be carried too far. Chicago also made a bid for headquarters. But the vigorous objections of the committees from New England and the south convinced Mr. Hanna, and he finally agreed that the headquarters should be located in New York city. The only formal action taken in reference to the matter was to refer it to the executive committee when appointed, but after the meeting had adjourned it was stated by several members of the committee who were in the confidence of the new chairman that the question is as good as settled, and New York will, as usual, be the campaign headquarters. The next meeting will probably be held in New York city after Chairman Hanna has consulted with his candidates and appointed his executive committee. Cornelius N. Bliss of New York will probably be reappointed treasurer of the committee if he will accept the place.

LAURELS FOR LODGE.

The Young Massachusetts Senator Won Honor for Himself at St. Louis.

St. Louis, June 20.—One of the men who has carried off honors at the convention and goes home to his constituents strong in power and prestige is Senator Lodge of Massachusetts. He came here almost a stranger to the republicans of the west. His sturdy manhood and determined and successful fight for the gold standard won him respect and admiration. From the beginning of the fight for sound money he has stood in the front ranks of those who were its champions, and he soon became one of the popular figures of this convention. Whenever and wherever he appeared he received enthusiastic applause, and the gossips predict that the young senator from Massachusetts will continue a conspicuous figure in the republican national politics.

ADDICKS STILL A REPUBLICAN

Wants To Be a United States Senator and Not Governor.

Wilmington, Del., June 20.—The defeated Addicks delegation returned from St. Louis last evening. "We are all republicans," Mr. Addicks remarked, but further than that he would not comment on the recent national convention. Regarding the move of his friends to run him for governor, Addicks said: "I would not accept the office of governor. I am a candidate for but one thing—United States senator."

Praised for Not Bolting.

Cheyenne, Wyo., June 20.—The action of the Wyoming delegation at St. Louis in refusing to bolt with Colorado, Idaho and other western states meets with almost general approval and praise by the republicans here. Under the instructions voted by the state convention which elected the delegates there was nothing for them to do but to stay in the convention. The instructions as to silver were merely to use all honorable means to secure its recognition in the national platform.

Wanamaker Pleased.

Philadelphia, June 20. — Ex-Postmaster-General Wanamaker, who returned from Europe yesterday, is highly pleased with the nomination of McKinley and Hobart. He said that the nomination of McKinley for president was irresistible and proved that the people were anxious for protection. He thought the ticket was an excellent one.

Indorses Pettigrew's Bolt.

Sioux Falls, S. D., June 20.—The non-partisan silver club which was organized Thursday night has indorsed Senator Pettigrew's bolt at the St. Louis convention.

Instructed for Stanchfield for Governor.

Oswego, N. Y., June 20.—The democrats of Tioga county instructed their delegates to vote and work for J. B. Stanchfield if he is a candidate for governor at that time.

M'KINLEY'S CABINET.

Politicians Already Discussing Its Possible Personnel.

St. Louis, June 20.—The few republican politicians who had not left the city last evening discussed the personnel of McKinley's cabinet, in the event of his election. As a vigorous foreign policy will be one of the features of Mr. McKinley's administration he would manifestly give much care to the selection of his secretary of state. Gen. Benjamin F. Tracy of New York, who was President Harrison's secretary of the navy, is well regarded by some of the men whose influence with McKinley will be very great. Gen. Tracy is a brilliant lawyer, and it was an open secret in Washington that at the time of the Chilian complications, growing out of the Baltimore incident, Gen. Tracy was the president's trusted adviser on all the changing phases of that very embarrassing problem. There is also talk of Senator Sherman for the place, but the objection is made that the work of that department under a new administration is of a too trying character for a man of Mr. Sherman's age, notwithstanding he is still in the full possession of all his mental and physical faculties. Henry Clay Evans of Tennessee will, it is thought, be tendered the postoffice portfolio in the event of his failure next autumn to be elected governor of Tennessee. The McKinley managers also think well of Senator Mitchell of Oregon, who has been a staunch supporter of their champion, and it is freely predicted that he, too, will be tendered a cabinet post, presumably that of attorney-general, if the legislature of his state should fail to return him next winter to the senate.

When Company Comes

unexpectedly the housewife is often puzzled as to what to get for dinner. Then time is doubly precious. If when so caught she only has a package of in her pantry she can, in a few minutes, prepare the best of all desserts—good mince pie. Think of it. No peeling, chopping, seeding, picking and mixing. A package of None Such, costing only 10 cts., will make two large pies. Makes perfect Fruit Cake and Fruit Pudding also. Get a package to-day from your grocer. Take no substitute.

Good

Blood is essential to health. Every nook and corner of the system is reached by the blood, and on its quality the condition of every organ depends. Good blood means strong nerves, good digestion, robust health. Impure blood means scrofula, dyspepsia, rheumatism, catarrh or other diseases. The surest way to have good blood is to take Hood's

Blood

Sarsaparilla. This medicine purifies, vitalizes, and enriches the blood, and sends the elements of health and strength to every nerve, organ and tissue. It creates a good appetite, gives refreshing sleep and cures that tired feeling. It is because of its great power to purify the blood that

From

Hood's Sarsaparilla has accomplished so many wonderful cures. It makes the blood pure, drives out the germs of disease. Thousands today enjoy good health as the natural result of taking

Delicate Dress Goods.

Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable, NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redyeing. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? Laundry drivers will receive your work.

Chronic

is a disease hard to cure, as is the morphine habit. Every organ of the body is affected. A continual demand for a stimulant is called for. Food ceases to gratify, in fact, often cannot be retained on the stomach, or when it is the vitiated blood ceases to absorb nourishment from it. Give such sufferers that greatest of food stimulants, blood-enrichers, flesh-creators, a highly concentrated extract of the vital principles of lean beef, it is retained by the weakest stomach and nourishes quickly, so that with renewed tissue and returned strength morbid cravings vanish. Dr. J. B. Mattison of the Brooklyn "Home for Habitues" writes of Bovinine. "It is the best thing on earth of its kind. It is sustaining, nourishing, helpful in every way to patients of my special class."

Bovinine

HIGHLY SIGNIFICANT

So Senator Stewart Considers the Action of the Silver Men.

TO HIM IT IS A HOPEFUL SIGN

Now Remains To Be Seen Whether Policies and Intrigue Will Debauch the Convention at Chicago, He Says.

New York, June 20.—Senator Stewart of Nevada, who is at the Hoffman house, regards the action of Senator Teller and the men who followed him out of the St. Louis convention as significant in the highest degree. "Senator Teller represented the real sentiment of nine-tenths of the people west of the Mississippi river," said he, "and three-fourths of the people of the United States. To me it appears a hopeful sign, and very remarkable that 105 men could have been found in the convention to vote as they did against the consolidated bank influence of Europe and American. The friends of silver have succeeded in electing a majority of the delegates in favor of the United States and against English rule, and are anxious to make an honest effort to rescue the party, which Cleveland betrayed, from the control of Pierpont Morgan, the Belmonts and their associates. It remains to be seen whether politics and intrigue will debauch the convention at Chicago." Galusha A. Grow, congressman-at-large from Pennsylvania, says that the republican bolt will not mean a loss of more than seventy-five votes in the electoral college.

The Silverites' Address.

St. Louis, June 20.—The address to the people of the United States adopted by the bolting silverites at their secret meeting is a lengthy document. While it contains much in the nature of a silver coinage argument, the concluding paragraph shows the determination of the bolting delegates to bring about, if possible, the nomination of senator Henry M. Teller of Colorado as the candidate for the presidency on a platform having for its cardinal principle the free and unlimited coinage of silver. In this connection the address reads: "We have endeavored in a plain way to set the matter before the eyes of our fellow citizens. We invoke the union of all men and all parties who believe that the time has come for the triumph of justice. It is an hour when the people may speak for themselves as individuals and through conventions yet to be held. It is the right of every citizen to indicate his preference. With this in view we offer to the forthcoming conventions and to the people the name of a man for the presidency of the United States whose life, in public and private, represents those distinguished virtues which adorned the days and the deeds of men of the earlier time of this republic; a return to which virtues is requisite for the prosperity and contentment of the people, and the perpetuity and commanding example of free institutions. The name is Henry M. Teller—a man of the people and for the people. He is of no section. His experience and service, his devotion to the common justice and the common cause of his fellow-citizens have been as wide as the country. We believe that the people of the United States have in their hearts the knowledge that he has had their interests in his purpose through all the work of an exalted life."

ONLY ELEVEN KILLED.

Government Report of the Loss Sustained by Rebels at Najasa Not True.

Havana, June 20.—Private advices from Camaguey are to the effect that the rebel loss in the battle of Najasa was only eleven killed and forty-nine wounded, instead of 500 killed and wounded as was stated in the official report of the fight. The opinion is gaining ground here that the Spanish reports of a victory were untrue. It is said that Maximo Gomez, the rebel commander-in-chief, is marching towards the railway between Nuevitas and Puerto Principe, his intention being to cut off communication between the two cities. Advices from Manzanillo, province of Santiago de Cuba, show that numerous parties of rebels belonging to the commands of Rabi and Jose Maceo are concentrating in the vicinity of that city. Every precaution is taken by the Spanish commander there to prevent or repulse an attack on the city.

International Pressmen's Officers.

Chicago, June 20.—The convention of the International Pressmen's union has elected the following officers: President, Theo. Galeoskowsky of St. Louis; first vice-president, J. Birmingham, Washington; second vice-president, James W. Connor, Philadelphia; third vice-president, Frank Palpuso, St. Paul; secretary-treasurer, James Gilson, Brooklyn; delegate to American Federation of Labor congress, Jesse Johnson, Nashville.

St. Louis in Port at New York.

New York, June 20.—Steamer St. Louis, Randle, Southampton June 13, with merchandise, 275 cabin and 296 steerage passengers arrived last night. Time of passage 6 days, 10 hours and 33 minutes. Daily runs: 483, 502, 485, 502, 501, 504 and 143 to Sandy Hook. Total, 3,120 knots. Average speed 20.2 knots per hour. Had light winds and fogs.

Wants $10,000 for a Broken Hip.

Hartford, June 20.—The suit of Elisha Carpenter, ex-judge of the supreme court, against the Hartford Street Railroad company was argued on a demurrer before Judge Robinson in the superior court yesterday. Judge Carpenter sues to recover $10,000 for a broken hip.

It is said that ex-President Harrison refused a newspaper offer of $10,000 to go to St. Louis and write up his impressions of the Republican Convention.

The New York Evening Post thinks it knows why a Jewish Rabbi was selected to make the opening prayer for the representative body of the g. o. p. assembled at St. Louis and composed almost wholly of Christians, saying: "It is well known, and is highly characteristic, that the choice of the Jewish Rabbi to deliver the opening prayer at the St. Louis convention, was due to a wish not to offend the A. P. A. by employing a Catholic, nor the Catholics by employing a Protestant. In fact, the prayer was to be part of the general defensive humbug for which the convention has been held. We doubt if any similar body has met in the United States with less sincerity."

The following transfers of property have been recorded in the Union county clerk's office, from June 11th to June 17th, inclusive:

Alphasitta Corey, Somerset county, to John Corey, Plainfield, lot Front street, Plainfield, $1; William J. Roome, North Plainfield, to Benj. A. Hegeman, tract adjoining Charles A. Reed's property, North Plainfield, $300; Plainfield Real Estate Company, to John D. Runyon and James C. Manning, lots 15-25, block 5, Grant avenue, $580; Aaron D. Thompson to John McVey, Plainfield, lot North avenue, 159 feet, east of Park avenue, $17,000; Central N. J. L. I. Co., to Thomas J. Reilly, lot LaGrande avenue, Plainfield, 100 feet, $650; Catherine Runyon to Anna Hilbert, Plainfield, lot North avenue, $1; Thomas Johnson to Charlotte Johnson, Plainfield, lot Pond place, $1.

Bicyclists Mixed Up.

"Look out there," was the ejaculation Walter Williams heard as he was bicycling along Park avenue this morning at 8:15 o'clock, and then there was a sudden choojug and two wheelmen went sprawling into the road. One was Williams and the other was a young man by the name of Bullman who is employed by Gavett. Neither one observed the approach of the other, and as they became pocketed in a passage between several wagons the collision was unavoidable. Bullman's wheel, an old one, was pretty well demolished. Williams' machine had a bent pedal. Both riders escaped with slight hurts.

Honored By the G. A. R.

Plainfield people came in for a share at the recent encampments of the G. A. R. and Woman's Relief Corps at Asbury Park. Mrs. Mary D. Morse was re-elected department president of the corps, Mrs. McVoy, treasurer, and Mrs. Walker, secretary. Past Commander W. W. Coriell, of Post 73, was elected a member of the council of administration.

Pythian Memorial Service.

Crescent Division, Uniformed Rank, K. of P., will meet at Perseverance Lodge rooms tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock. They will then proceed to the North Avenue station where they will meet Rathbone Division on the arrival of the 2:03 train. A special memorial programme has been prepared and will be carried out at the Evergreen, Hillside, Presbyterian and Scotch Plains cemeteries. The Independent Fife and Drum Corps will accompany them. A collation will be served in North Plainfield after the ceremonies.

In the Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of—DeWitt's Little Early Risers, for they always cleanse the liver, purify the blood, and invigorate the system. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

Pills versus potions.

Potions are liquid. Pills are solid.

Potions are diluted. Pills are concentrated.

There must be more strength in pills

When you need water, you can drink it pure. You don't want it in your medicine.

Potions contain alcohol, mixed with the water, to preserve them.

Alcohol is bad for the kidneys.

Pills contain no alcohol

Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills contain all the medical ingredients necessary to cure the kidneys, with no useless additions or adulterations.

SUCCESSFUL CO-OPERATION.

In England It is Already Pretty Well Established.

The success of industrial co-operation, at least in England, seems now to be pretty well established. In thirty years the number of co operative societies has increased from 850 to more than 1,700, and the number of members from 150,000 to more than 1,400,000; the capital from $5,000,000 to $75,000,000; the annual business from $15,000,000 to $250,000,000; and the annual profits from $1,350,000 to $25,000,000. There is no disputing the significance of these figures. Equally interesting are the details of business of some of the individual societies. That at Woolwich, for example, has grown from 47 members with $135 capital, in 1269, to 7,992 members with over $400,000 capital in 1895. The yearly sales have grown from $2,220 to nearly $750,000. Of the profits of the enterprise $662,500 has gone in dividends to members, $11,500 to non-members, $19,000 for educational purposes, $50,000 to employes in addition to their wages as their share of the profits, $185,000 as interest on capital, $124,000 for land, buildings, etc., and $38,500 for a reserve fund. "A number of members," adds the report, "who own the houses in which they live, would never have been in the present position had not the accumulated dividends been used to start them toward becoming householders. And it is this principle that is the aim of the movement."

BETTER STREETS WANTED.

We hear that there is a most praiseworthy petition signed by almost all the property holders and residents of Central avenue, and adjoining streets from Randolph Road to Front street, praying the Common Council to take notice of the wretched and dangerous condition of that thoroughfare left so by the sewer contractors, also by the Water and Gas Company.

Bicyclists using the sidewalk in the southern part almost exclusively in the stormy weather to the danger of pedestrians, especially children. It would doubtless astonish the Mayor and Common Council, could they hear the earnest questionings of many of the signers, asking the several bearers of the petition if they thought it was probable that he work would be done thoroughly and at once. When it was learned that only the property owners were petitioning, the residents signed a separate petition requesting the Common Council to take cognizance of the petition of the property owners, which petition was if possible more vital to them than to the property holders themselves. Eighteen hundred dollars was raised by private subscription a few years ago to macadamize the avenue from Eight hstreet to the residences of Mr. Stockton.

To the Common Council of the city of Plainfield:—We the undersigned, property holders on and adjoining Central avenue, respectfully petition your honorable body that the said avenue shall be thoroughly repaired and placed in a first-class condition, with crushed stone, from Front street to Randolph road, returning it to the first-class condition it was in prior to the occupation of it by the sewer company on behalf of the city and the gas company in repairing their works; more as it was before the gas company and the sewer with its connections destroyed the same. Especially disagreeable is it in its present condition.

To the Common Council of the city of Plainfield:—We, the residents of Central avenue, and the adjoining streets respectfully and most earnestly petition your honorable body to take cognizance of a petition of the property holders of Central avenue.

Praying that the said avenue be graded and macadamized and put in a very thorough and first-class condition from Randolph road to Front street, more as it was before the sewer with its connections and the gas and water company destroyed the same.

And we further petition that the said main artery may be so treated at once, as it is now not only in a disgraceful condition but in places it is actual unsafe.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by continually failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

No "Flim Flam" Game

To Be Worked on Early Purchasers of

The Spalding Bicycle

After the adoption of our 1896 model and a careful estimate of the cost of manufacture, we placed the price on the Spalding Bicycle at $100. The price is now $100 and will continue at $100 throughout the season, no matter what other manufacturers may do.

We don't believe it is fair, honest or good business policy to sell a standard article like the Spalding Bicycle at one price in May and reduce its value in June by a material reduction in price. As a matter of common fairness to early purchasers of Spalding Bicycles and as an evidence of good faith on our part we will, in case of reduction in price during the season, send a rebate check to every purchaser of a Spalding Bicycle of the amount of any such reduction that may be made by us during the season This is our meaning of a

GUARANTEE OF PRICE.

Ride the Spalding and you will be happy, contented and assured that you will not be "flim-flammed" in price or quality.

OUTLOOK NOT BRIGHT

Increased Restriction in the Volume of General Business.

INDUSTRIAL LINES UNIMPROVED

Bank Clearings Show an Increase—Business Failures in the United States Range Above the Average—Woolen Manufacturers Hopeful.

New York, June 20.—Bradstreet's weekly review of the state of trade will to-day say: A national presidential convention in the opening week of the between-seasons period of dullness explains the increased restriction in the volume of general trade. In industrial lines there is no improvement. In iron and steel, prices of some varieties tend lower and buyers manifest little interest as to requirements. Present activity among dry goods jobbers is confined to working off odd lots preparatory to stock taking. Manufacturers of cottons have cut quotations to attract buyers, and while there is increased activity in flannels for fall delivery, recently opened fall prints have found few buyers. The practical end of the strike and boycott at Milwaukee is followed by a threat of iron and steel workers at Pittsburgh to strike if not granted an advance by July 1. The movement of merchandise is smaller in volume than a week ago, greatest activity being shown in hardware, groceries, drugs, paints and clothing. Manufacturers of woolens are reported more hopeful and to be making inquiries as to supplies of raw material, but quotations for wool at the interior are still above a parity with seaboard prices. At eastern centres the lumber trade has been disappointing.

Advance in Government Bond Prices.

Stock values at New York show reaction since the adjournment of the St. Louis convention. Foreign buying, which was a feature, has developed into foreign selling. International stocks are the chief objects of interest. Government 4s advanced 1 1-2 per cent. on the adoption of the sound-money plank. The foreign buyers of stocks supplied the exchange market with bills and depressed demand sterling to 4.88.

Business Failures.

Business failures throughout the United Sates continue to run somewhat above the range in like weeks in preceding years. The total reported this week is 265, compared with 234 last week, 231 in the week one year ago, 195 in the third week of June, 1894, and as contrasted with 360 (nearly 100 more than this week) in the corresponding week of 1893.

Bank Clearings.

There is a moderate increase in bank clearings throughout the United States, which amount to $1,038,000,000 this week, an increase of 10.6 per cent. over the preceeding week, but a decrease of 3-5 per cent. as compared with the corresponding week one year ago. When contrasted with the third week of June, 1894, the period of extreme depression after the panic in 1893, this week's increase is 22 per cent.; when compared with the clearings for the like week in 1893 the current week's total is nearly one-half of 1 per cent. larger, and as compared with the like total in 1892 6 per cent. larger. Somewhat more encouraging is the report that prices of only four of the more important staples have reacted this week, wheat, lard, sugar and barb wire. Practically unchanged quotations are recorded for wheat flour, oats, coffee, print cloths, leather, iron and steel, while there are advances for Indian corn, pork, cotton, petroleum and spirits of turpentine.

KRUGER'S DEMAND.

Wants Great Britain To Bring Cecil Rhodes and Others To Trial.

Cape Town, June 20.—The secretary of state for the Transvaal has telegraphed to the British high commissioner here saying that having in view the welfare and peace of South Africa, the Transvaal government is convinced that the proofs in its possession, and which are at the disposal of Great Britain, now completely justify and compel the bringing to trial of Messrs. Cecil Rhodes, Alfred Beit and Dr. Harris, all of the British South Africa company, and connected with the raid into the Transvaal. The secretary adds that the Transvaal republic is obliged to press upon this step on Great Britain and also to urge that all control of the British Chartered South Africa company be transferred to Great Britain.

Bank President Wyckoff Better.

New York, June 20.—George H. Wyckoff, president of the Bank of New Amsterdam, continues to improve. Last night was by far the best he has had since he was shot down by George H. Semple on his refusal to give him $6,000. Mr. Wyckoff's chances for recovery improve each day. The body of Semple was sent to Chicago for interrment.

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. is on every wrapper.

AT M'KINLEY'S HOME

The Successful Candidate Receives Many Messages from Friends.

SUPPORT PLEDGED; VICTORY ASSURED

Many Distinguished Callers from All Parts of the Country—Delegations from Neighboring Towns Enliven the Scene at Canton.

Canton, O., June 20.—The telegrams and messages of congratulation with assurances of support and success at the polls next fall are still pouring in at the McKinley residence by the hundreds from all parts of the country. Several enthusiastic delegations, numbering from 100 to 1,000 persons, from neighboring towns, with brass bands and banners, have visited Canton and paid their respects to the republican nominee. Numerous distinguished republicans from a distance have also visited Major McKinley to extend their congratulations and leave their assurances of hearty support. Mrs. McKinley has also received many congratulations at the success of her distinguished husband from women in all parts of the United States. Major McKinley expressed particularly hearty satisfaction over the numerous responses from the far west approving his nomination and the platform and promising support. Among the delegations that called at the McKinley residence was a body of commerical travelers representing nearly every state in the union who happened to be gathered in Canton. The delegation was under the command of Capt. H. F. Weston of Pennsylvania, Col. J. H. Kenting of Michigan and Lieut. T. G. Ebersole of Ohio. Capt. Weston presented the club to the major. The losses by theft Thursday night are greater than at first reported. Eleven rifled pocket books were found on the grounds about the house, and one man had a valuable diamond stud torn from his shirt front. A grand reception was accorded the returning Cantonese last night. With delegations from neighboring counties they completely filled the lawn surrounding the McKinley residence. Speeches congratulating Major McKinley were made by spokesmen of the delegations and the major, mounted on a dry goods box, with great emotion, fittingly replied. Later the New York McKinley delegates arrived on their way home from St. Louis and complimentary speeches were exchanged. Incidents more or less interesting have not been wanting, as for instance the arrival of J. W. Smith, a colored man of Ohio, who insisted upon seeing the major to present in person an application for a position. He failed to see him, however.

J. B. ROBINSON DROPS DEAD.

Ontario's ex-Lieut.-Governor Expires While Ascending a Platform at a Meeting.

Toronto, June 20.—Hon. John Beverley Robinson, ex-lieutenant-governor of Ontario, dropped dead just as he was stepping on the platform at Sir Charles Tupper's great conservative meeting held in Massey Music hall last night, which he was to have addressed. The sad occurrence was not made known to more than a dozen persons in the hall and the meeting proceeded in ignorance of the tragic event. Lady Robinson died three years ago.

Judgment for a Railroad Company.

Hartford, June 20.—Judge Robinson in the superior court has rendered judgment in favor of the defendant in the suit of John Pinches of New Britain against the Central Railway & Electric company of New Britain. Mr. Pinches sued to recover $8,000 as special damages because the trolley laid several tracks in front of his residence. The judge finds that there are no special damages accruing to the plaintiff.

Trinity Athletic Association Officers.

Hartford, June 20.—The Trinity College Athletic association has elected officers as follows: President, A. M. Longford, '97; secretary, Cook, '98; treasurer, Cartwright, '98; junior director of advisory committee, Secour, '98; sophomore director advisory committee, Baxter, '99; senior director of baseball, Cogswell, 97; manager of baseball team, Cartwright, 98.

Transfer of Connecticut Priests.

Hart ford, June 20.—Bishop Tierney has made the following changes of priests: Rev. J. Senesac, formerly of Voluntown, will take charge of St. Anthony's church, Bridgeport; Rev. J. L. Desauliuers of Putnam is promoted to the pastorate of Voluntown; Rev. F. Pappillon of St. Ann's, Waterbury, is transferred to Putnam.

Appointed by Gov. Coffin.

Hartford, June 20.—Gov. Coffin has appointed the following officers in the Second regiment: Assistant surgeon Joseph H. Townsend of New Haven, to be major and surgeon; Dr. F. T. Graves of Waterbury to be assistant surgeon, with rank of first lieutenant.

Suicide of David O'Brien.

Chicago, June 20.—David O'Brien, who committed suicide in his office by asphyxiation, was one of the foremost lawyers in Cook county, but had been despondent for several weeks and had frequently threatened to take his own life.

Struck by a Train and Killed.

Providence, June 20.—Peter Cody, who was struck by a train at Woonsocket, is dead at the hospital here. His father, Stephen Cody of Webster, Mass., has claimed the remains.

New Bank for Saranac Lake.

Washington, June 20.—The Adirondack National bank of Saranac Lake, N., Y., capital $50,000, has been authorized to begin business.

A Great Battle.

Do consumptives recover? Yes, thousands of them. Even after the disease has a firm hold? Yes, no doubt about it. After cavities have been formed and hemorrhages have occurred? Yes, even then. If the system is too weak, the disease will probably conquer, but if the body can be reinforced there is a fair chance for a winning fight. For twenty years, thousands have testified how they gained the victory.

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod-liver Oil with the Hypophosphites is still coming to the rescue. Out-door life, fresh air, and good pluck are of immense value. But in addition to these the body must be supplied with that peculiar kind of fat which is found only in cod-liver oil; combined with valuable medicinal agents; and there must be the tonic effect which comes from the hypophosphites. It is a great battle, and a great victory is often gained.

SATURDAY, June 20 Sun rises 4:28 a. m., sets 7:33 p. m. Lanterns must be lighted between 8:33 p. m. and 3:28 a. m.

Cyclists desiring to join the League of American Wheelmen will be furnished with application blanks and necessary information by addressing the Cycling Department of the Daily Press.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Alfred Osmun now rides a Zimmy racing wheel.

Miss Mary VanFleet, of East Third street, is riding a new Fleetwing wheel.

Frank Milligan, of West Fourth street, has purchased a Stormer wheel.

James Voorhies, of Clinton avenue, has purchased an America tandem and single.

Miss Dora Ulrich, of East Fifth street, is arranging a cycle run to Metuchen for next Tuesday evening. A number of invitations have been given out.

George A. Bilyeu, president of the famous Century Wheelmen, of Philadelphia, made a flying visit here yesterday while going over the course of today's century run.

The following wheels were sold by the Jersey Wheel Company yesterday: Miss May Thompson, Richmond; Aaron Thompson, Richmond; Harry Thompson, Eagle.

Mrs. E. E. Marshall, Mrs. J. F. Buckle, of Westervelt avenue, and Miss Addie Weaver, of Grove street, have formed a cycle trio for the purpose of taking frequent spins.

The Alis Athletic Association has received a sanction from Chairman Geo. D. Gideon, of the L. A. W. racing board, for the bicycle races to be held at their athletic met on June 27th.

It is suggested that a bicyle race be arranged for the men in the police department who ride wheels. This it is said would test the strength of the men. Medals should be offered as prizes.

A party from the business men's Y. M. C. A. gymnasium class are going to ride over to Orange Monday to see the game between the Orange A. C. and the New York national league team. The party will start at two o'clock.

H. Overbaugh, of the F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company, took a trial spin to New Brunswick on his new Cleveland racer Thursday evening, and was well pleased with its running qualities. Overbaugh may be looked on to do some fast riding this summer.

Philip Cochran was riding out of the F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company's salesrooms Thursday night and did not see a rider coming along at a lively clip. An accident resulted, and Cochran's wheel took on a remarkable shape. Both riders escaped with ruffled tempers and sundry bruises.

The Manhattan Bicycle Club, of New York, will have a double century run this afternoon and tomorrow. The route selected circles all about this section of New Jersey, passing through Plainfield three times. At 7 o'clock this evening they will stop here an hour for dinner on their way to New Brunswick, from which place they return at 11:15 o'clock. The will ride all night and come here again at 4:35 o'clock tomorrow morning from Springfield, turn and go back to Springfield and so on.

The Board of Officers of the New Jersey Division have awarded the State meet to Paterson, and the date selected is August 8th. The races will be run under the auspices of the A. C. C. on the new track of the Tourist Wheelmen. The events for the State championship will be: One third-mile, and one, two and five-mile races. Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded to those finishing first, second and third respectively, in each event. These events will be open only to New Jersey League members. Other events will be: One-mile open, two-mile handicap, and an association team race, open to members of the A. C. C.

A cycling celebration will be held at Morristown under the auspices of the Sahodalica Wheelmen on July 4th. There will be a cycle parade in the early afternoon from the clubhouse to the track, where races will he held at 2 o'clock. Prizes will be awarded for the best decorated wheel and for the most graceful rider in line. There are six events to be run off, as follows: One-mile novice team race, open to Morristown, Chatham and Madison riders only; half-mile open race for boys under ten years, one-mile handicap, two-mile tandem scratch and a five-mile handicap, open only to Morristown riders. The races are to be held under L. A. W. sanction, and Official Handicapper Wetmore will allot the handicaps. Entries close on June 27th, with Peter J. Daly, of Morristown.

Washington Park is a great place for bicycle racers among the boys and there is great rivalry between them as regards their speed. The Park Clubites have planned to give them a chance to settle all these questions on July 4th, when a race meet, open to members of 15 years of age and under, will be held on the roads in the neighborhood, as stated in the programme of the Park Club's Fourth of July celebration, published exclusively in the Press several days ago. The juniors are divided into four classes: Class A, those over 14; Class B, those over 12; Class C, those over 10; Class D, those under 9. First and second prizes will be given in every event. The course for classes A B and C is from the Park Club to Mercer avenue, to Sycamore avenue, to Willow avenue, to Washington avenue, and four times around the block, finishing at the Park Club. The course for Class D is the same, with the exception of two times around the block instead of four. Great fun is expected from the Park Club's first attempt at race meet promoting.

The annual century run of the Associated Cycling Clubs, of New Jersey, from Newark to Asbury Park, passed through Plainfield this morning at 10:15. There were 296 riders and the Hackensack wheelmen with seventy-three members secured the prize. There were thirteen women riders and three colored riders. F. L. C. Martin acted as pacemaker from Westfield to Old Bridge. "Manager" Sweeney checked the riders, assisted by Mifford Giles, Wm. Mosher and Wm. Waters. In this city a stop was made for refreshments.

LAWN TENNIS.

The Hillside Tennis and Golf Club are planning to hold a golf tournament on the morning of July 4th.

A tennis tournament, open to Plainfield and North Plainfield, will be held on Ryder's court on East Front street early next month, probably on July 4th.

Tennis is one of the most delightful of all the summer sports, particulary so as it can be equally enjoyed by both sexes. The young people of this city and the borough have appreciated that fact, and just recently another club has been formed. The founders of this club are mostly the young people who reside on or near Westervelt avenue, and so the club has been called the Westervelt Avenue Tennis club. The grounds of the club are the courts on Westervelt avenue, just on the Plainfield side of Green brook, belonging to Thomas U. Smith and sisters, who reside next to the grounds. Thos U. Smith is president of the club and Albert Sproul, secretary and treasurer. The other members are the Misses Nora Williams, Laura Emmons, Helen Hasbrouck, Louise Holmes, Margaret Vermeule, Mabelle Smith, Alica Needham, Bertha Needham, Geurnsey Nevius, Charles H. Angleman, Will Coriell, Mr. Eaton, Mr. Taylor, John McLaughlin, Charles Hazeltine and John Brower.

The club is planning to hold a mixed double tournament at Smith's court on July Fourth.

Fire Chief of Bull Frog City.

"Ex-Mayor" David Drake, of "Bull Frog City," is expecting the arrival of the new hose wagon which was recently ordered by the Borough Council, and the "ex-Mayor" will be on hand to receive it when it arrives. The water supply consists of three plugs from the Water Supply Company's hydrants, and Mr. Drake is to oversee not only the hydrants but the entire territory from Greenbrook road to the mountain and along Harrison street.

A Busy Man.

M. Udhal, the contractor, is one of the busy men of this section of New Jersey. He has had a wide experience and his work always gives satisfaction. He has just finished opening up a street in Cranford, and only a short time ago finished the work of completing two streets in the borough for ex-Sheriff Coddington, one of which was an extension of Watchung avenue. It is considered to have one of the best roadbeds in the borough.

Celebrated Her Sixty-eighth Birthday.

Mrs. C. Carl, of Dunellen, celebrated her sixty-eighth birthday Thursday evening by giving a reception to her children, grandchildren and numerous friends. Mrs. Carl received many useful as well as ornamental presents. Music for dancing was furnished by Adam Herlich. Guests were present from New York, Plainfield, New Market and Dunellen.

On the Mountain.

List of arrivals at the Mountain Park Inn; Mrs. C. A. Reed, Hugh Bert Reed, Wm. N. Runyon, Elston M. French, Miss May Clawson, Plainfield; J. H. Darrach, W. F. Smith, Trenton; Hon. David Depue, Mrs. David Depue, Miss Francis Depue, Miss Eliza Stuart Depue, New York; Runyon Field, Bound Brook.

Bought a Mountain Site.

Yesterday, the Mountain Park Land Company sold to Craig A. Margh one of the finest lots on Johnston's drive. It is Mr. Marsh's intention to build a fine house on this beautiful site in the near future.

Mrs. Leo Smith, wife of the famous shortstop of the Little Giants, now playing with the New Havens, is visiting friends in Plainfield.

DINED BY GOV. MORTON.

Greater New York Commissioners Entertained at Ellerslie.

Rhinecliff, N. Y., June 20.—Gov. Morton entertained at dinner last night at his Ellerslie house the members of the Greater New York commission. The dinner was intended as a social affair, Gov. Morton desiring to bring the commissioners together in a pleasant way and introduce those who were not already acquainted. Just before the dinner was served it was discovered that there were thirteen in the party and the famous "hoodoo" number alarmed the superstitious guests. Gov. Morton, however, came to the rescue and announced that his daughters, the Misses Mary, Alice and Helen, would grace the banquet board with their presence. Invitations for the dinner had been extended to the fifteen commissioners. Andrew H. Green, who has been called the "Father of Greater New York," was unable to be present, owing to his serious illness. Seth Low sent word that a sprained knee still kept him in-doors, and Mayor Wurster of Brooklyn said illness would prevent his attendance. Gov. Morton sat at the head of the table, and at his right hand sat Mayor Strong of New York, and at the left Mayor Gleason of Long Island City. After the dinner the commissioners informally discussed the Greater New York prospects. It was the opinion of those present that there was none too much time in which to complete the labors of the commission and it was agreed that a meeting should be held at the earliest possible moment. Gov. Morton showed his guests about his estate before the dinner. Mayor Gleason was particularly delighted with the place. Standing on the porch and looking over the beautiful scenery he turned to those near him and said: "Think of a man wanting to be president with such a grand place to live. Oh, sure a man's happier here than in the White House."

FIRE BRIGADE.

The International Tournament Successfully Opened in London.

London, June 20.—The International Fire Brigade tournament was successfully opened at the Royal Agricultural hall, London, last evening. Chiefs Hosmer of Massachusetts and Eton of Hartford, Conn., were present on behalf of the International Fire Engineers' association of the United States, and representatives from the New York, Illinois, Michigan and Florida associations were also in attendance. Messrs. Atchison and Litchfield represented respectively the Hamilton, Ont., and the New York fire underwriters. Capt. Simonds of London delivered an address of welcome to the visitors, to which Mr. Litchfield responded. Capt. Beasley introduced Messrs. Benoit and Stevenson of Canada to Capt. Simonds, and the Canadian team drove around the arena and were heartily cheered. Mr. Benoit in conversation with a representative of the United Press expressed himself as greatly pleased with the reception accorded the visiting delegations. He also said he considered the British departments' steamer and manual work excellent, but did not think their ladder work compared favorably with that of the Canadians.

Milwaukee Car Strike Declared Off.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 20.—The street railway boycott is at an end. It was formally declared off last night by President James Flint of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes; that is, it was declared off so far as it was within his power to do so. He said this morning that his organization has discontinued running 'busses and no longers asks the public to refrain from riding in the cars.

ELIZABETH CADY STANTON.

The Foremost Champion in the World for the Advancement of Women.

This Great American Recommends Paine's Celery Compound to Those Who Suffer From Nervous Ills.

Half a century of pioneer work for the advancement of women has made the life of Elizabeth Cady Stanton an inspiration to thousands and an appropriate object of homage and congratulation.

It is a year now since the immense ovation was given to Mrs. Stanton at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York on the anniversary of her 80th year, under the auspices of the National Council of Women of the United States.

A recommendation from such a brilliant philosopher, so good a mother, such a great and true woman, will be heeded by men and women everywhere.

As Mrs. Stanton herself said in reply to the many addresses of affection and devotion from women representing homes all over the land:

"In this struggling world men often lean on the judgment of mothers and wives, hence women need a clear understanding of the vital questions of the hour."

The guardian angel in every home is certainly a woman. Upon her shoulders rests the responsibility for the health of the family.

No wife, mother or sister who has the health or happiness of her family at heart, will see day after day go by with nothing done for some tired, sick or ailing member of the household. If she is a wide-awake, thoughtful woman she will make it her first duty to see that Paine's celery compound is used to bring back the vigor to the neglected nerves and the poor blood.

Elizabeth Cady Stanton, writing to the Wells & Richardson Co., of Burlington, on Jan. 6, said:

"Some members of my family have been using your Paine's celery compound, and I heartily recommend it to any one who is run down or suffering from nervous ills. Hereafter I shall always keep a bottle on hand."

It is the plain duty of every wife and mother to watch the health of those whom the worry and weariness of the office, the store or the factory makes heedless of their failing health. Pale lips and cheeks, disturbed sleep, pain of neuralgia or rheumatism, headaches or that constant feeling of weariness are causes enough for immediate recourse to that best of all invigorators, Paine's celery compound.

There is nothing vague or uncertain about its working. It goes straight to the cause of the mischief; purifies the blood, enriches it in volume and in quality, and firmly but gently stirs the organs that have become sluggish. Paine's celery compound drives out impurities, restores strength, renews vitality, regulates the kidneys, liver and bowels and makes people well. That is why it is the wonderful remedy that it is today, and more in demand than all the ordinary sarsaparillas, nervines and tonics that promise so much and accomplish so little. Every year confirms the faith of the people in Paine's celery compound.

One swallow does not make Spring, but one swallow of One Minute Cough Cure brings relief. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

THE FASHION.

It seems to be the fashion in some stores to charge as much as they can for a thing, no matter what it is worth. Now, we don't do that. We are not claiming any extraordinary merit for ourselves, either. We are simply honest. We sell furnishings for every one. We sell for the man who wants his tastes satisfied, irrespective of cost, and for the man who doesn't want to spend his last cent on a tie. We give satisfaction to each and all.

YOUTH OF THE CHURCH.

CHILDREN'S DAY EXERCISES POSTPONED FROM LAST SUNDAY.

An Ideal Day Made the Observance a Very Happy One—Churches Decorated and Special Programmes Rendered

PARK AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH.

It was a real June day yesterday and everybody realized the fact, but nevertheless there was quite a large turnout for the Children's Day services of the Sunday-school of the Park Avenue Baptist church, which were held yesterday morning. The programme was a pleasing one, especially the addresses, which were short but to the point, and the emblematic piece, in which was introduced a solo by Miss Adelia Runyon. A real little boat, with latteen sail, was on the platform, typical of the "Ship of Faith." It was equipped with the cross for a flag, hope for an anchor, the Bible for a guide, and the star of Bethlehem for light. It was manned by Virtue, Knowledge, Temperance, Patience, Godliness, Kindliness and Charity. And finally Jesus was chosen as its pilot. The exercise was a very pretty one.

The decorations consisted mainly of ferns, which were arranged about the front of the platform, and daisies, placed on the tables.

The exercises were in charge of Superintendent Skaden and were as follows:

The Lord's Prayer; Scripture reading; singing, "Bring Garlands of Love;" recitation, "Truest Wisdom," by Miss Lizzie VanWinkle; recitation, "Abon Ben Adhem and the Angel," Miss Grace Purdy; singing, "Crown Him;" recitation, "A Little Heart and How it Grew," Miss Lillian Richardson; singing, "Scattering Precious Seed." Primary department exercises were as follows: Song, "Little Blossom;" recitation, "When and How," Florence Cuming; recitation, "Nature's Voices," eight little children; duet, Retta Nash and Grace Giles; recitation, "If I Were a Boy," Harold Skaden; "The Floral Cross," by nine little girls; song, "Little Friends of Jesus;" Scripture reading; emblematic piece "The Voyage of Life" by the Misses Addie Runyon, Lizzie Van Winkle, Emma V. Fish, Fannie Brokaw, Helen Cuming and seven little boys; address by Rev. Dr. Lowry; singing, "Tell the Glad Tidings;" remarks by Rev. J. Richardson; offering for Baptist Publication Society; singing, "We March to Victory." Benediction.

TRINITY REFORMED CHURCH.

The postponed Children's Day exercises of the Sunday-school of Trinity Reformed church took place yesterday morning and were witnessed by a congregation that filled the edifice. The programme, which was a very interesting one, was given up to the primary department and they carried it out successfully in every detail.

At the opening of the service, the young scholars of that department marched from the lecture room through the several aisles of the church, occupying seats in the very front, the main school taking seats directly back of them, and the rest of the congregation filling the sides and rear.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with choice flowers and plants. Across the organ front were suspended festoons of daisies, which hung in graceful curves. In the centre of the organ front was suspended a large American flag, arranged in a pretty and artistic manner, and on either side and above which was suspended a sheaf of wheat, held together by dainty shades of ribbon. The pulpit was almost hidden by banks of daisies, intermingled with fragrant flowers and pretty palms and other plants. Another large American flag was suspended in front of the pulpit and still another back of the pulpit and the bright colors of these flags, with the background of flowers, presented a very charming spectacle and gave the church an appearance that it never had before, as it never looked more beautiful than it did yesterday morning. A charming feature of the service was the fourteen canary birds which were suspended in cages from the ceiling, and filled the air with their sweet music. This is a new idea as far as Trinity church is concerned, but the success of the experiment certainly reflects much credit upon the committee, of which Harry Van Emburgh is chairman.

Mr. Van Emburgh, who arranged most of the other decorations, was ably assisted by Mrs. H. W. Marshall and Miss May Sheppard.

All the daisy roping for the organ front was made at the home of Mrs. J. C. Van Dyke, who also assisted in the work of decorating.

At the opening of the service eight little infants were baptized by the Rev. Cornelius Schenck.

As has been before stated the primary department of the school had most of the service given up to them, and following is their portion of the programme: Recitation, "Prophecy," Anna Randall; recitation, "Fulfillment," Hazel Martin; object exercise, "The Shepherd's Symbols," Albert Yaeger, Willie Luckey, Morris Brokaw, Raymond Martin, Johnnie Yose, Arthur Caleen, Hervie Dobbs, Chrissie Mobus, Cornelius Schenck, Jr.; recitation "Providence," Bessie Randall; recitation, "The Saviour's Praise," Anna Holder. The little folks also sang several carols in an excellent manner, which spoke very well for their superintendent, Mrs. J. M. Tier, who so successfully drilled them, assisted by Miss M. Van Arsdale. They were accompanied on the organ during the singing by Miss Nettie Krietling.

During the service Rev. Cornelius Schenck delivered a short address to the children, taking for his subject, "The Good Shepherd."

After the service many gathered in the front of the church more closely to admire the decorations, and to compliment those who arranged them, and one and all were convinced that they were the most beautiful and exquisite that the church has ever had.

The choir, which consisted of Mrs. H. E. Rider, soprano; Miss L. Dunn, alto; Robert Clark, tenor; F. S. Cutter, bass; and their instructor, Organist A. L. Titsworth, also came in for a generous portion of the praise, for the excellent manner in which the music for the exercises was rendered.

At the evening service the pastor gave a very interesting sketch of his visit to Rome several years ago, and exhibited several photographs of historic places visited by him.

CRESCENT AVENUE CHURCH.

The annual Children's Day service of the Crescent Avenue church Sunday-school was held yesterday morning in the church at 10:30. The order of service was as follows:

Prelude.....Selected
Organ, Frank J. Smith; flute, Walter Serrell; violins, Chas. Davis, Lindley Hiliman and Gilbert Lovell.
Old Hundred and Lord's Prayer.
Hymn—In Summer, O How Sweet.

Chorus composed of Grace Kaufman, Lena Patton, Elsie Goddard, Florence Beebe, Edna Long, Gladys Kaufman.
Hymn—I Love to Tell the Story. Congregation
Gloria.
Benediction
Recessional.....Selected
Organ, flute and violins.

The decorations consisted of a large central piece composed of greens and daisies. The fount was filled with daisies and ferns, while on either side of the pulpit were several bouquets of white lilies and American Beauty roses. The combination of colors and the artistic way in which they were arranged was exceedingly beautiful. Dr. Richards' sermon was preached from the text: "And going on from thence He saw other two brethren, James, the son of Zebedee, and John, his brother, in a ship with Zebedee, their father, mending their nets; and He called them."

GRACE M. E. CHURCH.

At the Grace M. E. church yesterday morning the Children's Day services were exceedingly interesting. The pretty church was filled with the scholars and friends of the school. The platform was artistically decorated with flowers by the ladies of the church, and a feature was a large floral cross which had a prominent position surrounded by a choice collection of flowers. The following programme was rendered: Organ voluntary; anthem by the choir; prayer, Rev. Mr. Johnston; singing "Over the Fields and Valleys Gay," school; Scripture reading and musical responses, school; recitation, "Floral Voices," primary department; recitation, "Sunny Lives," Lottie Benner; singing, "Happy, Happy, Children's Day," children's choir; recitation, Miss

If it required an annual outlay of $100.00 to insure a family against any serious consequences from an attack of bowel complaint during the year there are many who would feel it their duty to pay it; that they could not afford to risk their lives, and those of their family for such an amount. Any one can get this insurance for 25 cents that being the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. One or two doses of this remedy will cure any ordinary case. It never fails. Can you afford to take the risk for so small an amount? For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

AT THE GOLF COURSE.

PLEASANT RECEPTION TENDERED BY THE HILLSIDE CLUB.

Preceeding the Arrival of Guests Some of the Members Indulged in the Game of Golf—Names of the Guests Present.

A few scattering rain drops threatened to bring the opening tea of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, held on their golf links Saturday afternoon, to a sudden end, but finally the clouds broke away and the sun came out. Toward the close of the afternoon the little grove on Sherman avenue in which the reception tent was pitched, was the centre of a gayly-dressed crowd while the golf players, some in the regulation golf suit and others in the white flannel, rested for refreshment and a little chat.

Light refreshments were served inside of the shelter tent, and here the guests were received by Miss Gertrude Walz and Miss May Evans, assisted by the Misses Mary Anderson Reinhart, Katherine Reinhart, Sarah Schuyler, May Waring, Annie Stewart, Daisy Van Boskerck, and Mrs. John Doull Miller.

The invited guests to the reception did not appear until nearly 5 o'clock, but a number of the members were out early and spent the afternoon playing golf. Next Saturday will be the last of the medal play and all the members were anxious to lower their averages before the close of the contest. Among those who tried their hands were: H. D. West, H. W. Beebe, J. S. Anthony, Thomas Van-Boskerck, J. W. Reinhart, J. H. P. Wharton, W. T. Kaufman, Evarts Tracy, Fred. Walz and L. H. Van-Buren.

During the afternoon, H. H. Beebe and Fred Walz tried their hand against W. T. Kaufman and Evarts Tracy in "foursomes." In the first round Kaufman and Tracy were four holds ahead of their opponents. By careful play Beebe and Walz reduced the lead to one hole at the close of the second round. The former won, however. The two rounds were completed by Beebe and Walz in 136 strokes, and by Kaufman and Tracy in 127 strokes.

Among the guests at the reception were: Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Smith, Misses Tracy, Mr. and Mrs. John Doull Miller, Carl Pfeiffer, E. Louis Walz, Jr., McCready Sykes, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hatch, Miss Daniel, Mrs. A. D. Shepard, Edwin H. Frost, Francis W. Frost, Reve Stockton, Joseph Wadsworth, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Herring, Miss Katherine Wood, R. A. Beebe, Roger Erickson, Harry Patton, Mrs. George Patton, C. W. Burton, H. D. West, Sherwood West, Howard W. Beebe, James S. Anthony, Thomas Van Boskerck, Howard Huntington, J. H. P. Wharton, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Kaufman, J. Evarts Tracy, Fred. W. Walz, Laurens H. Van-Buren, Misses Tweedy, Mrs. Mead, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brooks, Mrs. Ford, Rev. W. R. Richards, D. D., A. S. Patterson, Misses Patterson, Misses Bushnell, Miss Elsie Pfeiffer, Arthur Talmage, Dr. E. W. Hedges, Miss Munger, Harry Munger, Mr. and Mrs. James DeGraff, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Walz, Josiah Browne, Dr. F. C. Ard, Walter Murray, Mrs. D. P. Hall; Miss Daisy Shepard, Mrs. Mary Miller, Miss Gilbert, Mrs. Bret Harte, Misses Harte, Misses Miller, Fred. Huntington, Miss Kittie Stewart, Miss Clark, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Waring, William Palmer Smith, Miss Florence Waring, Miss Weller, H. P. Talmage, Mrs. Herman Simmonds, Miss Josephine Simmonds, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Andrews, Miss Gertrude Andrews, J. W. Reinbart, George Chapman, James Murray, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Slauson, Percy Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. J. Parker Mason.

Great Trolley Business.

It is stated upon excellent authority that since the trolley line has been in operation between this city and Dunellen the receipts of the New Jersey Central Railroad between the two places have fallen off at least 70 per cent. This, of course, means for passenger traffic only. On Saturday night the exodus of people from Dunellen was so great at one time that the Street Railway Company could not accommodate them. Sixty-eight persons were counted on a single car coming from Dunellen and some of these were obliged to stand on the conductor's "pathway" all the way to town.

Culver's Jury Disagreed.

The Case of the State vs. Nathan Culver, an old man indicted for alleged rape and tried at New Brunswick last week, resulted in a disagreement of the jury on Saturday last, will come up for trial again at an early date.

Ex-Senator "Bob" Adrain is associated with Lawyer Charles VanWinkle, of this city, in defending the old man, who is now nearly three score and ten years old.

Assessor Soon to Finish.

Assistant Tax Assessor David Pope expects to complete his work in the Fourth Ward within a few days. The ward is the most thickly populated of any in the city and the work is therefore necessarily tedious and slow. Some of the residents are slow to understand the object of the Assessor's visit, and this also retards the work to a great extent.

A Studio Tea.

Saturday afternoon Miss Haltie French, daughter of P. M. French, of Somerset street, gave a small studio tea, exhibiting the art work of the pupils of the Misses Day's school. Miss French studied at the Artist Artisans Institute in New York, and her methods of teaching produce very satisfactory results.

Dull at the Hospital.

An established rule among hospitals generally is that during the months of June and October a fewer number of cases are treated, while during July, August, January and February there are a greater number. No particular reason can be given for the rule. This accounts for the very few cases treated at Muhlenberg hospital this month.

Eczema is a frightful affliction, but like all other skin diseases it can be permanently cured by applications of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It never fails to cure Piles. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

PYTHIAN MEMORIAL SERVICE.

Local and Visiting Members Hold Service Over Graves of Deceased Members.

Crescent Division, Uniform Rank, K. of P., of this city, assisted by Rathbone Division, Uniform Rank, K. of P., of Brooklyn, observed Memorial Sunday yesterday, which is their yearly custom. Crescent Division with full membership, headed by the Independent Fife and Drum Corps, left their lodge rooms in time yesterday afternoon to meet the two o'clock train from New York, which brought the visiting Knights to this city. They then marched to the Plainfield avenue cemetery where a service founded on the principles of the order was performed by the members. It consisted of brief sentences, interspersed with bugle calls, prayer by the chaplain. Three members representing friendship, charity and benevolence, planted the stars and stripes, flowers and the Pythian Memorial on each grave. The service closed with a prayer. The members then took stages and went to Hillside, North Plainfield and Scotch Plains cemeteries, where similar services were held.

At the conclusion of the services an adjournment was made to the Crescent Hotel where a lunch was served, after which the members were escorted to the lodge rooms for a short time and then to the 8:23 train to New York.

The Knights made a very fine appearance on the streets. At Scotch Plains the shower interfered for a time with the service. The committee in charge of the service consisted of Edward Garretson, Morgan Turton and Lewis Mohring. John H. Tier, Jr., as Sergeant Major, and Louis Mohring as Sergeant, acted as escort in the parade.

Wagon Wrecked in a Runaway.

John Sharkey, the Liberty street butcher, had an exciting and disastrous runaway Saturday afternoon at at four o'clock. He left his rig standing in front of a customer's house on Prescott place while he delivered an order, when the animal suddenly became frightenod and ran away. Turning into West Fourth street, the wagon was upset, the top and running gear being badly wrecked and a bushel or so of green peas were planted along the gutter. The horse was captured after a spirited run and only the animal's front legs were disfigured. Mr. Sharkey was obliged to get another wagon before he could proceed on his route.

Booming Plainfield.

For a genuine Summer evening such as was experienced Saturday night, Plainfield has seldom been so lively. This fact can be attributed in no small measure to the crowds of people who made use of the trolley. It gave one the idea that Plainfield is becoming quite metropolitan in her ways. During the evening every trolley between Dunellen and Netherwood was taxed to its utmost capacity, and many people came to Plainfield from both points and spent considerable money with the local merchants.

Washingtonian Sociable.

A "Washingtonian Sociable" will be held in the Trinity Reformed church lecture room tomorrow evening, and the room will be elaborately decorated with the State colors of the Christian Endeavor Society, under whose auspices the sociable will be held. A musical programme has been arranged, and refreshments will be served to all. A silver offering will be accepted and the amount thus realized will go towards paying the expenses of a delegate to attend the National convention to be held at Washington, D. C., next month.

Flooded the Sewer With Lemonade.

One enthusiastic colored man in the Fourth ward was told that many out-of-town people would come to this city, yesterday, and look over the ground where the alleged ghost had perambulated only a few nights before, so he invested in about 150 lemons and made up some forty gallons of lemonade for the occasion. But the crowd failed to materialize, and late in the evening most of his product run into Greenbrook via the Plainfield avenue sewer.

Another June Wedding.

The following marriage notice will interest many persons, as Rev. Mr. Eccles was assistant rector of Grace church, Plainfield, before he went to Toms River:

ECCLES—LAURENCE—On June 17, 1896, at All Saints' Church, Bay Side, Long Island, by the Bishop of New Jersey, Lydia Lee, daughter of the late Henry Effingham Laurence, of Louisiana, to the Rev. George Warrington Eccles, rector of Christ Church, Toms River, N. J.

Business is Picking Up.

Work seems to be increasing at the Pond Machine Tool Company's works. New and additional core makers are being taken on from time to time, and the present year promises to be one of the most prosperous in the history of the firm.

BROTHERHOOD CONFER.

AN AUXILIARY TO THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH MEET IN THIS CITY.

Interesting Addresses Made by Those Engaged in Building up the Brotherhood of St. Andrew—Layman's Privilege.

The Conference of Chapters of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, was opened Saturday afternoon at 3:45 in the parish building of Grace P. E. church, under the charge of the local council. There were 36 representatives present as follows: Elizabeth, 15; Rahway, 2; North Plainfield, 1; Newark, 2; Orange, 2; Paterson, 1; Somerville, 2; Bound Brook, 1. The conferance opened with a quiet half-hour service, conducted by Rev. Henry Hale Sleeper, Ph. D., of Grace church, Elizabeth.

The reverand spoke of the necessity of preparation for service and urged all to devote more time to Christ's service. He closed this part of the programme with an earnest prayer. G. Dwight Stone, president of the Elizabeth Council, who presided at the conference, then announced the next number, "The Brotherhood; Its Influence in the Church." The above topic was introduced for discussion by Rev. Otis A. Glazebrook, D. D., of St. John's church, Elizabeth. The doctor said in part: "You talk about the clergy running the church and you make a great mistake. The clergy cannot do the work required. The church is for the layity. The clergy ought to be saved, if they are not, they had better get out. The church is to save souls. I am not concerned about the dignity of my office. It will take care of itself and if it doesn't, I had better get out. Our time should be devoted to the rescuing of souls. That's the work of the church and clergy. Ten years ago you wouldn't find such gatherings as this one today. A great praying band has been raised up. We can have our prayer meetings now the same as the Baptists and Presbyterians. Ten years ago it was considered a scandal for a layman to talk in meetings. Thank God that is all changed. I look upon my chapter as my right hand and I wish I had another one for my left hand. The church has been revived and the layity has been incorporated into the church as a working body."

F. W. Perry, of the Church of the Redeemer, North Plainfield, was introduced and spoke of the "Influence of the Brotherhood in the World." Mr. Perry, having had a large experience in mission work, was able to give a valuable talk on the subject. He told in an interesting way his experience and how broad an influence the Brotherhood has in the world. An informal discussion of the subjects followed, which was participated in by several. After those present were entertained at supper, the evening service was held at 7:15 in the church. Charles McMaster, St. George's Chapter, New York City, gave the first address, which was along the lines of Brotherhood work.

He spoke particularly of the members being witnesses unto God of the truth. He said that they should act and talk in such a way as to be witnesses, and this could only be done by exercising faith. He also said that faithful living meant something and that faith without words is dead. Rev. Pascal Harrover, of the Church of the Ascension, Staten Island, followed with a helpful address on "Loyalty." The speaker's chief thought was that every member of the Brotherhood should be loyal. He thought that this was an age when loyalty is most needed and all should be loyal to the church of Christ. It was to be considered a primary principle. The church, he said, needs to have pews and pulpits, possess a faith that is not dependent on someone else. The service was then brought to a close by the singing of a hymn and the pronouncing of the benediction. It must be noted that the conferance of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew was a very helpful one in every respect and its influence will be felt for a long time to come.

Progressive New Brunswick.

The city lights go out at midnight and the Freeholders are thinkingg of turning off the bridge lights at 1 a. m. Is New Brunswick a city, a town, a village or just simply a little collection of huts in the backwoods.—New Brunswick Times.

Mr James Perdue, an old soldier residing at Monroe, Mich., was severely afflicted with rheumatism but received prompt relief from pain by using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says: "At times my back would ache so badly that I could hardly raise up. If I had not gotten relief I would not be here to write these few lines. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done me a great deal of good and I feel very thankful for it." For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

CRISIS IS AT HAND

Wm. C. Whitney Points Out Danger to Democrats.

FREE SILVER MEANS DISSOLUTION

An Inopportune Time To Take Such a Step When International Action Favorable to the Joint Standard Seems Assured.

New York, June 22.—William C. Whitney has sent the following to the press: "I find it necessary to make a public statement embodying my views of the situation, to correct misconceptions, and to save the time now occupied in answering questions. Far too much importance has been attached to my decision to go to the convention. I have practically been out of politics for four years, and there are now many eastern democrats who can do much more than I can for the party. I shall not assume any position of leadership. My decision to stay was simply based on the duty of every person who believes in the party, for its principles, to stand by and lend his aid and take his chances when a great crisis is upon it. There can be no question but that a great crisis is upon the democratic party. Fundamental differences of principles exist inside the party, almost by sectional lines. The great question to my mind is whether the party meets in convention now as in 1860, with issues and differences that are for the moment irreconcilable. For the last fifteen years leaders of public opinion in the south and west have been advocating, as the great remedy for existing ills, the free coinage of silver at 16 to 1, with or without the co-operation of other nations.

Would Disrupt the Party.

"It has come to be believed there quite generally and conscientiously. A large majority of the delegates to the coming democratic convention have been elected by the people for the purpose of incorporating that doctriue into the platform of the democratic party. Our people, on the other hand, entirely disagree with these views, and believe, almost universally, that it will bring general ruin to business and prosperity of the country. It is deemed a new doctrine when proposed to be incorporated into the platform of the national democracy. It is true that in no previous platform of the party can it be specifically found. Consequently, no party obligations heretofore assumed oblige them to subscribe to it. Under these circumstances if the results of the democratic convention should be to establish as the issue of this campaign the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independent of other nations, in the intensity of feeling likely to arise, it is to be seriously apprehended that a disruption of the democratic party might occur. Certainly no substantial following could be secured for the doctrine among eastern democrats. They might not vote the republican ticket for other reasons (believing that the republican party stands for other issues that are detrimental to the country), but the democrats in the east would not, in my opinion, vote for it.

Inopportune Time for Silver Agitation.

"This movement purporting to be in the interest of the joint standard comes at a most inopportune time, in my opinion. There has never been a time when the prospects of international action favorable to the joint standard were as promising as at the present moment. But an ill-advised, unsuccessful attempt here would discredit the cause the world over. What is the situation as regards this? From the discussion of the last twenty years it has come to pass that among the persons in Europe who are trained, recognized scientists upon monetary and economic questions, scarcely one is not at the present moment advocating the desirability of the joint standard as the real solution of the monetary difficulties of the world. This includes every professor engaged in teaching or lecturing on these subjects in the universities of Great Britain. They are agreed upon the desirability of it, and that it is entirely practicable, if established and sustained by agreement of the principal commercial nations.

Would Discredit the Cause.

"Into this long and now just to be successful struggle for the establishment of the joint standard it is proposed that we should intervene by assuming to establish it alone. Against this proposed action on our part these earnest believers in and workers for the cause strenuously protest. They say to us you cannot succeed, and your failure will discredit the cause. It is a question not what we wish, but what we are able to do. A strong man may undertake a task for his strength and break down. It cannot be denied that the feeling among our people is that this free coinage by the United States alone will not give us the gold and silver money at a parity with each other, which is the assumption which it is undertaken, but will bring us to silver monometallism and a change in our standard of values. And that change, it is believed, means immediate ruin to our industries and no permanent good to any one. This feeling is instense. Whether these differences can be reconciled, it is impossible to anticipate. If the delegates from this locality should go to convention and represent that the rank and file of the party would follow the lead of the southern brethern and vote for the free coinage of silver by the United States alone he would be misrepresenting the state of public opinion here. Whether it is so or not, it is considered a proposition to debase the existing standard of values. And the same feeling of indisposition to compromise with that matter for votes or anything else, is as active and dominant here in our party as it was found in the republican party when it bore down and overpowered the McKinley machine.

Would Mean Disastrous Defeat.

"Personally, it is my opinion, if the democratic party goes on to that platform at this time they will meet the most disastrous defeat that any party has ever had in this country. I understand it is honestly believed in, and the people think it will bring relief from their present troubles; but between now and election day it will be pretty thoroughly sifted and the people of this country will not face the disturbance of values, the loss of confidence, the general distress and ruin which would come to their business interests in such a change in their standard of value as would arise from such action.

Would Not Serve If Elected.

"It ought not to be necessary for me to say anything of a personal nature. I find myself, however, spoken of here and there as a candidate—not very seriously nor prominently, but sufficiently to attract attention if I should fail to notice it. It sometimes affects one's influence in cases like the present. I have no personal motive in entering this fight. I have said that I would not be a candidate. I will add, copying the emphatic language once used by the late Gen. Sherman—I think I remember it correctly—'I will not run if nominated, nor serve if elected.' I am not foolish enough to suppose that any eastern man could be nominated by the convention—much less that I could. I sympathize with the feeling in the south that has caused this uprising and will find its expression at Chicogo, but with the principles which the uprising has brought forth and the issues being framed I entirely disagree.

"W. C. WHITNEY."

M'KINLEY'S NOMINATION.

His Success the Cause of Delight and Fear in Germany.

Berlin, June 22.—The nomination of McKinley for the presidency by the republican convention held in St. Louis is hailed here with satisfaction so far as the security of a gold currency is concerned, but there are fears that his election means the enactment of a prohibitive tariff by the American congress. Several Berlin exporters who have recently visited the United States for the purpose of studying the situation with a view of devising means to give impetus to German trade have returned here with the conviction that no improvement can be expected within a measurable time. However, it is only German drugs, colors and chemicals that are stationary. Kid gloves and paper goods find a ready market in the United States.

M'ADOO'S SUMMER CRUISE.

To Sail on the Dolphin To Inspect the Naval Militia Organizations.

Washington, June 22.—Assistant Secretary of the Navy McAdoo will leave Washington to-day on the United States dispatch boat Dolphin for an official inspection of the navy militia organizations on the Atlantic coast and the great lakes. He will be accompanied by Lieut A. P. Niblack, in charge of naval militia affairs at the navy department, and William Howell, his private secretary. The Dolphin will proceed first to Philadelphia, stopping to-morrow on the way up the Delaware river at the League island navy yard to inquire into the condition of the monitors for which requests have been made from the naval militia. On Wednesday Mr. McAdoo will inspect the monitor Ajax and other government property now in the possession of the New Jersey militia at Camden, and will also meet and confer with the officers regarding the condition of the organization in that state. From Philadelphia the Dolphin will proceed to New York, where the assistant secretary will inspecs the U. S. S. Portsmouth and the Eastern naval battalion of New Jersey at Hoboken, and will then proceed to Gardiner's bay to select a joint camp site for the naval brigades of New York, Connecticut and Rhode Island. The surgeon on board of the Dolphin will advise as to the sanitary condition of the ground selected. From this point Mr. McAdoo will go by train to Detroit, Mich., to witness the departure of the Michigan naval militia on board the U. S. S. Michigan, and will then go to Chicago to inspect the Illinois naval militia. Mr. McAdoo will leave Chicago in time to attend the camp at Gardiner's bay, whence he will return to Washington.

Chinese Coolies for Germany.

Berlin, June 22.—The Vorwaerts, the leading socialist newspaper, asserts that a number of Silesian landowners are entering into a combination with the object of obtaining coolies from China to replace native German laborers and the Russians and Poles now employed in farm and field work. According to the Vorwaerts a Berlin agent has arranged to supply the required number of coolies at a mark (about twenty-five cents) a day per head, all expenses included.

The Cretan Trouble.

Berlin, June 22.—According to the Madgeburg Zeitung the powers have addressed a collective note to Turkey advising an immediate meeting of the Cretan assembly, the revival of the Haleps treaty and a promise of the eventual autonomy of Crete under a system similar to that of Samoa.

Winner of German Derby.

Berlin, June 22.—The German Derby, a race that is worth 70,000 marks to the winner, was run here yesterday and won by Trolhetta, Dandar was second and Ganasche third.

THE FASHION.

It seems to be the fashion in some stores to charge as much as they can for a thing, no matter what it is worth. Now, we don't do that. We are not claiming any extraordinary merit for ourselves, either. We are simply honest. We sell furnishings for every one. We sell for the man who wants his tastes satisfied, irrespective of cost, and for the man who doesn't want to spend his last cent on a tie. We give satisfaction to each and all.

WHY $85 IS ENOUGH FOR A BICYCLE.

Considering, first, that our reputation for high-class work is the best, second, that the material used is of the highest quality; third, that our facilities for manufacturing are unsurpassed; fourth, that the special features are numerous and advantageous; and last, that each machine carries with it a strong, honest guarantee—why should the

Delicate Dress Goods.

Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable, NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redyeing. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? Laundry drivers will receive your work.

FREE SILVER'S FIGHT

Democrats Getting Ready for the Chicago Convention.

WHITE METAL MEN LEAD IN OHIO

Will Control the State Convention Which Meets To-morrow — Administration Democrats Hard at Work for the Gold Standard.

Columbus, O., June 22.—The democratic state convention meets here tomorrow, and the entire fight centres on the currency, with the silver men largely in the majority. Four-fifths of the delegates are already selected, and there are few gold men among them. The convention will no doubt stand for free silver, although the action of Cuyahoga, Lucas, Montgomery, and Butler counties, in declaring for the single gold standard, has created a nucleus around which an opposition of goodly proportions may gather. John A. McMahon of Dayton, who was selected for temporary chairman, has declined on account of the evident free-silver tone in the convention. He is in favor of maintaining the present gold standard. The state central committee will choose another person to take his place. Probably forty out of the forty-six delegates from this state to the democratic national convention will be for free silver.

To Stem the Silver Tide.

Washington, June 22.—Administration democrats here are co-operating with W. C. Whitney of New York in his effort to stem what is termed the silver tide and to change the apparent silver complexion of the Chicago convention into one for gold. The first practical move in that direction made here has been to secure a list of all the delegates-elect to the Chicago convention. More than two-thirds of these have been chosen. All the delegates chosen who are either instructed for silver, or are believed to incline to silver, will at once be communicated with personally. These delegates for weeks past have been receiving "sound money" literature from New York and Boston reform clubs, but they will, it is asserted, be solicited by letter. Efforts will also be made to ascertain their standing in their communities and what influence, if any, of a local or national nature can be brought to bear on them to change their views on the money question. To this end prominent bankers and merchants in the communities in which the delegates reside will be written to for information and when in hand this information with political pressure that can be brought from their fellow democrats locally or nationally will be utilized in the direction of the well known views of the administration.

To Battle for the Gold Standard.

Albany, June 22.—At the assembly district conventions here Saturday the following resolution was adopted: "Resolved that the delegates from this assembly district be and they are hereby instructed to use all honorable means to secure an unequivocal declaration in the democratic platform to be adopted at Saratoga in favor of sound money, and the election of delegates to Chicago who will battle for the maintenance of the gold standard in the national democratic platform."

Ex-Gov. Campbell Called Down.

Washington, June 22.—Ex-Governor Campbell of Ohio left here yesterday afternoon for his home. Near the close of his speech Saturday night, when he declared for the money of the constitution, he was interrupted by cries from the audience—"No straddle, Jim. Say 16 to 1. Now's your chance"—but he made no response.

Drowned in an Old Mine.

Plattsburgh, N. Y., June 22.—Geo. Haggerty, aged 14 years, son of M. Haggerty, who has been hall keeper at Clinton prison, Dannemora, for thirty years, was drowned yesterday in the old iron mine at the rear of the prison. Young Haggerty, in company with several other lads, was wading in the water at the edge of the mine and stepped off the ledge and disappeared from sight in 500 feet of water. The body was recovered.

In Honor of Diaz's Renomination.

City of Mexico, June 22.—There was a great demonstration here yesterday in honor of President Diaz, who has been renominated for a fifth term. There was a procession of about 8,000 persons, including 4,000 full-blooded Indians from neighboring villages, carrying banners and flags. The bells were ringing all day, and last night there was a display of fireworks.

Allegheny College Commencement.

Meadville, Pa., June 22.—The annual baccalaureate sermon of Allegheny was preached by President W. H. Cradford. The college love feast occured in the afternoon and the evening Dr. S. D. Hutsinpillar of Erie, Pa., preached the annual Christian association sermon. The commencement exercises will be held Thursday.

Off on a Fishing Trip.

Washington, June, 22.—The president last night, accompanied by Secretary Carlisle and Dr. O'Reilly, left this city for a brief fishing cruise along the south Atlantic coast. The party will probably spend two or three days on this excursion.

Death of Levi Putnam.

TROUBLE WITH UNITED STATES SURE

Rothschild Loan To Be Expended for Warships and Naval Supplies—Bill in Spanish Senate Censuring the United States.

Madrid, June 22.—The platform of the St. Louis convention causes uneasiness here. It is feared that a conflict with the United States has now its date almost fixed. The larger part of the loan of 100,000,000 pesetas made by the Rothschilds on the guarantee of the Almaden quicksilver mines will probably go to increase the navy, and will be employed in buying immediately such warships as may be for sale. The government is responding to national sentiment and, trusting probably to the help of other powers, it seems resolved to resist American impositions when the time comes.

To Censure the United States.

Madrid, June 22.—The liberals have introduced in the senate a motion censuring the United States for their attitude regarding Cuba.

Col. Nunez Arrested.

Jacksonville, Fla., June 22.—Col. Nunez, the Cuban patriot, arrived here late Saturday night and was arrested by U. S. Marshal McKay on a warrant sworn out by Spanish Vice-Consul Mariategui, charging him with aiding in fitting out the expedition which sailed from this port on April 27 on the steamer Bermuda. Col. Nunez came here to surrender himself. He will have a hearing before United States Commissioner Locke to-day, and will at once leave for New York to surrender to the federal authorities there to answer to a charge of aiding in fitting out the Laurada expedition.

VICTORIES BY THE CENSOR.

Spanish Reports of Severe Losses by the Patriots in Some Sharp Fights.

Havana, June 22.—The Spanish gunboats Satellite and Ardilla, while making a cruise of inspection along the coast near Vertientes, close by the terminus of the Jucaro-Moron trocha, were attacked by insurgents from the shore. With the assistance of the garrison of the fort the enemy was repulse after a sharp fight. The insurgents lost seventeen dead and many wounded. On the Spanish side two soldiers and six marines were wounded. Commander Bauza of the Ardilla was also wounded, but not seriously. Gen. Bernal, operating near Francisco, in the Pinar del Rio province, reports that he has dislodged a party of insurgents from their position in the hills in that vicinity, capturing their camp and destroying 100 huts. In the engagement preceding the taking of the camp eighteen of the insurgents were killed and two of the Spanish force were wounded. Gen. Gasco reports that a band of insurgents numbering 500 attacked a force of sixty guerrillas on the road from Manzanillo to Bayamo, a long and fierce fight ensued. The guerrillas were reinforced by 200 troops and the insurgents were defeated and driven toward Peralejo. Six of them were killed and a captain and fifteen privates wounded. The Comercio squadron, which was organized last year by merchants, has been disbanded because of the lack of funds and the severe penalties inflicted upon persons connected with it for faults committed.

Says It Will Be Close in Nebraska.

Chicago, June, 22.—Senator Francis Warren of Cheyenne, Wyo., is at the Auditorium, having just arrived from St. Louis. Regarding the situation in Wyoming, he said: "Wyoming is a republican state and, in my judgment, we will carry it this fall for the republican national ticket, although the contest will be fiercely fought, especially if Henry M. Teller is indorsed by the Chicago convention."

Another Storm in St. Louis.

St. Louis, June 22.—A sharp reminder of the recent disastrous tornado struck this city at 3:30 p. m. yesterday. From the same quarter whence came the great tornado the wind blew at a forty-mile speed, and the rain fell in sheets. Many of the houses that were partly restored after the tornado were again damaged.

Killed by Lightning in New York.

People who have business with the Governor may expect a pleasant session for the next few days. A little Miss Griggs came to grace the home of the Governor on Saturday last.

The report of the largely increased business of the street railway company must of necessity mean that the more of the trolley we have the more of business Plainfield merchants will enjoy—an argument which The Press has always maintained.

The Republican papers are just now devoting much space to the joyful contemplation of reports of the prosperous condition of manufacturers abroad, especially in England. It is a remarkable fact that they derive satisfaction from either prosperity or adversity in Great Britain. If times are bad there the depression of business is due to free trade; if they are good it is because a reduced tariff lets the products of their mills and factories into the American market. Just now it is the latter point on which stress is laid.—Louisville Courier Journal.

The Press believes that the Salvation Army is doing good and effective work in the Christian course of uplifting the world's unfortunate, but it is to be regreted that the location of the Army's barracks in this city is within one hundred feet of an old established church like Trinity Reformed, on West Second street, because the methods of worship of the two societies are so widely divergent. Last night the noise of the brass band, which has been a part of the Army services for some weeks past, was such an annoyance to the congregation of the church that all the windows on the North side of the edifice had to be closed before the words of Rev. Mr. Schenck's sermon could be heard. As a consequence the attendants were left to swelter in the oppressive heat. The same disagreeable conditions for the church members exist during the two week day prayer meetings. It is to be deplored that the two religious societies should be in such close proximity to each other, since the accompanying noise of the Army service occasions such an unpleasant situation as marked the service at Trinity church last.

HELPING THE FRESH AIR CAMP.

Young People Conduct a Profitable Festival on Ninth Street.

Several of the young people living on and in the vicinity of Ninth street gave a very successful lawn festival on the lawn of the property situated on the corner of Ninth street and First place Saturday afternoon and evening. The proceeds were for the benefit of the Plainfield Fresh Air Camp, and amounted to $30.

The candy table was presided over by the Misses Grace Peck, Elma Thayer, Nettie Langdon and Daisy B. Kline. The fancy table was looked after and its articles sold by the Misses Marguerite Leal, Roxie Love, Mildred Thayer, Wilhemina Patton and Elsie Goddard.

William Nash, Henry Leal, John Jackson and Stanley Peck had charge of the ice cream, glace and soda stand, and managed to dispose of twenty-four quarts of ice-cream and several glasses of soda. Harry Slanson spent his time very profitably with a grab bag, taking in the sum of $3.50.

Hanna Thayer, dressed in Japanesse costume, spent the afternoon selling fans.

At 8:30 o'clock Stanley Peck auctioned off the remaining articles. Miss Florence Kline acted as cashier. Wilbur Jackson was the head waiter, and the Misses Dorethy Langdon and Grace Wilcox acted as waitresses.

A Lawn Party.

At the "Rosecroft," on Terrell road, near Fanwood, the residence of Mrs. D. A. Schierenbeck, a very enjoyable children's lawn party was held on Saturday from 2 to 7 o'clock. Miss Evelyn Schierenbeck, the hostess, was kept busy entertaining her guests with round games, croquet, etc. The grounds presented a very pretty and animated scene as the little folks moved about in the enjoyment of the pleasant afternoon. At the close of the day, Master Hansard Schierenbeck took them for a "straw ride" and safely delivered each one at their respective homes in Plainfield, Westfield and neighboring hamlets.

A. L. Wooster, a prominent citizen of Osseo, Mich., after suffering excruciatingly from piles for twenty years, was cured in a short time by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, an absolute cure for all skin diseases. More of this preparation is used than all others combined. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front Street

Mrs. Ransom, of this city, returned Saturday from a visit with friends at Astoria, L. I.

T. H. Keller, of East Front street, returned yesterday after a business trip to the west.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Marsh, Jr., of First place, have gone to Linbrook, L. I., for the summer.

Mrs. P. C. Adams, of Linden avenue, has gone to point pleasant for a change of air and scene.

Fred Richter and sister, Miss Edna Richter, of Perth Amboy, are visiting Mrs. Marlow, of Dunellen avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Aldrich, of New York, spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. David Boice, of Park avenue.

Ogden Hoffman, Bert Stevenson and Will Chambers, of Somerville, were visiting in town Saturday evening.

Samuel Gibson, of Paterson, was the guest of City Judge George W. De Meza, of West Second street, yesterday.

Mrs. Wm. G. Anderson, of Franklin place, and her granddaughter, Marion Mortimer, have gone to Erie, Pa., on a visit.

A. W. Weseman, superintendent of the Scott Press Works, was unable to assume his duties this morning on account of illness.

Assemblyman Charles A. Reed arrived home Saturday evening from St. Louis, where he attended the Republican convention.

M. J. Flanders, of Manlius, N. Y., was the guest of his old army comrade, T. T. Barrett, of North Plainfield, for over Sunday.

Mrs. J. E. Townsend, of Coddington avenue, was attacked with remittent fever on Saturday. Her condition today is much improved.

City Judge De Meza and Assemblyman W. R. Codington have gone to Somerville today to try the appeal case of Baker against Baker.

Miss Janet Studdiford, from Lambertville, a student at Bryn Maur College, spent Sunday at the home of C. W. McCutchen, of Rockview avenue.

Miss Leonore Carle, of East Sixth street, graduated last Thursday from a New York kindergarten training school, and went to Atlantic Highlands last Friday on a class picnic.

Assistant Foreman Michael Fitzgerald, of Engine Company No. 33, of the New York Fire Department, was the guest Saturday and Sunday, of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Linke, of West Second street.

Miss Evelyn Smith, of Madison avenue, Miss Marion Bowen, of Watchung avenue, and Miss Belle Patterson, of Central avenue, have just returned after taking their entrance examinations to Smith College.

The many friends of Daniel R. Dunavan, formerly of East Second street, this city, but now of Chicago, will be pleased to know that he has worked himself up to a fine position, and has charge of a large real estate business.

Raymond A. McGee sang a bass solo at the evening service of the First M. E. church yesterday. It was his last evening in the choir before his departure for Europe. His fine and powerful voice will be greatly missed.

James Deady, of West Third street, whose serious illness was noted in these columns on Saturday, was stricken with another hemorrhage on that day, and his chances for recovery were yesterday considered much better.

Miss Julia Burke, of West Fourth street, who has been confined to the house for a long time past suffering from rheumatism and nervousness, is now able to be up and around her room, although she is yet very weak as the result of her long and tedious illness.

Mrs. J. C. VanDyke, of East Front street, who has been deprived of the privileges of Christian worship for the past six months, on account of an accident, was able to attend the Children's Day service at her church (Trinity) yesterday morning and received the congratulations of her many friends.

In the Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of—DeWitt's Little Early Risers, for they always cleanse the liver, purify the blood, and invigorate the system. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

After the above had been rendered an adjournment to the church was made where the following programme was given: Organ voluntary; doxology; invocation, Dr. Yerkes; anthem, "Praise the Lord," choir; hymn, school and congregation; responsive reading of Scripture; anthem, "The Lord is my Shepherd," choir; Scripture reading and prayer; response, choir; hymn, school and congregation; sermon and prayer, Dr. Yerkes; offertory, vocal solo, "Saved by a Child," Miss Harris; hymn, school and congregation; benediction; organ postlude.

The decorations consisted of a bank of choice flowers arranged about the front of the pulpit platform. The members of the Sunday-school occupied the entire gallery.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The First Presbyterian church presented a cheerful appearance yesterday morning when the Children's Day service was held. A large congregation was present in addition to the Sunday-school. The decorations consisted chiefly of American flags which were well arranged about the upper part of the organ. Superintendent H. B. Lounsbury had charge of the service and was assisted by Rev. C. E. Herring, pastor. The latter gave a very interesting illustrated talk to the children from the text "The Blood of Jesus Cleanseth Us From All Sin." During the service the baptizing of five infants was a feature. The programme of the service, entitled "The Good Shepherd," was as follows: Organ voluntary; opening chorus, school and congregation; prayer, Rev. C. E. Herring; singing, school and congregation; responsive reading of scripture; singing, school and congregation; singing, primary department; singing, school and congregation; responsive reading of scripture; singing, school and congregation; reading of Dr. Worden's Missionary letter, Miss Mary Lucky; offertory; singing, "America," school and congregation; benediction. During the offertory Miss Glen, soprano and Miss Messersmith, alto, rendered vocal solos in a pleasing manner.

MT. OLIVE BAPTIST CHURCH.

The following excellent Children's Day programme was rendered at the Mount Olive Baptist Church yesterday afternoon by the members of the Sunday school: Recitations, "Sweet Pease," Maude Green; "The River," Hattie Wood; "The Woodland River," Etta Kingsland; "Contentment," Anna Connett; "One Violet," Mabie Fisher; "The Death of a Daisy," Birdie Green; "Mother," Ora Gibson; "Baby," Ella Lewis; "Lilly Bells," Catherine Mitchell; song, Gertrude Henrietta Martin; recitation, Serah Scott.

The above was followed with short remarks by the teachers of the School. The attendance was very large.

Oscar Campbell, of Netherwood avenue, returned yesterday from Morgantown, W. Va., where he graduated last Wednesday from the University of West Virginia, and where he has taken his degree.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Swackhamer, of East Third street, spent Saturday and Sunday at White House.

Mrs. Rowland Cox and daughter have just returned from Harvard College, where they witnessed the graduation of Mrs. Cox's son, Archie Cox.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Field Day for Knights Templar.

Grand Commander Robert Dingwell, Deputy Grand Commander J. E. Rowe, of Newark, and Grand Captain General Dr. McGill, of Lamberrville, representing the New Jersey Knights Templar, are in town today selecting the route for the parade, and making other necessary arrangements for the annual field day exercises to be held in this city during the first week in October. It will no doubt be one of the largest gatherings ever held in Plainfield. Those in charge will probably select the day previous to the one chosen for the opening of the State Christian Endeavorers convention, and thus the decorations will answer for both events.

On the Mountain.

Among the late arrivals at the Mountain Park Inn are: Mayor Hegeman, North Plainfield; Ex-Mayor Lebkuecher, Newark; Hon. David Depue, Newark; Rev. Geo. H. Whitney, D. D. and wife of Plainfield. List of arrivals for June 19th. Mrs. Sydney Ogden, Mr. Farrand, Mr. and Mrs. Lebkuecher, Newark; M. Sneckner, New York; Dr. and Mrs. Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. Groendyke, Mrs J. G. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Van Vliet, J. S. Hegeman, Mr. and Mrs. Joy, Jas. McGee, Plainfield.

To Enjoy an Outing.

The junior Christian Endeavorers of Trinity Reformed church will enjoy an outing in the woods next Friday. They will meet in the lecture room of the church at 9:30 a. m., and then proceed to some secluded spot which is reached by the trolley cars. Those who go will take their lunches with them as those in charge intend to spend the entire day in the woods and a pleasant time is assured all who attend.

Representatives from America.

The executive committee of the American Purity Alliance have appointed Aaron M. Powell president and Mrs. Anna Rice Powell corresponding secretary to represent them at the International Congress for the Abolition of State Regulation of Vice, to be held at Berno, Switzerland, in September next.

A Special Meeting to be Held.

A special meeting of the Board of Education will be held this evening. The bids for the construction of the Lincoln School building were to have been opened, but a new law prescribing a special form for advertising bids has been found, and it will be necessary to advertise for them in the prescribed manner.

Fell Out of a Tree.

John Johnson, the eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Johnson of Park avenue, fell from a tree on Thursday of last week, dislocating a large bone in the right arm and fracturing a smaller one. Dr. Adams was called and treated the arm, and the boy is improving under his care.

Trim Your Shade Trees.

Street Commissioner Meeker gives notice that he will enforce the ordinance concerning the trimming of branches of shade trees extending over the sidewalks. They must be trimmed from the trunk to a height of not less than ten feet from the ground.

—A festival will be held at Marconnier chapel on Thursday evening.

—The opening services at the new Mt. Pleasant chapel will be held next Sunday afternoon.

—An unsuccessful attempt has been made to organize a local lodge of painters and paper hangers.

—The new chapel at Mt. Pleasant has been completed and services will be held there next Sunday afternoon.

—Contractors William H. Smith and August Keller, of this city, are erecting a $6,000 house for Lawyer Corbett, of Metuchen.

—The annual excursion of the Crescent Avenue Sunday-school, will be held on August 11th, and will go to Asbury Park.

—A poverty social will be held in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church tomorrow evening, to which all are invited.

—The invocation at the graduating exercises of the High School in Music Hall, Thursday night, will be offered by Rev. E. M. Rodman.

—East Second street was treated Saturday by Councilman Frost and his men, who did good work in putting the street in condition.

—J. E. Davis, the capitalist interested in the Townsend Sanitarium, says the house will be conducted not only as a sanitarium but as a hotel.

—The monthly meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the First M. E. church will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

—Rev. C. R. Barnes, D. D., will preach a sermon to the members of the Jr. O. U. A. M., next Sunday evening at the First M. E. church.

—Owing to the great success of the Saturday's special sale of the Laire stock, the assignee has decided to continue it for three days longer.

—The petition for the opening of Watchung avenue in this city is growing rapidly, which gives unmistakable evidence that the people want the street opened.

—The Mt. Pleasant chapel, which has just been completed, will be dedicated next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all to be present.

—A cake of castile soap and a washcloth is one of the specialties at Leggett's drug store. The price is 10 cents. Another novelty is large firecrackers containing fragrant perfume.

—William Mahew has resumed his position in the Pond Machine Tool Work's foundry, after a several months' affliction from rheumatism, which he claims to have contracted there.

—A meeting of the Plainfield Branch of the Christian Alliance will be held tomorrow evening at 8 oclock in the rooms of the W. C. T. U. rooms on Watchung avenue. Prayer, praise and testimony.

—W. E. MacClymont, organist of the First Presbyterian church, will give his fifteenth organ recital at the above church this evening. This will be the last of the season. No admission fee will be charged.

—"I have been using Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills for the last three or four years, and they have saved us many doctor bills. We always keep them in the house." Mrs. John F. Hall, Neshanic, N. J. Hood's Pills cure sick headache, indigestion.

—Telegrapher Charles H. Schermerhorn, of the Western Union Telegraph Company, has presented to the Public Library the report of the eleventh census on "Wealth, Debt and Taxation," part one. This makes the Library's set of this valuable series complete to date.

—James F. Johnson, of West Fourth street, will go to Lake Pleasant, Mass., this week to assume charge of the cuisine in a large summer hotel there. His wife is already there being employed in the capacity of head pastry cook. Lake Pleasant is becoming a rival to Ocean Grove, on account of the camp meeting facilities.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by continually failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists, 75c.

Young mothers dread the Summer months on account of the great mortality among children caused by bowel troubles. Perfect safety may be assured those who keep on hand DeWitt's Colic and Cholera cure, and administer it promptly. For cramps, bilious colic, dysentery and diarrhoea. It affords instant relief. EARLY INTELLIGENCE

—A festival will be held at the First Presbyterian church tomorrow night.

—Rev. W. C. O'Donnell, of Monroe Avenue chapel, preached at the First M. E. church last evening.

—A party of West Enders, under the leadership of Samuel Goff, enjoyed a picnic to Florida Grove yesterday.

—Some small boys throwing stones on Park avenue, Saturday, let one drive at a window in Armstrong's pharmacy. The damage was slight.

—Minerva Temple, No. 4, Rathbone Sisters, will celebrate their second anniversary in K. of P. Hall, West Second street, tomorrow evening.

—Lawyer Kirch succeeded today in securing the release of Alfred G. Cook from the Somerville jail on his own recognizance. Cook will appear at the September term of court.

—Owing to the fact that the trolley stands on the closed street cars are so high, the cars have been unable to pass under the Watchung Avenue railroad bridge. New stands have been secured, and they are now being put on the cars. This will remove the difficulty of changing cars at the North avenue point.

—Westfield has suffered severely last week from the depredations of clothesline thieves. On Tuesday night they stripped a line on Summit avenue. Wednesday night they made quite a haul and stripped the Johnson and Fogarty lines in Spring street, and Mrs. Massett's line near Picton. A string of clothes left out on Park street also disappeared. It is believed that the stealing is done by parties who drive into town.

EXCHANGED SHOTS.

Two Policemen Fired at by Tramps and Return the Compliment.

Roundsman Mattox and Patrolman Vanderweg had an exciting experience early Sunday morning when two unknown individuals fired several shots at them. Bendix Frederickson, son of Roundsman Frederickson, was going up South avenue to his home at Netherwood and noticed two men acting in a suspicious manner. When he reached Netherwood, he found two the two officers there and told them of the circumstance. They started down South avenue and had reached the marshey land at the foot of the hill when they saw in the thick mist, the figures of two men. Vanderweg walked toward them and the two strangers jumped the fence. "Hold on there," shouted the policeman. A reply came back that sounded like "Get out you son of a ——!" and the mysterious characters blazed away with their revolvers. Vanderweg ducked and heard a bullet fly unpleasantly close to his head and then returned the fires.

The officers pursued them to the railroad embankment on the other side of which they disappeared in the bushes and could not be found.

The condidition of Miss Maggie Winckler, of Park place, still continues critical, dispite the best medical treatment, and loving parental nursing.

Wm. E. MacClymont will give the last of his organ recitals this season this evening at the First Presbyterian church.

M. J. Cashin will give a farewell reception and ball to his friends of the Plainfield Catholic Club on Wednesday evening at the club house. He is to be married on that day.

Mothers will find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy especially valuable for and whooping cough. It will give prompt relief and is safe and pleasant. We have sold it for several years and it has never failed to give the most perfect satisfaction. G. W. Richards, Duquesne, Pa. Sold by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

It Goes Without Saying

that when when you are suffering from catarrh, you want relief right away. What is the use then of experimenting with blood "cures" upon a disorder resulting from climatic changes? Use a local remedy, for a local disease. Use Ely's Cream Balm which relieves at once the attacks of catarrh and cures chronic cases. 50c at all druggists. This remedy can be safely used by all without injurious results. It contains no mercury or injurious drug of any kind.

PRAISE FOR LUDWIG

Congratulated for His Position in the Moscow Banquet Incident.

KAISER REKINDLES THE EXCITEMENT

Bestows a Decoration Upon the President of the Banquet Whose Words Evoked a Violent Protest from Prince Ludwig.

Berlin, June 22.—The excitement which prevailed throughout the south German states over the incident at the banquet of the Deutsche verein in Moscow upon the occasion of the czar's coronation when the president of the banquet alluded to the German princes as members of the suite of Prince Henry of Prussia was subsiding rapidly, but it has now received a fresh impulse by the bestowal of the order of the Red Eagle by the emperor upon the chairman whose words evoked a violent protest from Prince Ludwig of Bavaria, who resented the president's words by indignantly declaring that the princes alluded to were neither members of Prince Henry's suite nor vassals of the German empire. The Bavarian press in commenting upon the act of the emperor in decorating the president of the banquet interpret it as a new act of provocation on the part of Prussia, although it is a clearly customary action toward an official receiving a representative of the kaiser, in which capacity Prince Henry went to Moscow. Prince Luitpold, regent of Bavaria, has sought to hush up the uproar caused by the words of the president of the banquet and the resentful speech of his son and the heir to the Bavarian throne, Prince Ludwig, but popular feeling has been too strong as was shown in the enthusiastic demonstration at the closing of the session of the Bavarian landtag in Munich when President Von Walther thanked the royal house for watching and jealously preserving the independence of Bavaria and her guaranteed treaties. This expression was received with cheers, which were plonged many minutes. In addition to this the patriotic associations in all parts of south Germany are sending congratulatory messages and addresses to Prince Ludwig in great profusion.

Catholic Party Taking the Lead.

The Catholic party are especially taking the lead in the resurgence of the particularist agitation, and the Catholic press are vehement in their denunciation of the persistent attempts to force the Prussian regime upon the independent states of Germany. The Berlin government in the meantime is viewing the agitation in south German states very quietly, and the Berlin newspapers treat the matter lightly, as though the particularist sentiment in the south of Germany were a quantity not worthy of serious consideration. The National Gazette characterizes the excitement as puerile, but however lightly the government and the press may view the agitation it cannot be dismissed in that fashion. The fact is that the present outbreak is due to a feeling which has long been in the air in south Germany, where the people and the princes alike have silently resented the autocratic acts and speeches of the kaiser. Legislative proposals like the wine tax, which hit south Germany hard without touching Prussia, the vexatious treatment of south German lines by the Prussian railways and the dealings between the postal authorities of Prussia and the south German states have combined to keep particularism alive. The agitation which is giving free vent to long-restrained sentiments, is likely to do good to the whole country, and, after all, it is a family quarrel which oes not in any way affect the unity of the empire.

Prince Ludwig Goes to Hungary.

In the meantime, Prince Ludwig, whose violent words at the banquet were the signal for the popular outburst of feeling, has found it prudent, or at least convenient, to go to his hunting estate in Hungary to remain until the excitement is allayed. It is said by those who are in a position to know that his departure for Hungary was taken with a view of avoiding the rousing ovations which the people of Munich and other places were preparing to give him.

RUN DOWN AT A CROSSING.

Three Men and Two Horses Killed and One Man Fatally Injured.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 22.—The 8 o'clock express from Philadelphia for this city over the Pennsylvania railroad struck a team and wagon at Absecom station, about eight miles from here, shortly after 9 o'clock yesterday morning and killed three men and fatally injured another. The men were bound on a picnic trip and had descended a steep hill leading to the depot without knowing of the proximity of the train, which was speeding along at the rate of sixty miles an hour. They realized their danger when it was too late, as the momentum of the wagon carried the team out on the track, where the vehicle was struck by the locomotive. One of the horses and one man were hurled through the air forty feet and fell side by side dead. The other horse was also killed outright and carried along by the tender 100 yards. Two of the men were thrown under the wheels of the locomotive and ground to atoms. The dead men, who are all relatives, are George Huber, his son, Frederick Huber, and Henry Getzner. Joseph Sahl, a son-in-law of Huber, is believed to be fatally injured and is now at the City hospital. The men belonged in Galloway township and were prominent in the county's affairs.

TWO WOMEN MURDERED.

Killed by Burglars, Who Split Their Heads Open with Hatchets.

New Orleans, June 22.—Mrs. T. Landry and Miss Madeleine Hebert, her niece and adopted daughter, members of a leading family in Iberville, were found in their house with their heads cut open by a hatchet. Mrs. Landry was dead; Miss Hebert was speechless and fatally wounded, and died soon after. It was evident that two burglars had broken into the house. They aroused Mrs. Landry, who was instantly killed, her head being cut open from behind. Miss Hebert probably heard the noise and came to the rescue of Mrs. Landry. One of the burglars held her while the other struck her several blows on the head with the hatchet. After robbing the house the burglars escaped in a skiff to the other side of the Mississippi. Two negroes are suspected of the crime.

THIRTY FISHING CRAFT LOST.

Destroyed by a Hurricane Which Swept the Labrador Coast.

St. Johns, N. F., June 22.—A hurricane has swept over the Labrador coast, doing immense damage. Thirty fishing craft were destroyed at Blanc Sablon, and it is feared that other vessels were lost at more northern points. The fishery reports from all parts of the coast are very unfavorable. Trouble is feared at French Shore owing to the operation of the recent proclamation preventing the use of certain fishing appliances.

Yale Baccalaureate Sermon.

New Haven, Conn., June 22.—President Dwight yesterday preached the Yale baccalaureate sermon. The academic and scientific seniors to the number of 600 were present in the body of Battel chapel, and hundreds of visitors and alumni crowded the galleries. The sermon was unusually impressive and contained many references to President Dwight's college career. This year is his tenth as president of Yale. He selected as his text Matthew x., 8: "Ye, having freely received; Freely give."

Great Damage by Hail Storm.

Bellefonte, Pa., June 22.—One of the severest hail and rain storms known in a generation passed over this county last evening. Hailstones as large as peas fell until the ground was covered. In the county the damage to grain is beyond computation. Entire fields were lain prostrate. Many fruit trees were also completely stripped, and though the storm lasted but a half hour it is estimated that the rainfall was fully one and one-half inches.

Off for Europe in a 20-Foot Boat.

New York, June 22.—Frank Charlsen, formerly a sailor in the employ of John Jacob Astor, sailed last evening from Battery basin in a twenty-foot cedar boat for Liverpool. His brother, also a seafaring man, accompanied him. The men expect to get to Liverpool in their little craft in sixty days. A mainsail, jib and flying jib are fashioned to the boat.

Trouble Among Fishermen.

St. Johns, N. F., June 22.—The British warship Mohawk left here suddenly before daylight yesterday upon receipt of urgent telegraphic orders from Commodore Bourke, commanding the flagship Cordelia, directing her to proceed to White bay, where trouble has arisen between British and French fishermen along the celebrated French shore.

Venezuelan Matter.

London, June 22.—The Daily News, in an article which it will publish today, laments the delay in the settlement of the dispute with Venezuela, and urges Lord Salisbury to settle the matter before the American commission makes its report.

BOATS FOR A DOLLAR.

A Fleet That Carries the Life of the World.

Millions of Tiny Craft With Human Blood for Their Sea.

The microscope has revealed many wonderful things, but none more wonderful than the minute bodies which exist in the blood. They are called corpuscles or cells, and are of two kinds, the white and the red. Just a few words about these red cells. They are so minute that there are countless numbers of them in the tiniest drop of blood. Yet each one has a peculiar shape, for which none of them ever vary.

An adult of medium weight has about twelve pints of blood in the body, and yet every small drop of this contains millions of red corpuscles. The number of them in the blood cannot be comprehended by the human mind. Of what use are they?

One great object of breathing is to bring the oxygen of the air in close contact with the blood which is in the lungs, for oxygen is necessary for the support of life. It is the business of these little red cells in the blood, to carry the oxygen which we breathe in the lungs to every part of the body. The most minute part of every organ and tissue in the body must have its supply of oxygen or it will perish, and the only way the oxygen can reach all these parts is by means of these little red cells. No matter how pure the air may be which we breathe, if there are not enough red cells in the blood to carry a sufficient amount of oxygen through the body we will surely suffer. Plenty of fresh air is essential, and so is an abundant supply of these little "oxygen-carriers" necessary. These little red bodies have been called "boats for carrying oxygen." Certainly not a very bad name for them.

Oxygen starvation is shown by poor circulation, loss of appetite, debility, anaemia, nervousness, neuralgia, sleeplessness, repeated colds, muscular and mental weakness, and many other symptoms. What is the remedy? Something which will make more of these oxygen-carrying "boats." Nothing will accomplish this quicker than Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites. It goes to the foundation of things. It greatly increases the number of red corpuscles in the blood. What follows? More oxygen is carried through the system, and new life and vigor are imparted. The oil nourishes the body, and the hypophosphites gives stability and strength to the nervous system. As the large size of Scott's Emulsion sells for one dollar, so you can get "oxygen boats for one dollar."

Scott's Emulsion contains more pure Norwegian Cod-liver Oil than any other emulsion in the world, that will stand the test of time as being a perfect inseparable emulsion. Ask your doctor

SPORTS

SATURDAY, June 22. Sun rises 4:28 a. m., sets 7:33 p. m. Lanterns must be lighted between 8:33 p. m. and 3:28 a. m.

Cyclists desiring to join the League of American Wheelmen will be furnished with application blanks and necessary information by addressing the Cycling Department of the Daily Press.

CYCLING COMMENT.

An excellent picture of F. L.C. Martin, Plainfield's pioneer cycle dealer, appeared in the Saturday evening edition of The World.

Henry Zimmerman, of Duer street, was seen yesterday at Mount Horeb scaling over the hills on a bicycle. It was his first attempt at riding.

H. J. Martin and John Johnson have formed a partnership, and will conduct a bicycle business under the name of the Plainfield Cycle Company. They are now making a specialty of the Niantic at $50 and $55, which is fully guaranteed for one year.

Bicycle riders had a hard time of it on the county roads and in fact on most of the other roads hereabouts yesterday. The little shower during the afternoon caught a number of unprotected Plainfield bicyclists at Westfield and Bound Brook, and instead of riding their wheels home, they were obliged to take the train.

AROUND THE BASES.

The Y. M. C. A. ball team played the Montclair A. C. team Saturday afternoon at the latter place, and received their first whitewash. The score was 7 to 0. The game was an interesting one for the large crowd present.

On the grounds of the Dunellen Athletic club, Saturday afternoon, took place one of the best played games of the season between the Dunellen Athletic club and the Plainfield Athletic club, the score being 7 to 5 in favor of Dunellen. The game was full of brilliant plays on both sides, and was not lost until the last man was out. The Plainfield boys played a great deal better game than they did at Westfield the previous Saturday, as the score will show. Their fielding was very good but they did not bat heavy.

Following will be found the score by innings.

Plainfield A. C.....1 0 0 1 0 0 2 1 0—5
Dunellen A. C.....0 3 2 0 0 0 2 0 x—7

Batteries, Plainfield A.C. Winn and Sutphen. Dunellen A. C. Hayes and Newhouse. Umpires, Sutphen and Brown.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

Some athletic games were held Saturday afternoon on Ninth street, which were open to all boys under thirteen years of age. The events were three in number and were as follows: 100-yards dash, handicap, won by Chas. Pederson, scratch, first; C. Ulrich, two yards, second, and Raymond Miller, scratch, third. Running broad jump, won by C. Pederson; R. Miller, second; Hartley Mellick, third. Standing broad jump, won by Wilbur Jackson. Raymond Miller and C. Pederson tied for second place and in the jump-off Miller received second place and Pederson third.

HINTS FOR SPORTSMEN.

Points About the Fish and Game Laws for the Guidance of Jerseymen.

The State Board of Fish and Game Commissioners have published a little pamphlet on the new fish and game laws for the guidance of sportsmen. It gives a brief summary of the laws and the penalty for violation for each animal unlawfully taken or had in possession. In case of non-payment of fines and costs the convicted are subject to imprisonment. The open seasons are as follows:

Hare, Rabbit, Quail—Between the 10th of November and the 1st of January, inclusive. Fine, $20.

Woodcock—The month of July, and from the 1st of October to the 10th of December, inclusive. Fine, $20.

Gray, English or Wilson Snipe—The months of March, April and September. Fine, $20.

Ruffed Grouse and Partridge, European Grouse, Partridge and Pheasant—The 1st of October to the 10th of December, inclusive. Fine, $20.

Reed Bird, Rail Bird, or Marsh Hen—The month of September. Fine, $20.

Gray, Fox or Black Squirrels—The month of September, and from the 10th of November to the 10th of December, inclusive. Fine, $20.

Grass or Upland Plover and Dove—The months of August and September. Fine, $20.

Dealers have thirty days after the close of the season in which to dispose of the above-mentioned game. The following game and fish may be sold at any time throughout the State provided the capture did not take place within the closed season:

Deer—Between the 25th of October and the 5th of November, inclusive. Fine, $100.

Geese, Duck and Other Webfooted Wild Fowls—Between the 30th of September and the 1st of May, inclusive, but at no time from vessels propelled by steam or sail. Fine, $20.

Brook Trout—Between the 1st of April and the 15th of July. Fine, $20.

Black Bass—Between the 30th of May and the 1st of December. Fine, $20.

Pickerel—Between the 1st of May and the 20th of February. Fine, $20.

It is always unlawful to take or to attempt to take any game except by the use of guns held at arm's length. Fine, $50.

Among the other unlawful things mentioned are the following:

To take or to attempt to take any fish in any manner excepting with hook and line, excepting spearing of eels, suckers and carp, taking minnows for bait with a seine not more than twenty-five feet long and taking eels with pots or baskets or weirs between the 15th of September and the 1st of November, and excepting also, but only as to the tributaries of the Delaware above Trenton falls and the streams flowing into such tributaries, the taking of catfish and eels with eel weirs and baskets and setlines between the 15th of August and the 1st of November. Fine, $50.

To have trapped game in possession. Fine, $20.

To hunt on Sunday or carry firearms in the fields or woods on Sunday. Fine, $20.

To pollute streams or use medicated bait or explosives of any kind for the taking of fish. Fine, $100 to $500.

To draw off waters to take fish. Fine, from $25 to $250.

To use set lines in waters inhabited by pickerel, bass, perch or trout. Fine, $25.

To permit the erection or maintenance of unlawful contrivances, for taking game and fish; applies to lessees or tenants of lands. Fine, $25.

To capture, kill, injure or to have in possession any birds excepting English sparrows, cranes, hawks, crows, ravens, crow-blackbirds, kingfishers and red-winged blackbirds. Fine, $20.

To hunt geese, ducks or any webfooted wild fowl, except between one hour before sunrise and one hour after sunset. Fine, $25.

To catch or keep trout less than six inches in length, or black bass less than nine inches in length. Fine, $20.

To hunt on posted land. Fine not less than $10.

As a Last Resort.

"What I want," said the theatrical manager, "is a genuine novelty."

"Something realistic?" asked the play writer.

"Yes; but I don't want any real pugilists, or real divorce heroines, or real live stock, or real sawmills in it."

The play writer looked wearily thoughtful, and after a pause inquired:

"How would it do to spring something on the public with real actors in it?"—Washington Star.

Impossible.

The new footman brought up a card bearing the name of Mr. Montmorency Snooper.

"Show him up," said Mrs. Fosdick.

"Oi'm sorry, mum, but Oi can't do it mum," replied the lackey. "How can Oi show him up? Sure, an' Oi don't know the fust thing about him. Oi never laid eyes on him till this blessed minute!"—To Date.

Unpleasant for the Others.

A mother, commending her daughter for a situation, was asked if she was an early riser. "An early riser!" she exclaimed. "Well, I should think so! Why, she's up in the morning and has breakfast ready and makes all the beds before anyone else is up in the house!"—Youth's Companion.

Mixed It.

Just before the curtain went up for the third act Mr. Jagway returned and took his seat.

"You may have gone out for a breath of fresh air," observed Mrs. Jagway, in a rasping whisper, "but that isn't the kind of breath you have brought back with you."—Chicago Tribune.

A Correct Diagnosis.

George—Eh? You got engaged last night? Gus, my old, my dear friend, tell me how you did it.

Gus—Really, I hardly know myself. Couldn't help it. Just like falling downstairs. I was on the edge of a proposal, she gave me a push, and there I was engaged.

"Well, I haven't had any such experience. Every time I try to start, my knees knock together, and my teeth chatter, and my tongue cleaves to the roof of my mouth. I've tried a dozen times to pop the question to Miss De Pink, and slumped every time."

"And did she let you slump?"

"Yes."

A New Country.

A party of tourists were examining one of the large trees of California. One of the party remarked:

"What a magnificent specimen! Surely it must be the oldest tree in the world!"

An Irishman who was with the party cried out: "Now faith, how could that be?" and burst out into laughter. "Surely anyone knows this is a new country, and how the mischief could that tree be ould?"—Harper's Round Table.

One Good Turn, Etc.

Mr. Hayseed—I'm glad we sent Miss Fliptop that handsome caster, even if it did cost the price of a ham. We're to have the finest kind of seats at the church, Mariah—reserved, too.

His Inferiority.

Josh Grayneck—So you heard the celebrated violinist play while you was up to the city, Jay? Wal, how did you like him?

Jay Green (back from the metropolis)—Shucks! He didn't amount to much. I've seen more than 40 fellers play that sweat more than he did.—N. Y. World.

He Felt Confident.

"Do you worry about meeting your notes?" said the victim of pecuniary embarrassment.

"No," said the person who is indiscriminately flippant. "I don't worry about meeting 'em. Experience has tanght me that I can just sit down and trust to 'em to run across me."—Washington Star.

Sick of His Job.

Atlas groaned heavily.

"I wish," he said bitterly, "that some of those fellows who want the earth would only happen along this way."

No "Flim Flam" Game

To Be Worked on Early Purchasers of

The Spalding Bicycle

After the adoption of our 1896 model and a careful estimate of the cost of manufacture, we placed the price on the Spalding Bicycle at $100. The price is now $100 and will continue at $100 throughout the season no matter what other manufacturers may do.

We don't believe it is fair, honest or good business policy to sell a standard article like the Spalding Bicycle at one price in May and reduce its value in June by a material reduction in price. As a matter of common fairness to early purchasers of Spalding Bicycles and as an evidence of good faith on our part we will, in case of reduction in price during the season, send a rebate check to every purchaser of a Spalding Bicycle of the amount of any such reduction that may be made by us during the season. This is our meaning of a

GUARANTEE OF PRICE.

Ride the Spalding and you will be happy, contented and assured that you will not be "flim-flammed" in price or quality.

MEDAL FOR MR. SCOTT

HIS PRINTING PRESSES GET A FIRST AWARD AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

His Machinery Commended For the Perfection, Economy and Efficiency in Operation; Also for Productive Capacity.

Plainfield seemed particularly fortunate in securing honors at the World's Fair. Besides receiving a medal and diploma for the best school exhibit, another medal and diploma has recently come to the firm of Walter Scott & Company for the best exhibit of rotary and cylinder printing press machinery.

Recent inventions have made the printing press a wonderful machine, but the Scott Press is equal to the best of them, as is evident by the presenting of this award.

The medal is made of bronze, three inches in diameter, and is of the same design as that received by the public schools, except that it has the inscription on the reverse, "presented to Walter Scott & Company."

The award is for the following:

Collective exhibit—For rapid printing pony press, various sizes and styles of single and two-revolution cylinder presses, flat bed two-cylinder perfecting press, large-sized lithographic press, rotary newspaper perfecting machine for four and eight-page newspaper runs—a highly-developed type of three-roll rotary printing, insetting, cutting, pasting, folding and counting machine of large productive capacity. For comprehensive exhibit of well designed and conveniently operated stereotyping machinery.

Three-roll newspaper perfecting machine—No angle bars or turners used previous to paper being cut. First fold of paper made by a rotary folder while sheet is on the run. Pasting devices compact and effective. In printing different numbers of pages no change in width of paper-roll required. This system prevails in length of inking rollers and adjustment of ink fountains. Device for counting papers in packs of fifties. Machine supplied with slow-up motion to be used in preparing it for operation and the introduction of the paper web. Paper rolls raised into position by hydraulic lift. Highly perfected, economical and efficient in operation, with large productive capacity. Vibrating cylinders operated by one common movement.

Rotary newspaper perfecting machines for four and eight-page papers—Constructed for high speed. Unique in design and very compact in size. Supplied with adjustments for pages of either six, seven or eight columns in width and delivering them folded to quarter-page size. Machine accessible for adjustment and operation and capable of being operated at a high rate of speed.

AND THE BAND PLAYS.

Programme for the First Open Air Concert of the Season.

The following is the programme to be rendered by Guttman's band at their open-air concert next Saturday evening from 7:30 to 9:30 in front of the Crescent Avenue church:

March—University of Pennsylvania ....Adler
Overture—Night Wanderer.....Moskau
Concert Waltzes—Army and Navy.....Moore
Descriptive Piece.....Larendeau
Ball of the Hen-coop Knights.
Selections from "A Milk White Flag"....Stahl
Caprice—Island Garden.....Hall
Medley Overture.....Beyer
Recollections of the War.
Waltz—Mia Bella.....Roeder
Gavotte—Hermione.....Zimmerman
Schottische—Sweet Little Daisies.....Seltzer
Baritone Solo—Joyous Greeting.....Ripley
March—American Republic.....Thiele
(Introducing "Star Spangled Banner.")

If it rains the concert will be given on the following Tuesday evening. By the kind permission of Councilman Barrows there will be most ample police protection. President Place, of the Board of Trustees of the Crescent Avenue church, has very kindly permitted use of the grass plots belonging to the church, on the condition that no injury shall be done to the well-kept turf. To enhance the enjoyment of the occasion residents of the vicinity are requested to hang as many colored lanterns as they conveniently can, among the trees.

—The property at Netherwood on the line of the street railway is very much admired every day by patrons of the road.

If it required an annual outlay of $100.00 to insure a family against any serious consequences from an attack of bowel complaint during the year there are many who would feel it their duty to pay it; that they could not afford to risk their lives, and those of their family for such an amount. Any one can get this insurance for 25 cents that being the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. One or two doses of this remedy will cure any ordinary case. It never fails. Can you afford to take the risk for so small an amount? For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

WAGON WENT ASTRAY.

BUT WAS FOUND IN THE POSSESSION OF A PLAINFIELD JUNK DEALER.

Confiscated by the Police on a Search Warrant, and an Effort Will be Made to Find Who Took it From Elizabeth.

There is a man in Elizabeth with a long head but, sorrowful to say, he is devoting his energies in a wrong direction. This individual is an Italian, and he is an extremely smart one. Some time ago he took his wagon to Barney Ferdinano, an Elizabeth wheelwright, to have it repaired. The repairs were extensive and Barney estimated the price of the repairing at $18. The owner of the wagon said "nit," whereupon Barney declared "no money, no wagon," and chained two of the wheels together to make the vehicle secure.

One night a midnight prowler came and filed the chain in half and then dragged the wagon away. When Barney discovered his loss he consulted with the Elizabeth police and they were convinced that the man with the long head believed in the saying that "the early bird catches the worm" and had followed that advice, but they had no evidence to prove it.

But the native of Italy had another unpleasant surprise for Barney, for he has now started a suit to recover damages for the loss of the wagon, and is suing for $50. The wagon is worth about $25.

Barney heard that the long lost wagon was in Plainfield, in the possession of Michael Puhcustro, a junkman, living on West Fourth street. Yesterday, Sergeant Welch, of the Elizabeth force, came up to look after the matter. In company with Chief Grant, he visited Puhcustro's house, but the wagon was out on the road with its present owner. His wife was home and she said her husband had bought the wagon. He would be home, she thought, in the afternoon.

In the afternoon the officers returned and found the wagon but Puhcustro had departed with his horse to parts unknown. The wagon was taken possession of under a search warrant and placed at Robert's stable for safe keeping.

Creditable Organ Recital.

Prof. Wm E. MacClymont's fifteenth free organ recital given in the First Presbyterian church last evening was well attended and successful. Mr. MacClymont has established a reputation through the several concerts he has given and they are appreciated by a music loving public. William J. Tallamy, Plainfield's well-known tenor, assisted last evening and rendered several selections in a very commendable manner. The balance of the programme was given up to selections on the organ. Plainfield people have gradually learned to enjoy organ music and Mr. MacClymont has certainly received a generous share of public approval in giving these concerts. Next winter Mr. MacClymont hopes to resume the recitals and promises several new features.

A Successful Picnic.

The picnic given by the ladies of the Independent Shooting Club at Hyde's grove, last night, drew out a large crowd, who made merry until early this morning. The grove and dancing pavilion was decorated appropriately, and illuminated with Japanese and other lanterns. The proceeds of the affair are to be devoted to the purchase of a flag for the club. The music was furnished by Prof. N.H.Guttman The committee consisted of the following ladies: Mrs. Blatz, president, Mrs. Speigel, Mrs. Mencenpach, Mrs. Yaeger, Mrs. Rumel, Mrs. Perry, Mrs. Weidemeyer, Mrs. Weber, Mrs. Sutterlein and Mrs. Schafer, and were assisted by the following gentlemen: Messrs. Blatz, Weber, Schafer, Rumel, Perry, Pearson and Brammer.

Saw Flames and Screamed.

Screams broke the silence of night in the vicinity of Netherwood at about 1:50 o'clock this morning and Patrolman Vanderweg and Roundsman Mattox, who were near the Netherwood station, immediately started out to investigate. The cries came from the home of David Curtis, of George street. The house had caught fire from a defective flue, and the feminine portion of the household was considerably alarmed, hence the screams. The policemen promptly extinguished the flames before they had a chance to spread, and then all was quiet again.

MAREA TOOK CLARENCE.

COURTSHIP STARTED IN THE SALVATION ARMY, ENDS IN ELOPEMENT.

The Girl in the Case Was Sort of a Mysterious Personage and Told a Fairy Tale to Those Whom She Met.

A mysterious young woman came to Plainfield less than two months ago, joined the Salvation Army, and last Thursday disappeared, enticing with her two young men from the Army. She was a Swede, tall, large, and with light hair and complexion. Her father, she said, lived in Sweden and sent her monthly remittances on which she lived. Nobody seems to know what her name was except that everybody called her "Marea."

Clarence Bennett, who is twenty-two years old, has been living with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benj. F. Bennett, at 233 East Fourth street. He was quite prominent in the Salvation Army at one time, holding the rank of lieutenant. About five weeks ago he went back to the Army and there met "Marea." She said that she was only twenty, but she looked much older. The two became quite intimate and Bennett, who had always been known as a careful, steady lad, began to change his ways.

He dropped his evening studies at the Plainfield Business College, and a week ago last Friday he gave up his place at the Elizabethport railroad shops. Since then until last Thursday he had been boarding with Mr. Boice, the janitor of the Elkwood building, at his home on Central avenue and West Third street. A young man, named Bogart, who used to play the drum for the Salvation Army, boarded at the same place. Last Thursday the three suddenly left the city without warning or paying their board bill.

Mrs. Bennett, when seen by a Press representative this afternoon, said that her husband and herself were very much worried about Clarence, but as he is of age, of course, they can do nothing. The young woman, she said, had claimed that she was engaged to City Judge DeMeza, and that he had charge of a large legacy left her by her uncle. When Mrs. Bennett called at the Judge's office this morning, the very existance of such a person as "Marea" was not known.

FANNED BY MOUNTAIN BREEZES.

Young People of the Seventh-Day Baptist Church Visit Dr. Lewis' Camp.

The Obiter Dicta Reading Circle composed of young women from the Seventh-day Baptist church, is one of the most flourishing and successful societies in the city and the members often arrange novel events.

One of these events was enjoyed last evening. They invited their gentlemen friends to take a trip to the camp on the mountains provided by Dr. Lewis. They met at 6 o'clock and were transferred by stages to the delightful spot on the mountains. They at once entered into the festivities with the result of spending one of the most enjoyable evenings in the history of the society. The women furnished the supper and one of the men generously provided the ice-cream. The bountiful repast was partaken of amid the cooling breezes and beautiful moonlight. The night was perfect and nature was resplendent in all her beauty.

After supper the happy group formed themselves into a choral society and for over an hour a choice programme of music was rendered, interspersed with mirth-provoking stories which were told in an original style by various ones in the party. A feature of the affair was that each woman took a cup and two spoons with her, thus expecting to share with someone who had none.

The company returned home at a seasonable hour and all were of the opinion that they had seldom passed such a pleasant evening. About forty persons formed the party.

Pleasantly Surprised.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Amerman, of 17 Stone street, were agreeably surprised by a number of their friends and acquaintances from Basking Ridge and other places last evening. It was simply a little surprise party and during the evening there was vocal and instrumental music, recitations and refreshments. The guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moffett, Mrs. George Harris and daughter, Harry Herring and Mr. and Mrs. Wolff, of Basking Ridge.

Evening Social on the Mountain.

Miss Gertrude Andrews and Augustas Huntington are arranging for an evening social to be held at Mountain Park Inn on Friday evening. About thirty young people have been invited, and Mrs. L. G. Timpson will chaperone the party. The young folks will take their own music.

TOOK A SUDDEN LEAVE.

PROMOTER OF THE PLAINFIELD ICE CREAM COMPANY DEPARTS.

Was Backed by John Hibbits in the Enterprise, Who Says He Would Give Just About $50 to See Him Again.

The Plainfield Ice-cream Company, doing business at 107-109 Manning avenue, is no more, that is, so far as John Rickert is concerned, and he was the principal in the concern. The last time he was seen was a week ago last night at 11 o'clock, at his place of business. He was in conversation with John Hibbits, who conducts a bottling establishment at the same place. Mr. Rickert promised at that time to be around the next morning at 8 o'clock for the purpose of delivering goods. He did not show up and Mr. Hibbits looked for him till 4 o'clock that afternoon. He then made up his mind that Mr. Rickert was not coming back and he had to throw away a quantity of cream that had become sour.

Mr. Hibbits says that he would give about $50 to see Mr. Rikert, as that is the amount Rickert owes him. In order to help Mr. Rickert get a start, he went his security to the Plainfield Ice & Cold Storage Company, also to Galbraith & Walsh, for new tins for the cream. This is the second time Mr. Rickert has left town and in consequence he has established quite a reputation. His whereabouts are not known, nor is it known whether he intends returning to Plainfield.

J. E. MARTINE APPEALS TO WHITNEY.

The Plainfielder Urges Him to Stand For Democracy's Success.

James E. Martine yesterday wrote the following letter to Wm.C.Whitney anent the latter's announcement that he would not accept the Democratic Presidential nomination:

Cedar Brook Farm,
Plainfield, N. J., June 22d, 1896.

Hon. Wm. C. Whitney:

My Dear Sir—I have read with much profit and pleasure your letter in the New York papers of this date. It must be productive of much good to our party and will tend to harmonize opinions that would seem to be at wide variance.

The Democratic party, of which I have been a life-long and zealous member, owe to you a debt of gratitude, but to use your own words, "Almost any sacrifice might be asked of Democrats for the sake of the party and they would cheerfully grant it." This I feel a unanimous party will ask of you. The grand old party will ask that you lead us in the contest that is but at hand. The welfare of our country demands it, our party will ask it. A patriot cannot hesitate. You will not, must not refuse.

Very respectfully,
J. E. Martine.

To Become an Active Society.

The Plainfield Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals met in Reed & Coddington's law offices last evening for the purpose of reorganizing the society into an active body. President Rev. T. Logan Murphy called the meeting to order and stated its object. Remarks were then made by Dr. Lowrie, ex-Councilman V. L. Frazee, Andrew Love, Sr., W. A. Coddington, Chas. A. Reed and Chief T. O. Doane. The speakers were all of the opinion that the society should be organized on a solid foundation in order that good work could be accomplished. The meeting adjourned to next Monday evening for the purpose of completing the organization. There were about twelve members present. It was the first meeting of the society in several years.

Not an Easy Thing to Do.

Chandler W. Riker, of the street railway company, in speaking of the Plainfield lines says that running ten cars under twelve minutes headway over nine miles of track, the most of which is single track, is not an easy thing to do. Mr. Riker says it is the intention to increase the efficiency of the road, not only in the rolling stock, but in the power department.

When we consider that the intestines are about five times as long as the body, we can realize the intense suffering experienced when they become inflamed. De Witt's Colic and Cholera Cure subdues inflammation at once and completely removes the difficulty. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

BICYCLE RIDERS HURT.

COLLIDED WITH GREAT FORCE ON MANNING AVENUE LAST NIGHT.

Amos Jackson and Carl Lieuben Rendered Unconscious by the Sudden Stop—Both Their Wheels Demolished.

A serious bicycle accident occurred on Manning avenue last evening about 10 o'clock, when Amos Jackson, a machinist, of 73 Grandview avenue, and Carl Lieuben, of Manning avenue, who were both on wheels and going in opposite directions, collided. Jackson, it is said, was riding at a terrific speed, while Lieuben, who is less experienced, was riding along moderately. The two approached each other and became confused. The riders lost control of their wheels and as a result they came together with terrible force. Both riders were injured, but Lieuben got the worst of it. His left eye and forehead were badly cut and bruised. The force of the collision struck Jackson in the right side of the head and neck, and both men were unconscious for sometime. The wheels were completely wrecked. Charles Farlee, the expressman, and John Hughes assisted the men. Theo. Vroom, for whom Lieuben works, was informed of the affair and he took charge of the injured man. Mr. and Mrs. Farlee treated Jackson and did all they could for him, while Mr. Vroom did the same for his patient. They both will recover, but will feel the effects of the accident for sometime. Neither of the men would have a doctor.

RAN DOWN A CYCLIST.

Vetterlein Escaped Injury But His Wheel Was Wrecked.

According to those that saw it, Max Fischer, a paper bag dealer, of Newark, deliberately upset and ran over Harry Vetterlein's bicycle yesterday afternoon on Park avenue in front of Judge DeMeza's law offices. Vetterlein, who is a young lad, living on Duer street, was riding on one side of the street when the horse was driven close by, striking the lad's handle-bars and throwing him. Then the driver, although he saw the wheel, drove over and wrecked it. Fischer, not satisfied with that, started, so it is claimed by those that witnessed it, to thrash the lad. Corporation Counsel Marsh saw enough of the trouble to see that the man was violating the law, and so he called on Patrolman McCue to arrest him. The officer started to obey, but Fischer protested until McCue tightened on his throat. He struggled until he was nearly black in the face and then consented to be locked up. He was brought up before Justice Nash this morning on the charge of assault. He pleaded not guilty. He was represented by W. L. Hetfield, while W. S. Angleman acted for the State. He was held in $100 bail for action of the grand jury. Kalmon Rollberg signed his bond.

COMMENCEMENT RECEPTION.

The Social Event Which Will Mark the Graduating Exercises.

The Commencement reception to the class of '96 of the High School, given by the classes of '94 and '95, promises to be the most successful of any of the receptions to the graduating classes ever held. Following the precedent of last year, the reception will be held in the Casino which will be suitably decorated for the occasion. Max Wiertz will act as caterer. Each member of the graduating class and of the classes giving the reception receives four single tickets. Complimentary tickets will be given to the Board and faculty.

The number of invitations is limited to 400, but members of the alumni and friends of the school may obtain the few remaining by applying to John V. Beekman, Jr., chairman of the finance committe at the Y. M. C. A. building.

New Bids to Be Advertised For.

Very little business was done at the adjourned meeting of the Board of Education held last evening. Dr. Jenkins and Messrs. Lounsbury and Lovell were present. It was found that according to a law passed in 1893, the advertisement for bids must be made out in a special legal form, and so the Board decided to advertise for bids this week and open them at an adjourned meeting next Monday evening.

Charged With Cruelty to Animals.

City Judge DeMeza went to New Market this afternoon as counsel for a man named Giddis, who was to appear there before Justice Storms on a charge of cruelty to animals. He is said to have cruelly beaten a horse.

Everybody Rides.

Nearly 7,000 people were carried by the trolley cars Sunday. Yesterday was also a big day.

BOROUGH ROARD OF EDUCATION PAY A TRIBUTE TO TEACHERS.

The Retiring Instructors Receive Complimentary Mention for Their Efficient Service in North Plainfield School Work

The Borough Board of Education met last evening in regular session, but no business of importance was transacted. The usual bills were passed and provision made for payment of the school bonds, falling due July 1st.

Application was made by the Alumni Association of the school for the privilege of the building, on Friday evening, when a reception is to be given to the Class of 1896, and it was granted.

The following resolutions were adopted:

"Whereas, Mr. Charles E. Boss, after fourteen years of faithful service as as principal of the North Plainfield school is, at his own request, about to close his administration with the school; be it

"Resolved, That the Board of Education do hereby desire to express to him their appreciation of his efficient discharge of the duties appertaining to the office of principal, and his conscientious and untiring efforts for the advancement of education and the upbuilding of our school system.

"Resolved, That we extend to him and the other retiring teachers our earnest thanks for their hearty cooperation with us in the school work of North Plainfield.

"Resolved, That, while we regret the severing of their pleasant relationship with the school, our best wishes will accompany them to whatever field of labor they may be called.

"Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes and a copy of the same be sent to Mr. Boss."

A HOME DARKENED BY DEATH.

Death of Miss Maggie Winckle After a Protracted Illness.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus J. Winckler on Park place has again been darkened by the Angel of Death, and their daughter, Miss Maggie Winckler, aged 22 years, has been called to her Heavenly home. Death came at 1:30 o'clock this morning after an illness of seven months. Last summer while Miss Winckler was enjoying her vacation she contracted a heavy cold, which gradually grew worse. The best of medical aid was secured, including specialists, but this did not stop the progress of the disease.

About seven months ago Miss Winckler's brother, William, was killed in an accident, and this fact, together with her illness, seemed to worry her, and it is thought hastened her death. Frequently she would remark, "How pleasant it would be to have Will here."

Throughtout her illness she never complained. Life was dear, but the Lord will was her own will. Last Sunday she requested all to pray that the Lord would take her home, and one of her sisters offered a touching petition to the "Throne of Grace" for the afflicted one and a pathetic incident happened last night toward the end, when she called her parents and sisters to her bedside and kissed them all good-bye. Soon afterward her life went out calmly and peacefully.

Miss Winckler held the position of bookeeper and cashier at Neumann Bros. grocery store for four years but owning to her poor health was obliged to give it up. She was a most estimable woman and was loved by all who knew her for her true worth and many excellent qualities.

She was a faithful member of the Congregational Church and Christian Endeavor society, and was always ready to do her duty. The bereaved family have the sincere sympathy of the community in their severe loss. The funeral service will be held Thursday afternoon from the house at 2:30.

More Hack Ordinance Violators.

John Goodman and William Callahan, two licensed hackmen, came up before City Judge De Meza this morning on the charge of violating the hack ordinance. They both pleaded not guilty and their trial was set down for Saturday morning.

Miss Aimee Emmons, of Prospect place, is confined to her home with illness.

Mr James Perdue, an old soldier residing at Monroe, Mich., was severely afflicted with rheumatism but received prompt relief from pain by using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says: "At times my back would ache so badly that I could hardly raise up. If I had not gotten relief I would not be here to write these few lines. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done me a great deal of good and I feel very thankful for it." For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

GREAT TURF EVENT

Brooklyn Suburban Handicap To Be Run This Afternoon.

A SMALL FIELD TO DO BATTLE

Outsiders Consider It a Race Between Henry of Navarre and Clifford—Sir Walter a Doubtful Candidate. Hornpipe's Chance.

New York, June 23.—The thirteenth Suburban Handicap will be run for at Sheepshead bay this afternoon. The Suburban and first division of the double event will be the star attractions of the opening day of the Coney Island Jockey club's spring meeting. As a matter of course the Suburban is the event around which the most interest centers. The indications this morning were that a small field would do battle for the coveted prize. Not more than seven horses will go to the post. This is one more than last year. As the two cracks, Henry of Navarre and Clifford, are among the contestants the general public is satisfied with a small field. It diminishes the chances of crowding, and practically insures a true race. The race from the outsider's point of view has resolved itself into a match between Henry of Navarre and Clifford. The Blemton stable's candidate has done everything in the way of preparatory work that has been asked of him. The acknowleged king received his final trial on Saturday. He was sent a mile and a half. He negotiated the distance in 2:38 1-2 and finished well within himself. Henry of Navarre's mile and a quarter was reeled off in 2:09 1-2. Clifford was also asked the final question on Saturday. He went over the course in 2:16 1-2. His work, although a second slower than Henry of Navarre's, was very much admired by the horsemen located at the Long Island track, who were all on hand to see the cracks get their last trials. Keenan went a mile with Henry of Navarre and then stopped. The mile was covered in 1:42¾. This gave color to a rumor that the stable had resolved to send him to the post to cut the pace for his mighty stable companion. At the eleventh hour he was withdrawn. Henry of Navarre has received a careful preparation and although Clifford has become favorite on the future books it is thought that the former will be in greater demand before the horses go to the post. Clifford owes his favoritism chiefly to the fact that Taral will ride him. Taral is strong enough to do him justice. The penalty incurred for winning the Brooklyn handicap, twelve pounds, made Sir Walter with 125 pounds on his back a doubtful candidate. He is in great shape just now, but his impost is entirely too great for the game little fellow to hold his own with Henry of Navarre or Clifford. He will not have the advantage of Taral on his back either. If the delay at the post is not too great and Clifford runs kindly he will give Henry of Navarre the fight of his life this afternoon. If he can't win easily he will know that there has been a horse race.

Outside Chances for Hornpipe.

Belmar, with 110 pounds up, will take a lot of beating. He is a thoroughly game horse, and although he is not really at his best he will be very near the winner at the finish. Simms has been engaged to ride him. He can safely be depended upon to get the last ounce out of the Preakness candidate. Clayton will pilot The Commoner if W. J. Wallace adheres to his intention and sends the horse to the post. This horse is outclassed. W. Lakeland's Hornpipe is regarded by many good judges as having an outside chance. He won the Brooklyn Handicap by a fluke, and although a victory for Lakeland would be a popular event and a big thing for the Brighton Beach contingent, it would be the height of folly to back him to beat such horses as Henry of Navarre and Clifford. He may have a chance to get third money after a battle with Belmar and Sir Walter. Nanki Pooh has won a race this season, but his imperfect performance in the Brooklyn Handicap would not warrant any one supporting him in the Suburban. The company will, if there is not a glaring reversal of form, be entirely too good for him.

FOUGHT A DUEL WITH PISTOLS.

One German Officer Almost Instantly Killed on the Field of Honor.

Berlin, June 23.—A duel was fought yesterday morning at Kummersdorf, near Berlin, between Lieut. Buch of the Ninth regiment and Lieut. Luehring of the Sixth regiment. The weapons used were pistols. Lieut. Luehring was shot and almost instantly killed.

Farm Buildings Struck by Lightning.

Biddleford, Me., June 23.—The farm buildings of John Haley in West Hollis were struck by lightning yesterday. Five persons were in the building, and one of them, S. E. Thayer, who sat near the chimney, where the bolt entered, was unconscious for half an hour, owing to a severe shock received.

Study at the War College.

Newport, R. I., June 23.—Capt. Mahae, U. S. N., will be the only lecturer at the war college this week. "Strategy" will be his subject each day. The class will give their time while not attending the lectures to the study of the problem and war games.

ELIZABETH GARDNER WED.

The Great Woman Artist Now the Wife of Bouguereau, the Painter.

Paris, June 23.—The civil marriage took place yesterday of Adolphe William Bouguereau, the celebrated French painter, and Elizabeth Gardner, formerly of Exeter, New Hampshire. The ceremony was performed by the mairie of the sixth arrondissement. The witnesses for the bride were Samuel F. Morse, the American consul-general, and Edward Tuck, a native of Exeter who has lived in Paris for many years, and for the bridegroom Paul Ginein, a distinguished architect, and Gabriel Thomas, a well-known sculptor. The religious ceremony took place in the chapel of the convent of Notre Dame de Sion, the Bishop of Angers officiating.

M. Bouguereau was born in La Rochelle in 1825, and is now in his 72d year. He is a member of the institute of France and an officer of the Legion of Honor. He gained the Grand Prize in 1850, and went to Rome. His real fame dates from 1854, when he exhibited "The body of St. Cecelia Borne to the Catacombs." Other of his noted works are "Philomela and Procne," 1861, and the "Mater Afflictorum," 1876. For the latter the artist received 12,000 francs from the government, and he refused double that sum from a prominet individual. The bride is one of the greatest women artists of the day, and in 1887 she was awarded the gold medal of the Paris salon, she being the only American woman artist who has thus been honored. She became acquainted with M. Bouguereau nearly twenty-five years ago when she was struggling to gain a foothold in the art world. She became his pupil, and would have married him years ago had it not been for the opposition of M. Bouguereau's mother, who objected to her son marrying an American. The mother died some time since, and the marriage followed. Among the bride's works are "Cornelia and Her Jewels" and "Cinderella." Her most famous work is "David the Shepherd."

McKinley Celebration at Watertown.

Watertown, N. Y., June 23.—The republicans of Jefferson county ratified the nomination of McKinley and Hobart last night by an enthusiastic demonstration, including a mass meeting at the city opera house, at which Congressman Chickering, Watson M. Rogers and others delivered addresses, and an illuminated procession accompanied by a display of fireworks. The Lincoln league, the Morton club and other organizations participated.

10,000 Spindle Mill.

Baltimore, June 23.—A special dispatch to the Manufacturer's Record reports that a 10,000-spindle mill will be built at Gaffney, S. C., to spin fine numbers, from 100s to 150s, and to be woven into all kinds of fancy cotton goods. This will be the first mill built in southern states to manufacture such a grade of goods as this.

Vanderbilt-Wilson Wedding.

New York, June 23.—The United Press is authorized to deny the statements to the effect that Cornelius Vanderbilt, jr., and Miss Grece Wilson, whose marriage was announced to take place last Thursday, but had to be postponed owing to the groom's sudden illness, are to be married in a day or two.

Oleomargarine Decision.

Boston, June 23.—Judge Lawton of the Middlesex court has handed down a decision in the case of Eddy K. Carleton against Peter J. Fitzgerald of Somerville, in which it is decided that a person cannot recover the value of oleomargarine sold in this common wealth contrary to law.

Killed by a Runaway.

Newark, N. J., June 23.—James McCready, proprietor of the Hilton hotel and for twenty years an actor of note, had his skull fractured and neck broken in a runaway accident in front of his place last evening. He was hurled against a telegraph pole.

Treasury Gold Reserve.

Washington, June 23.—The treasury gold reserve at the opening of business this morning stood at $102,221,907. Yesterday's withdrawals were $886,700.

Merit

Made and Merit Maintains the confidence of the people in Hood's Sarsaparilla. If a medicine cures you when you are sick; if it cures your neighbors and your friends when they are ailing; if it makes wonderful cures of many diseases everywhere, then beyond any question that medicine possesses merit. That is just the truth about Hood's Sarsaparilla. Prepared by a combination, proportion and process unknown to other medicines, it has curative powers peculiar to itself. We know it possesses great merit because it has

Delicate Dress Goods.

Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable, NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redyeing. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? Laundry drivers will receive your work.

CELEBRATION AT PATERSON.

Democrats Join the Republicans in the Hobart Jollification Last Night.

Paterson, N. J., June 23.—This city was brilliantly illuminated and decorated last night in honor of Garret A. Hobart for vice-president. Between 5,000 and 6,000 citizens of all political parties joined in a procession to the armory, where 5,000 persons, mostly women, were in waiting for the parade. All the musical organizations in the city were engaged for the occasion. While marching round the interior of the spacious building the spectacle reminded one of Kiralfy's "Fall of Rome." Pandemonium reigned supreme within the enclosure for nearly twenty minutes after the last banner became motionless. Judge John Hopper, a democrat, was the first speaker. After paying a high compliment to the candidate for vice-president and his career in Patterson, he introduced Mayor Braun, also a democrat. The latter said that Mr. Hobart was worthy of all the honors that could be bestowed upon him. Gov. John W. Griggs followed in a brief address. He said that he knew Mr. Hobart for thirty years and was positive that if he was elected vice-president none in this city would rejoice more over his election than those of the opposite party.

Mr. Hobart's Remarks.

When Mr. Hobart advanced to the front of the platform, which was heavily laden with floral pieces the audience went wild with enthusiasm, the women cheering more lustily than the male portion of the assemblage. Mr. Hobart confined his remarks to the city and people of Paterson, and said that he would rather have the esteem and confidence of the people, such as was manifested at the present moment, than any office within the gift of any political organization. He referred to the smallness of the town when he came here thirty years ago and its rapid growth from that time. At the conclusion of his speech he quoted the following lines from Kobert Burns:

"The bridegroom may forget the bride, who was made his wedded wife yester'en,
The monarch may forget the crown that on his brow an honor hath been,
The mother may forget the babe that smiles so sweetly on her knee,
But I'll remember the Glencarn and all that thou hast done for me."

MAJOR M'KINLEY'S CALLERS.

Mark Hanna, H. Clay Evans and Others Visit Canton.

Canton, O., June 23.—Hon. Henry Clay Evans, the defeated candidate for the vice-presidential nomination, who came here yesterday with Mr. Hanna and party, expressed himself to a United Press reporter as being well satisfied with the ticket. Mr. Evans was his usual frank, entertaining self and responded readily to a suggestion for an interview. "What do you think of the ticket, now that it does not include the name of Evans?" he was asked. "I think it is a first rate combination," was his hearty answer, "and a sure winner. It will go well in our part of the country." "Is there any chance for carrying Tennessee?" "Indeed there is, much more than a fighting chance, too. Our governorship contest will give us votes. The democrats nominated Bob Taylor as the only man they could possibly elect. He served two terms and made a very poor governor." Mr. Evans returned to Cleveland last evening and left at once for Chattanooga. The meeting between Major McKinley and Mr. Hanna was the first since the convention. There was nothing theatrical or demonstrative about it, neither of the gentlemen being inclined to exhibit emotion even under the most trying circumstances. Mr. Hanna came down on the Valley railroad in his private car, accompanied by Mrs. Hanna, Hon. Henry Clay Evans, Col. and Mrs. Fred Grant of New York; Wm. Osborne, a cousin of the major's, ex-police commissioner of Boston; Messrs. Myron T. Herrick and Sylvester Everett of Cleveland. Major McKinley was at the station and met his guests in the car. The greeting to and from Mr. Hanna was marked with a cordial grasp of the hand. The major said: "I am glad to see you," and Mr. Hanna responded: "Major, I am glad to see you." Alighting from the car, Major McKinley took Mrs. Hanna, Mrs. Grant and Mr. Evans with him in the family carriage and drawn by the staid old white horse they proceeded sedately and securely to the house. The other gentlemen used public conveyances, Messrs. Herrick and Everett repairing to one of the hotels. Shortly after reaching the house lunch was served.

McKinley To Speak at Brooklyn.

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 23.—Major McKinley will visit Brooklyn during the campaign and will undoubtedly address one or more mass meetings. Two prominent members of Brooklyn's Union League club were at McKinley's house in Canton, O., at the time of the nomination, and are said to have secured the nominee's promise to come to their city this summer.

Republican Ratification at East Orange.

East Orange, N. J., June 23.—A large and enthusiastic McKinley and Hobart ratification meeting was held in the Town hall here last night, and the first campaign banner in the state was raised at the corner of Arlington avenue and Main street amid cheers and the setting off of great quantities of fireworks.

Seawanhaka's Trial Race.

Center Island, Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 23.—The first trial race of the Seawanhaka club's small boat class to select a defender for the international trophy, which was captured last year by the Ethelwynn was won by the Ideal, H. O. Havemeyer owner. The Larchmont club's boat Riverside was second and the El Heirie was third.

RUSSELL WILL AID

Massachusett's Ex-Governor Going to Chicago Convention.

TO FIGHT THE SILVER MOVEMENT

Joins the Gold Standard Leaders at the Solicitation of Whitney—Will Decline To Permit His Name To Be Placed in Nomination.

Boston, June 23.—When seen last night in regard to the report that he was going to Chicago with ex-Secretary Whitney ex-Gov. Wm. E. Russell said: "At the earnest request of Mr. Whitney and others I am going to Chicago with him to give him whatever help I can in the struggle in the democratic party for sound money against free silver. My own views on the subject are well known and have been often stated. Believing the issue to be of the gravest importance, not only to the country but to the present and future of the democratic party, I cannot remain inactive if it is thought I can be of any service at Chicago. I cannot, however, go to Chicago under the least suspicion that I am there for any personal reasons, nor can I take part in this fight embarrassed by any personal interest in the result. I shall, therefore, decline to have my name presented to the convention as a candidate. I believe in making the stoutest possible fight for sound money and the gold standard and shall not give up the fight until the votes are counted. I consider it both a duty and a privilege to take part in this struggle and I shall do it with my whole heart, unembarrassed by any personal considerations and in the earnest hope and belief that the democratic convention will be sound both in its platform and its candidates."

Belmont Will Go to Chicago.

Paris, June 23.—A representative of the United Press last evening questioned the Hon. Perry Belmont regarding a statement that he intended to bring his European tour to a close and return to the United States. Mr. Belmont confirmed the report, and added that he intended to sail for New York in a short time in order to attend the democratic national convention at Chicago as a delegate from Suffolk county, New York.

Gold Standard Endorsed.

New Rochelle, N. Y., June 23.—The second district assembly democratic convention of Westchester county was held here yesterday and delegates to the various conventions were chosen. Resolutions were passed endorsing the gold standard.

Englishmen Predict Bland's Nomination.

London, June 23.—Some of the papers here predict that Bland will be nominated by the democrats on a free coinage platform.

THE JAPANESE TIDAL WAVE.

An Official Report Estimating the Loss of Life at 30,000.

Washington, June 23.—The first official report that has reached Washington of the great Japanese earthquake and tidal wave came yesterday to the state department from Mr. Herod, secretary of our legation at Tokio, in the following brief cable dispatch, which, however, makes the calamity out to be much worse than heretofore reported: "Death caused by tidal wave estimated at over 30,000 in reports up to date. No mortality among Americans."

Second Grade Teachers' Certificates.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

(Furnished by Weather Observer Neagle.)

Fair Tonight; Wednesday Partly Cloudy; Stationary Temperature.

At 2 o'Clock Leggett's Thermometer Registered 77 Degrees.

Franklin Murphy, of Essex county, is now most prominently spoken of as the next Republican candidate for Governor.

Of all the representative men who will attend the annual convention of Chief Engineers to be held at Salt Lake City for several days next month, none would more thoroughly represent their interests than Chief T. O. Doane, of this city. Mr. Doane is a thorough, up-to-date fireman and his attendance at the convention would be of incalcuable value to him, should the city decide to send him. Mr. Doane is entitled to a vacation and it seems as though it would be a good way for the city to show its appreciation of his services. It also seems that when snch places as New Brunswick can send a representative, surely Plainfield ought to do as much.

Where Teachers Will Summer.

The majority of the teachers of the Irving School have decided where they will spend their summer vacation. Miss C. E. Reynolds will go to Geneva, N. Y. Miss E. S. Scott will spend a portion of her time at Gloucester, Mass., and the rest at home in Oswego, N. Y. Miss Alice Lee will enjoy part of her vacation at Gloversville, N. Y., and the remainder at her home in Sheffield, Mass. Miss Mary L. Allen goes to Central, N. Y., and Miss Genevieve M. Schute will spend her outing at Fredonia and Chautauqua in New York State. Miss Hattie Filmer will remain at Gloversville, N. Y., the entire time. The remaining five teachers have not yet decided where they will go.

Sinclair Stuart, Jr., of Park avenue, left yesterday for Halifax, Nova Scota, on a two-weeks trip.

R. Dalzell Schoonmaker, of West Eighth street, is home from Princeton College for the summer.

Mr. White and family, of Jersey City, have been visiting at the home of ex-Councilman J. H. Howell, of Myrtle avenue.

NEW MARKET.

Miss Mary Webster, of New York, is spending a few days with friends in town.

Mr. Moore, of Jersey City, was in town Sunday renewing old acquaintances.

Miss Elsie Richter, of Perth Amboy, is visiting Mrs. Martine and daughters, of Church street.

The funeral of Miss Jennie Leimpeter, who died Saturday, was held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from St. John's church, Dunellen. Rev. Father Bogard had charge of the funeral services. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery, Plainfield.

At the meeting last Thursday evening of Lakeside Council, Daughters of Liberty, the following were elected: Councilor, Miss Clara Pierce; associate councilor, Mrs. Dunlap; vice-councilor, Annie Starker; associate vice-councilor, Mrs. Sofield; guide, Mrs. Taylor; inside guard, Miss Nelson; outside guard, Miss Jennie Starker; trustee, C. T. Rogers; associate recording secretary, Mrs. Larabee.

Pass the good word along the line. Piles can be quickly cured without an operation by simply applying DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

Frank Hedden, of West Fourth street, left yesterday on his vacation, the first part of which will be spent at Long Branch and Asbury Park.

Opposites.

"Miss Uppington," said the young man, "I perceive from your conversation that you favor a high protective tariff."

"Emphatically," replied she.

"On the other hand, I believe in absolute free trade."

"I observed that."

"You regard the income tax with animosity?"

"I do."

"While I am convinced of its benefits."

There was a period of silence while he pondered. Then he remarked with hesitation:

"Miss Uppington."

"Yes," she replied, with the subtle rising inflection which denotes encouragement.

"Don't you—that is to say—don't you think—"

"What, Charles?"

"That it would be a good idea if we were paired?"—Washington Star.

Wasn't He Justified?

Wibble—I hear that young Jinx has broken his engagement with Miss Flyer.

Wabble—Yes, and it's odd the way it happened, too. You see, he left a phonograph at the house, so she could whisper a "good night" into it just before she turned out the gas, and send it to him through the post. Well, you see, in the excitement of the affair she forgot to shut the machine off, and he not only received her words, but a large and varied assortment of snores that had accumulated while she was asleep.—Tit-Bits.

More Information Wanted.

Lawyer (hotly)—Do you mean to say, sir, that you do not consider Mr. De Lyre a man of his word?

Witness—I do.

"You do, eh? Do you mean to insinuate that he ever lies?"

"That's about it."

"Now, sir, attention! Do you mean to say that you would not believe him under oath?"

"No, I have not said that."

"Oh, ho! I thought I'd catch you. Then you don't say you would not believe him under oath?"

"No. I haven't heard him do any talking under oath yet."—N. Y. Weekly.

Eli Hill, Lumber City, Pa., writes, "I have been suffering from piles for twenty-five years and thought my case incurable. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve was recommended to me as a pile cure, so I bought a box and it performed a permanent cure." This is only one of thousands of similar cases. Eczema, sores and skin diseases yield quickly when it is used. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Where He Failed.

He had traveled through Sahara, braved the dangers of the Nile;
Defeated enraged Mussulmans, and dined on crocodile;
Knew everything of politics, religion and the law;
Could box and fence, and row a race, and please his mother-in-law.
In short, had all the accomplishments of men both great and wise;
But he couldn't run a business, for he wouldn't advertise.
—London Tit-Bits.

A Proposition!

"Look here, Bill!" said the Jaytown barber, addressing the village carpenter.

"I'm a-lookin'!"

"Tell you what I'll do, I'll shingle your hair, and your two boys' an' your brother John's an' your Uncle Ezra's, if you'll shingle my kitchen roof?"—N. Y. World.

Why Is It?

"In view of the number of people one meets who know it all," he said reflectively.

"Yes?" said his companion inquiringly, as he paused.

"It does seem strange," he continued, "that any government should ever make a mistake or be at a loss to know what to do."—Chicago Post.

Probably Not.

May — If a fellow with a million should propose to you would you tell him that you loved him?

Agatha—No, indeed.

May—Why not? Sense of womanly chivalry, I suppose.

Agatha—Oh, no; it simply wouldn't be necessary to tell him, that's all.—N. Y. World.

Quite Natural.

Hoax—There was a fellow in court today charged with stealing a horse and leaving his bicycle in place of it.

Joax—What did they do? Convict him?

Hoax—No; the jury were all cyclers and they recommended that the prisoner be sent to an insane asylum.—Philadelphia Record.

Johnnie and the Apostles.

Johnnie Chaffie was in a Dallas candy store with his mother. She bought some little figures made of chocolate.

"Here, Johnnie," she said, "are the three graces for you."

"Mother, dear, I'd rather have the 12 apostles. There are more of them."—Texas Sifter.

Not Serious.

She—Mercy! This account of the ball game says that one of the players died at first base.

He—It is only a figurative expression. You will find it used in the same sense in the war news from Cuba.—Brooklyn Life.

Dashed Hopes.

When you root in your overcoat pocket,
And think you've discovered a dime,
You can bet with assurance well founded,
It will turn out a button each time.
—N. Y. World.

OFF THE ENGLISH COAST.

"Yes, miss; it's bin a wery 'ard winter. I dunno what a poor man would 'ave done for 'is livin' if a steamer or two 'adn't run on to the sands by the blessin' of Providence."—Sketch.

Possibly Explains It.

'Tis recorded that the army
Swore most horribly in Flanders.
The horses of the troopers
Peradventure had the glanders.
—Chicago Tribune

An Easy Remedy.

"Oh, dear!" sighed Mrs. Cumso, as she tossed about in bed, "I'm suffering dreadfully from insomnia."

"Go to sleep and you'll be all right," growled Mr. Cumso as he rolled over and began to snore again.—Titbits.

The Reason Why.

Little May—Why do they consider marriage such an important step in life?

Agatha—Because it's so hard to tell whether it is a step up or down.—Town Topics.

Sympathy Not Needed.

Walter—Poor Dibbles! They say he got a pair of beautiful black eyes lately. I feel sorry for him.

Tom—You needn't. He got a very handsome girl with them.—Tit-Bits.

Skewered Lamb.

Roy—My father was a congressman.

Ray—Well, I'd hold my head up just the same. No right-thinking person is going to censure you for your father's faults.—To Date.

The Considerate Brother.

"Here, Johnnie, what do you mean by taking Fannie's cake away from her?"

Johnnie Chaffie—But, ma, didn't you always tell me that I must take my sister's part?—Texas Sifter.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—There are forty-eight people employed on the Plainfield street railway.

—An adjourned meeting of the Plainfield Camera Club will be held this evening.

—The members of the Grace M. E. church are arranging for a picnic to be held at Washington Rock, on July 4th.

—Edsall was obliged to put on a new delivery wagon today in order to meet the needs of his growing business.

—There is no ostentation about our friend Peck, but he does "show off" his goods to perfection in those big windows.

—The members of the Fourth Ward Quartette Club are now holding daily rehearsals, with a view of starting out in the fall.

—Car No. 5 of the street railway burned out its armature yesterday afternoon, and was laid up a short time for repairs.

—Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., will meet in regular session this evening, at which time business of importance will be transacted.

—The case of Baker against Baker, came up in the Somerville Court yesterday and was postponed till Friday. Both are residents of the borough.

—The opening hop at Mountain Park Inn will be held next Saturday evening. Dancing will begin at 9 o'clock. Stages will connect with the trolley cars.

—A party of thirty-six, under the charge of the "Jolly Four," took Taynor's four-horse stage to Florida Grove Sunday morning and spent a very pleasant day.

—The attention of Street Commissioner Meeker is called to the exceedingly muddy condition of West Front street, between Washington avenue and Liberty street.

—Chandler W. Riker, of the street railway, says that if he can secure five new open cars inside of five weeks, he will order them for the Somerset street and Fourth street lines.

—"We have used Hood's Pills in our family and have found them all they are represented to be. They are perfectly safe and do not cause pain." Mrs. Scheele, Westfield, N. J. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood.

—The dance of the Montezuma Social Club, which is to be held in T. A. B. Hall on Thursday evening, is for the benefit of the society. An enjoyable time is anticipated and a large attendance will doubtless be the result.

—Superindent Adleman desires The Daily Press to say that the reason the new street cars make so much noise is that the gear cases for them have not yet arrived. They will be here soon, however, in the difficulty will be removed.

—A strawberry festival will be held in the First Church of Christ on July 2d, for the benefit of the excursion fund. This church and Sunday-school will accompany the Grace M. E. church and Sunday-school up the Hudson, July 10th.

—The bronze medal and diploma received by Superintendent Maxson, of the Public Schools, from the World's Columbian Commission, for the excellence of the school exhibit, will probably be placed on exhibition in one of the postoffice windows in a few days.

—A sociable under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Trinity Reformed church, will be held in the lecture room of the church this evening. A silver offering will be accepted to pay the expenses of a delegate to the National convention at Washington, D. C., next month.

—An amusing sight was witnessed by a dozen or more people on Somerset street about midnight, on Saturday, when a colored woman from the Fourth ward saw her husband emerge from the rear entrance of a saloon, and as quick as a wink she pounsed upon him with the remarks: "Bill, you dog garn nigger, what fo' you let yo' Matilda wait here in the gutter while you go in an' swill that trash?"—slap. And the echo from the slap on "Bill's" ears could be heard a block away.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by continually failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

Lost and Found His Bike.

Driver Townley, of Alert hose wagon, rode his wheel to Coney Island on Sunday and came very near returning home without it. While at the Island he had his wheel checked at one of the cycle stands. He spent several hours in enjoyment and when he returned for his wheel it was gone. He at once notified the police and Mr. Townley was just about ready to get on the boat to come home when the policeman appeared with the wheel. The young man that stole the wheel was seen trying to get on a trolley car with it, the conductor wouldn't let him on and, being unable to ride the wheel himself, he was found walking away with the wheel by the officer. When seen the young fellow dropped the wheel and escaped. Mr. Townley was thankful to receive his lost property.

—Rogers' orchestra will furnish the music for the North Plainfield school commencement Friday night.

—Rogers' orchestra has been engaged for the hop at Mountain Park Inn Saturday night.

—Sometime ago the Borough Board of Health brought action against Jerry Rowe for killing a calf in the street and allowing the blood to flow freely. He was taken before Justice Crosley and fined $10. Judge DeMeza appealed the case for Mr. Rowe and yesterday Judge Bartine rendered his decision sustaining the Board of Health. Borough Counsel Reed represented the Board of Health.

Customer— I want a remedy for catarrh.

Drug Clerk—All right, sir. Here's a blood tonic that is advertised to build up the constitution.

Customer— Young man, do you think I'm going to dose myself with a blood tonic for months, just on the chance of it doing me some good? Not much! I want immediate relief; besides, catarrh is a local affection, and no tonic or blood purifier ever made can cure it. Here's 50 cents. Let me have Ely's Cream Balm. It's the only thing I know of to cure catarrh.

Mizpah Lodge Lodge Elects.

At the meeting of Mizpah Lodge, No. 1, I. O. of U. O. L., held last evening the following officers were elected: Past lady, Mrs. Bushby; noble lady, Mrs. W. R. Mattox; vice lady, Mrs. Angleman; recording secretary, Mrs. Sweeney; lady reporter, Mrs. Randolph; financial secretary, Mrs. Demarest; treasurer, Mrs. Cortright; chaplain, Mrs. Corwin; conductor, Mrs. Kurzhals; guard, Mrs. McComas; senior warden, Mrs. Myers; junior warden, Mrs. Page.

The installation will take place July 13th, at which time the appointed officers will be annouced. The members decided to give an excursion to Boynton Beach Thursday, July 9th.

Broke His Arm.

Thomas A. Hammill, of 455 West Third street, while riding a safety along West Seventh street at Liberty, about nine o'clock Sunday morning, endeavored to escape two women who were crossing the street on their way to church at the time and inadvernately ran into the curb. He was thrown promiscuously into the gutter, dislocating his right arm at the elbow. The unfortunate man was first taken to Dr. Boone's office and then to Muhlenberg Hospital, where the broken bones were set and the other injuries attended to. Mr. Hammill is able to be about, but it will be a long time before he can resume his duties.

A Great Chance for an Outing.

The World's Students' conference at Northfield begins June 26th, and closes July 5th. The camps opens July 1st. Those attending the camp during the first few days will have an opportunity of enjoying the conference. The Bible conference is from July 10th to 20th, and the Christian Workers' conference in August. It should be remembered that $5 per week will cover the entire expense of each person in camp. Reduced rates have been secured by boat and rail.

They Were Never Touched By Rain.

This refers to my firecrackers I have reasons for making this statement.

First: Because it is a fact.

Second: Because there are a lot of rain damaged firecrackers on the market.

I was extremely careful to avoid them and I'm positive I succeeded in getting perfect goods.

Not a "fizzle" in a million of 'em.

My stock of fireworks is the best I know anything about. In buying I made sure of everything before placing my orders

AN ORDINANCE

An ordinance to amend an ordinance, entitled "An ordinance concerning the construction, maintenance and repair of sidewalks," approved November 16, 1894.

The inhabitants of the city of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Sec. 1. That section 3 of the ordinance whose title is stated in the title to this ordinance be and the same is hereby amended as follows:

By striking out where they occur in said section the following words: "Both sides of Watchung avenue from Richmond street to Woodland avenue; both sides of West Front street from Plainfield avenue to Grant avenue, and both sides of East Front street from Richmond street to Farragut road; both sides of Central avenue from Ninth street to Randolph road," and substituting in the place of the words so stricken out the following words, that is to say: "Both sides of Watchung avenue from Richmond street to Belvidere avenue; both sides of West Front street from Plainfield avenue to Clinton avenue; and both sides of East Front street from Richmond street to Farragut road; both sides of Central avenue from Ninth street to Randolph road; both sides of Park avenue from Ninth street to Randolph road."

Adopted by the Common Council June 1st 1896.

Approved by the Mayor June 3d, 1896.

A. GILBERT, Mayor.

WISE HOUSEKEEPERS are now putting in their winter stock of coal. It is cheaper, and better in every way now. Dealers are not rushed with orders, and have time to take extra care and pains. We use scrupulous care. Every bit of dust and dirt is screened out of the coal we have. You pay us sound money, and we give you sound, clean coal—every bit of it coal.

Shameful.

A New York newspaper reports a brief colloquy between a woman and her lazy husband. She was busy and the baby was crying, and the man, so far as appears, was doing nothing.

"John," she said, "I wish you would rock the baby."

"Oh, bother," was the answer. "Why should I rock the baby?"

"Why, because he isn't very well, and I have this mending to do. Besides, half of him belongs to you anyhow, and you ought to be willing to help take care of him."

"Well, half of him belongs to you, and you can rock your half and let my half holler."

Rural Liars.

Old Inhabitant (loafing at Cross Roads grocery)—Talkin' about crop failures, I remember a time when people had to eat up all the farm stock and then live on the fodder wot they had saved fer the cattle.

Older Inhabitant—Huh! That's nothin'. Why, I re-collect the time when provisions got so scarce that the starvin' farmers hed to go out an' shoot an amatoor sportsman fer dinner, an' then cook him with the wood from the "No Trespass" signs.—N. Y. Weekly.

Advice.

"When your wife has a temper, and home's rather blue,"
Asked Smith, "what on earth is a fellow to do?"
"My dear boy!" said Jones, "if that is the rub,
You must make an immoderate use of your club."
—Truth.

A PICTURE OF THE FUTURE.

Fliegende Blaetter's idea of a schoolboy a hundred years hence.

The Test in Boston.

"I adore you," said he.

"How much do you adore me?" asked Miss Bekonstreet, calmly. "Enough to join our Browning society this winter?"

He struggled within himself and he whispered: "Even that!"

Miss Bekonstreet smiled tenderly upon him and murmured: "One thing more; will you take me to the symphony to-morrow in my new bloomers?"

But he had fled and they are no longer platonic friends.—Life.

Beginning Early.

"Thank you, my dear," said the pretty young woman to the bright-eyed boy who had risen in the crowded car to give her his seat.

He stood a few moments with his feet very wide apart, and then he said:

"If I was a man and a little girl had got up to give me a seat I'd take her on my lap."—Chicago Tribune.

Just What Did He Mean?

Miss Keedik (proudly)—Mr. Tillinghast told me last night that I was a perfect poem.

Miss Fosdick—I think that was real cruel of him.

"Why?"

"He told me only two days ago that he thoroughly detested poetry."—Town Topics.

Dubious.

Mrs. Nuwed (returning from an absence of two weeks)—Are you really sad when I'm away, Ferdinand?

Mr. Nuwed (who means every word of it)—Mathilda, I never really appreciated what married life was until you had left me.—Chicago Record.

At the Club.

Jaggs—Did Jones tell you about that predicament he got into the other day? I'd like to hear the story from his own lips.

Baggs—He won't tell it—he's too mean.

Faggs—Yes; too mean to tell a joke at his own expense.—Truth.

All Over.

Sandstone—You must have been calling on some girl pretty regularly. I haven't seen anything of you for weeks.

Trimberly—You will now.

Sandstone—How so?

Trimberly—I called on her father yesterday.—N. Y. World.

A Mean Man.

Winkers—Talking about mean men, do you know Binkers?

Minkers—Is he mean?

Winkers—Mean! Mean is no name for it. Why, that fellow is mean enough to put his name on an umbrella.—N. Y. Weekly.

A Stab from Behind.

Blueblood Britisher—I came from a fine old English aristocratic family, I assure you.

Miss Keenune—Ah, really? Did they give you a good character when you left them?—N. Y. World.

A Narrow Escape.

Mrs. Kaddy (scornfully)—I wouldn't be an old maid for any thing in the world.

Miss Elderly (calmly)—Yes, we all saw that when you got your chance to get married.—Chicago Record.

How He Knew.

He—I observe my company is not agreeable to you.

She—How did you observe it?

He—By the clock. You've turned it forward instead of back.—N. Y Herald.

The Emancipated Woman.

"Jaggles' wife has charged him with failure to support her."

Weyler Wants Only One More Year To End the War.

AND INCIDENTALLY 40,000 MORE MEN

Pardons for Insurgents Who Wish To Surrender Soon To Be Denied—Maceo's Forces in Pinar del Rio Will Be Crushed Out.

Madrid, June 23.—A dispatch to the Imparcial from Havana says that Capt.-General Weyler is confident that he will be able to put an end to the insurrection in Cuba in the spring, when active operations will be resumed. The dispatch adds that he will withdraw his offers to pardon rebels who surrender.

Relies on Reinforcements.

Havana, June 23.—It is reported on good authority that Capt.-General Weyler is pleased with the aspect of military affairs in the island, and that the government has expressed its approval of his plan of campaign. He is confident that with the reinforcements of 40,000 men promised him by the minister of war he will be able to crush the rebellion and that he will return triumphant to Spain in June next. It is his intention to send 20,000 of the new troops, when they arrive, to the province of Pinar del Rio, where they will be employed in crushing Maceo, and the other 20,000 will be used to strengthen the Jucaro trocha. These reinforcements will enable Gen. Weyler to disperse with the services of the volunteers who are at present doing garrison duty.

Two Men Shot in Cabanas Fortress.

Andres Hernadez and Miguel Alonso Cabrera were shot in Cabanas fortress yesterday for the crime of rebellion. The rebel leader Montes de Oca has surrendered to the Spanish authorities at Sagua. Sunday night a body of rebels fired upon the fort protecting Guanabacoa, just across the bay from Havana. They were repulsed by the garrison. Another band attacked the town of Arroyo Arenas, twelve miles from Havana. They were also repulsed. On their retreat they burned several houses at Cantaranas, close to Arroyo Arenas.

Cuban Messengers Caught.

Havana, June 23.—Eleven Cubans arrived at Annoto bay on Saturday last in an open boat. Three of them landed and the balance of the party started to return, but the boat was detained. Three of the men are said to be messengers from the insurgents under Puyals, Wilson and Benito, named Fernandez, Laulz and Moralo. The boat was chased by a Spanish gunboat.

Spanish Outrage on British Soil.

Kingston, Jamaica, June 23.—It is reported here that the commander of a Spanish warship attempted, a few days ago, to commit a high-handed outrage on British territory. A party from the warship landed at Dry Harbor and attempted to kidnap a Cuban residing there who is prominently connected with the insurrection in Cuba. The ettempt failed and the Cuban appealed to the British authorities for protection, which was granted. A number of armed policemen are now patrolling in the vicinity of the Cuban's home.

Gen. Lee's Report.

London, June 23.—The Standard will to-day publish a dispatch from Madrid saying that the government is still uninformed officially of the report which Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, the American consul-general at Havana, has made to his government anent the situation in Cuba. If the tenor of the report is as is stated in unofficial dispatches received in Madrid it will make Gen. Lee's stay in Havana difficult.

SIR AUGUSTUS HARRIS DEAD.

The Well-Known Theatrical Manager Passed Away Last Night.

London, June 23.—Sir Augustus Harris, the well-known theatrical and operatic manager, whose critical illness at Folkestone was announced in these dispatches yesterday, died at 10:30 o'clock last night.

Sir Augustus Harris was born in 1852 and has been the lessee of Drury Lane theatre since 1879, where he has produced a number of successful pantomimes and several dramas. He revived grand opera at Drury Lane in 1887, and at the Royal Opera house, Convent Garden, in 1888. He was knighted in 1891, after the visit of Emperor William of Germany to London.

Divorce Granted Florence Ford.

St. Louis, June 23.—Florence Lilian Wickes Ford, daughter of Thomas H. Wickes, vice-president of the Pullman Palace Car company, has been granted a divorce from George Oliver Ford. The marriage of Miss Wickes and separation from her husband a few weeks later afforded a national sensation at the time. After separating from her husband Mrs. Ford went on the stage.

Killed Under a Collapsed Building.

San Francisco, June 23.—By the collapse of a three-story frame building, occupied on the ground floor as a restaurant, on the corner of Fifth street and Mint avenue, yesterday afternoon three people were killed outright and eleven others were more or less seriously injured. At least two more victims are known to be in the ruins.

Does Not Expect a Bolt.

Philadelphia, June 23. — National Chairman Harrity was asked if he anticipated any such bolt at the democratic convention as took place in St. Louis. In answer he said: "None of any consequence. Should the gold standard men be in the majority Tillman might walk out."

Democrats' Programme at Saratoga To-morrow Arranged.

LEADERS MET AT ALBANY LAST NIGHT

Conference at the Residence of Senator Hill — Delegates-at-Large Selected and the Regular State Platform To Be Adopted.

Albany, June 23.—Several of the prominent democratic leaders were in Albany last night. Chairman J. W. Hinkley of the state committee arrived from Poughkeepsie on an early evening train and proceeded at once to Senator Hill's home, Wolfert's Roost, where he spent the night as the senator's guest. Ex-Secretary of the Navy Whitney accompanied him. Senator Hill, Mr. Whitney and Mr. Hinkley will start this afternoon for Saratoga, to be on hand to greet the delegates to to-morrow's convention. Senator Hill met his guests apparently by previous appointment. A long conference ensued between the leaders at his home. The discussion was, of course, mainly on the state platform to be adopted and the fight to be made for honest money at Chicago. It is understood that the four delegates-at-large to the Chicago convention have been decided upon. Senators Hill and Murphy, ex-Gov. Roswell P. Flower and Frederick R. Coudert of New York city are the names settled upon. Mr. Whitney reiterated his desire not to go as a delegate, and Mr. Coudert was practically decided upon as the fourth delegate-at-large last evening. It is well known that Senator Murphy, although he will be elected a delegate-at-large, does not intend to go to Chicago. As alternate to Senator Murphy two names are mentioned as probabilities, ex-postmaster-general Wilson S. Bissell of Buffalo and ex-mayor William R. Grace of New York. If Mr. Coudert is put on as a delegate, Mr. Bissell rather than Mr. Grace will probably be selected for Senator Murphy's alternate, both Mr. Coudert and Mr. Grace coming from New York city. Hon. John Boyd Thacher, mayor of Albany, will be temporary chairman of the convention and it is settled that the temporary organization shall be made permanent. Mr. Thacher's speech will be brief and the session of the convention itself it is expected will only last until evening of Wednesday. Senator McCurren of Brooklyn and a few other prominent delegates came in by the evening trains last night and stopped over in Albany for the night. Ex-Gov. Flower will pass through from New York city to Saratoga to-day. The financial plank of the platform will follow the lines laid down in previous state platforms and declare for the gold standard. Bimetallism will only be recognized through an international agreement.

Democrats Arriving at Saratoga.

Saratoga, N. Y., June 23.—Only a handful of delegates to to-morrow's democratic convention had arrived this morning, but by to-night the town will probably be crowded. Ex-Mayor Gilroy, Francis M. Scott and one or two others from New York city are here. Henry D. Purroy has been here since Sunday. The convention hall is in order, the hotels have wide open doors and the town is ready to receive any number of democratic statesmen and wire pullers. The only regret of the townspeople and hotel proprietors is that there is little prospect of more than one day's session of the convention.

Can't Inspect Vanderbilt's Books.

New York, June 23.—Justice Pryor of the supreme court has handed down a decision denying the motion of William H. Brown of Chicago to be permitted to inspect the books of the late Commodore Vanderbilt. Brown is a member of the Chicago board of trade. He desired to see the books preparatory to bringing suit against the Vanderbilt estate for $2,000,000.

Distribution of Armenian Relief.

Washington, June 23.—About the mode of distribution in Turkey of the money collected abroad, the Turkish legation has received from the sublime porte the following dispatch under date of the 6th inst: "The subscriptions collected for the people of Anatolia are distributed by the delegates of the relief committee in the presence of one member of the local commission."

To Be Dined by the Queen.

London, June 23.—Sir Donald Smith, the Canadian High commissioner in London, and Sir Mackenzie Bowell, the former premier of Canada, and delegates from the Montreal chamber of commerce to the recent congress of the chambers of commerce of the British empire will dine at Windsor castle soon after the queen's return here from Scotland.

Capital Stock Increased $8,000,000.

New York, June 23.—At a meeting of the American Telephone & Telegraph company stockholders it was voted to ratify the resolution of the board of directors recently adopted to add $8,000,000 to the capital stock. The capital stock was $12,000,000, and now it is made $20,000,000.

To Meet in Washington in '99.

Glasgow, June 23.—The Pan-Presbyterian council has unanimously accepted the invitation to hold its meeting at Washington in 1899 and has thanked San Francisco for the invitation extended by that city.

Another Trolley Victim.

Newark, N. J., June 23.—George Dattermick, 6-years-old, was crushed to death under a trolley car on which he attempted to steal a ride yesterday afternoon. The wheels of the car passed over his head.

Starving children

There are children without food. They cry for it, and are not answered. The pity of it! But often nature cries out in other ways that her children need nourishment. Is your child thin; actually poor in flesh? Does it get no benefit from its food? Then give something which produces flesh and makes rich blood.

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod-liver Oil, with Hypophosphites does more than this. It changes the unhealthy action to one of health, thus removing the cause. It acts on the nervous system, which controls all the processes of the body, toning it up into sound and vigorous activity. It is food for growing bone and brain. It makes the thin plump; the pale, ruddy; the weak, strong; it feeds and cures.

SCOTT'S EMULSION has been indorsed by the medical profession for twenty years. (Ask your doctor.) This is because it is always palatable—always uniform—always contains the purest Norwegian Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

Put up in 50 cent and $1.00 sizes. The small size may be enough to cure your cough or help your baby. All druggists.

SPORTS

TUESDAY, June 23. Sun rises 4:29 a. m., sets 7:34 p. m. Lanterns must be lighted between 8:34 p. m. and 3:29 a. m.

Cyclists desiring to join the League of American Wheelmen will be furnished with application blanks and necessary information by addressing the Cycling Department of the Daily Press.

CYCLING COMMENT.

The Victor Wheelmen will hold a meeting on Thursday evening.

"Pet" Overbaugh, of Washingtonville, is riding a Majestic wheel.

Percy Browne, of Mercer avenue, expects to leave Friday on a cycling trip to Delaware Water Gap, where he will spend a few days.

Miss Dora Ulrick, of East Fifth street, has arranged a bicycle run to Metuchen. The party will leave Miss Ulrick's home at 7 o'clock.

Harry Marshall, of East Fifth street, is arranging a cycle run to Metuchen for Friday evening. The party will include chiefly the young people from Trinity Reformed church.

Jay Eaton and H. B. Mosher went to Troy Sunday night to finish the New York State circuit. The rode at Troy yesterday, at Saratoga today, and will ride at Albany tomorrow.

William M. McCutchen and his trainer, Elston Leonard, went to Trenton yesterday morning to attend the benefit race meet for the St. Francis Hospital. McCutchen has recovered so much from his recent injuries that he hopes to ride.

Sydney R. Titsworth, of West Fifth street, and Nathan Lewis, of West Eighth street, took a tandem ride to Asbury Park last Sunday. They were riding near Mattawan when the shower came up and both were drenched. They had a delightful time nevertheless.

Nearly 160 warm and dusty wheelmen rode into Plainfield early Sunday afternoon on the century run of the Hudson County Wheelmen from Newark to Asbury Park. They stopped at the Revere House, where "Manager" Wm. Sweeney assisted in checking them. A photograph was taken of the party at the hotel.

Jay Eaton, of the Jersey Wheel Company's cycling team, is showing himself as one of the best of the professional "push" that is following the New York State circuit. Yesterday he rode second to Eddie Bald in the mile open, beating Tom Butler by a foot. He took third in the one mile handicap from the eighty-yard mark

Quite a number of race meets will be held in this district during the next two weeks. On Saturday the Pennsylvania Bicycle Club, of Philadelphia, will hold one, while the mammoth meet of the Kings County Wheelmen is to be held at Manhattan Beach on the same day. Next week comes the diamond meet of the Tourist Cycle Club, of Paterson, on July 3d and 4th. The other clubs in this district to hold races on July 4th are the Princeton Athletic Association, the Boonton Athletic Club, the Sahodalica Wheelmen, of Morristown, and the New Jersey Athletic Club.

The race meet for the benefit of St. Francis Hospital, Trenton, yesterday was an exciting one. All the fast amateur "push" was there and the races were run off in fast time. H. F. Loehrs, of the Elizabeth Athletic Cyclers, showed up well, winning his heat in the one mile handicap and finishing third in the final. He also finished second in his heat in the 2:30 class race. In the latter race John H. Lake, the fast Port Richmond boy who has been training at the Crescent Oval and who is making Plainfield his headquarters, won the final heat in 2:34 and finished second in his heat in the one mile handicap. William M. McCutchen was present at the races, but did not ride. Loehrs and Lake both rode Jerseys.

The Atalanta Wheelmen, of Newark, held their first race meet at Waverly Park, Saturday afternoon, and altogether it was quite a successful meet. Plainfield was represented in the novice and two-mile handicap by George W. Scribner who failed, however, to qualify in his heats. C. J. Bird and H. F. Loehrs, both of the Elizabeth Athletic Cyclers, qualified in the two-mile handicap. Bird won the event and Loehrs finished fifth in the final. The latter rode a Jersey. The entire Jersey team was present and rode in the professional events. Jay Eaton and H. B. Mosher rode a dead heat for second in the one mile handicap. Mosher finished third in the one mile open. Three State records were broken on Jerseys. Peter J. Berlo, paced by a "quint." manned by Callahan, Crooks, Saunders, Mayo and Kluge, made the one-half and one mile paced records with flying start. His time for the one-half was :56 3-5 and for the mile 1:54 2-5. Jay Eaton rode a one-half, unpaced, in 1:02, also a State record.

—A meeting of the Co-operative Association will be held on Friday evening.

AROUND THE BASES.

The Westfield Y. M. C. A. will play the Plainfield Athletic Club next Saturday at Westfield.

The Westfield Y. M. C. A. ball team went over to Montclair last Saturday and defeated the Y. M. C. A. team of that place by the score of 16 to 6. The Westfield boys played an almost errorless game and won with ease. The features of the game were the pitching of Rogers and the fielding of Randolph. Batteries—Westfield, R. Rogers and D. Rogers; Montclair, Doherty and Curtis.

A Reminder.

Down the post office steps Rev. Dr. Fifthly carefully picked his way, and then his feet suddenly shot out, and he went down right in the midst of a group of stockbrokers.

"Ah, good morning, doctor," laughed the stockbrokers, recognizing the minister, "you remind us of the wicked man, whose foot slippeth."

"Nay," retorted the good minister, "but rather do I seem like the man who went down to Jericho."

"How is that?" chorused the brokers.

"Because he fell among thieves," murmured the doctor as he got up and moved decorously away.—N. Y. Recorder.

Unhandsome Trick.

In the dead of night Mr. Billus heard a faint scream.

"Maria," he said, rousing himself, "I forgot to tell you I was carrying my money in one of those trick pocket books that run a pin in your thumb when you try to open them. Press it on the left side, just below the clasp."—Chicago Tribune.

Nearly Correct.

"Mr. Perkins, what is your idea of culture?"

"Well, Mrs. Perkins, it is letting new neighbors move in without looking to see what kind of furniture they have."

MRS. TREMAINE'S MONKEY.

"I wonder," I said, as I was looking out of the window of Jack Trevor's lodgings, "why that girl's rushing up the street without her hat."

"Ah!" he said, coming to the window, "I thought it must be she. She's catching the monkey. I expect she misses me now sometimes. You didn't see which way it went, did you?"

"No," I said. "Is she addicted to hunting monkeys?"

"Only the monkey," he replied. "I used to do it once."

"Dear me!" I said. It's a fashionable amusement in the neighborhood, then?"

"No," he answered, mournfully. "I was engaged to that girl once, and that beast of a monkey broke the engagement off."

"Were you," I asked, "cut out by the monkey, then?"

"A man," he said, "must be very, very young to make a remark like that."

"Who is she?" I inquired.

"Oh, she's Miss Tremaine," he said. "I'll tell you the story, if you like. It will be a warning to you never to get engaged to a girl who keeps a monkey."

"At present," I said, "there is no girl of the sort in my mind's eye, but it's better to be prepared for all emergencies."

"I got engaged to Miss Tremaine," he said, "about three years ago. I met her at the tennis club, and dances, and around the place generally here, but I had never seen much of her at home, and I was unaware even of the monkey's existence. As soon as we were engaged I was introduced to Jacko. He was a small monkey, of ordinary appearance, and was not at first sight prepossessing, but in the Tremaine household he was a family fetich. It's curious to notice the dominant influence in different families. Sometimes it's the baby, sometimes the butler, sometimes the first husband's memory, and sometimes the daily paper. But in this case, Jacko reigned supreme. Capt. Tremaine, who was dead, had bought the beast, and it was concerned in a touching deathbed scene or something of the kind. At any rate, Mrs. Tremaine regarded it as a sacred relic of the dear deceased, and lavished all her love and affection on it. I well remember the first night I saw Jacko, and discovered the habit that eventually wrecked an engagement. It was a stifling evening, and I suggested to Maud the desirability of opening a window. 'Oh, no,' she said, 'we never can have the windows open in the evening. Jacko would get out.' My first hint of Jacko's habits was enlarged by Mrs. Tremaine's frequent and objectionable intrusions to inquire as to the beast's whereabouts. A man in the first rapture of an engagement naturally dislikes the inrushes of some one else in pursuit of a monkey. The next morning the nuisance increased. A servant came round— they live a few doors from here —to tell me that Jacko had just escaped, and would I help to catch him? I found him about lunch time, and overhauled him after a long and exciting chase. As seemed obvious, I caught him by the tail, and the brute bit me and went on for another half hour. Mrs. Tremaine explained reproachfully that Jacko always bit people who touched his tail.

"For some months Jacko continued to be a nuisance at home and abroad. When he escaped, which he managed to do about once a week, I was expected to secure him. This generally happened in the morning, when the windows were open and the tradesmen were calling, and at first on these occasions I did not reach chambers till the afternoon. Afterward I became quite an adept at catching him. His plan of campaign was to wait till his pursuer was quite close and then jump about 20 yards. I bought a large butterfly net with a long handle, and he never got the hang of that. When I had discovered this invention I was comparatively happy, but I waited with dread for the time when Jacko should escape after dark, and I should be compelled to hunt for the brute through the watches of the night on the peril of losing the regard of the Tremaine family. Jacko's nomadic habits were, I may explain, attributed to a desire to find his dead master. At last the event I dreaded occurred. One cold winter's evening Jacko disappeared while the cook was interviewing her favorite policeman at the back door and got well away. The cook received a month's notice on the spot and I was at once put on the track of the animal. Mrs. Tremaine was much annoyed because I wished to put on my boots before starting, and even Maud seemed only anxious for the monkey's health. After tramping through three or four miles of streets I experienced what at first I regarded as unexpected good luck. The brute came tearing round a corner, and in a second he was in the butterfly net. I was just preparing to return, elated that the run had been so unmercifully cut short, when a crowd also came round the corner, headed by an angry and breathless Italian. I soon discovered the connection of events. The Italian could not speak much English, but I gathered that he claimed Jacko as his monkey, his carrissimo monkey. The crowd, who had become excited in the chase, and who imagined that I was attempting to cheat a poor, ignorant foreigner out of his only solace in a strange land, demanded that I should give the monkey up. The vision of Maud's face, if the scared animal spent the night in the possession of an untrustworthy Italian, rose before my eyes, and I distinctively declined to relinquish Jacko.

"In the course of conversation with the crowd I lost my temper and a considerable portion of my clothes, and by the time that a policeman arrived I suppose my appearance did justify him in conveying Jacko, the Italian and me to the police station. There I spent a most miserable night. My utmost entreaties failed to induce the police to send to Mrs. Tremaine to bail me out. I think their malevolence was prompted by the policeman who had been so rudely interrupted in his tryst with the cook.

"In the morning we appeared before his worship. The Italian and I were charged with creating a disturbance and assaults, and breaches of the peace and that kind of thing, and, as far as I remember, the police threw in a charge of drunk and disorderly against me. His worship asked to see the monkey, and, when they brought him in, lo and behold! there were two Jackos.

"After some explanation the magistrate dismissed the charges against us with a caution, on the ground of excusable mistake. And, indeed, it was most excusable. Apparently the Italian had really lost his monkey, and whether it was his monkey or Jacko that he had been pursuing when I encountered it I do not know to this day. At all events, the police had captured the other monkey during the night and had shut the two up together. There they sat, two ugly, grinning, indistinguishable creatures, both guilty, according to the evidence, of aggravated assaults on the police.

"When we were released from the dock the magistrate asked us to remove the monkeys. The Italian and I stared at each other blankly. He knew no more than I which was his property. Of course, it was useless to consult the police about their identity. As the magistrate pointed out, there is no presumption either in law or in fact as to the ownership of two stray monkeys. I appealed to him to decide the question himself, and he pointed out that it was the duty of the police to restore property to its owners. He said that he was not Solomon, but only a police magistrate, and that he doubted whether even the house of lords could throw much light on the subject. The matter, he thought, was eminently one to be settled out of court.

"At first I tried to solve the difficulty by buying out the Italian's claim to either of the monkeys, with the idea of sorting them afterward. But he, also, it appeared, had a romantic attachment for his carrissimo monkey, and he declined my overtures with fervent appeals to most of the saints on the register. The whole thing, he seemed to think, was a base attempt on the part of a foreign brutal government to trample on the rights of an Italian citizen and to consign his monkey to the dungeons of the Zoo. Then I offered him his choice of the two, and this might have saved all trouble if Mrs. Tremaine had not arrived at that moment to inquire for Jacko and had not learned the whole affair from a communicative inspector.

"Neither Jacko nor the alleged Jacko showed the faintest signs of recognition. Indeed, they almost at once devoted themselves to a sanguinary fight, in which Mrs. Tremaine intervened with considerable injury to herself. Then she turned to me, and I could see from her manner that she considered me responsible for the whole difficulty. For a quarter of an hour I had a really lively time. Mrs. Tremaine hectored the Italian, and the Italian objurgated Mrs. Tremaine. Neither of them understood a word that the other said, and I had to act as interpreter and buffer.

"Eventually, I made the best terms that I could. The Italian agreed, for a consideration, to allow us to keep both monkeys for a week, during which we might discover their identity. Mrs. Tremaine quite readily agreed to the proposal, for she was confident that no monkey but Jacko could possess Jacko's virtues. I was more doubtful, believing that the virtues were few enough to be common to many monkeys. And so it turned out. Both monkeys made themselves quite at home, overate themselves equally, stole as cleverly, and, what was most remarkable, searched with identical persistence for the deceased Capt. Tremaine. Twice that week I had to catch two monkeys, and when they were both in the butterfly net they nearly killed each other. Mrs. Tremaine used to look at them by the hour, and sob, and call Jacko softly. They both answered to the name, if there was any food about, and at other times preferred to be the other monkey.

"At the end of the week, the organ grinder appeared punctually, and a heartrending scene followed. No decision had been come to till the morning of his arrival, and then Mrs. Tremaine and Maud differed as to which was the real Jacko. Then the question had to be decided somehow, and thinking it really mattered little which we kept, I suggested that we should toss up. The flippancy of the suggestion annoyed them and led to recrimination, but at last we agreed to decide by lot, that being a Biblical way out of the difficulty, and suitable to the occasion. The organ grinder went on his way contentedly, and I hoped that the affair was at an end. But I was very much mistaken. No sooner had he gone than Mrs. Tremaine and Maud became alike convinced that they had given up the real Jacko. They said they were certain of it. Poor, dear Jacko was sitting on a barrel organ in the cold street, and engaged in the degrading occupation of collecting coppers, and monkeys were so liable to consumption, and what would poor papa think if he were alive?

"I stood this for about ten days and then I went after the Italian again, having obtained his address in case of further complications. His affections were apparently now extended to both monkeys, for he consented to an exchange for a further consideration. Surely, I thought, to myself, Maud and her mother will be content now. But no, the thing began all over again. The former Jacko was their darling and they'd given him up when they'd got him safe, and it was by my advice and it was all my fault. Twice more I exchanged those monkeys, and then at last even my patience failed. We quarreled, and we parted, and I've never spoken to her since. That's why I say, never get engaged to a girl who keeps a monkey."—Pick-Me-Up.

NO CONSUMPTIVE WILL DIE

So Long as He Can Digest and Assimilate Food.

All physicians admit this. Yet here the difficulty begins. How can we build up the consumptive's body as fast as the disease tears it down? Let us consider.

Cough mixtures must be avoided because they frequently contain opiates which arrest the digestion. Their only effect on the cough is by stupefying the nerves. Let them alone.

All foods that are hard to digest must be avoided, especially fats and oils. Only those foods that are easily digested and assimilated should be eaten. Foods thus not accepted by nature do no good; they do harm. Not what is merely eaten but what is digested and assimilated gives flesh and strength.

Consumption is starvation, slow or rapid, as may be. The first symptoms is, not necessarily a cough, but a tendency to lose flesh, to grow thin. Stop this tendency now. Don't wait for obvious lung trouble. That's only a later development—only a minor point.

Stop the wasting and you master the disease,—even though it may have made some slight inroads already. Increase the flesh and the danger is past.

What is needed is an especially prepared food,—a nutriment in itself and a digester of other foods.

Such an article is the Shaker Digestive Cordial, made by the Shaker Community, of Mt. Lebanon, N. Y. It creates a natural appetite and insures the digestion of what is eaten with it. It overcomes the wasting which is fatal in the consumptive process.

A man may lose money and not die a bankrupt. One may have consumption and not die of it. This is science and sense. The success of this new remedy proves it.

PUBLIC NOTICE!

The subscriber hereby gives notice to all concerned that Sections of the City Ordinance concerning encroachments on streets and sidewalks requires all trees standing along the public streets, whose branches extend over sidewalks or roadways, to be trimmed from the main trunk to a height not less than ten feet from the surface of the ground so as to prevent injury to the public health, impediment to travel, and obstruction to street lights, unless the Street Commissioner shall otherwise direct or permit. The Street Commissioner is further required to see that the ordinance is carried into effect. In the discharge of that duty, the subscriber now gives notice to property owners to comply with the ordinance referred to, and in that default of compliance therewith, the work will be done by the city at the expense of the property owners.

PUBLIC SCHOOL WORK.

CREDITABLE EXHIBIT OF SCHOLARS OF THE BRYANT SCHOOL.

Evidence That the Pupils Are Made Self Reliant by the Method of Teaching Now in Vogue in Schools.

It has been said "We are builders, and each one should cut and carve as best he can," and to one who witnessed the public exhibition given at the Bryant School yesterday afternoon, the above words seem doubly true.

When it is considered that all of the classes are primary, there is only one thing to be said, and that is that the work is remarkably fine in every detail. Miss Shattuck, the principal, with a corps of ten teachers, who all thoroughly understand their duties, have worked hard and faithfully to produce the best results with the children. The average age of the scholars range from 4½ to 12 years. The work commences in the kindergarten department and the little ones are taught to make small things, chiefly in paper, with the idea of impressing indelibly upon their minds the fundamental principles upon which a grand and useful education can be secured. Miss Cadmus has charge of this work and the progress is noteworthy. From the above departments the scholars are taught more advanced principles and subjects.

A feature of the work is that the children are taught a great deal from objects. They are required to think, and from their thoughts they are required to place their impressions on paper. The study of language, arithmetic and geography is taught in a thorough, systematic manner and the evenness of the written work for primary grade is beyond a doubt the finest ever seen. One very amusing piece of work was performed by a boy five years old. It was a true representation of Barnum & Bailey's great circus parade held in this city. It certainly would do credit to a boy more advanced in years. Another feature is an illustration of two pumpkin pies. One is whole and the other is minus one quarter. This was the scholars idea of fixing the principle of whole and quarter quanities in his mind. It would be unfair to specify excellence in any one department, as there is a uniform excellence throughout that is commendable. Miss Shatluck and her corps of teachers deserve praise for their earnest efforts, and to the scholars is due great credit for their most excellent work. At 5 o'clock in the afternoon State Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Baxter, arrived and was received by a committee consisting of Florence Disbrow, May Anthony, Nellie Clarkson and Mary Line. Mr. Baxter was highly pleased with the exhibition, which fact was gratifying to the teachers and scholars.

Crop and Weather Conditions.

The following is Weather Observer John Neagle's report of the condition of crops this week: An abundance of rain, in many places corn fields were flooded; hay cutting commenced; crops in general have improved. The rainfall for twenty-one days is 2.23 above the average for that time for past five Junes. Average temperature, 67.8. Rainfall, 1.76 inch.

A Living Ad.

The entire New Jersey delegation to the recent Republican convention, including Hobart, were a grand walking advertisement for the Jersey Wheel Company. Everyone wore a Jersey button, which was quite appropriate with the large "Jersey" across the middle.

Escaped Being Struck By a Blue Liner.

Peter Sneiderwind, one of the brakemen of drill-engine, No. 30, stood too near a Royal Blue line flyer as it rushed through this city this morning, with the result that he was knocked down by the suction of air. He escaped injury.

Fell Through a Hatchway.

Gilbert Murray, a driver for Frank Day, accidentally fell through an opening in the hay loft in the West Sixth street stables yesterday afternoon and severely sprained his right ankle. Dr. Simpson is the attending physician.

If it required an annual outlay of $100.00 to insure a family against any serious consequences from an attack of bowel complaint during the year there are many who would feel it their duty to pay it; that they could not afford to risk their lives, and those of their family for such an amount. Any one can get this insurance for 25 cents that being the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. One or two doses of this remedy will cure any ordinary case. It never fails. Can you afford to take the risk for so small an amount? For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

CHEAPER TO HAVF GONE IN RAGS.

Attendants of First Presbyterian Church Social Fined for Dressing Well.

The social committee of the Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church, consisting of Miss Agnes Blair, chairman, Miss Flora Petrie, Miss Mary Lucky, Miss Grace Petrie, Miss Pansy Herring, Guernsey Nevins, Russell Bond and Frank Flannery, arranged a poverty social which was held in the chapel of the church last evening.

Everyone attending was met at the door by one of the committee and ushered into a side room, which was styled "Room for fines." There they were taken in charge by Miss Agnes Blair, who, in a thorough business-like manner, set a price on the wearing apparel and collected the stipulated amount from each. Here is a list of articles for which fines had to be paid, and the price charged: Silk dress, 10 cents; new dress, 5 cents; gold cuff buttons, 5 cents; silver cuff buttons, 2 cents; fancy pins 1 cent; collars, 2 cents; polished shoes with buttons or laces, 5 cents, chewing gum, 10 cents; neckties, 2 cents; ribbon, 2 cents; frizzes, 5 cents, watch and chain, 5 cents, studs, 2 cents, rings, 2 cents. Everyone in a greater or less degree came in for a share of the above, and Miss Blair would not let any escape.

After the fines had been collected a new feature was introduced by Miss Grace Petrie and Miss Agnes Blair. A paper called "The Daily Worrier," was issued for the first and amusing articles were read. An interview with Dr. Clawson was read by Frank Flannery and the following by Miss Petrie, as editor, and Miss Blair, as assistant: Personals, editorials, fashions, side talks with girls, smiles, housekeeper's column, fine arts, cent-a-word column, special Sunday edition. All of the sketches were very personal and amusing.

After all had enjoyed a good laugh, the committee served coffee and cake to those present and the balance of the time was devoted to sociability.

THE TIME OF VACATION..

How the Teachers of the Bryant School Will Spend the Summer.

The teachers of the Bryant School have decided what they will do during the summer, and it may be of interest to their many friends to know where they will be found. Miss Shattuck, principal, will divide her time between Lake Champlain and and the New England States. Miss Miller will remain at Oswego, N. Y., as will also Miss Marshall. Miss Davies goes to Petersburg, N. Y., and Miss Burnett will be found at Southampton, L. I. Miss Brown will spend the summer at her home in Lake Erie, Ohio, and Miss Cadmus will go to her home in East Orange, and has planned for several trips. Miss Low goes to Gloucester, Mass. Miss Runyon and Miss Ticknor will remain in Plainfield a portion of the time, and the balance will be spent in occasional outings from time to time. Miss Marsh is the only one who will not return. She will go to Newark, and in the fall will accept a position at the Bryn Mawr Preparatory School, of Baltimore.

Graduates Tomorrow.

Tomorrow will be an auspicious day for twenty-three young people of Plainfield, for on that day will they graduate from the High School and their names added to the alumni of that famous institution. As usual the commencement exercises will be held at Music Hall. A portion of the seats will be reserved for the friends of the graduates and the faculty. The rest of the hall will be free to all. and it is probable that every seat will be filled, as has been the case for past years.

Laid at Rest.

The funeral of Emily Anna Elizabeth Freeman, the three-year old daughter of Abram and Celia Freeman, took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of her parents, 203 Prescott place. Rev. Dr. Yerkes, of the First Baptist church, conducted the services. The house was completely filled with relatives and friends. There was a large floral offering. The pallbearers were four little boys. Interment took place in Hillside cemetery.

Salvationists Hustling.

Another big meeting is being arranged by the Salvation Army corps, of this city, for Friday evening. Staff Captain Sammons, who has charge of the Northern New Jersey District, and probably his wife, will be present and lead the meeting. Staff Captain Sammons makes his headquarters at Newark, and is known as the "Jersey Lightning Man."

"Wake up, Jacob, day is breaking!" so said De Witt's Little Early Risers to the man who had taken them to arouse his sluggish liver. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

MINERVA'S SECOND ANNIVERSARY.

Rathbone Sisters Pass the Two-Year Mark in Their History.

The second anniversary of Minerva Temple, No. 4, Rathbone Sisters, was celebrated last evening in K. of P. Hall, West Second strert, in a most pleasant manner.

The following programme was rendered: Vocal solo, Mrs. A. D. Pope; recitation, Arthur Philo; vocal solo, Miss Pauline Philo; piano solo, Mr. Menzel; dialogue, "A Nobleman in Disgrace;" recitation, Miss Lillian Haberle; vocal solo, Eli Odam; recitation, Miss Pauline Philo; dialogue, "A Boy's Plot." The following subjects were represented in tableaux by the members: Spring, Miss Lillian Duckworth and Miss Pauline Philo; Friendship, Mrs. Haberle; Purity, Mrs. Thatcher; Night, Mrs. Bellis; Day, Mrs. Wakefield; Charity, Miss Mabel Dilts, assisted by Miss Mabel Wakefield and Miss Lillian Duckworth; In Harvest Time, Miss Alice Kennedy; Rock of Ages, Mrs. Thatcher; Virgin and Time, Mrs. Bowman and Otto Kellar; Immortality, Mrs. Moore; Goddess of Liberty, Mrs. Boehm.

After the rendition of the above programme, Mrs. Boehm was presented by Mrs. Moore, on behalf of the Temple, with a handsome Past Chief jewel. Most Excellent Chief Mrs. W. J. Ford offered a few remarks in the good of the order. The committee were: Mrs. Boehm, Mrs. Thatcher, Mrs. Haberle, Mrs. Bowman, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Pope, Mrs. Stephens and Mrs. Bellis.

At the close the above committee served all present with delicious refreshments, and thus the second anniversary of this prosperous lodge was celebrated.

M. J. CASHIN TAKES A WIFE.

The Popular Plainfielder Married at Wappinger's Falls.

A very pretty wedding took place at St. Mary's church, Wappinger's Falls, N. Y., this morning, when Matthew J. Cashin, of this city, and Miss Elizabeth C. Croak, of Wappinger's Falls, were united in marriage by Rev. C. V. Mahoney, of that place. The ceremony was held at 10:30 o'clock, and was largely attended by the friends of the bride, who was becomingly gowned in white. Miss Mary Hanlon, of Wappinger's Falls, acted as bridemaid, and Wm. E. Cashin, of Ellicott City, Maryland, brother of the groom, acted as best man. A wedding dinner at the home of the bride followed, and then the newly-married couple started off on their wedding journey to an unknown destination. Mr. and Mrs. Cashin will reside in North Plainfield on Prospect place.

A Distinguished Honor.

Superintendent Henry M. Maxson, of the Plainfield public schools, will spend his summer in Vermont. He will visit the State Summer School for Teachers of Vermont and is under engagement to lecture there on school management and arithmetic. The honor is quite a high one as only the most experienced are secured to instruct Vermont's teachers. The summer school is a great institution.

Not a Place for Consumptives.

Dr. Townsend, the specialist, who claims to have a cure for consumption, is no longer connected with the enterprise which recently assumed control of the Hotel Netherwood. The hotel is not to be made a sanitarium for the treatment of consumptive patients, but will be conducted principally as a summer resort for those who desire quietude and rest.

To Go to a New York Y. M. C. A.

CONVENTION SOCIABLE.

EFFORT MADE TO SEND A C. E. DELEGATE TO WASHINGTON.

Rev. A. I. Martine Talks on the Features That Will Mark the Convention and the Accommodations to Be Provided.

Black and yellow, the State Christian Endeavor colors, prevailed in the decorations at the "convention" sociable held in the lecture rooms of the Trinity Reformed church last evening by the Christian Endeavor Society of that church. The object of the sociable was to raise money to send a delegate to the Washington National convention, and a voluntary offering was made for that purpose.

The room was prettily draped with the black and yellow bunting and on the wall in the front of the room hung a large yellow banner with the motto "For Christ and the Church" in black letters. Beneath was a large C. E. of the prevailing colors, and on each side a similar banner with "Washington '96" on one and "Plainfield '96" on the other. Daisies and other flowers gave the room a pretty appearance. The decorating was done by the flower committee which is composed of Miss May Sheppard, chairman; Miss Josephine Kissam, Miss C. J. Smalley and W. F. Dunn.

The programme opened with a well-rendered violin solo by Martin A. Korff, accompanied by Prof. Carpenter. Pleasing vocal solos by Horace J. Martin and Fred Cutter followed, and then the programme concluded with another excellent violin solo by Mr. Korff.

Refreshments were then partaken of and then the visitors settled down to listen to a few remarks by Rev. J. A. Martine, of Dunellen, a member of the transportation committee, who gave an informal talk on the Washington convention. He told of the arrangements that have been made for the transportation of the New Jersey delegation and of their headquarters at Washington, the National Hotel. The cost of the trip, including board, lodging and everything, will amount to $19.91, and he urged all to go or at least be sure to send delegates, as the committee had been forced to promise a delegation of 330 from New Jersey to secure necessary low rates and privileges.

The social committee that arranged the sociable and served the refreshments was: Mrs. H. W. Marshall, chairman, Miss Hattie Powelson, Miss Carrie Mehl, Mrs. E. Weaver, Miss Ella Fenner.

COUNTRY CLUB CHANGES.

Extensive Alterations Being Made in the Casino of the Clubhouse.

Quite extensive alterations are being made in the clubhouse of the Union County Country Club on West Seventh street. The gallery of the Casino is being changed into a ladies' room, all furnished and carpeted, instead of the regular rows of seats. It will be a place where the ladies can witness anything that is going on in the Casino. The greatest change will be in the restaurant which is to be located on the top floor, while a sort of roof-garden or open-air restaurant will be arranged over the rear wing. The rooms on the first floor now occupied by the restaurant will be fitted up to suit the ladies.

Goed Example for Others to Follow.

George W. Cole, who owns the livery establishment on the corner of Exchange alley and West Second street, has decided to macadamize his half of the roadway of the alley, so constructing it that the water will run to the centre of the alley and thus properly drain off. It would be the proper thing for all the property owners to join in the enterprise and have the alley graded and macadamized its entire length, and sidewalks built on each side.

A Little Daughter Dead.

Death entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Doane, of Norwood avenue, last evening, and carried away their little nine-weeks-old daughter, Edith Laura Doane. The child had been ill for some time with heart disease, but the parents felt the loss very keenly.

Entertained on the Mountain.

Mr. and Mrs. John French entertained a party to dinner at the Mountain Park Inn last evening. The company consisted of Mr. Keep, of Boston; Mrs. Flanders, Greenville, S. C.; Miss Ida Yerkes, Miss Mary E. French and Harry Yarnell.

—The scholars of the Bryant School were allowed this morning to witness their own exhibit.

When we consider that the intestines are about five times as long as the body, we can realize the intense suffering experienced when they become inflamed. De Witt's Colic and Cholera Cure subdues inflammation at once and completely removes the difficulty. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

DIVERSION FROM THE HEAT.

Pleasing Entertainment Given in Church of Heavenly Rest Last Night.

An enjoyable entertainment was given in the parish house of the Church of the Heavenly Rest last night. The attendance was enough to fill the room, and although the atmospheric conditions were rather oppressive, no one wearied, as the programme arranged proved a most pleasing diversion from the heat.

The programme rendered was as follows: Part first—Overture, the Young Ladies' Orchestra; bass solo, "A Son of the Desert Am I," Bertram F. Tallamy; banjo solo, T. Beardsley; baritone solo, "'Tis I Alone Can Tell," C. K. Badger; selection, orchestra; tenor solo, "The Grave on the Heath," William J. Tallamy; banjo solo, T. Beardsley; selection, orchestra. Part second—Selection, orchestra; recitation, Walter Sherwin; and a farce in one act entitled, "First Aid to the Injured." Those taking part in this farce were: Miss Yaeger, Miss Kate Graves, Mrs. Upson, Miss Mary Graves, Bert Tallamy and Mr. Upson.

The entertainment concluded with a selection by the orchestra, the players of which were as follows: First violins, Mrs. Buckley, Mrs. G. S. Saums, Miss Emma L. Nelson, Miss Carrie Davis, Miss Fanny Smith; second violins, Miss Ella H. Boice, Miss Mabel Wilson; 'cello, Miss Lizzie Dunn; piano, Miss Irene Day; first cornet, Mrs. J. D. Anderson; second cornet, Mrs. C. V. D. Corle.

Great Thing For Bible Students.

L. E. Squires, canvassing agent for the Royal Scroll, has arrived in this city and will present this work to the citizens. Mr. Squires comes with the highest kind of a personal recommendation as to his character and honesty from Thomas Hanlon, D. D. L. L. D., president of Pennington Seminary, and others, and considering the high standard of the work which he is introducing, Plainfielders will not regret if they give him an audience when he calls. The Royal Scroll is a panorama of the principal events in the life of Christ and other prominent Biblical characters and scenes, and is of great practical value to every church member. The artistic merit of the illustrations is superior to the usual publication of this class. The maps and references which accompany the illustrations are particularly desirable to the student of the Bible. Mr. Squires says that every clergyman who has seen the work is high in its praise.

The Royal Scroll is an art work. The productions of Hoffman, Dore, Raphael, etc., such as are found in the twenty masterpieces, are accounted the treasures of the world. Art springs into life only when nourished, and the home is its fireside.

New Physical Director.

C. E. A. Heywood, who has accepted a call to the physical directorship of the Young Men's Christian Association, was in town yesterday looking over the field. Mr. Heywood was for three years class leader at the Twenty-third street branch, New York city, and during a considerable part of the time was under the direction of Dr. McCurdy, now instructor in physical training, at the Springfield, Y.M.C.A. training school. He comes strongly recommended by Dr. Gulich who is at the head of the Springfield school, where Mr. Heywood has been a student. Mr. Heywood begins his engagement here September 1st.

Had No Evidence to Hold Them.

On complaint of Golden Smalley, of Greenbrook road, Justice Mattison issued warrants yesterday for the arrest of Wm Purnell and Thomas Howland, colored, of Dunellen, charging them with stealing tomato plants from his farm. Constable Steward arrested the boys last night at Dunellen and brought them before Justice Mattison at a late hour. Owing to a lack of evidence the boys were discharged.

Festival and Dance.

A festival and dance will be held in Central Hall tomorrow night by Iona Council, D. of P. Dancing will be the feature of the evening and will continue until about 3 o'clock. Prof. Guttman will furnish the music.

Armenian Refugee to Speak.

Miss Koikorian, an Armenian refugee, will speak in the chapel of Grace P. E. church tomorrow afternoon at 3:45 o'clock on the sufferings of her people at the hands of the Turks.

Mr James Perdue, an old soldier residing at Monroe, Mich., was severely afflicted with rheumatism but received prompt relief from pain by using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says: "At times my back would ache so badly that I could hardly raise up. If I had not gotten relief I would not be here to write these few lines. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done me a great deal of good and I feel very thankful for it." For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

SOON TO ACT AS A HOST.

PLAINFIELD'S DUTY TO THE STATE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS.

It is Expected That 5,000 People Will Attend the Convention Each Day and a Great Reception Should be Given.

Plainfield will shortly act as the host of one of the largest conventions ever held in the State and its plain duty is, therefore, to make it a notable success.

Our city is so situated that more than one-half of the population of the State can leave their homes in the morning, attend all the meetings of the day, and return to their homes at a reasonable hour at night. We, therefore, confidently expect fully 5,000 people in daily attendance at the service.

Preparations have been made for a practical convention—methods of work being the main thought of the programme. The practical results, we expect, will be felt throughout the States, as it is to be a mass convention rather than a delegate one.

The co-operation of all the churches, of the officials, business men and citizens is needed and expected, for we all have committed ourselves to this convention. The invitations having gone not only from the Christian Endeavor Society, but all departments of our city life. Plainfield has a reputation for hospitality, and we naturally expect great things for a convention of such magnitude, which we have invited to partake of our hospitality. The co-operation of all is essential.

From a business point of view this convention will be beneficial to the city. $10,000, at least, will be spent here.

Plainfield, as a place of residence, will become known.

From a moral point of view, such conventions have always been helpful. It is expected that the citizens will open their homes to receive the delegates, but in no case will they be expected to receive them free of charge. The iron clad rule of the C. E. Society is every delegate must pay his board. If those who entertain do not care to keep the money, it can be used for charitable purposes or turned into the committee for convention expenses. As to the financial aid from the members and other public spirited citizens, an appeal will shortly be made by the finance committee.

DEATH OF EDWARD VIEHLBIG.

An Old Washington Valley Farmer Passed Away Yesterday.

The death of Edward Vielbig, aged 73 years, occurred yesterday at his home in Washington Valley, after a short illness from pneumonia.

About three years ago Mr. Vielbig purchased the Jimmerson farm and has lived there with his only son Edward and family. He was born in Germany and came to this country when a young man. Later he married and settled in Washington Valley. About twenty-three years ago, when the small-pox was so bad in this locality, he lost his wife and six children. After that he traveled a great deal and finally came back to his former place where he secured the Jimmerson property.

Mr. Viebig was a brother-in-law of J. A. Blatz, of Somerset street. The funeral services will he held Friday morning from the Stony Hill church, at 9::15.

Tuberculosis in Middlesex County.

Tuberculosis has manifested itself among cattle in Middlesex county. A. V. D. Polhemus, of Franklin, who keeps fine blooded cattle, last week suspected the presence of the disease in his herd and immediately requested the State authorities at Trenton to investigate. It was found that five of his cows were afflicted, aud they were killed. Three of the ten cows on the farm of George Voorhees, at Black-Mills, have also been killed.

Charged With Robbery.

Caros Aguirre, aged eighteen, of Westfield, was committed to the Union County Jail yesterday on the charge of breaking into and robbing the store of his uncle, William Gale, of that place. His uncle made the complaint against him.

M'KINLEY CAMPAIGN

It Will Probably Be Conducted from New York City.

REAL WORK TO BEGIN NEXT WEEK

Major McKinley's Secretary Begins the Task of Answering the Big Amount of Accumulated Mail Received at Canton Since the Nomination.

Canton, O., June 24.—Major McKinley's private secretary, Mr. Boyle, went to work this morning upon the mail and telegrams which had accumulated since the nomination, and with a force of assistants he expects to get replies to more than 6,000 senders within the week. Then after the formal notification next Monday the work of the campaign will begin in earnest. The Repository, which is popularly esteemed to be Major McKinley's organ, last evening had the following paragraph regarding the headquarters of the national committee, which may be significant: "While the question of the location of national headquarters has been under discussion and Cleveland has made a strong effort to secure them for the Forest City, the impression dose not exist here that the custom of years past will be changed and it is believed that the republican national campaign will be directed by Chairman Hanna from New York, as usual." Members of the Michigan Republican Editorial association arrived at Canton this morning to pay their respects to Major McKinley. Gov. McGraw of Washington state will also be here to-day. Invitations have also been extended to Senators Sherman and Foraker, Gov. Bushnell and congressman C. H. Grosvenor to visit Canton next Saturday and participate in the ratification meeting arranged for that day. Mr. Grosvenor has signified his acceptance of the invitation.

THE PEACH CROP.

Outlook in New York and New England Reported as Encouraging.

Springfield, Mass., June 24.—The American Agriculturist Weekly to-day says: The earlier promise of an abundant peach crop in the northern and eastern states continues measurably bright, but of course this fruit will not be ready for market for some time yet. Michigan peach growers are greatly encouraged over the outlook, and the counties in Indiana which have in the past few years established an enviable reputation in the Chicago market, report orchards in most promising condition. Peaches are dropping to some extent in Ohio, but in the main doing well, while in New York and New England the present outlook is for good crops of hardy varieties. The crop is coming along in generally fair shape in Maryland and Delaware, although very unevenly, some counties showing up well, while elsewhere the yield will be very short.

CONDITION OF CROPS.

Weather Bureau's Weekly Bulletin for Eastern States.

Washington, June 24.—The weekly crop reports of the weather bureau for eastern states are as follows: New England—Corn still backward in north but generally all crops in satisfactory condition. New York—Spring crops, pastures and late meadows show good improvement; hops arming out well; nights cool for corn. New Jersey—All crops much improved; haying progressing; wheat nearly ready to cut; rye harvest begun. Pennsylvania—Conditions favorable; haying continued and some rye harvested; tobacco well started. Maryland—Warm weather following rains beneficial to growing crops, though in some localities corn, hay and wheat were damaged by heavy downpours.

PRINCETON'S VICTORY.

Defeat of Yale at Baseball on Her Own Grounds Wildly Celebrated.

Princeton, N. J., June 24.—Last night when word came from New Haven that Princeton had defeated Yale and won the baseball championship the town went wild; bells were rung, fires built and speeches made upon the campus by professors and prominent manners of the alumni. Princeton has defeated Yale upon the latter's grounds for the first time in twenty years and has won her first baseball championship since 1891.

Indians To Hold Office.

Colon, June 24.—Advices received here from Georgetown, British Guiana, are to the effect that the Demerara Official Gazette publishes an ordinance appointing certain Indians in the interior captains and constables, with a uniform commission and salary. The object is to check the encroachments of neighbors. The new artillery that was mounted for the defense of Georgetown has been tried in the presence of the governor, Sir Angustus Hemming.

New Jersey's Tax Commission.

Trenton, June 24.—Gov. Griggs has appointed attorney-general John P. Stockton a member of the equal taxation commission, in place of ex-senator George H. Large of Hunterdon county, who declined because of his inability to devote the necessary time to the service. The appointment of the attorney-general makes the commission stand three democrats and two republicans.

Big Damages for Loss of a Finger.

Waterbury, Conn., June 24.—In the district court yesterday Judge Bradstreet gave Everett H. Nunn, aged 16, a verdict of $1,000 for the loss of a finger in a power press of the Matthews & Willard company, and gave the father $375 for the loss of the son's wages.

HARMONY AT SARATOGA.

Programme of the Leaders To Be Carried Out by the Democratic Convention.

Saratoga, N. Y., June 24.—All of the prominent democratic leaders of the Empire state, and minor leaders by the score were here this morning in readiness for to-day's convention at which delegates-at-large to the Chicago convention will be chosen and district delegates named. Outside of delegates and alternates the attendance here of convention followers is marvelously light. Absence of any important issue may account for the smallness of the crowd. Among those who are here complete harmony seems to prevail. Tammany men and Grace men are united and many factional fights in other parts of the state are patched up. The presence of Mr. Whitney and the sound money plank to be adopted are almost the only features of importance. The opposition to the gold standard is so slight that Mr. Whitney's presence was not needed to assure a financial plank which would be acceptable to the business men of the state. There will probably be no hitch in the proceedings and the programme as mapped out at the conference in Albany, as announced in these dispatches yesterday, will be carried out and the convention adjourn to-night.

OVATION FOR THE BOLTERS.

Utah Delegates Who Remained in the Convention Coolly Received at Home.

Salt Lake City, Utah, June 24.—Senator Cannon and the other bolting delegates from the republican national convention were tendered a great ovation on their arrival yesterday afternoon. Senator Brown and the other delegates from this state who remained in the convention also returned and were given no demonstration.

FITCH DECLINES TO SERVE.

Believes He Should Not Accept a Place in Greater New York Commission.

New York, June 24.—Comptroller Ashbel P. Fitch has sent a letter to Gov. Morton declining to accept the honor tendered him in the Greater New York commissionership. He says in part: "The honor of serving in the commission is a great one. There are, however, two considerations which lead me to decline this most interesting and honorable service. One of these arises from the question whether by the acceptance of this appointment I may not forfeit my right to act as the comptroller of the city of New York. The second consideration is equally important. It will be most difficult, if it be possible at all, to arrange the questions of assessment of taxable values and of taxation and the cost of public improvements fairly and satisfactorily between our city as it now exists and the different communities with which it is intended to combine us. The financial officer of this city ought not, it seems to me, to sit as a member of the court which is to decide our rights. He ought to be free to act only as the advocate of New York's great interests. He ought to present the case of the city to the commission instead of sitting in judgement upon it, and to make as well as he can, and free from duty to any other community, her fight for fair treatment." Ex-mayor Abram S. Hewitt is mentioned as a possible successor to Mr. Fitch.

LOSS OF THE CAPULET.

Passengers and Crew Safe, But Their Escape Was Miraculous.

St. Johns, N. F., June 24.—A representative of the United Press has gone to Marine cove, St. Mary's bay, the place where the British steamer Capulet, Capt. Ellis, from Halifax for Liverpool, was wrecked during a fog Monday night. The place is an isolated one and very little news of the disaster is reaching here. It is learned, however, that the passengers and crew have landed at St. Mary's. Father Riordan, the priest at St. Mary's, telegraphs that their escape was marvellous. Shortly after the wreck occurred there was an explosion on the steamer and four men were seriously injured. Fifty-three bags of mail were lost and nine saved. It is impossible as yet to say whether the steamer is still above water.

To Remodel Her Insane Asylums.

Albany, June 24.—The state lunacy commission has received a letter from M. Covarrubias of the Mexican legation at Washington stating that the Mexican government desired to remodel the insane asylums of the republic, in accordance with the progress made by this country in that line, and requesting it to furnish the legation with publications on the subject, especially relating to the management, by-laws, rules and regulations governing its institutions in this state.

Found Guilty of Forgery.

Pittsburg, June 24.—John L. Cowen, who disappeared last winter leaving an indebtedness of $250,000, and was later arrested in Central America and brought back to Pittsburg, was found guilty yesterday on three charges of forgery. There are five other indictments against him for forgery and false pretence.

Money Paid To Fight the Whitney Bill.

Boston, June 24.—The Worcester Gas Light company and other gas companies of the state outside of Boston have filed their returns showing that they paid $11,000 to fight the Whitney bill. Of this A. E. Pillsbury got $3,600 and Samuel L. Powers $2,000; balance was for miscellaneous expenses.

No Clue to Strange's Assailant.

Taunton, Mass., June 24.—No clue has been found to the man who shot down Frederick Strange Monday night and took his bicycle. He disappeared in the darkness as mysteriously as he appeared. Strange's wound is in the lower part of the abdomen and may prove fatal.

BARKER'S BICYCLE.

Barker is an old friend of mine, and this story is not told with any malicious intention. Not for the world would I do anything to rupture the bond of friendship which has existed between us for many years.

I have had a talk with Barker about it anyway, and he says he doesn't mind, provided I handle the thing in a neat and intelligent way, and do not exaggerate, which I shall certainly be very careful not to do.

Barker is employed in a bank during the day. He has never made it very clear to me just what the nature of his occupation is in that institution, but he can be seen at any time between the hours of ten and three seated on a high stool and waving a long black ruler. I am informed that he uses the ruler once in awhile to draw lines with, and even puts down an occasional figure in a large book that is always open in front of him; but this is only heresay, and as I have promised to confine this narrative strictly to facts I would rather not make any positive statement about it.

But while it may be well to give some short insight into the nature of Barker's daily pursuits and the general tenor of his existence, it is by no means essential to the full comprehension of the events with which this story has to deal, as the scene is laid entirely after the set of sun, at which time Barker ceases to be an ordinary individual and becomes a bicycle fiend of the most desperate description.

Barker's bicycle is a machine of the most approved pattern, and equipped with all the latest appliances for securing speed, safety and grace. There was another point, however, on which he experienced great annoyance. He could never find a device which would exercise a sufficiently startling effect on pedestrians, and make them jump out of his way in as lively a manner as he would like.

"A bell ain't worth a cent, you know," he would say to me. "People are getting so used to hearing them that they don't pay any attention to them. I ran over three little boys, a dog and an old lady last week, and it's getting to be a nuisance."

I said I thought it was, and that I had no doubt the three little boys, the dog and the old lady also thought so.

"It's an outrage," said Barker, "when a man can't go along the street without being tipped over by people who don't look where they are going. There ought to be a law against it. Now, what I want on my bicycle is some sort of a thing that will show people who go rushing around the streets at night that they don't own the whole town.

"I don't mind telling you, though," added Barker, "that it will take a pretty smart man to invent something that will fill the bill. You see, it has got to be something out of the ordinary run. The only way I can make them move now is to yell at them, and there's too much work about that."

"Well, Barker," said I, "I am not an extraordinarily smart man, but if yelling at them makes them move I can fix you."

"How?" said Barker.

"Carry a phonograph," said I.

Barker stood for a few moments in profound meditation. Then he slapped me on the back with every appearance of great enthusiasm.

"Perkins," said he, "you're an inventive genius. Now, here I've been puzzling my brains for a month about this thing, and couldn't hit on a simple little scheme like that. I'll go and get a phonograph right away."

"There's one thing about it, Barker," said I, "and that is that phonographs cost a good deal of money."

"What do I care for that?" said he "I'd rather pay a hundred dollars than be constantly in danger from those reckless people."

II.

One or two evenings after this I was crossing Howard avenue when I heard a voice—Barker's voice, but with an unfamiliar nasal twang about it—halloo ing at me: "Look out, there!"

Involuntarily I started. There was an uncanniness about it—a weird and unnatural emphasis. It was a voice pregnant with the ring of authority and as I stepped quickly to one side there shot by me a vision of gray golf stockings, sweater and cycling cap with which I was pretty well acquainted. So he had actually rigged up his wheel with a phonograph! Darting into a near-by bicycle agency, I hired a wheel in feverish haste and sped up the avenue in pursuit of the fleeting figure in gray. In the dim distance I could hear the howl of the fiendish thing as it sped on through the night, and as I spun over the asphalt with the speed of the wind the space between us lessened and I began to catch the medley of shouts that were pouring forth from the vicinity of Barker's handle-bars. He had evidently loaded it with a variety of expressions suitable for all sorts of emergencies, and the thing was spitting them out with an intelligence that bordered on the marvelous.

"Would you be so kind, miss," it said with the accent of a Chesterfield, as a woman of the fat and forty persuasion stepped in the way, "as to turn to the right a little? Aw, thanks!"

And the woman smiled at Barker and thought he was such a polite young man. A few rods further on a small boy darted across the street beneath the flickering rays of the electric light.

"Hi, there!" yelled the phonograph, "get a move on you now—yi! yi! yi," whereupon the boy was convinced he was being pursued by a lunatic and fled down a side street.

"Barker," said I solemnly, pushing my wheel up alongside of him by a tremendous effort, "you had better take that thing off."

"Why, how do you do?" said he; "take it off! "Why?"

"Because I am morally certain," said I, "that it's a violation of ordinance No. 1046. If one of those mounted police men comes along and that thing howls at him you'll go to jail."

But Barker evidently thought that was all nonsense. He didn't care if it violated the whole council series from A to izzard. He had got hold of an elegant thing, and was going to stick to it, and I was a gay sort of a man to recommend it to him and then advise him to give it up. All this time the phonograph was talking in a tone of deep disgust to a heavy individual who was pedaling along in a leisurely way just in front of us, and who must have been stone deaf or he would certainly have clambered down and punched Barker's head.

Then I was initiated into the mysteries of the thing, and saw how, by pushing a small attachment down so that it rubbed on the front wheel, the mechanism of the phonograph was made to revolve, and it shouted out whatever was in it until the clamp was released. Barker said he had talked into it half a day, and it was evidently well supplied with a vocabulary.

By the time we got to the club—for we belong to a club, both of us—Barker was in a state of hilarious delight, and half of the dogs, children and old ladies in town were on the verge of frenzy. Of course, all the other fellows in the club had to learn all about it, and Barker pushed his machine around on the sidewalk and made the phonograph curse them and all their relatives to the tenth generation, which seemed to afford them the most unbounded pleasure.

As a fitting conclusion to the evening's entertainment we all went upstairs, and I regret to say that Barker, after placing the phonograph carefully on a table beside him, got as drunk as a lord, and talked and sang and shouted in a very scandalous and disgraceful way.

After it was all over I took him home and put him to bed, and while doing this he informed me in a maudlin and disconnected way that he was going out riding the next evening with the two Cutter girls, daughters of old man Coupon Cutter, one of the directors in the bank, and he wished I would happen to drop around and ride with the big one, so he could talk to the little one. He said that I was his only friend, and that he loved the little one. He did not love her in any ordinary way, either; but in a way in which no one ever loved before.

Now, I like Barker, and he is a friend of mine, and as a matter of course it was only common charity to help him out in a case like that. So I gave him a lot of good advice about how to doctor his head in the morning, which he received with a very bad grace, and promised to be in the neighborhood of old Cutter's the next evening without fail.

III.

I was a little late in getting off, and had hardly got within sight of the house on the following night when I met the two girls and Barker coming toward me. He seemed to be in high spirits, and was particularly jolly when they met me. I wanted to ask him about the phonograph, but hesitated to do so. He immediately mentioned the matter himself, however, and explained that the youngest Miss Cutter was infatuated with the thing, and had insisted on having it put on her bicycle, and that they all were anxiously waiting for something to get in the way so they could give it a trial. I afterward discovered that Barker had represented to them that the whole thing was his own idea, and they had declared that he was wonderfully ingenious.

We had gone about three blocks, Barker and "the little one" being in front, and the elder Miss Cutter and myself in the rear, when a man tried to cross the street in front of us.

"Hooray! gimme another drink!" said the phonograph in a ghastly counterfeit of Barker's voice.

The man gazed as in astonishment and fell into the gutter, Barker's machine wabbled violently, and I could see that his nerve had crumbled, while I felt a shiver along my own spine as I took in the situation.

"Her golden hair was hanging down her h—h—hic—back!" sang the wretched instrument in Barker's well-known treble. Evidently the "little one" couldn't loosen the clamp.

Drops of sweat stood on Barker's brow and he tried to turn it off as a joke.

"Funny, ain't it?" said he, "never can tell what it will say."

"You're a liar!" screamed the phonograph. "Come 'long now an' pass the whisk."

I could see the "little one" turn pale, and the elder Miss Cutter was looking daggers at Barker.

"Tra la la, tra la la, wow, wow, wow, whoop-pee!" said the phonograph.

"Say," it continued, in a confidential whisper, "I'm stuck on the—hic—prettiest—hic—girl—"

"Take it off!" growled Barker, making a lunge at the instrument, but his equilibrium was gone and he fell into an ignominious heap on the pavement.

"Ho! ho! you're drunk!" shrieked the machine, derisively, as we darted on and left him.

"Mr. Perkins," said the elder Miss Cutter, dismounting, and pointing imperiously in the direction of her sister's wheel, "take that thing off!"

I obeyed her with the utmost alacrity, and cast it at the dark spot where its owner was reposing.

"Now," said the elder Miss Cutter, "take us home, sir."

And so I did, and when old man Cutter looked at me in an inquiring way over the tops of his eyeglasses, I felt as guilty as a man who had robbed a bank and strangled the janitor.

They didn't ask me to come in, and so I went off to hunt up Barker. I found him sitting on the curbstone pounding at something with a brick.

"What's that?" said I.

"I never saw a man who could ask so many foolish questions," said he, sulkily, and then he climbed up on his bicycle and rode away; and now I understand that the board of directors have become economical and cut down his salary.—N. O. Times-Democrat

Delicate Dress Goods.

Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable, NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redyeing. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? YALE CREW AT HENLEY.

They Are Training Hard and in Splendid Condition Says Bob Cook.

Henley-on-Thames, June 24.—The Yale oarsmen are putting in some hard training and all are declared to be in the pink of condition. They now have the boathouse to themselves as the Trinity Hall and Leander crews have removed to tent boathouses. The New College men have gone to Smith's boathouse, near Temple island, and the Americans are having all the comfort and privacy possible under the circumstances. Bob Cook last evening said: "The crew is steadily improving, and I think that the pair-oar work has had a great deal to do with this change for the better. All the men are in good condition and I do not see any chance of using our substiutes." Both Mr. Cook and Capt. Treadway think that the New College crew is the best one on the river. They rank the Leander crew second and Trinity Hall third. The English critics join in calling attention to the improvement made by the Yale men. The Americans are great favorites with the rural population here. Mayor Simmons continues his attentions to the crew, and has invited them to be present at a lawn party this afternoon which he is giving in their honor. The secretary of the Henley regatta committee, J. F. Cooper, is also very courteous to the Americans. He has invited Mr. Cook, Capt. Treadway and Mr. De Sibour to dine with him to-night. There is no denying that the style of the New College crew impresses the oarsmen from Yale. The New College men have a better catch and a longer stroke than Leander, although not so long a stroke as Trinity hall. W. B. Woodgate, the well-known authority on rowing has written an article to the 'St. James' Gazette on the Yale crew, during which he says: "Their traditional long stroke, as exhibited by them in their own country, is long only when compared with the styles of other American crews. There paddle is at first thirty-two, and their faster stroke is thirty-seven. At this they row hardly if any longer than Cornell, and are less uniform in swing and time. They are finer and more powerful men. As regards the length of their feather it is by no means as clean as Cornell's. The recovery from the chest, however, is smart, good and worth study upon the part of many of the home crews. Their sliding is decidedly good, very uniform and rightly timed. It is the best feature of Yale. The crew is very strong throughout, but though there is one man over 182 pounds, they do not appear to have any trio equal to the three strongest Leanders, Nickalls, Stretch and Carr. One thing is clear, instead of being brimful of conceit at their own peculiarities, like most American crews, they are disposed to study their rivals, learn all they can and take pains to acquire the best practicable style."

LEADS THE CHEERING

Platt Shouts Victory for McKinley and Hobart.

PROTECTION AND GOLD THE ISSUES

The Ex-Senator the Principal Speaker at a Big Ratification Meeting in New York City Last Night—Predicts Success in November.

New York, June 24.—The first big ratification meeting of the approaching campaign was held last night at Carnegie Music hall. The meeting was held under the auspices of the republican county committee to endorse the nominees of the St. Louis convention. The vast hall was brightly decorated with American colors, and on the back wall of the stage were two large paintings of the two candidates, Major McKinley and Garrett A. Hobart. The hall was crowded, many ladies being present. One of the members of a club present carried a gilded board representing a plank from the republican platform. On the front was lettered: "Tried and True; T. C. Platt, the Nation's Friend." Mr. Platt was the principal speaker. As he stood up many in the hall stood up also and an uproar of cheering and handclapping continued for several minutes. The band struck up "Hail to the Chief." When the noise subsided Mr. Platt began to read his prepared speech, first making a few extempore remarks. He said he felt much pleasure in speaking to a live audience, as he was supposed to have been buried. His voice would be as a voice from the grave, he said, in a quiet, sarcastic way, referring to the statements that he would be buried at St. Louis. He spoke as follows:

Platt's Remarks.

"I greet you, ladies and gentleman, as a republican whose pride in his party, whose respect for its courage, whos faith in its principles, whose confidence in its success and whose devotion to its candidates were never greater than they are at this minute. We are entering upon the most interesting campaign in which the republican party has engaged since the issues of the civil war were determined. To republicans the opportunity is inspiring. It gives them positive, definite, active principles to fight for. Republicans are never quite themselves unless danger is linked with duty. To do their best work they must realize how grave are the consequences of defeat and how excellent the results of victory. The contrasts afforded in the history of the last three years between republican and democratic rule are fully convincing, and we go forward to rescue the country from the evils of free trade and to save it from the evils of free silver. Under the pretence, Mr. Chairman, of protecting the people against the power and greed of capital the democratic party is always proposing measures the surest and speediest effect of which is to render the people more than ever incapable of self-protection. The democratic party obtained power upon the assurance that free trade would take the profits then going to the employing classes and hand them over to the wage earners. But the result was that there were no longer any profits for anybody; and now the democrats are singing the siren song of 'cheap money.' My friends, there is nothing in it. When you are able to legislate sense into the heads of fools, virtue into the hearts of knaves and peace into the souls of the restless and unahppy, then and not until then will you be able to equalize the conditions in which the human family lives. Pending that time, I want the dollar that my employer gives me for my labor to be as good as the dollar he exacts from me for rent and food and clothes.

Protection and Honest Money.

"This is the principle, Mr. Chairman, which the New York delegation contended for last week at St. Louis. As the representatives of the republican party of New York we said to our brethren from other states: 'We have our preference as to candidates, but we are ready to support any of the great leaders whose names are before us if only you will agree that we shall assume as a party that honest, bold, firm and straightforward position on the money question which is true to our convictions and consistent with our history.' And I am ready to let the result of the election declare whether or not we reflected in this demand the sentiment of the Empire State, aye, and of the nation. We can not lose on the issue of protection and honest money. The 45 votes of new England protest that we shall win. The 36 votes of New York protest that we shall win. The 32 votes of Pennsylvania, the 10 of New Jersey, the 22 of Ohio, the 24 of Illinois, the 13 of Iowa, the 10 of Kansas, the 14 of Michigan, the 9 of Minnesota, the 12 of Wisconsin, the 8 of Nebraska, all sure republican states, are the assurance that we shall win. And back of all else is the convincing fact that we are practical people, and with three years of democratic folly to guide our judgment, we know when we have had enough of a bad thing. The republicans of New York are united in behalf of the candidates that were nominated and the platform that was adopted at St. Louis. And as an earnest of our purpose to win let us give three cheers, loud enough to be heard from Montauk Point to Buffalo, for McKinley, Hobart and harmony."

Six Months for Escaping.

Attorney General John P. Stockton was yesterday appointed a member of the Equal Taxation Commission in place of former Senator George H. Large, who declined his appointment on the ground that his business engagements would not allow him to devote the time to the purposes of the commission. The appointment of Attorney-General Stockton changes the political aspect of the commission, the Democratic members now being in the majority. The commission will meet at the State House next Tuesday for organization.

When one considers the high tax rate in this city and the many modern improvements which the residents are beneficiaries of, and then views the condition of Dunellen in the same respect, the taxation in Plainfield does not seem so onerous after all. Here in Plainfield the tax rate is $2.32 on the $100, and we enjoy a new and valuable sewerage system, a superb fire department, an excellent police force, a creditable public library, and many other little municipal conveniences which are a source of satisfaction and pride to the Plainfielder. In Dunellen none of these improvements are maintained, and yet their tax rate is $2.31 on the $100—just one cent lower than that in this city. The comparison of rates of the two places is as follows:

Plainfield.		Dunellen.
County tax	.53	County tax	.66
State school	.28	State school	.30
Fire	.25	Borough	.48

Pass the good word along the line. Piles can be quickly cured without an operation by simply applying DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

Eli Hill, Lumber City, Pa., writes, "I have been suffering from piles for twenty-five years and thought my case incurable. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve was recommended to me as a pile cure, so I bought a box and it performed a permanent cure." This is only one of thousands of similar cases. Eczema, sores and skin diseases yield quickly when it is used. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Raymond Randolph and Harry Tappan met with an accident Sunday afternoon when driving home from Metuchen. The horse became frightened and kicked the wagon nearly to pieces before he was able to get clear of it. Tappen was seriously injured by a blow from the horse's hoof.

The Children's Day exercises will be held at the South Plainfield Baptist church next Sunday.

Thomas Brantingham is out after his recent illness.

—An additional story is being built on Mrs. L. A. Smalley's house on East Front street, and other improvements are also being made.

THE BABIES FIRST.

Their Diet Just Now the Most Vital Question.

THOSE NOT EATING WELL ARE IN DANGER OF DIARRHEA.

Delicate Babies Take Lactated Food With Zest and Appetite.

The tiny heir just born to the Czar of all the Russias is not a whit more precious in its in its parents' eyes than thousands of little ones who must some day make their own way in the world.

Babyhood the world over has but one proud distinction—health. The only rivalry among babies is in who can eat the heartiest, sleep the soundest and grow the most rapidly. Physicians and nurses who have had large experience in the care of young children in cities as well as in towns emphasize the fact that babies brought up on lactated food escape wasting diseases, cholera infantum and diarrhea in a most unmistakable manner.

Every child, however luckily born, must run the gauntlet of these summer disorders. The fearful infant mortality during hot weather has compelled medical men to make extraordinary efforts to find the reason. It is today an absolutely ascertained fact that none of these intestinal disorders can be explained by hot weather alone. High temperature simply weakens the infant digestion, and makes it easy for improper feeding to bring on cholera infantum, convulsions and colic.

Above is a picture of the happy baby boy of Mrs. Leigh Putney of Appleton, Wis., who writes:

"Enclosed you will find a picture of our baby, Truman, who owes his present perfect health, if not his life, to lactated food.

"We fed him on milk until he was about five months old. At that time he suffered a severe attack of cholera infantum. He did not seem to rally from this, but grew thinner and weaker until he was ten months old. There were days at a time when he could retain nothing on his stomach, nothing more than a little hot water or arrowroot tea, and even a teaspoonful of milk would bring on his bowel trouble. We tried everything in the line of foods that was suggested, but nothing seemed to be right, and he grew so weak and emaciated that it was difficult to dress or handle him.

"At last on my own responsibility, I determined to try lactated food. He began at once to improve. He has never been sick since then, and we can almost see him grow fat. He has just accomplished the feat of cutting eight teeth all at once, and has not been sick or kept us awake a single night."

Lactated food has saved the lives of thousands of infants during the hot, dangerous months of summer.

Lactated food is the best diet for June. Cholera infantum often terminates inside a few hours, and no household with little children in it should feel safe during these summer days and nights unless using lactated food.

Lactated food pleases the infant taste and induces the child to eat heartily. Try it.

—Street Commissioner Meeker's men have been at work of late upon the roadbed of Orchard place, with the result that the street is once more in a good condition. The residents of the street feel deeply grateful for this much-needed improvement.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by continually failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists, 75c.

It would be hard to convince a man suffering from bilious colic that his agony is due to a microbe with an unpronouncable name. But one dose of DeWitt's Colic and Cholera Cure will convince him of its power to afford instant relief. It kills pain. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

Customer— I want a remedy for catarrh.

Drug Clerk—All right, sir. Here's a blood tonic that is advertised to build up the constitution.

Customer—Young man, do you think I'm going to dose myself with a blood tonic for months, just on the chance of it doing me some good? Not much! I want immediate relief; besides, catarrh is a local affection, and no tonic or blood purifier ever made can cure it. Here's 50 cents. Let me have Ely's Cream Balm. It's the only thing I know of to cure catarrh.

PROPOSALS.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION, PLAINFIELD, N. J., June 22d, 1896.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Board of Education of the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, at an adjourned meeting held June 22d, 1896, notice is hereby given that the Board of Education will meet on Monday, June 29th, 1896, at 8 o'clock, p. m., at the Board Room in the High School, corner of West Fifth street and Arlington avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at which time and place said Board of Education will receive sealed proposals for doing the work and furnishing the material in the construction of the new Lincoln School and for alterations at the Washington, the Franklin, the Bryant Schools as provided in the plans and specifications now on file in the office of the Board in the High School, corner of West Fifth street and Arlington ave., Plainfield, N. J., also proposals for furnishing coal as specified below.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals the Board will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided such parties or agents choose to be then and there present, and also to make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Board.

LINCOLN SCHOOL.

Separate bids will be received for the masonry, carpentry and painting or one bid for the entire work. Plans may be seen at the office of architect Mr. C. P. Karr, 70 Fifth avenue, New York, or obtained at the office of the Board of Education, High School building.

No bid will be considered unless the same is accompanied with a certified check to the order of the "Board of Education of the City of Plainfield," the amount of check in each instance to be as follows: If bid is for entire building, $600; if for mason's contract only $300; if for carpenters contract only, $300; if for painting only $50.

Checks from unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned as soon as the contracts are awarded. Checks from the successful bidder or bidders will be retained until the contract is accepted and bonds furnished.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a satisfactory bond for one-half the amount of his contract, accompanied by two sureties thereto, each surety to qualify to the full amount of the bond.

Each bidder is to state the earliest date at which he will agree to complete the building.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, or to ask for modifications of the same.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL.

Heating, ventilating and repairs in the main building and alteration of the toilet.

Bids may be divided, the ventilating, heating and plumbing being given in one bid, and the carpentry and mason work in another bid, or the bid may cover the whole work.

FRANKLIN AND BRYANT SCHOOLS.

Alteration of the toilet. Bids for each school must be presented separately and include the work complete.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids for work on these three schools or to ask for modifications of the same.

COAL.

350 tons (more or less) of the best coal suitable for steam and hot air heating, in pea, No. 1, chestnut and egg sizes.

All coal to be thoroughly screened and placed, and trimmed in the bins within the public school buildings without any extra expense to the board for such handling, and to be delivered at such time as the Board may direct.

Bids to specify the quality of coal and whether long or short tons.

Payment for all coal contracted for to be made after September 1st, next.

All proposals to be endorsed "Proposals for Coal."

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

By order of the Board,
F. B. CLARK, Clerk.

PUBLIC NOTICE!

The subscriber hereby gives notice to all concerned that Section 8 of the City Ordinance concerning encroachments on streets and sidewalks requires all trees standing along the public streets, whose branches extend over sidewalks or roadways, to be trimmed from the main trunk to a height not less than ten feet from the surface of the ground so as to prevent injury to the public health, impediment to travel, and obstruction to street lights, unless the Street Commissioner shall otherwise direct or permit. The Street Commissioner is further required to see that the ordinance is carried into effect. In the discharge of that duty, the subscriber now gives notice to property owners to comply with the ordinance referred to, and in that default of compliance therewith, the work will be done by the city at the expense of the property owners.

THE ANNUAL MEETING

of the Stockholders of the

HICKMAN MANUFACTURING CO.

will be held at the office of the Company at 149 West Front street, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., at 8 p. m.

On Tuesday, June 30th, 1896,

She Apologized for Her Father.

"Angelina," said the youth, hotly, as he entered the parlor, "it remains for you to say whether our mutual friendship shall continue or be ended here at once."

"What is the matter?" asked the beautiful girl, opening her lovely dark blue orbs to their widest extent.

"Your father has just called me a blasted idiot."

"And you want me to apologize for him?"

"I do."

"Then I cheerfully do it. Father is altogether too frank, and I have often told him that even the truth shouldn't always be spoken."—N. Y. Press.

As to Appearances.

"You are eying me, sir, as if you thought I had designs on your umbrella," said the lean passenger, as the train drew into the depot. "Do I look like a man who could be capable of stealing an umbrella?"

"Since you ask me the question, sir," answered the fat passenger, "I am compelled to say that I think you do."

"And you look as if you might possibly be a gentleman and a man of decent horse-sense," retorted the other. "How deceptive appearances sometimes are!"—Chicago Tribune.

A Diagnosis.

If marriage is a failure, as the critics oft have said,
And the wedding bell but tolls Love's elegy;
If marriage is a failure, and love so soon is dead,
A clear case of heart-failure it must be.
—Carolyn Wells, in Puck.

ONE WAY TO REGARD IT.

Lucy—If your fiance wished you to go for an evening drive, and invited a half blind old lady as chaperon, how should you regard it?

Madge—I should regard it as an opportunity to be embraced.—Truth.

Dot Thinks It Out.

Little Dot—I couldn't make out what the preacher was talkin' about.

Little Dick—It was a queer sort of a story about a man what prepared a big dinner for a lot of company, but nobody came, and so he sent out into the highways and byways and got strangers and beggars to come.

Little Dot (thoughtfully)—I s'pose they had no ice in those days and things wouldn't keep.—Good News.

A Choice of Evils.

City Editor—Here, Mr. Faberpusher, take this dime and go out and buy yourself a cigar right away.

Faberpusher—Why—why, Mr. Bossem, I thought you detested the odor of tobacco.

City Editor—So I do. I abominate it, but I have observed that when an idiot is smoking a cigar he has to stop whistling "Sweet Marie," "Washington Post March" and other chestnuts.—Texas Siftings.

Mixed as to the Qualifications.

First Pugilist—Didn't yer never think of tryin' de stage?

Second Pugilist—Well, yer see, I ain't married.

First Pugilist—Wot's that got to do with it?

Second Pugilist—Don't yer have to be divorced?—Brooklyn Life.

A Request.

"Henry," she said, thoughtfully.

"What is it?" responded the worried business man rather shortly.

"I wish you could rearrange your business a little bit."

"How?"

"So as to be a bear on the stock exchange and not at home."—Judge.

Carrying Out the Figure.

"A human life," said the sentimental young man, "is a poem—tragic, comic, sentimental, as the case may be."

"Yes," sighed Miss Passeigh, "and so many of us are rejected manuscripts."—Washington Star.

Knew Better.

First Guest—That woman dancing with Brown is undoubtedly handsome, but she has a marked lack of expression.

Second Guest—I guess you never heard her express herself. She is my wife.—Cincinnati Tribune.

The Reason Why.

Mrs. Paddington—It makes me sick to hear men talk of being "self made." Now, I'll wager you never heard a woman say she was "self made."

Mr. Paddington—No; they generally keep that as quiet as possible.—Puck.

Charitable.

Faded Female—Sir, you announce in your paper that I am engaged to be married. How came you to make such a mistake?

Editor—We always try to err on the side of mercy.—N. Y. Press.

A Hebe.

Sister—You have told me her name, yet I know no more than I did before. Is she beautiful?

Brother—Beautiful? Why, she could make even the present fashions look artistic.—N. Y. Weekly.

A Needful Preliminary.

She—But, surely, marriage may sometimes result in happiness?

He—Oh, yes—often. People couldn't get divorced if they hadn't got married first.—Truth.

Very Few of Them.

Inkleigh—Do you believe that poets are born?

Bluelines (an editor)—Not often.—N. Y. World.

ILLINOIS FOR SILVER

The Democratic State Convention Declares for Bimetalism.

WITHOUT INTERNATIONAL AGREEMENT

Delegates to the National Convention Instructed To Vote Only for a Candidate Pledged To These Principals. Gov. Altgeld Renominated.

Peoria, Ill., June 24.—The democratic state convention last evening renominated John P. Altgeld for governor and adopted a platform, the principal points of which follows: "We favor the soundest and safest money known to man and as experience has shown that this consists of gold and silver, with equal rights of coinage and full legal tender power, we demand the repeal of that republican and plutocratic legislation which demonetized silver and reduced it to the basis of token money, destroying by one-half the stock of real money and by doubling the work to be done by gold, doubled its purchasing power so that the farmers and producers had to give twice as much work to get a dollar as they formerly had, and found it hard to meet the debts, interest, taxes and fixed charges which were not lowered. In this way the market for those things which the mechanic and laborer made was destroyed and the factories had to shut down. We believe in the greatness and patriotism of the American people, in their energy, industry and thrift and that such a people, with the unlimited resources of our land are strong enough to sustain a monetery system without the aid of foreign governments. We believe that the benefits of the independence which we gained a hundred years ago—the war for which was initiated upon a matter of tribute—should not be lost by yielding vassalage to a monetary system preferred by other governments. We believe that the bimetalism which has done the work of the world since the dawn of civilization and which was made the basis of the monetary system by Hamilton and Jefferson, is absolutely necessary at present to the prosperity of mankind, and that its re-establishment will check the present business paralysis; will give to the country a safe and honest currency of adequate volume; will restore prices of agricultural commodities; will encourage enterprise and give our people steady and profitable employment. Actuated by the foregoing principles and desiring the prosperity of the people, we demand the immediate restoration of the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver as standard money at the ratio of sixteen ounces of silver to one of gold of equal fineness, with full legal tender power to each metal, without waiting for or depending on any other nation on earth; and the delegates from this convention to the national democratic convention are instructed to use all honorable means to secure a similar declaration by said national convention and to support only such men for the presidency as are in full and pronounced sympathy with these principles. We are also opposed to the contraction of the currency by the retirement of any part of the present outstanding treasury notes. We favor a tariff for revenue only and declare that the government should collect no more taxes than are necessary to defray the expenses of the government honestly and economically administered. We demand the abolition of government by injunction, that new form of oppression and weapon of the money power never before heard of among men, whereby a federal judge at once became legislator, judge and executor. It is absolutely destructive of American principles; it robs the American citizen of the right of trial by jury and all the protection of the constitution. The arbitrary interference on the part of the federal government in local affairs by ignoring lawful authorities is not only a violation of the constitution of the United States but a crime against free government and is destructive of the very foundations of the democratic and republican institutions. We favor an amendment to the federal constitution permitting the levying and collecting of an income tax. The delegates from this convention to the national democratic convention are instructed to support only such men for the presidency as are in full and pronounced sympathy with the declarations of this platform, and the delegates to the national convention are instructed to vote upon all matters, including nominations for candidates, as a unit.

WISCONSIN DEMOCRATS.

They Adopt the Gold Standard and Endorse Cleveland's Administration.

Milwaukee, June 24.—The democratic state convention yesterday afternoon endorsed the administration of President Cleveland and declared for the gold standard. A minority silver report was voted down—271 to 219. The delegates at large selected are: Senator William F. Vilas, Gen. Edward S. Bragg, James G. Flanders of Milwaukee, James J. Hogan of La Crosse.

"Sir," said a Heidelberg student to a night watchman, in the wee sma' hours of the morning, "sir, I would like to ask you a question."

"Go ahead, young man," answered the dignitary; "that is what I am here for."

"Well, sir, does the law permit me to call a policeman an ass?"

"You had better be gone immediately, or I will lock you up."

The votary of Alma Mater advanced a few steps on his way home, but returned and asked humbly:

"But, sir, is it permitted to call an ass a policeman?"

"The law doesn't say anything about that, young man."

"It doesn't, eh? Well, good morning, Mr. Policeman."—Amusing Journal.

A Prince Among Flatterers.

Jollyer—Yes, Miss Lightfoot, you are a wonderful dancer!

Miss Lightfoot—Do you think so?

Jollyer—More wonderful than the damsel who danced before Herod and demanded the head of John the Baptist.

Miss Lightfoot—How so, pray?

Jollyer—When she danced, one man was decapitated, but when you dance all men lose their heads.—Truth.

Of the Same Mind.

Little Brother (in awful whisper)—Say, pop, I just peeped into the parlor, and sister Mary was sitting on the music stool before the piano, and her young man was kneeling down in front of her and holding her hands.

Father—By jingo's! I always did say that was a sensible young man, mother. I guess he don't like to hear her play the piano any more than I do.—Puck.

Story of a Stone.

THE FASHION.

It seems to be the fashion in some stores to charge as much as they can for a thing, no matter what it is worth. Now, we don't do that. We are not claiming any extraordinary merit for ourselves, either. We are simply honest. We sell furnishings for every one. We sell for the man who wants his tastes satisfied, irrespective of cost, and for the man who doesn't want to spend his last cent on a tie. We give satisfaction to each and all.

MACEO IN HAVANA

Collector Ryan Tells a Queer Story About His Visit to Cuba.

MET THE REBEL GENERAL IN A CAFE

Said He Crossed the Trocha and Visited Havana Repeatedly To Consult with Americans Who Were Friends of the Insurgents.

New York, June 24.—Internal revenue collector William Ryan of Richmond, Va., who has been in Cuba for a week visiting Consul-General Lee, in an interview with a representative of the United Press last night, declared that he went to Cuba on a purely social visit to Gen. Lee and not on official business for the government, but in the next breath he stated just as positively that he had been instructed officially not to talk on the result of his visit to Cuba. He said he brought back no official documents, but further than that he would not say. "I arrived in Havana Saturday morning a week ago. The next day, Sunday, I dined with the consul-general, and no Monday I went on horse back into the country as far as the trocha. I was not molested. I met several insurgents and talked to them. They spoke highly of Gen. Lee and hopeful of their cause. The general sentiment which is very strong is for annexation to the United States." Mr. Ryan described Gen. Weyler as a remarkably courteous, but determined looking man. Then Mr. Ryan made a peculiar statement. One night he was walking about in Havana with a newspaper correspondent. "Would you like to meet Antonio Maceo?" his companion asked. "Yes." "Well we will go and look him up;" so they started after the insurgent Cuban general. After a visit to two or three of the cafes he found the man of war with two or three companions. "We swapped pictures," said Mr. Ryan. "Maceo, of course, was not in uniform and was dressed very poorly." "How did he get past the trocha, and is it not dangerous for a man like Maceo to be parading around Havana?" "Well, yes; it is a little dangerous," replied Mr. Ryan, "but you know the Spaniards are asleep half the time. Why it is said down there that he visits Havana about once a week to consult American agents of the revolutionary party."

100,000 More Troops for Weyler.

Madrid, June 24.—In addition to the 40,000 troops which these dispatches have heretofore announced would be sent to Cuba in September, 40,000 will be dispatched in October and 20,000 before January.

MRS. FLEMING NOT GUILTY.

Close of the Celebrated Poisoning Case in New York This Morning.

New York, June 24.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Mary Alice Almont Livingston Fleming, charged with having poisoned her mother, Mrs. Bliss, returned a verdict of not guilty soon after midnight this morning. The case had occupied the attention of the court for over three weeks.

PURSUING FILIBUSTERS.

An Expedition Recently Landed in Cuba Said To Have Met Disaster.

Madrid, June 24.—A dispatch to the Imparcial from Havana says that an expedition, consisting of 200 Americans, and having a quantity of dynamite and a number of Maucer rifles, landed a few days ago near Cardenas. They were attacked by a Spanish force and compelled to retreat. The Spaniards captured the munitions of war and are in pursuit of the filibusters.

Denial by Gen. Lee's Brother.

Fredericksburg, Va., June 24.—Consul-General Lee's brother, Capt. Dan. M. Lee of Stafford county, Va., who is in constant correspondence with his brother, denies emphatically that Gen. Lee has written the private letter concerning Cuban affairs reported in the morning papers.

HENRY OF NAVARRE CHAMPION.

He Again Proves His Title as King of the Turf.

New York, June 24.—By winning the 13th Suburban Handicap yesterday afternoon Henry of Navarre again demonstrated that he is the best race horse in America. His only dangerous competitor was the western horse The Commoner, who was brought east as a real good thing, which he undoubtedly would have been if Henry of Navarre had not started, as he had no difficulty in wresting second place from the mighty Clifford, and even forced the winner to a drive to beat him a length.

PROFIT AND LOSS.

It Is Not Enough to Merely Hold Your Own.

Hard Times in Health as Well as Business. How to Attain Physical Prosperity.

Every successful merchant keeps two columns, one for "Profit" and another for "Loss." At the close of each year a balance is taken and the true condition of things revealed.

Unwise purchases or too many charges on the books may easily make the balance show on the wrong side. In dull and hard times the merchant often thinks he is fortunate if the books do not show a loss, even if there is no gain. He is almost satisfied if he "holds his own."

A great many young people, especially school girls, seem to be living in "dull and hard times," for they do not improve and develop as they should. They just hold their own, and that is all. They should be growing and making advances all along the line. Every day should show a balance on the Profit side of the health column. They should gain in weight, increase in height, and steadily develop in muscular and mental strength.

If there is a stand-still, just holding your own, then an effort should be made to aid nature. You only have to give her a little start in the right direction. Some good reinforcements will easily help her over the hill, then everything will prosper again. Give her power and vigor by supplying her with a nourishing food, a reconstructive, and strong nerve tonics.

All three of these are found in Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites.

The trouble with a great many is that they think one preparation of cod-liver oil is as good as another. Hence, if they try some clear oil and receive no benefit, then they are discouraged and give up in despair. When the body is weak and you wish to give it strength, what wisdom is there in making it do an extra amount of work? When you take raw cod-liver oil, this is what you do. The body has to digest the oil, and this work of digestion takes vital energy. Why not digest the oil before taking it, and thus save the body all this expenditure of force?

Physiology teaches that an oil is digested when it is emulsified, or broken up into most minute globules. An "emulsion" is a preparation of a digested oil. Therefore, in Scott's Emulsion the oil is digested. There is no loss of force in preparing it for absorption. Everything is on the Profit side. The body has the full benefit of the whole dose. The hypophosphites makes you hungry, and they give tone and stability to the nerves and brain.

Scott's Emulsion contains more pure Norwegian Cod-liver Oil than any other emulsion in the world, that will stand the test of time as being a perfect inseparable emulsion. Ask your doctor

CYCLING COMMENT.

Rowland Tomlinson, of LaGrande avenue, is riding a new Sagamore wheel.

Alvah Carey, of Prospect place, owns a new Spalding wheel, purchased of W. H. Rogers.

W. H. Horr, of Fanwood, has purchased a Crescent No. 8, of the F. L. C. Martin Cycle Co.

Jay Eaton and H. B. Mosher ride at the circuit race meet at Albany today weather permiting.

Plainfield has one on this week's list of the L. A. W., Arthur J. Spicer, 125 West Fifth street.

E. A. Sprowl, of the borough, finished in the double century last Saturday in twenty-three hours.

Herbert Overbaugh, of the F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company, rode his wheel to Newark Monday evening.

Albert Simmond, of Watchung avenue, will enter the all-around championship contest at Bergen Point on July 4th.

George Proctor Smith, of the High School, has been elected treasurer of the National Interscholastic Athletic Association.

Ben Johnson, one of last year's crack class A riders, now of Philadelphia, but formerly of Somerville, has come to this city to train at the Crescent Oval.

Rev. W. R. Richards, Street Commissioner Meeker and C. W. Nichols rode over to Orange Monday to witness the baseball game between the Orange A. C. and the New York League team.

The games of the Alis Athletic Association, which are to be held at the Crescent Oval on Saturday afternoon, promise to be quite interesting. Up to yesterday over sixty entries were received, and they do not close until tonight.

The Young Men's Association of Monroe Avenue chapel will give an invitation run on Friday evening to Elizabeth. All the young ladies of the chapel who ride wheels have been invited and the others have been invited to be present at Epworth House and partake of the refreshments that will be served there after the run.

AROUND THE BASES.

The Watchung Park baseball team will play with the Scotch Plains team at the latter place on Saturday morning next, and on the morning of July 4th they will play off a tie with the Dunellen team for a standard base ball.

The Flemingtons will come to Plainfield Saturday to play the Y. M. C. A. team.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

Walter B. Rittenhouse, of East Sixth street, has gone to Hoboben to train as a member of the crew of the Engineering Division of the New Jersey Naval Reserve. The three divisions will race on Saturday. Rittenhouse pulls number two in the boat, and was one of the first to ce selected for the crew.

Increase of Poverty.

Mistress — That young man who called to see you last night, Jane, stayed very late.

Jane—It was my brother, mum.

In the Days to Come.

"Of course you will want a stable in connection with your country place?" said the architect.

"Certainly," replied the man of wealth.

"About how large a one?"

"Oh, it ought to have accommodations for about 20 bicycles."—Chicago Post.

STOLE HIS OWN WAGON

THE ITALIAN WITH A LONG HEAD NOW HAS A LONG FACE.

Elizabeth Police Find That He Stole the Wagon for Whose Disappearance He Was Suing a Blacksmith for $50.

"The best laid plans o' mice and men aft gang aglee" is an old Scotch saying, and Antonio Martini, of Elizabeth, is of the same opinion. Antonio Martini is the Italian with a long head, the story of whose controversy with Barnard Ferdinano, the Elizabeth blacksmith, was told in the Press several days ago. Martini would not pay for the repairing of his wagon, and it was stolen from the blacksmith and finally turned up in this city. Mr. Martini had seemed to hold the upper hand, for he had sued Ferdinano to recover $50 damages for the loss of the wagon, but it appears that the combined hands of Ferdinano and the Elizabeth police held the winning card, and so Martini was given an unpleasant surprise yesterday morning. Two Elizabeth policemen suddenly appeared at his home and the Italian with the long head added a long face to his collection of lengthy objects. Martini was arrested and arraigned in the Elizabeth police court on the charge of larceny. The pressure brought to bear was too great, and in faltering tones he admitted that he had quietly invaded the yard of the blacksmith and dragged his wagon away. He said he took it to Plainfield but claimed that he did not sell it. He was held under bonds on Ferdinano's complaint.

Michael Pulicustro, the junkman, living on West Fourth street, this city, who had the wagon in his possession, is still in fear and trembling of the local police, but unless it is discovered that he stole the wagon from Martini, thus generally complicating matters, it is not probable that he will have to suffer spending a night in the rookery. As for Martini, it is likely that he will think twice before he has a wagon repaired again.

A. V. D. Honeyman knows a good thing when he sees it, and has accordingly accepted the agency of the Inter-State Casualty Company, of New York, for the sale of their $1,000 insurance policies against loss of life by accident. The company is good and this low rate of $1 for a six months insurance for $1,000 is bound to give them a foothold in Plainfield. Call at his office, 181 North avenue, and look into the thing; it will pay you.

Removing the Cause.

Complaint having been made to the Somerset County Grand Jury, by the Raritan Board of Health, concerning the condition of a pond on the Central railroad property at Raritan, the company's officials had the water pumped out. Finding there were no springs to feed the pond they concluded to disinfect the hole and fill it up. This is now being done.

A Daisy Lunch.

Invitations are out for a "daisy" lunch to be given by Mrs. Cruikshank to sixteen young girls. It is given to introduce some school friends of her daughter, Miss Leila Cruikshank.

If it required an annual outlay of $100.00 to insure a family against any serious consequences from an attack of bowel complaint during the year there are many who would feel it their duty to pay it; that they could not afford to risk their lives, and those of their family for such an amount. Any one can get this insurance for 25 cents that being the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. One or two doses of this remedy will cure any ordinary case. It never fails. Can you afford to take the risk for so small an amount? For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

THE ALUMNI RECEPTION.

North Plainfield Graduates to be Entertained Tomorrow Evening.

The alumni of the Borough public school always hold their reception on a different night from the Commencement exercises instead of the same night as on this side of the brook. The Commencement exercises will be held this evening and tomorrow night the alumni will give the class of '96 of the North Plainfield public school their reception. This is the ninth annual reception and promises to be a delightful affair. It will be held in the schoolhouse, as usual, which will be decorated for the occasion. The first part of the evening will be devoted to an entertaining programme which has been arranged. There will be selections by the Lotos Glee Club, a piano solo by Mrs. Potter, a recitation by Miss Grace E. Overton, a tenor solo by Herbert Schutt, and selections by several others. S. St. John McCutchen, president of the Board of Education, is expected to make a short address.

Refreshments will follow, after which the rest of the evening will be devoted to dancing, for which Bogers will furnish the music.

The executive committee in charge consists of Clarence L. Murphy, Walter Place, Robert M. Clark and Frank J. Blatz.

DINED HIS BACHELOR FRIENDS.

Acquaintances of M. J. Cashin Have a Pleasant Time at His Expense.

About thirty-five bachelor friends of M. J. Cashin met at the Catholic club house last evening and enjoyed a very pleasant evening at the expense of Mr. Cashin. It was a little late when the guests arrived, but this did not prevent the good time in store.

The festivities were held in the large hall and were in charge of Michael Mack. An informal programme, sonsisting of piano solos and recitations by Chas. Ward; vocal selections by a quartette and selections on the ocarina by Joseph Daly, were greatly enjoyed and frequent encores were given to the several numbers. A substantial part of the programme followed, when an excellent collation was served followed by cigars and a general social time. Kindly remembrances were extended to Mr. Cashin and his bride, that they would live many years a life of prosperity and happiness.

The committee in charge consisted of Michael Mack, W. Wim[illegible] Galbraith, C. Guinee and Thomas Carty.

SETTLED FOR $9,000.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Pay That Amount to the Giles Family.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has settled with Mr. Giles for the accident which happened last spring at Stelton to his daughters, when one was killed and the other severely injured. Mr. Giles received $9,000 in all, $6,000 of which was for the loss of life and $3,000 for the injured daughter.

It is understood that the Dunbar brothers would not accept the company's offer and intend bringing a suit against the company for a larger amount.

Miss Giles, who was injured, is much improved, but will probably be a cripple for life. It is her father's intention of taking a trip with her, in the hope that a change will be beneficial.

Inspected a Garbage Disposal Plant.

George W. Rockfellow and H. P. Newhall, of the Board of Health, returned from Scranton, Pa., yesterday, where they inspected the garbage disposal plant in operation there, with a view of acquainting themselves with the subject, since the proposition has been made to establish a similar plant in this city. They found the plant to be in successful operation and disposing of 150 barrels of garbage a day, the ashes of which filled only two barrels. The plant is owned by the city and seems to be giving general satisfaction. Mr. Rockfellow will make a report of the trip at a meeting of the Board of Health next Tuesday evening.

Doctors as Delegates.

At the 130th annual meeting of the New Jersey Medical Society, held in Asbury Park this week, Doctors T. H. Tomlinson and J. O. Coles, from the Union County Society, were elected permanent delegates to the State convention.

Festival and Dance.

A festival and dance will be held in Central Hall tonight by Iona Council, D. of P. Dancing will be the feature of the evening and will continue until about 3 o'clock. Prof. Guttman will furnish the music.

"Wake up, Jacob, day is breaking!" so said De Witt's Little Early Risers to the man who had taken them to rouse his sluggish liver. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

TWO PRETTY WEDDINGS CELEBRATED IN ST. MARY'S CHURCH.

The Pattering Rain Drops Did Not Deter Cupid From Giving an Aspect of Beauty to the Two Nuptial Events.

Rain drops spattered promiscuously over the gathering which attended the wedding in St. Mary's church at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when Michael Daly, of Manning avenue, led to the altar Miss Maggie McBride.

Miss Tillie Smith played Lohengrin's wedding march as the bride and groom entered the church, accompanied by Miss Annie McBride, of New York, as bridemaid, and John Daly, a brother of the groom, as best man. Rev. Father Murphy performed the ceremony and at the close the bridal party was driven to 112 Jackson avenue, where they will hereafter reside in a home already fitted up for them.

The bride was becomingly attired in white mulle, trimmed with white satin Valencia lace, and she carried a bouquet of fragrant white roses. The bridemaid wore a beautiful dress of pale pink and white swiss.

Following the above marriage, another very pretty wedding took place in the same church at 6 o'clock, when Wm. Barry and Miss Katie Waddick were married by Rev. Father Murphy. Miss Mamie Mack, a sister of the bride, was bridemaid, and Martin Kane, of West Third street, performed the duties of best man. The bride and bridemaid were attired in the usual wedding gowns of white, while the groom and best man wore the conventional suit of black.

After the ceremony the bridal party were driven to Spooner avenue, where they will hereafter reside in a house already provided by the groom.

UNITY LODGE ENTERTAINS.

Number of Grand Officers Were Present and a Pleasant Evening Spent.

A number of distinguished Knights of Pythias were the guests of Unity Lodge, No. 101, K. of P., at their meeting last evening. Grand Chancellor Hitchcock, of Newark, was present, as were also Past Grand Chancellor Donath, of Jersey City; Grand Vice-Chancellor Rockfellow, of Somerville; Deputy Grand Chancellor Slocum, of Newark; Deputy Grand Chancellor Bowman, of this city; Past Chancellor Baxter, of Bound Brook. There were stirring speeches by all the visitors, after which an impromptu musical programme was rendered by George Rogers and N. H. Guttman. A delightful smoker closed the evening, and as the white wreaths of tobacco smoke floated about the room, the visitors and members exchanged stories and reminiscences until the hour of breaking up arrived. Quite a number were present from Perseverance and Goodwill lodges, but had the night been a pleasant one the lodge rooms would have been crowded.

BY BICYCLE TO WASHINGTON.

How New Jersey Christian Endeavorers May Go to the Convention.

There is to be a procession of cyclists from New Jersey to the National Christian Endeavor Convention in Washington next month. The plan originated among the young Christian Endeavorers of Middlesex county. Reports have come from New York and Pennsylvania that Endeavorers in those States will also pedal to Washington, and if the movement keeps on increasing as it has done in the past few days there will be a small army of wheeling Endeavorers in the capital from July 9th to 13th.

R. C. Rand Gets the Contract.

For the first time a Plainfield dealer has been able to secure tne Park Club Fourth of July fireworks contract in competition with outside dealers, and he is R. C. Rand. The list of pyrotechnics which will illumine that section of Plainfield about the Park Club house on the glorious day is a large and costly one. It includes more than 200 pieces unique in design. One of the best pieces will be a bicycle race.

A Token of Appreciation.

The seventeen teachers of the North Plainfield Public School have presented C. E. Boss, the retiring principal, with a handsome set of solid silver desk furnishings as a slight token of their appreciation of his ready sympathy, his faithful, untiring efforts and co-operation in assisting them with their school work.

Borough Realty Changes.

The following North Plainfield real estate transfers have been recorded in the Somerset County Clerk's office: John D. Runyon et ux to Wm. H. Bohl, $1,250; Wm. H. Bohl et ux to John D. Runyon, $2,000; John H. McVey et ux to A. D. Thompson, $3,000.

—The borough fire-alarm bell will strike twice at 5 p. m. and 7 a. m. each day.

PULLING G. O. P. WIRES

CONTEST AMONG LEADERS FOR THE HONOR OF NATIONAL COMMITTEE.

Franklin Murphy Has Laid His Plans Well and it is Said Stands an Excellent Chance of Receiving the Honor.

The St. Louis convention is over and most of New Jersey Republicans and many Democrats declare the convention did its work well when it honored a son of New Jersey. But there is one little thing which, under ordinary circumstances, the National Republican convention would have done, but didn't do, that is just now giving several Republican leaders in the State much concern, and the political wires are already being hard worked.

It is the question of who shall be New Jersey's representative on the National Commitee that is just now giving the politicians most concern. The selection may shape the political future of several gentlemen who are prominent before the Republicans of New Jersey today. The selection, too, may have a significant bearing upon the Senatorial contest in 1899 and likewise a powerful influence upon the next Gubernatorial convention. There are already two prominent candidates for the honor—Chairman Franklin Murphy of the Republican State Committee and a vice-chairman of the St. Louis convention, and County Clerk Barker Gummere, of Trenton.

Mr. Murphy's selection to the honorary position of vice-chairman at St. Louis was a clever bit of political foresight. It gives him a standing before the National Committee. In the case of a vacancy on the National Committee and a failure on the part of the State's delegation to select a representative, the custom heretofore has been, in several instances, for the National chairman to invite the person recommended by the delegation for vice-chairman of the convention, to act as the representative of his State on the National Committee.

But in the present instance in New Jersey, if Mr. Murphy is to go upon the National Committee, he will be placed there by the recommendation of the State's delegation to St. Louis, and the invitation of National Chairman Mark A. Hanna. General Sewell has already determined to call a conference of the St. Louis delegates. The only question unsettled in the Senator's mind is when to call the delegates together. There is no doubt but that the wishes of Mr. Hobart in the matter will be largely considered. It is probable that he will be asked by the delegation to indicate whom he would like to see upon the National Committee. He is known to be very friendly with Mr. Murphy and has frequently complimented the Essex statesman upon his untiring efforts for the party during the past several years, and particularly during the Gubernatorial campaign, when the protege of the Vice-Presidential nominee was a candidate for Governor.

Barker Gummere, however, has jumped into the race with both feet, and wearing his hustling clothes. State Comptroller W. S. Hancock is one of Mr. Gummere's backers, and the two young men calculate to make the fur fly before this week shall have passed into history. They are said to have already converted Governor Griggs in the interest of Gummere, and the Vice-Presidential candidate himself may receive a visit in Mr. Gummere's behalf within a few days.

If Mr. Murphy is selected for the place made vacant on the National Committee by the nomination of Mr. Hobart for Vice-President, it will at once lift him into the National political arena and assure him the support of many State politicians for Governor two years hence.

"Should Mr. Murphy make the place upon the National Committee, he will be in the race for the Governorship," said a politician who ought to know. "In this event John Kean, Jr., will be a very lively candidate for James Smith's seat in the United States Senate in 1899. Should Mr. Murphy fail to secure the place upon the National Committee, he may not enter the Gubernatorial race, but instead will probably reserve himself for a contest for the United States Senate. This would make a change in John Kean's political plans, and might result in that gentleman becoming a lively candidate for Governor."

"John Kean would much rather make a contest for the United States Senate than to again try for the Governorship," added the politician referred to. "In trying for the Governorship he has more to fear from Senator Foster M. Voorhees. Mr. Voorhees has said that he will not accept a renomination for State Senator, but his friends say that if Mr. Kean really contemplates entering the fight for the United States Senate or the Governorship, Mr. Voorhees will be returned to the Senate."

SAVE THE GROOVED ROCK.

One of Plainfield's Natural Curiosities Likely to be Destroyed.

One of Plainfield's natural curiosities is in a fair way to be destroyed unless some of Plainfield's citizens come to the rescue. The curiosity in question is a grooved rock, the grooves on which were made by the glacier that once covered this part of the country. It is the only specimen of its kind in New Jersey and would be taken possession of by the directors of the New York Museum of Natural History if they knew of its existence. The rock in question is located in Netherwood, near South avenue, and has just been dug up by the owner of the land on which it was imbedded. It weighs about a ton and will be broken up if not removed very soon. George H. Fountain wishes to have the stone removed to the lawn of the Public Library and there placed just as it was found. There should be other citizens in town who are willing to assist him in the expense of removing this valuable curiosity.

LOUD SOUNDING BELL.

New Borough Fire Alarm, Though a Trifle Slow in Striking, is All Right.

A test of the borough fire bell was made last evening at 7 o'clock from every fire alarm box in the borough, and the system worked perfectly. The bell could not only be heard in the borough, but in all parts of the city as well.

It is an E tone bell, and reminds one very much of the old city fire bell. It is thought, however, that the tapper should be heavier and that the apparatus should be so arranged to sound the alarms quicker. A considerable time elapses between the taps, which is not desirable.

No Tardy Marks.

Pupils not absent or tardy during school year at the North Plainfield Public School are as follows: Mabel Conover, Lydie Loizeaux, William Loizeaux, John VanWinkle, Grace Codwise, Rachel Emmons, Jas. Pope, Marian Conklin, Elizabeth Curtis, Lulu Jacot, Robert Hand, Daisy Bogert, John Jacot, Ursula Krewson, Mamie Davenport, Mary Cain, Edna Ebel.

Jersey Man Missing.

Manning T. Crow, Chief of Police of Somerville, yesterday morning sent a communication to Chief Conlin, of New York, asking him to aid in the search for Elisha Opdyde, 34 years of age, who is missing from that place. Opdyke has dark hair and eyes, and front teeth much worn. He was a carpenter, and left his home attired in his working clothes.

Plainfield's Award on Exhibition.

The diploma and medal, received by Superintendent Maxson of the public schools for the excellence of the exhibit at the World's Fair, are now on exhibition in the window of Armstrong's pharmacy, at the corner of Park and North avenues.

EARLY INTELIGENCE.

Many Little Matters of Interest Picked Up in the Borough and this City.

—There are now seven patients under treatments at the hospital.

A. B. Dunavan, of Plainfield avenue, is kept at home by illness.

—Several good walks are being laid about the grounds surrounding Mountain Park Inn.

—Fred W. Hand, the coal dealer, lost a valuable horse with colic Tuesday evening.

—Stephen Cahoone will conduct the young men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A., Sunday afternoon at 4:15.

—The dance of the Montuzuma Social Club has been postponed till next Tuesday evening by request.

—A horse belonging to A. B. Dunavan, the expcessman, slipped and fell on North avenue yesterday afternoon during the heavy shower. There was, no damage —The graduating exercises of the Scotch Plains public school were held last evening in the school hall. The attendance was large, considering the weather, and the exercises were very interesting.

—The most Excellent Chief of Minerva Temple, R. S., will, at an early date, call a special meeting, for the purpose of nominating and electing officers, and transacting other important business.

—The scholars of the North Plainfield School held a rehearsal this morning of the music they will render this evening at the closing exercises. William E. MacClymont has the music in charge.

When we consider that the intestines are about five times as long as the body, we can realize the intense suffering experienced when they become inflamed. De Witt's Colic and Cholera Cure subdues inflammation at once and completely removes the difficulty. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

UNDER A FLORAL ARCH

WAS THE NUPTIAL IKNOT OF THE BOLSTERI-SCHENCK EVENT TIED.

The Happy Couple Surrounded by Radiant Faces and Floral Decorations Enter On the Voyage of Married Life.

The marriage of Miss Minnie Bolsterli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Caspar Bolsterli, of Chatham street, and Raymond G. Schenck, of Somerville, was celebrated at the home of the bride last night. Rev. Cornelius Schenck performed the ceremony.

The bridemaid was Miss Margaret Sheppard and the best man George Bolsterli, brother of the bride. The bride wore a gown of white and carried bridal roses, while the bridemaid was gowned in blue organdie and carried pink roses.

The bridal party stood under a pretty floral arch in one corner of the parlor, where the ceremony was performed. A reception and supper followed, during which the happy couple received the hearty congratulations of all present. Among the large collection of handsome presents received were crayon portraits of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Schenck will reside in Plainfield after they return from their wedding trip to Philadelphia.

The guests present were: Mr. and and Mrs. Caspar Bolsterli, parents of the bride; Mr. Schenck, father of the groom, and Miss Snyder, of Somerville; Mr. Riker, of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Woolly, of Westfield; Rev. and Mrs. Cornelius Schenck, Mr. and Mrs. George McGinnis, Miss Nellie McGinnis, Abram King and daughters, Mrs. E. C. Morse, Mrs. Alex. Wilson, Mrs. William Bodine, Mrs. James Stewart, Mrs. Schlereth, the Misses Searing, Sheppard, Zeisz, Lillie Lang, Carrie Mehl, Louise Koller, Edna Wraitht, Dolly Bolsterli, Emma Bolsterli, Minnie Smith, Elsie Smith, George Bolsterli, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wheeler, George Taylor, John Hoagland and Thomas McDonald.

HAS BEENS TO PLAY.

A Baseball Game Which Every Crank Will Enjoy.

On the afternoon of July 4th, the funniest baseball game of the season will be played on the West Front street grounds between the "Old Timers" or "Has Beens" and the Y. M. C. A. team. The "Old Timers" or "Has Beens" will be made up of such well-known players as "Tee Kay" Keller, J. Hervey Doane, Bert Demarest, Joseph Lufberry, George Cornwell, John W. Murry, Jr., and perhaps McIndoe, with the Francis Brothers, of New Brunswick, the strong semi-professional players' as their battery. Thus will the "Has Beens" strife to defeat the youngsters. The game will be played for the benefit of the Y.M.C.A. Do not fail to see the fun which will begin at 3 o'clock sharp.

The well-known Flemington Baseball Club will cross bats with the Y. M. C. A. club, Saturday afternoon, on the West Front street grounds. Freddie Jones, formerly of the Crescents, will catch, and Warren McLaughlin, pitch for the Flemingtons. The game will be called at 3:30 sharp, and will be umpired by Thomas Keller. The batting order will be as follows:

Bought a Hotel.

An important real estate sale has recently been made at Washingtonville. George Demler, who for a quarter of a century has conducted the hotel business at Washingtonville, has just disposed of his hotel and residence property to Peter Pfinger, of Cranford, who keeps a hotel at the latter place. The purchase price was $4,500, and $500 was paid down on the condition that the place is to remain as it is until April 1st, when Mr. Pfinger takes possession.

Violated the Building Ordinance.

The first arrest under the new building ordinance has been made and Horatio Johnson is the first violator of it. He is charged by Building Inspector Thad. O. Doane with constructing a shed without obtaining a permit first. Johnson appeared before Judge DeMeza this morning but as he was not ready for trial, the case was adjourned until Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

SILVER MEN'S DAY

They Capture Ohio and Indiana Democratic Conventions.

THE GOLD ADVOCATES OUTNUMBERED

Silver at 16 to 1 Without Awaiting International Action—Very Wild and Turbulent Scenes at the Hoosier Convention.

Indianapolis, June 25.—The democratic convention yesterday which nominated a state ticket, adopted a platform declaring for free silver without international agreement, and selected delegates to the Chicago convention was the largest, most noisy and at times the most disorderly in the history of the state. Seventy-five per cent. of the members were silver men and they resisted every move made by the gold men with hoots and hisses and pandemonium almost constantly prevailed. The platform is as follows: "We reaffirm our adherence to and faith in the democratic doctrine of bimetallism, and therefore we demand the immediate restoration of bimetallism by the free and unrestricted coinage of both silver and gold as primary money at the ratio of 16 to 1 without awaiting the co-operation of Great Britain or any foreign power, all such coinage to be full legal tender in payment of all debts, public and private. Resolved, that we believe the existing tariff laws will be fully equal to all demand for needed revenue for the expenses of government economically administered under the conditions which will rise from the restoration of bimetallism." After the adoption of the platform ex-Congressman Bynum attempted to address the convention and an uproar followed.

Wild Scene of Disorder.

Chairman Bell ordered the aisles cleared and this only added to the confusion and uproar which lasted for fully half an hour while the chairman railed at the police service and the delegates howled themselves hoarse. Major Winfred, a silver man of Evansville, was yelling from the stage to have Bynum put out and finally jumped down to where the ex-congressman stood with the intention of doing it himself, but the police interfered and there was no altercation. Finally when everybody was tired out, ex-congressman John E. Lamb, a silver delegate, moved that Bynum be given five minutes of time and order was finally restored. A roll call was taken on this motion which was carried by a slight majority. When Mr. Bynum took the stage he was greeted with hoots, hisses and cheers. He first explained that under the rules of the convention he had a right to be heard, and then read the amendment which he had intended to offer. This was to strike out the financial plank adopted at the Chicago convention in 1892. After reading this he declared that Grover Cleveland was for sound money and that ninety per cent. of the democrats of Indiana were for Grover Cleveland still. This was greeted with such a storm of hoots and howls that nothing further could be heard. The convention would not listen to another word and Bynum was finally compelled to retire. The convention then proceeded to nominate a governor, and on the first ballot B. F. Shively of South Bend was nominated.

Ohio Democrats Silver-Mad.

Columbus, O., June 25.—Ohio democrats are silver-mad. This was clearly demonstrated at the state convention yesterday. A single-plank platform declaring for the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 without international agreement was adopted by a vote of 542 to 128 and the delegates to Chicago were rigidly instructed to vote as a unit and only for candidates for president and vice-president who are known to be in hearty accord with the free silver cause. The gold standard men made a stubborn fight, but were beaten at every turn. Neither the temporary nor permanent chairman referred to any other subject than silver in their speeches. If delegate Reuben Turner had not been cried down when he made an uncomplimentary remark about President Cleveland he would have moved that a large picture of Cleveland that hung in the hall be removed.

The Divided Texas Democracy.

Austin, Tex., June 25.—The Texas democratic silver convention, after a long wrangle, adopted a platform declaring for the free coinage of silver at 16 to 1 irrespective of international action. The delegates to the Chicago convention were instructed to vote for Bland, if in their judgment at Chicago he proves the most available free silver democrat. He was declared to be the choice of the democracy of Texas. The platform adopted by the Texas democratic gold-standard convention praises the course of President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle and declares for the gold standard.

Increase in Canal Traffic.

Albany, June 25.—Superintendent Aldridge of the state department of public works reports that the aggregate tonnage carried on the canals during the week ending June 23 was 138,406 tons, as against 117,965 for the corresponding week last year, an increase this year of 20 per cent.

Collections Under Raines Law.

Albany, June 25.—The collections reported at the state excise department including the week ending June 20, are $7,812,977. The collections for the week ending the 20th aggregated $1,428,726.

Mattress Plant Nearly Destroyed.

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 25.—The plant of the Grand Rapids Mattress company was almost totally destroyed by fire yesterday. The cause of the fire was spontaneous combustion.

ARMENIAN RELIEF WORK.

Many Persons Obliged To Subsist on Grass and Roots.

New York, June 25.—The national Armenian relief committee has received a cable dispatch from its agents in eastern Turkey which says: "Extreme need in Harpoot, Diarbekir and adjacent regions. Funds almost exhausted. Many people obliged to subsist on grass and roots. We have brought them through the winter and must not leave them to perish." The following was received from Aintab under date of May 21: "There are hopeful changes for the better. Twenty-seven Armenians who have been in prison for over three months charged simply with political offenses have been released. Some witnesses have been telling the facts in open court and it has produced a sensation not often seen in Turkish courts. The prosecutors are put in a very awkward position. Difference of opinion and policy among the Moslems seems to be growing and the party favorable to justice and fair dealing is apparently gaining strength. I think special persecution of the Armenians is likely to relax, but the whole country seems dangerously near to anarchy."

THE SCIENTIFIC BUREAUS.

Changes Contemplated in the System of Appointments.

Washington, June 25.—Some changes in the competitive system of appointment as related to the scientific bureaus of the agricultural department are now under consideration, and may be announced in a few days. The system of special examinations for scientific positions has not proved satisfactory. Besides being troublesome and expensive these examinations put a premium upon the narrowly educated specialist and do not sufficiently recognize experience and intellectual breadth. The reforms proposed are: a permanent list of eligibles, based on lines of broader scientific training, a longer period of apprenticeship for those who are taken into the scientific bureaus, so that the higher positions need never be filled directly from the special examination, but by promotion on basis of examination of tried assistants. A closer relation with the scientific schools of the country is desired, that the public service may get the benefit of the broadest training, at the same time offering an opening for the best students.

ARBITRATION DOCUMENTS.

To Be Made Public Simultaneously by Great Britain and the United States.

London, June 25.—The St. James' Gazette says that Great Britain and the United States have agreed to publish simultaneously, within a fortnight, all the arbitration correspondence exchanged between the governments of the two countries. The publication of this matter has been delayed while awaiting the arrival in London of Secretary Olney's latest communication, which was handed to Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British ambassador at Washington, early in the present week. This, it says, is in Mr. Olney's most incisive style and forms one of the most important documents of the series. The paper states that no definite conclusions have been reached as yet, though considerable progress has been made towards a general treaty of arbitration between the two countries.

LIBERAL VICTORY IN CANADA.

Mr. McMillin Believes Great Good to the United States Will Result.

Washington, June 25.—Mr. McMillin of Tennessee, who is one of the democratic members of the ways and means committee, is greatly pleased with the liberal victory in Canada. It satisfies him that Canada, like the United States, is inclined to more liberal tariff laws; that Tuesday's elections means greater freedom between the human race in their commercial relations. Now that the liberals will soon be in power, more liberal laws of intercourse between Canada and the United States must follow.

Japanese Minister Arrives.

Washington, June 25.—Hoshi Toru, the new Japanese minister, with his wife and 5-year-old son, attended by two servants, reached Washington yesterday afternoon. They were met at the Pennsylvania station by the Japanese counsellor and secretaries and were driven at once to the legation. The minister hopes to present his credentials to the president in the course of a week, and will then endeavor to secure a cottage at the seashore for the summer.

Seawanhaka's Decisive Race To-morrow.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 25.—The third day of the Seawanhaka's trial races for half-raters was won by Crane Brothers' El Heirie, Riverside was second and Paprika third. A special race has been arranged for to-morrow for the three winners, Ideal, Riverside and El Heirie, in which the Paprika and Vesper will also take part, five designs being thus chosen to decide the final selection of a defender.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION, PLAINFIELD, N. J., June 22d, 1896.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Board of Education of the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, at an adjourned meeting held June 22d, 1896, notice is hereby given that the Board of Education will meet on Monday, June 29th, 1896, at 8 o'clock, p. m., at the Board Room in the High School, corner of West Fifth street and Arlington avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at which time and place said Board of Education will receive sealed proposals for doing the work and furnishing the material in the constuction of the new Lincoln School and for alterations at the Washington, the Franklin, the Bryant Schools as provided in the plans and specifications now on file in the office of the Board in the High School, corner of West Fifth street and Arlington ave., Plainfield, N. J., also proposals for furnishing coal as specified below.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals the Board will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided such parties or agents choose to be then and there present, and also to make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Board.

LINCOLN SCHOOL.

Separate bids will be received for the masonry, carpentry and painting or one bid for the entire work. Plans may be seen at the office of architect Mr. C. P. Karr, 70 Fifth avenue, New York, or obtained at the office of the Board of Education, High School building.

No bid will be considered unless the same is accompanied with a certified check to the order of the "Board of Education of the City of Plainfield," the amount of check in each instance to be as follows: If bid is for entire building, $600; if for mason's contract only $300; if for carpenters contract only, $300; if for painting only $50.

Checks from unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned as soon as the contracts are awarded. Checks from the successful bidder or bidders will be retained until the contract is accepted and bonds furnished.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a satisfactory bond for one-half the amount of his contract, accompanied by two sureties thereto, each surety to qualify to the full amount of the bond.

Each bidder is to state the earliest date at which he will agree to complete the building.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, or to ask for modifications of the same.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL.

Heating, ventilating and repairs in the main building and alteration of the toilet.

Bids may be divided, the ventilating, heating and plumbing being given in one bid, and the carpentry and mason work in another bid, or the bid may cover the whole work.

FRANKLIN AND BRYANT SCHOOLS.

Alteration of the toilet. Bids for each school must be presented separately and include the work complete.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids for work on these three schools or to ask for modifications of the same.

COAL.

350 tons (more or less) of the best coal suitable for steam and hot air heating, in pea, No. 1, chestnut and egg sizes.

All coal to be thoroughly sceened and placed, and trimmed in the bins within the public school buildings without any extra expense to the board for such handling, and to be delivered at such time as the Board may direct.

Bids to specify the quality of coal and whether long or short tons.

Payment for all coal contracted for to be made after September 1st, next.

All proposals to be endorsed "Proposals for Coal."

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

By order of the Board,
F. B. CLARK, Clerk.

Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable. NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redyeing. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? FOR GOLD AND SILVER

New York Democracy Opposed to Monometallism in Either Metal.

INTERNATIONAL ACTION IS NECESSARY

Action of the United States Alone Would Retard and Perhaps Destroy the Success of the Movement for the Restoration of the White Metal.

Saratoga, N. Y., June 25.—Mr. Whitney is the only prominent democrat who did not leave town within a few hours of the adjournment of the convention. He remained over until to-day. The Tammany delegation left on their special train at 6:30 p. m. Senator Hill went back to Albany about the same time. But for the early summer visitors the town would be deserted to-day. The convention was one of the shortest and most harmonious in the history of the democracy, and the delegates to the national convention at Chicago were selected and the declaration on the issues of the campaign set forth. Senator David B Hill, William C. Whitney, ex-Gov. Roswell P. Flower and other democrats of more than local fame sat as regular delegates and had more or less to do with shaping the work of the convention. The main interest centered in the financial plank which was constructed for use at Chicago. It declares for the use of both gold and silver at a ratio to be fixed by international agreement, which the party pledges its best efforts to bring about. It condemns free coinage of silver alone without agreement with other nations and insists that the present gold standard be maintained and the public credit preserved. Tariff for revenue only is advocated and the Cleveland administration endorsed. The unit rule of voting at national conventions is urged and the delegates to Chicago are instructed to oppose any change in the requirement that nominations be made by a two-third vote. The attendance was not large ond from the time chairman John Boyd Thatcher called the convention to order at noon, until its final adjournment shortly after 4 o'clock, the only exciting incident was the retirement of the Shepardites from King's county when they were refused recognition. The delegates-at-large selected to represent New York at Chicago are: Senators David B. Hill and Edward Murphy, ex-Gov. Roswell P. Flower and Frederick R. Coudert.

Main Points in the Platform.

The main points in the platform, which was presented by Senator Hill, follow: "It would be folly to ignore and impossible to exaggerate the gravity of the conditions under which this convention assembles. Most of the other states of the Union have selected and commissioned their delegates to the national democratic convention. By a movement evidently concerted, but, as we believe, ill-advised and ill-considered, instructions have been given to the delegations of a large number of states having for their aim and purpose the adoption of a new policy and a new platform for the democratic party. No opportunity for a fair and deliberate consideration of such policy has been given the democracy of the state of New York. Upon such new matter thus proposed to be incorporated among the tenets of the party it becomes the duty of the democrats of New York, representing their people, to speak in no equivocal terms. Gold and silver—the money of the constitution and of our fathers—each at a parity with the other in purchasing power, has been the platform of principles proclaimed by every national democratic convention.

Co-operation Is Necessary.

"The action of a republican congress and a republican president deprived silver of its equality with gold for the money and currency of the nation, and from the action of other nations following the same course, it has resulted that silver has greatly declined in commercial value, bringing disturbance to the financial systems of European countries as well as to our own. The restoration of the equilibrium of the two metals thus disturbed is a problem the solution of which is of the greatest consequence to the prosperity of both this country and of Europe, but is wholly beyond our power without the co-operation of other nations. Such co-operation, by the united efforts of statesmen and wage earners here and elsewhere, is believed to be near at hand, and to be possible to secure by earnest and well directed effort. Free coinage of silver by the United States alone can have no other effect than to change our present standard to one of silver, now a depreciated coin, and to retard, perhaps destroy forever, the success of the movement now general throughout the civilized countries for the restoration of feee bimetallic coinage in the principal mints of the world. The proposition to separate ourselves from the great nations of the world and adopt the monetary standard of Mexico and China does not comport with the pride and financial dignity of New York or the United States. For these reasons and with these convictions, the democrats of New York declare for gold and silver as the standard money of the country and oppose gold monometallism on the one hand or silver monometallism on the other hand. The pledge contained in the repeal of the Sherman law should be faithfully carried out, wherein it was declared that 'the efforts of the government should be steadily directed to the establishment of such a safe system of bimetallism as will maintain at all times the equal power of every dollar coined or issued by the United States in the markets and in the payment of debts.'"

SHARKEY NOT IN IT.

Badly Punished in a Four-Round Drawn Contest with Corbett.

San Francisco, June 25.—The four-round contest between Jim Corbett, ex-champion pugilist of the world, and Tom Sharkey, the latest aspirant for the title, drew an enormous crowd to Mechanic's pavilion last night. Betting was 10 to 8 that Corbett would not stop Sharkey. There was no Corbett money in sight at these odds. Corbett was seconded by Billy Delaney, Jim Carr and George Green. Sharkey's seconds were Danny Needham, Tim McGrath, and Paddy Ryan of Vallejo. Both men were called to the center of the ring and given instructions by Referee Carr at 10:45.

First round—Corbett first to lead, his left reaching Sharkey's wind. Sharkey leads wildly. Corbett has him guessing, lands on left cheek. Several clinches follow. Corbett swings left and lands on Sharkey's forehead. Sharkey leads left and misses. Several more clinches follow. The referee has difficulty in making them break away. Sharkey swings left and right and misses. Corbett reaches Sharkey under right eye and raises a lump as gong sounds.

Second round—Sharkey is aggressive and swings wildly. Sharkey clinches Corbett and holds on. It is now a wrestling match. Sharkey, to avoid punishment, throws his arms around Corbett repeatedly. Corbett lands on Sharkey's chest aud face and hits at will. The sailor is very tired at the conclusion of the round.

Round three—Sharkey comes up with a jump and rushes the champion. Corbett was ready for him and got in a stiff punch on the chest. After a few feints Corbett reaches Sharkey with his right. A rapid exchange near the ropes followed. Corbett nppercuts with hss right and follows with several smashes on the chest and wind. The sailor fights desperately and lands on the champion, but not effectively. Just as the gong sounds the men are at it, hammer and tongs.

Round four — Sharkey leads and Corbett ducks cleverly. Both men clinch. Sharkey strikes viciously at Corbett and a short mix-up and a clinch follow. Referee unable to separate fighters. Sharkey fighting viciously. He throws Corbett heavily. There is little or no leading done and the men finish the round in a clinch. Referee declares contest a draw. Sharkey's right eye is closed while Corbett is without a scratch. After the call of time it required three policemen to keep Sharkey from Corbett. Sharkey struggling in his corner and Corbett protesting to the Referee.

CAPT. DICKMAN'S HEARING.

How the Laurada Landed Men and Munitions of War in Cuba.

Philadelphia, June 25.—Capt. Dickman, of the steamer Laurada, who was recently arrested at the instance of Dr. Congosto, the Spanish consul in this city, on the charge of engaging in a Cuban filibustering expedition, was given a hearing yesterday afternoon before United States Commissioner Bell. After several witnesses had been examined the hearing was continued until to-morrow noon in order to give the government time to secure additional testimony. John Holmes, a sailor, swore that while the Laurada was at New York Capt. Morton, who had charge of the Commodore expedition, came on board. Others who came on board were Mr. Hart, Col. Nunez and two other men. Hart, he said, went on shore soon, but the others accompanied the ship to Montauk Point, at the eastern end of Long Island. Two tugs brought two lighters alongside. One lighter carried about 100 Cubans, and the other was loaded with war material and dynamite. At Montauk Point Col. Nunez left the Laurada with final instructions to Capt. Morton to "Get away as quickly as he could." The Laurada then sailed for Cuba and the Cubans donned uniforms, drilled, fired their guns and said they were "going to Cuba to fight of liberty." The witness stated that the men, arms and ammunition were landed on the coast of Cuba. It required four of the boats to take the men ashore, he said, while another boat conveyed the guns, dynamite and flags. The witness while giving his testimony occasionaly referred to a slip of paper, and upon cross-examination he hesitatingly admitted that upon this paper he had kept the run of the voyage, so that he could testify afterwards. Holmes' testimony was corroborated by Octavius D. Weyman, a sailor, from New York.

CORNELL'S VICTORY

Splendid Work of the Freshmen Crews at Poughkeepsie.

IT WAS A VERY EXCITING RACE

Harvard a Close Second with Pennsylvania Only Three-Quarters of a Length Behind—Columbia Badly Beaten.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 25.—Cornell's freshmen won the four-cornered freshmen race yesterday afternoon, defeating Harvard by a length and a quarter, in 10 minutes and 18 seconds. Harvard was three-quarters of a length in front of Pennsylvania, while Columbia, which was never dangerous, was beaten off ten lengths. Columbia and Harvard got slightly the best of what was only a fair start, Cornell getting off third, while University of Pennsylvania got away very badly. It only took a few strokes to determine the position of Columbia and the few followers of the blue and white on the observation train felt a sinking feeling at their hearts as they saw their hopes drop in the rear position. Pennsylvania made up leeway quickly and to the half mile mark it was a desperate race for the lead between Cornell and Harvard, with Pennsylvania rapidly closing the gap. Nose and nose the boats which carried the hopes of the crimson and red and white raced together, and the wet and weary crowd on the oars forgot their discomfort in the excitement of the struggle. At the half mile the Harvard boat's nose was just in front of the Cornell shell, Pennsylvania were hanging on the stern of the red and white and Columbia were laboring in distress a length in the rear of the Quakers. Off Pennsylvania's quarters a cheer from the Ithacan delegation announced that Cornell had shot her canvas in front of the crimson.

A Grand Finish.

Steadily the hopes of the supporters of the red and white rose as the Ithacans settled down to their work and forged ahead half a length. Faster and faster the Cornell shell shot through the water as Carter quickened the stroke. Then the desperate race between the crimson and red and blue for second place commenced. Pennsylvania gained a little and Harvard put forth an extra effort. Both boats fairly flew through the water, and when at a mile and a half Cornell swerved slightly towards the center of the stream it looked for a moment as if the two who were fighting between themselves might get upon the leader. Inch by inch the Quakers gained on Harvard until half a mile from home the two were level and racing after Cornell. Opposite Cornell's boathouse the Ithacans were a clear length in front of Pennsylvania and Harvard, who were rowing bow and bow in a desperate race. The Harvard coxswain shouted at his men for a final effort and the crimsons bow was seen forging in front of the Quakers' canvas. The steamboats and yachts set up a salute of whistles and cannons as the Cornell crew swept towards the finish line a length and a quarter ahead of Harvard, who were three-quarters of a length in front of the Quakers. Columbia came in completely played out ten lengths behind.

Frazier and Payne Matched.

New York, June 25.—Tom Frazier of South Brooklyn has again been matched to meet Billy Payne of Baltimore in a ten-round bout on July 11, before the Brooklyn Athletic club. The friends of Frazier were not at all satisfied with the referee's ruling when they met before, and feel convinced that their man will win decisively when they come together.

Against Admission of Women.

Louisville, Ky., June 25.—The North American Turner Bund convention is now considering the question of admitting women. Nineteen speeches have been made and as many more are to follow. Two hundred and six delegates are instructed to vote against the admission of women and 138 for it. The uninstructed vote is forty.

Master Mechanics' Convention Adjourns.

Saratoga, N. Y., June 25.—The Master Mechanics of America concluded their twenty-ninth annual session here last evening. The question regarding the next place of meeting was not acted upon although invitations had been received from Niagara, Saratoga, Colorado Springs and Bar Harbor.

A Pennsylvania Freight Train Wrecked.

Lancaster, Pa., June 25.—An engine and nine cars and a caboose were wrecked by a rear-end freight collision on the Pennsylvania railroad near Mountville yesterday. Both tracks were blocked and traffic delayed until noon. No one was injured.

Reunion of the Iron Brigade.

Saratoga, N. Y., June 25.—The annual reunion of the 30th regiment, N. Y. S. volunteers (infantry), better known as the Iron Brigade, was held here yesterday and the thirty-fifth anniversary of the departure of the regiment for the war was celebrated.

One Killed; Two Injured.

Chicago, June 25.—By the collision of two freight trains on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad between Monroe Centre and Davis junction one man was killed and two injured. Thirty-four cars were demolished and burned.

Decline of the Gold Reserve.

Washington, June 25.—The treasury gold reserve at the opening of business to-day stood at $102,116,407. For the month so far the treasury has loss nearly $9,000,000 in gold, and since July 1, 1895, $156,815,000.

Senator James E. Smith is confident that New Jersey will line up in the Democratic column next November.

Scarcely a day passes in this city but what an accident is reported where a bicyclist has collided with and injured a pedestrian. Frequently the rider is not to blame, but it is a fact that there is altogether too much "scorching" on the city streets. It ought to be suppressed.

As a result of the recent decision of the Court of Errors in the Singer Manufacturing Company's case, the State will find itself obliged to refund some twenty thousands of dollars of taxes already paid, as soon as the Legislature can appropriate the money for the purpose. But much worse than that is the fact that the opinion of the Court, by very offensive phraseology, reverses the former decisions of the Supreme Court, and holds that the tax levied on miscellaneous corporations is not a license fee, but such a tax as is subject to the restrictions of private contracts and other constitutional requirements. The federal law precludes the appeal from this decision to the federal courts and ties the hands of the State in a most important function. As the first important decision of a court now wholly composed of lawyers, the decision is a heavy blow at the State's power to raise money to pay increased court expenses and judicial fees.—True American.

FOLLOWED THE PATH OF A BOSS.

James E. Martine Makes Some Pointed Comments on the Jersey G. O. P.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—I wonder did that elegant band of patriots, the New Jersey delegation to St. Louis, headed by our genial townsman, Charles Fisk, and that royal good fellow, Billy Kirk, think themselves "cheap men" because they wore one of their famous $4.70 bagging suits? Oh! no, they had forgotten that a cheap suit makes a cheap man.

Now in all confidence, gentlemen, it is to your credit that you have forgotten such a hateful and horrid fallacy, even though it was said by a man once high in the counsels of your party. No! These suits didn't make you cheap, for it is not a crime to be poor. No! But the poorest man in Christendom is he who sacrificed convictions and all, to do the bidding of an arrogant, brutal boss, whose only power was the purse he held, filled with fat fried from wealthy beneficiaries of an iniquitous tariff taxation, through which, in the words of Hon. John J. Ingals "The rich are growing richer and the poor are growing poorer, a system which gives to a Vanderbilt possessions of wealth beyond the dreams of avarice, and condemns the poor to a poverty which knows no refuge from starvation, save the prison or the grave."

Delegates to St. Louis! Did or did you not follow the path blazed out by Boss Hanna? How do you plead, guilty, or not guilty?

J. E. Martine.

Only a Dollar a Day!

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—A delegation of 1,500 citizens of Zanesville, O., called upon Mr. McKinley yesterday, and in response to their greetings he made a speech in which, after discussing the tariff he closed with these words: "But there is one thing, gentlemen, when you work a full day you want a full dollar in payment. There is a money plank for you, sound enough for anyone to stand on—a full dollar for a full day.'"

What was the matter with Hanna? Not much; had he allowed his "dear Mayor" make a few remarks like those of the above from The News of last night, he would not have captured the nomination for him, notwithstanding that nine out of every ten Republicans can truthfully say, "Them's my sentiments." Wasn't there another nominee of the g. o. p., who said, "A dollar a day is enough for any workman?" He didn't say "honest dollar," as it is expressed by the High Priest of Protion and Plutocracy, for it would have condemned that great (?) financiers John Sherman, and his silver purchase bill. The latter portion of the above paragraph shows just where The News stands, "A full dollar for a full day."

Among the newly elected Liberal members of the Dominion Parliament is Frances T. Frost, Esq., of Smith's Falls, a younger brother of Councilman Frost, of this city. The election of Mr. Frost is the more significant because he is the first Liberal member elected from his district in the past forty years, and even now his election is due to the unlooked change in Conservative sentiment, which has brought into power the Liberal party.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE

—Today is promotion day at the public schools.

—You furnish the hands, Peck furnishes the gloves.

C. W. Riker, of the street railway, is in Trenton today on business.

—The interior of Caspar's Hotel on East Front street is being renovated.

—See the Fourth of July number of Truth, out Saturday. All trains and newsstands.

—The blackberry crop this year will be enormous. Raspberries are beginning to ripen.

Councilman Fisk's horses and wagons were shipped today by special car to Jefferson, N. H., where Mr. Fisk and family will spend the summer.

—W. J. Stephenson, the North avenue caterer, served the wedding supper at the Daley-McBride reception last evening, in his usual excellent manner.

—There are several places on Liberty street, at intersecting streets, where crosswalks are badly needed. The mud is almost impassable in some places.

—One of the Somerset street trolley cars jumped the track near French's mill, last evening about 7 o'clock, and it was sometime before it was returned to the track.

—"Joe," the shanty-keeper, and Tom Ryan directed their counsel yesterday morning to bring suit against against the sewer contractors in Westfield for $800 due them for boarding workmen.

—A sleeping car is now run direct from New York to New Orleans, by way of the Central. The train leaves New York in the afternoon at five o'clock and arrives at New Orleans at 11:55 a. m., next day.

—"We have used Hood's Pills in our family and have found them all they are represented to be. They are perfectly safe and do not cause pain." Mrs. Scheele, Westfield, N. J. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood.

—Peter Johnson, the Somerset street restauranteur, has added to the police force's midnight bill-of-fare. Coffee and sand sandwiches was the order at first, but now home-made pies and cakes are taken along for dessert.

—The Knights of the Golden Eagle are going to have a big time at the Iron Spring Park, Annandale, on July 4th. J. C. Haynes is chairman of the committee of arrangements. Everyone is invited to be present.

—Summons were issued yesterday in the case of the State against Charles Ward, to appear before Justice Storms, of New Market, Monday morning next at 9 o'clock, to answer to the charge of cruelty to animals. William N. Pangborn, the officer of the State Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals made the complaint.

—At the regular meeting of Lucetta Council, No. 28, D. of L., last evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: Jr. Ex-councilor, G. S. Martin; jr. ex-associate councilor, Mrs. S. A. Mattox; councilor, Miss Try Mattox; vice-councilor, L. B. Dyrumple; associate councilor, Mrs. S. J. Koyer; associate vice councilor, Miss Cora Hartpence; guide, Mrs. C. L. Stratton; inside guard, Miss Daisy Sprague.

—Green brook, between Tier's dam and Somerset street, is at present in a most deplorable state. But little, if any water has run over the dam for some time, and now small chicken coops, tin cans, stove pipe and brick, and in fact almost anything outside of a two-story building can be found perched either directly in the brook or along its banks, and when real hot weather sets in, disease is likely to breed unless a most radical change is made.

Dr. Clarance Haviland, of East Second street, who returned two weeks ago from a five years absence in Santa Barbara, Cal., is anticipating a trip to Europe early in July. He will take his eight-year-old son along, and during their absence they will visit Brussels and other points of interest. Dr. Haviland expects to be away about a year, and he will study medicine in Vienna during most of the time.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by continually failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

WHEN you buy here you are sure of the best. 'Tis not the most for your money, we look to quality first, goods that will prove satisfactory to you. We are building up business these days by offering such values

AS THESE.

1 CENT EACH.

THINK of children's ribbed summer shirts for a cent each, not the price of the buttons on them but we sell tomorrow two thousand of them, all sizes for a cent each.

3C YARD.

There are one thousand yards of bleached cotton crash. The usual five cent kind will go for three cents the yard.

MEN appreciate a bargain as well as the ladies and we are naming some very low prices on men's furnishings that you will find interesting. Men's outing shirts 50c kind, 32c; Men's outing shirts 75c kind, 59c; Men's laundred cambric shirts 45c; Men's half hose, fine quality 13c; Men's white sweaters 19c; Men's fine balbriggan shirts 35c.

LADIES' laundred shirt waists, could take up our entire advertising space telling you about them and then not do justice to the stock. Only two lots we tell of

NO. 1.

Fine cambric waists made of fine percale, yoke back, large sleeves. Were 75c, now 49c.

NO. 2.

All of our $1.00 and $1.25 waists in this lot. Over a thousand of the newest and choicest styles will go at 59c each.

THE wash goods display is grand. Never was such a display of fine organdies, dimities, cambrics, lawns and silks at less than they cost to make. Fine imported organdies 13c; Fine linen dimities 10c; Pretty dimities 8c.

THERE has been some lively selling of those blue and black serges. Fine quality they are, yard and a half wide and only 58c the yard. Just the thing for mountain and sea shore wear.

SKIRTS Made of fine black swivel silk, lined throughout with rustle percaline. Special $2.69. Bicycle and golf skirts made to order.

FOR RAIN or sun that's what these 26-inch gloria silk umbrellas are made for. Natural twisted handles, tipped with sterling silver and only $1.19 each.

A Rising Thermometer.

"What is it that keeps you busy writing so late in your study every night?" asked Mrs. Yerger of her husband.

"I am writing the history of my life."

"I suppose you mention me in it."

"Oh, yes; I call you the sunshine of my existence."

"Do I really throw so much sunshine into your daily life?"

"I refer to you as the sunshine of my existence because you make it hot for me."

A rise in the thermometer occurred immediately after the foregoing conversation.—Alex Sweet, in Texas Siftings.

Ample Compensation.

"Will you kindly take off your hat?" said the gentleman behind the girl with the mammoth headgear. "I won't see my $1.50 worth of the show if you don't."

"No, sir," replied the girl, amiably, as she turned around and smiled serenely upon him. "You may be deprived of a show worth $1.50, but please to remember you are permitted to see a hat worth $35."—Chicago Record.

A Lullaby Failure.

"My mamma's gone away,
And papa's come to stay,
Like her to sing his girlie into sleep—sleep—sleep:
I'll quickly make believe
I slumber, and deceive,
For then the noise he'll stop and silence keep —keep—keep."

—Judge.

NOT SO WONDERFUL AS HE THINKS.

Husband (with desire to say something pleasant)—Do you know, kitten, I could recognize you from your style anywhere?

Kitten—I should think you could, seeing that you have let me wear this same old style for two years.—Judge.

An Unpardonable Offense.

Friend—Aren't you really afraid of that handsome rival of yours?

Smartchap—Not a bit.

"He is very rich."

"Yes."

"A great favorite with the ladies."

"I know it."

"Yet you have no fear?"

"No. He guessed at her age once, and got her only two years younger than she is."—N. Y. Weekly.

The Young Avenger.

He was a pretty little youngster, with little fat legs that stuck out beneath clean, stiff-starched clothes.

"What are you going to do when you grow up to be a man?" asked a visitor.

The little fellow's face assumed an expression of earnest gravity as he responded with a voice which was evidently shaken by sad memories of the past: "Whip papa."—Tit-Bits.

Feminine Sagacity.

"It's a great mistake," said a philosopher, "for a poor man to go into politics unless he is sure he can make a living at it."

"That's very true," replied the philosopher's wife, "but it seems to me that a man who could make a living at politics could get rich doing most anything else."—Detroit Free Press.

Too Much Curiosity.

First Colored Gent—Dat's a mity fine pa'r ob pants you has on. Whar did yer get 'em, and what dey cost yer?

"Huh, dey mout cost me two years in de plenopotenshiary ef I tole yer," replied colored gent No. 2.—Tammany Times.

Had Already Been Cleaned Out.

Chappie—The funniest thing happened to me last night. I was held up by a highwayman.

Chollie—I don't see anything funny in that.

Chappie—But I had just been to the church bazar before he did it.—Judge.

Must Take Their Chances.

"What do you think of these eggs?" whispered the lean man.

"These eggs," responded the fat boarder, whose occupation was that of advertising clerk in a newspaper office, "are too late to classify."—Chicago Tribune.

Satisfied.

Father—You must know, sir, that my daughter will get nothing from me until my death.

Suitor (pleasantly)—Oh, that's all right, sir; that's all right! I have enough to live on for two or three years.—Puck.

Every Rule Has Its Exceptions.

Gilgal—Should a man always wait until the lady with him is seated before sitting down himself?

Gargoyle—Unless she wishes to sit in his lap.—Town Topics.

Decided Advantage.

Fat Lady—Say, the two-headed girl has a great snap.

Circassian Beauty—How?

Fat Lady—She can tell herself when her hats are on straight.—Town Topics.

Inherited.

Struckile—How did you get your crest; pay for it?

Borneo—No, thank heavens, I am not a snob. My grandfather paid for it for me.—N. Y. World.

Ananias' Brother.

The boys that whisper soft and low:
"I never loved another,"
Must think the maidens do not know
Ananias had a brother.

THE FASHION.

It seems to be the fashion in some stores to charge as much as they can for a thing, no matter what it is worth. Now, we don't do that. We are not claiming any extraordinary merit for ourselves, either. We are simply honest. We sell furnishings for every one. We sell for the man who wants his tastes satisfied, irrespective of cost, and for the man who doesn't want to spend his last cent on a tie. We give satisfaction to each and all.

Robbery of Life as Well as Money.

One of the Worst of Modern Swindles—Stones for Sufferers Who Want Bread.

If a doctor should prescribe candy and other sweets for each young girl who came under his professional care, he would probably be called, by these patients at least, "an elegant doctor."

If your child was desperately ill, and you knew that only some nauseous mixture would effect a cure, you certainly would not hesitate to give it, simply because of its taste. Suppose the druggist would think only of pleasing your child and should give you some mixture of honey, only labeling it with the name of the disagreeable remedy! What would you think of such a man? You would say he was willing to risk the life of the child simply for the sake of pleasing.

We all know what wonderful power cod-liver oil has over a number of diseases. It is also well known that no human skill can completely remove all its peculiar taste. Yet there are a few unscrupulous manufacturers who are so anxious to have a perfectly "tasteless" mixture, that they will leave out the cod-liver oil. They label their bottles as some "tasteless cod-liver oil," and yet there is not a particle of oil present. That is why it is tasteless. They believe you have confidence in their statements, and so are perfectly willing to deceive you if only they can sell their goods. Is such a course anything but a criminal one?

A perfectly tasteless preparation of cod-liver oil cannot be made. We have been making emulsions for twenty years, and we can speak with authority. The nearest approach to it is found in Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites. This preparation contains the very best cod-liver oil with nearly all the fishy taste removed. Only a trace of it remains: enough to be detected, but not enough to make the mixture disagreeable even to the most sensitive stomach. This is why sick people find no trouble in taking Scott's Emulsion, and it also explains why so many persons recover their health under its use.

Nearly twenty-five years ago the proprietors of Scott's Emulsion discovered a process of emulsifying or partially digesting cod-liver oil, so as to remove from it almost entirely its obnoxious fishy taste and smell, and at the same time increasing its food and remedial properties. They found also that by combining the Hypophosphites with it that they added still further to its power.

Since that time thousands of imitations have come into the field, but the original has never been equalled in its great strengthening, healing and flesh producing powers. The medical profession have obtained results from it probably unequalled by any other remedial agent.

Generalized Too Much.

The French are a witty race but French servants are reported to be the most stupid in the world. It is of a person of that race that this story is told.

Justine was reproved by her mistress for bringing home lobsters that were not fresh.

"You must positively not get any lobsters, Justine," said her mistress, "unless they are alive."

The servant took the injunction deeply into her consciousness. A few days afterward her mistress sent her to get some cheese.

"Is the cheese fresh, Justine?" asked her mistress.

"Oh, yes, madam," answered the servant. "I was careful to see that it was alive."—Pearson's Weekly.

The Difference.

Hostess (with whom little Willy is taking dinner)—And does your mother allow you to have two pieces of pie when you are at home, Willy?

Willy (who has asked for the second piece)—No, ma'am.

Hostess—Well, do you think she would like you to to have two pieces here?

Willy (confidently)—Oh, she wouldn't care. This isn't her pie, you know!—Puck.

Something the Matter.

"Doctor," said the excited man, "I want you to come to the house at once. My wife's aunt, who is living with us, has something the matter with her lower jaw. She can't get her mouth shut."

"When did it happen?" asked the medicine man, as he drew on his gloves.

"I don't know just when it happened, doc, but to-day was the first time we noticed it."—Cincinnati Tribune.

Scientifically Considered.

"Merely as a new experience, Wendell," said the Boston young woman, blushing faintly and wiping her lips, "I find it not disagreeable, but do not let it happen again. It is utterly illogical, irrelevant, and recent scientific investigation shows that it is fraught with microbes."

It seems the foolhardy young man had kissed her.—Chicago Tribune.

A Prescription.

The waiter was awkward, and in taking the nickels from the hand of the guest he muffed them, and two dropped into the soup.

"I beg your pardon, sir. Really—I—I—" he began profusely to apologize.

"Oh, that's all right," interrupted the good-natured guest. "The doctor told me I needed some change in my diet."—Detroit Free Press.

ENGLAND WEAKENING

Radical Departure from Her Ultimatum Methods.

SEEKS THE GOOD OFFICES OF OLNEY

Wants This Government To Endeavor To Secure the Release of Crown Surveyor Harrison Under Arrest in Venezuela.

Washington, June 25.—As soon as Secretary Olney returns to the state department, and he is confidently expected to-day, he will receive from Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British ambassador, a request from the British government to use his good offices with Venezuela to secur the release from imprisonment of Crown Surveyor Harrison, who is reported to have been arrested by Venezuelan police while he was engaged in constructing a road connecting the Barima and Cuyuni rivers in the disputed territory. This action of Great Britain is considered in diplomotic circles a radical departure from the ultimatum methods hitherto practiced on American republics, and much significance is attached to this fact as probably indicating the considerable progress made towards an arbitration agreement and the practical acknowledgement that the United States is a party in interest in the Venezuelan dispute, as well as in future controversies regarding territory on the American continent. While it is universally admitted that the new incident is exceedingly unfortunate just at this juncture, there is great diversity of opinion in fixing the blame. Even the British government has the most indefinite knowledge of the exact locality where the arrest took place, although it is claimed that the surveying party had no authority to go outside of territory occupied exclusively by Englishmen for the past ten years.

Venezuelans Pleased.

No official knowledge of the arrest has yet been received at the Venezuelan legation, where confidence is expressed that the Venezuelan government would have sent a notice of the affair, perhaps for the information of the United States government, the moment the facts became known at Caracas. The Venezuelans, however, find considerable satisfaction in the information that Great Britain will appeal to Secretary Olney in the matter as indicating that it is not considered of so serious a nature as at first apprehended. They place the whole blame for whatever has occurred on Joseph Chamberlain's aggressive colonial policy. They point to the fact that under date of December 19, 1894, they complained to Secretary Gresham of the proposed road upon which Surveyor Harrison was employed and called attention to the fact that as the route lay in Venezuelan territorry a conflict would be unavoidable.

UNITY OF THE CHURCH.

An Important Papal Encyclical Soon To Be Issued.

Rome, June 25.—The papal encyclical on the unity of the church and the supremacy of the see of Rome will shortly be issued. The Latin document is now complete, and its translation into various languages is awaited so that they may appear simultaneously with the original text. The document is a lengthy one, and is a doctrinal work in which the pope's intentions is to prove the supremacy of the papal see by numerous quotations drawn from the Greek fathers and ancient Oriental liturgy. Copies of the encyclical will be forwarded to all reigning sovereigns, and also to the heads of dissenting churches, because the leading aim of the document is to bring about the union of the various churches with that of Rome, and to show why this union is necessary. The pope starts from the fundamental principle that the church must be one, and sets forth the essential features of unity of doctrine and of faith. His holiness makes an appeal to all well-wishers of humanity to work for this end.

Delaware Republicans.

Wilmington, Del., June 25.—Gen. James. H. Wilson, chairman of the republican state committee, has issued a call for the state convention at Dover July 16. Three presidential electors, a member of congress and a governor are to be nominated. This is the regular organization. It is not known what the Addicks state committee will do.

Cornell Scholarships.

Albany, June 25.—Nearly 500 appointments to state scholarships in Cornell university have been made by state superintendent of public instruction Charles R. Skinner. These scholarships entitles the holders of the same to a four years' course of instruction, free of tuition, in Cornell university.

Naval Orders.

Washington, June 25.—The following naval orders have been issued: Assistant surgeon S. B. Palmer has been ordered to the naval laboratory, New York, and ensign H. G. MacFarland will be detached from the Bennington on the 20th of July instead of the 14th, as heretofore announced.

Senator Morgan Improving.

Washington, June 25.—Senator Morgan, who has been ill for three or four days with stomach trouble, a recurrence of the attack of four month, ago, is better this morning and able to sit up for a short time.

Died at Sea.

New York, June 25.—The steamer Panama, just arrived, brought the body of Jose Sabates Costa, aged 54, a manufacturer of Cuba, who died on the trip of heart disease.

SPORTS

THURSDAY, June 25. Sun rises 4:29 a. m., sets 7:34 p. m. Lanterns must be lighted between 8:34 p. m. and 3:29 a. m.

Cyclists desiring to join the League of American Wheelmen will be furnished with application blanks and necessary information by addressing the Cycling Department of the Daily Press.

CYCLING COMMENT.

George B. Cobb, Jr., returned from Springfield last night on a flying trip. He goes back tonight or tomorrow.

The Victor Wheelmen will hold a meeting this evening to complete their reorganization.

The Plainfield Cycle Comyany has secured the agency for the Colyer manufactured in Newark. An iron-clad guarantee goes with every wheel.

Lawyer Harry C. Runyon went out riding on his wheel Sunday, and the wheel gave way. He escaped without serious injury, but had to walk home.

Frank W. Morse, of Madison avenue, is one of the latest converts to cycling. He is riding a Knickerbocker wheel and is highly delighted with bicycling.

The F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company shipped a carload of second-hand wheels to the Keer & Martin Cycle Company of Newark, yesterday. There were 41 bicycles.

The New York State circuit will end with the Kings County Wheelmen's meet at Manhattan Beach track, by Jay Eaton and H. B. Mosher have gone to prepare for Saturday's races.

The record from Plainfield to New Brunswick and return, was broken Tuesday night by Jep Sorensen on a Cleveland racer. His time, which was duly authenticated, was 1 hour and 14 minutes.

Lister, the North avenue cycle dealer, received a shipment of Fowler wheels yesterday, including a tandem with an 88 gear and weighing 42 pounds. The latter is finished in maroon.

I. A. Powell, of the N. Y. A. C., the fast amateur who rode so well here on Decoration Day and who has been distinguishing himself on the New York State circuit, fell yesterday at the Albany meet and broke his collar bone.

Arrangements are being made by he cycling division of the Y. M. C. A. for the reception of the other clubs in the Y. M. C. A. Cycling League on the evening of July 8th. A pleasing programme is being arranged and the refreshment part of the entertainment is not being forgotten.

The Jersey and its fast rider, Jay Eaton, showed its rear wheel to three of the fastest riders in the country at the circuit meet held at Albany yesterday. The race was the two-third-mile scratch, and Eaton finished first, with Bald and the Butler brothers behind him. The Daily American Wheelman says of the race: "Jay Eaton's successful sneak in the two-third-mile for the cash prize performers was the feature of the meet. Like a whirlwind the Elizabeth boy came up from behind, passed the others in an inkling, end was fully ten yards to the good before the act was fully comprehended. Pursuit seemed hopeless and none of the bunch attempted it, the real contention being for second money. Tom Butler got it by a clear length, with Bald behind him, and Nat Butler in fourth place." In the one-mile open, Eaton rode second to Bald in his heat, and finished behind Bald and Nat Butler in the final.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

The Park Club will be represented after all in the contest for the trophy of the American Whist League tomorrow night at Manhattan Beach. It will not be the regular "Big Four," but the team will consist of Assembly man Chas A. Reed, Samuel Townsedd, ex-Councilman Joseph H. Howell and Teorge T. Rogers.

Jedediah Smalley, of Craig place, is seriously ill at his home.

Charles W. Runyon, of West Fourth street, is recovering from an attack of neuralgia.

Miss Cutter is acting principal of the North Plainfield Public School, owing to the illness of Principal Boss.

The condition of Mrs. Wm. Newcorn remains about the same, and the physicians do not consider her out of danger yet.

Mr James Perdue, an old soldier residing at Monroe, Mich., was severely afflicted with rheumatism but received prompt relief from pain by using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says: "At times my back would ache so badly that I could hardly raise up. If I had not gotten relief I would not be here to write these few lines. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done me a great deal of good and I feel very thankful for it." For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

Small in size, but great in results. De Witt's Little Early Risers act gently but thoroughly, curing indigestion, dyspepsia and constipation. Small pill, safe pill, best pill. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

To Push the Button.

The members of the Plainfield Camera Club will have an outing tomorrow at Chinney Rock. They will go by stage, starting from the Babcock building at 8 a. m. Those going will carry their lunch, and a very pleasant time is expected. Any who are not members of the club who would care to go are invited to join the party.

Birthday Surprise.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm Snell, of West Front street, were given a surprise party Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. Snell's birthday. Mrs. David VanBuskirk, a sister of Mrs. Snell, arranged the affair. There were about thirty guests present, including several from Newark. Music was furnished by Jacob Overland.

Pleaded Guilty.

Callahan and Goodman, the two depot hackmen who were under arrest for violating the hack ordinance by soliciting passengers from the sidewalk, and who were to have been tried tomorrow, pleaded guilty to Judge DeMeza this afternoon and were each fined $3, which they paid and were discharged.

Postponed.

The dance of the Montezuma Social Club, that was to be held this evening, has been postponed to Tuesday evening, June 30th, on account of the threatening weather.

Commencement at Dunellen.

The public school at Dunellen will hold its commencement exercises at the school house this evening. The alumni will give the graduating class a reception after the exercises.

Eczema is a frightful affliction, but like all other skin diseases it can be permanently cured by applications of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It never fails to cure Piles. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

Customer— I want a remedy for catarrh.

Drug Clerk—All right, sir. Here's a blood tonic that is advertised to build up the constitution.

Customer— Young man, do you think I'm going to dose myself with a blood tonic for months, just on the chance of it doing me some good? Not much! I want immediate relief; besides, catarrh is a local affection, and no tonic or blood purifier ever made can cure it. Here's 50 cents. Let me have Ely's Cream Balm. It's the only hing I know of to cure catarrh.

No "Flim Flam" Game

To Be Worked on Early Purchasers of

The Spalding Bicycle

After the adoption of our 1896 model and a careful estimate of the cost of manufacture, we placed the price on the Spalding Bicycle at $100. The price is now $100 and will continue at $100 throughout the season, no matter what other manufacturers may do.

We don't believe it is fair, honest or good business policy to sell a standard article like the Spalding Bicycle at one price in May and reduce its value in June by a material reduction in price. As a matter of common fairness to early purchasers of Spalding Bicycles and as an evidence of good faith on our part we will, in case of reduction in price during the season, send a rebate check to every purchaser of a Spalding Bicycle of the amount of any such reduction that may be made by us during the season This is our meaning of a

GUARANTEE OF PRICE.

Ride the Spalding and you will be happy, contented and assured that you will not be "flim-flammed" in price or quality.

GRADUATES GIVEN A RECEPTION

The Event Which Brought an End to School Days in This City.

While the rain came down with unfaltering steadiness, last evening, the class of '96 of the High School and many of the alumni and their friends gathered in the Casino of the Union County Country Club. The Commencement was over, and the reception to the graduates was at hand. At about 10:45 o'clock the orchestra began, and from that time until the wee small hours of the morning, the room was filled with whirling and gliding couples, the bright evening gowns of the young women contrasting with sombre black and white evening dress of their partners. Towards midnight refreshments were served by Max Wiertz and his corps of assistants.

The hall was prettily decorated with bunting of green and white, the class colors of '96, which was draped and festooned about the walls while the electric lights at the side were covered with the same colors, giving a very pretty effect. The reception was a very successful one, and was attended by over three hundred. It was given by the classes of '94 and '95, and was arranged by the following committees: Finance committee, John V. Beekman, Jr., '95, chairman; Norman A. Probasco, '94, and Albert E. Woltmann '94; Casino, Edgar I. Serrell, '95; decoration, Miss Emma N. Fish, '94, chairman; the Misses Etta Raybert, '95, Alice Needham, '94, Helen A. Hazen, '95, Henry B. Drake, '96, Fred W. Goddard, '94, and George A. Horne, '95; printing, Charles B. Morse, '95, chairman; Thomas D. Blair, '95, and Edward O. Clark, '95; music, Miss Mary Howe Miller, '94.

Danced at the Inn.

About twenty-five young people from this city, chaperoned by Mr and Mrs. L. G. Timpson, secured Conover's stage last evening and went to Mountain Park Inn where a very enjoyable evening was spent in dancing. Music was furnished by Rogers, and Manager Moulton served the refreshments. The guests were delighted with the hospitality extended by the management. Among those present were: O. G. Waring, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Timpson, the Misses Waring, Evans, Reinhart, and Messrs. Geo. T. VanBoskerck, T. R. VanBoskerck, Edward R. Finch, Irving C. West, Harry D. West, Howard Huntington, August L. Huntington, Fred Huntington, Geo. Schoonmaker, Lewis E. Waring, Richard E. Dwight and W. N. Runyon.

Franklin Council Officers.

The following officers were elected last evening at the meeting of Franklin Council, No. 41, J. O. U. A. M.: Councilor, P. T. Bogert; vice-councilor, L. D. Townley, six months; recording secretary, Harry M. Cooke; financial secretary, Theo. A. Kurzhals, Jr.; treasurer, F. A. Long, one year; conductor, Wm. Symons; warden, S. F. Fenner; inside sentinel, B. L. Webster; outside sentinel, D. V. Force, six months; trustee, H. R. Thorne, eighteen months.

Another World's Fair Award.

The Lawrence Cement Company, of which Ernest R. Ackerman, of this city, is president, is in receipt of a handsome bronze medal awarded by the Commissioners of the World's Fair at Chicago, for the general excellence of its famous brand of "Hoffman"-Rosendale cement, manufactured in Ulster county, New York. A beautiful diploma accompanied the medal.

Superb Service.

The complete summer schedule of the Sandy Hook route and all rail route of the Central R. R. of New Jersey for seashore resorts on the New Jersey coast will take effect Sunday, June 28th. The service this season will surpass the excellent service of former seasons. Public timetables will be in hands of agents for distribution on June 26th.

Fractured Her Right Ankle.

Mrs. Anna Hanley, of Stony Hill, aged 47 years, met with a painful accident at her home on Tuesday. She was waking on a wet board when suddenly she fell, with the result of fracturing her right ankle. Mrs. Hanley was brought to Muhlenberg Hospital this morning for treatment.

If it required an annual outlay of $100.00 to insure a family against any serious consequences from an attack of bowel complaint during the year there are many who would feel it their duty to pay it; that they could not afford to risk their lives, and those of their family for such an amount. Any one can get this insurance for 25 cents that being the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. One or two doses of this remedy will cure any ordinary case. It never fails. Can you afford to take the risk for so small an amount? For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

GOT THEIR DIPLOMAS.

GRADUATIMG EXERCISES OF THE PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL.

The Stage of Music Hall Filled With Bright Young People Who Ara Ready for College or for the Battle of Business

The inspiring strains of the well-known "Handicap March" and the applause of friends and relatives, marked the entering of the battle of life by the graduating class of the High School last evening, when the Commencement exercises were held at Music Hall. Their school days were over, and the future, full of uncertanties and doubt, lay before them Four years of hard work has been passed in the High School. Many had fallen by the wayside and the once very large class had been reduced in numbers. But perseverance had conquered the difficulties and the culminating point had been reached. Before some lays the higher education of the colleges, others were preparing to start a business career, while many of the young women returned to their homes to do their share of the domestic duties.

It was the twenty-sixth commencement and Music Hall was filled with the friends and relatives of the graduates. The storm kept many at home but the evening was a cool one, a pleasing contrast to last year's commencement. Shortly before eight o'clock Conde's orchestra struck up the overture "Rosamunde" by Schubert. The stage was arranged to represent a drawing room and from one side entered the graduating class, the young women in their charming gowns of white and the young men all clad in sober black cutaway coats. From the other entrance came Dr. J. B. Probasco, president of the Board of Education, Leander N. Lovell and Dr. Olin L. Jenkins, of the Board of Education, Henry M. Maxson, superintendent of schools, Ira W. Travell, principal of the High School, Prof. Bliss Perry, of Princeton University and Miss Julia E. Bulkley, who served so faithfully as superintendent of schools in this city, but now a professor at the University of Chicago.

After the invocation was pronounced by Rev. E. M. Rodman, there came another selection by the orchestra, "Gavotte—Violetta," by Herman. In a few words President Probasco introduced Fred C. Gaskill, the salutatorian, whose subject was, "Genius is Simply an Imm (1)Capacity for Work."

He spoke clearly and distinctly and treated his subject in a splendid manner. He said:

Mr. President and Members of the Board of Education:—Tonight in behalf of the class of '96 I extend to you a hearty greeting. Among the friends whom we welcome to this hall and these exercises, we hold you in high regard, ever mindful of the attention and interest which you have shown in our educational advancement.

Citizens of Plainfield, I take pleasure in welcoming you to these commencement exercises of our Plainfield High School. You have beheld the classes of former years going forth to engage successfully in the duties of life—perhaps to clamber far up on the heights of Fame. May the class of '96—both individually and collectively—reflect honor upon our school and our city by lives of uprightness and usefulness.

"GENIUS IS SIMPLY AN IMMENSE CAPACITY FOR WORK."

Genius may be defined as the highest development and activity of one or more of the faculties,—such as the faculty for art, invention, poetry, or Statesmanship. The popular notion of a genius is one who learns without study, performs work without toil and is eloquent without preparation. We sometimes hear of such men, but never see them. A gentus needs more than high mental endowment. He must be industrious, perservering, energetic and studious to develop his faculties. Genius unexerted, says Emerson, is no more genius than a bushel of acorns is a forest of oaks.

In observing the life and character of every man whose achievements have been attributed to genius, it will be seen that he was a ceaseless worker. Industry has been the road along which he has traveled to prosperity and success. The height attained is proportional to the labor spent. Energy and perseverance are also indispensable to genius. Men largely devoid of these qualities make but spasmodic and feeble efforts to overcome adverse circumstances and win lasting success, and rise therefore only to sink again into obscurity; the man of energetic and persevering nature, however, strives with dauntless courage against all opposing forces, and wins renown and the title of genius.

All men of true genius have been studious. The greatest of orators studied long and diligently the works of Thuhydides. The most famous poets have read zealously the books of other authors and have spent many years of study and toil on their own masterpieces. The foremost generals have been tireless workers. Brilliant victories have been the result of their carefully formed plans, swiftly and promptly executed. They have often rushed into the thickest of the battle to inspire their wavering troops by example as well as by precept. Yet during the busiest part of their busy lives these men have found time to read the ennobling works of some favorite author. The Macedonian general kept a copy of the Iliad constantly by him. Not infrequently have these generals left to us invaluable histories,

But by study is not always meant the acquiring of knowledge from books. It is the concentration of the mind upon subjects or ideas and strict attention to the problem under consideration. Attention is the very soul of genius. The poet must be very observing or else his imagination would fail to produce the beautiful and vivid pictures of man and nature. The true statesman will be attentive to the affairs of the State and ever on the alert to ward off dangers and promote its welfare. Such a man we usually term a far-sighted statesman.

Industry, perserverance and energy are the qualities which give men the ability to perform a great amount of labor. Then when learning and close application are united to these, a man becomes possessed of an immense capacity for work. All of these qualities Archimedes possessed in a state of high development. The little incident which revealed the laws of specific gravity shows how closely his attention was devoted to a subject, and how quickly his mind grasped even the slightest hint for the solution of a problem. The wizard has won success in his inventions and discoveries only by his great ability to work. We frequently read of his midnight researches and discoveries. One one occasion he told a friend that for seven months from eighteen to twenty hours a day he had labored to make the phonograph produce the aspriated sound and at length he had succeeded. We see the wonderful works of genius on every hand, but seldom realize the amount of work required in their execution. The genius of a man is simply an immense capacity for work.

"Men give me credit for genius," said Alexander Hamilton. "All the genius I have lies just in this: When I have a subject in hand I study it profoundly, day and night. It is a part of me; I explore it in all its bearings; my mind becomes pervaded with it. Then the effort which I make people are pleased to call the fruit of genius; it is the fruit of labor and thought." When the princely student asked Euclid if there was no easier path to geometry, the ready answer was, "There is no royal road to knowledge." The same is true of genius.

A selection from "Faust" by Gounod was rendered by the orchestra, and then Prof. Bliss Perry, of Princeton University, the speaker of the evening, was introduced. His address was excellent, short and appropriate to the occasion. He remarked on the one note that is never absent at commencement time, desire, and took for his theme "Power Through Obedience." He spoke of how people usually accomplish what they want, but how they have to give up other things that others would think indispensable, and he drew examples from history of how great men had risen from the lowest ranks, overcoming great difficulties by steady perseverance and obedience to the conditions they had to meet. He also referred to famous characters in history who had overcome great physical odds. "If," he said, "in the face of adverse circumstances as these, it is still possible to attain the goal, what is to be said these young people who graduate tonight? They have been taught that these tangible prizes are not the highest, but that the cultivation of the mind should be the aim. The minds of people reflect their desires. What the boy wishes to be, he generally becomes. I have desired to remind them of what may be done by persistent effort. The salutatorian has told us that genius is merely an immense capacity for work. There is such a thing as luck, but it usually turns toward the skilled player. We explain the exactness of the expert scientist, lawyer or surgeon, by calling it practice. He really only obeys its every condition. The great men of art and literature pride themselves on their workmanlike abilities rather than their genius. We must have the former before we can have the latter. In moral and mental questions, much stress is laid on obedience. The sweep of the law reaches far out beyond the individual. It is the same in the history of the nation. In city, State

THIS MOON WAS ECLIPSED.

But Roundsman Frederickson Was a Good Astronomer and Discovered Him.

There are a number of colored men in town, but one, in particular, has a wholesome respect for the memory of the police. Lewis Moon is the name he goes by, and he has been living in one of the "Great Eastern" row of houses in Paradise Alley. During the early part of May he visited a saloon and there imbibed too freely. He next visited Paradise Alley and managed to stir up quite an excitement, but escaped before the police reached the scene of his disorder.

Chief Grant has been on the lookout for this satellite ever since and yesterday heard that, after the manner of the famous cat, he had returned. Roundsman Fredericksen and Patrolman McCue, were detailed to make the arrest. A colored woman named Sarah Barrett keeps the house and she had it locked up. Frederickson at last persuaded her to let him in, while McCue stood guard at the door. All over the house the roundsman hunted and finally went to the bedroom.

"He ain't there," squeaked the woman, as she spread her form in front of the bed.

"Get out of the way," said the officer, as he looked under the bed. A groan answered his poke, and he pulled the culprit out, who was several shades lighter

This morning Judge DeMeza gave him his choice of a $10 fine or 30 days in jail. A friend passed the hat and the fine was finally paid.

FUNERAL OF MISS WINCKLER.

Obsequies Attended by a Large Number of Sympathizing Friends.

The funeral services of the late Miss Maggie Winckler were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 from the house on Park place. The attendance of relatives and friends was very large. Rev. C. L. Goodrich officiated and talked in a comforting and helpful manner. He spoke very highly of the Christian life of the departed, how willing and ready she always was to do her duty. He spoke words of consolation to the bereaved ones, lifting them up, as it were, from their feelings of sorrow. A quartette consisting of Mrs. A. C. LaBoyteaux, Miss Whiting, H. J. Martin and E. E. Runyon, rendered very sweetly "Sometime We'll Understand" and "The Christian's Good Night." The floral offerings were beautiful and touching. They consisted of a large pillow of lilies and cut flowers from Neumann Bros., another pillow from the sisters with the word "Sister" inscribed, a large anchor of white roses, and several bunches of choice flowers. The pall-bearers were Fred Ross, Samuel Fenner, Joseph Fuller, and Chas. Belknap. Interment was in Hillside cemetery.

BAND CONCERT DOWN TOWN

The Vacant Lot Near the Babcock Building to be the Place.

Councilman Frost, who has in charge the coming band concerts, announces that owing to the moist condition of the ground the place of giving the concert tomorrow evening has been changed from Crescent avenue to the vacant lot on West Front street next to VanEmburgh & Son's dry goods store. Everybody is invited to come and bring their camp-stools. They will be allowed to occupy the sidewalk in the vicinity and a sufficient number of police will be present to see that everything goes straight. The surplus mud in the street will be removed, and everything possible will be done to give all an evening of pleasure. The ground under the trees will be reserved for the band, but outside of that the people will have free access.

Struck by a Trolley Car.

The wagon belonging to the local agent for the Singer Sewing Machine Company had a narrow escape from a smashup on West Front street, near Madison avenue, yesterday afternoon. Trolley car No. 6 was behind it and the driver attempted to get the wagon out of the way. The car struck it squarely from behind and, had it not been a light spring wagon, would have probably wrecked it. The driver jumped out, took the number of the car and declared he was going to make a complaint. The two men in the wagon refused to give their names.

First Hop on the Mountain.

The first hop of the season will be given at Mountain Park Inn tomorrow evening, under the management. The dancing will commence at nine o'clock.

When we consider that the intestines are about five times as long as the body, we can realize the intense suffering experienced when they become inflamed. De Witt's Colic and Cholera Cure subdues inflammation at once and completely removes the difficulty. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

POWER OF KNOWLEDGE

PRACTICAL THOUGHTS OF DR. JOHNSTONE'S ADDRESS.

The Speaker Impressed on the North Plainfield Graduates the Accomplishments to Grasp Opportunity and Succeed.

One of the happiest events in the lives of sixteen young men and women occurred last evening in Warren chapel when the thirteenth annual commencement was held and they were graduated from the North Plainfield public school.

The chapel was filled to overflowing with parents and friends whose hearts were made glad by the joyous occasion. It was 8:15 when the graduating class and other scholars proudly entered and took seats on the platform provided for them. A march, rendered by Miss Randolph on the piano, gave additional pleasure to the opening exercises. President Samuel St. John McCutchen, Ezra Loomis, G. F. Brown, J. H. VanWinkle, Sr., A. V. D. Honeyman, R. M. Fountain and E. J. Waring, members of the Board of Education, and Dr. Jocelyn Johnstone followed and also occupied seats on the platform. The programme was in charge of President McCutchen, who stated that he regretted exceedingly that Principal C. E. Boss was unable to be present on account of illness. Under the efficient direction of Wm. E. MacClymont the children sang as an opening selection "The Good Shepherd." This was followed with an essay by Miss Adele Hope Kirby, entitled "The Influence of Little Things." The essay was especially fine, both as to composition and rendition, and it reflected great credit on the scholar and her instructor. The essay was as follows:

Can we doubt or question for a minute the importance of trifles when we look around us? Surely Dame Nature appreciated this fact when she made each individual leaf in the tree to blend with its neighbor and form the luxuriant growth of foliage which is so restful to the eye. The trivial occurrences are what form our characters; and the humble, insignificant character make up the Nation If everyone was equally great there would be no honor or respect among men. Jealousy and contempt would be the ruling passion of the Nation, and in the course of time these two would not only corrupt the people, but everything with which they came in contact. It is, then, impossible to lay too much stress upon the little things, for, as Goldsmith says, "These little things are great to the little man." Unfortunately these trifles exert as much influence for the wrong as for the right. Even the grumblings of a single workman can start a strike in the cities which will often result in the loss of thousands of dollars to the manufacturers, and untold misery to innumerable homes. So it is in the life of everyone of us. We each have the power to do or not to do as we please, but it may encourage us if we bear in mind that even the performance of our simple daily tasks may be bringing light into the skies of someone's existence or lessening the weight of many a burden.

Miss Emma L. Stevens then gave a recitation, "The Wreck of Rivermouth," by Whittier. Miss Stevens deserves great credit for the admirable manner in which she gave the selection. Her work showed care and thoughtfulness. Both graduates received presents, in the form of flowers, from their friends, as did also the other members of the class. Another vocal selection, "Eventide," was finely rendered by the scholars. The selection preceded an address by Dr. Jocelyn Johnstone, of the Church of the Redeemer, on the subject "Ancient and Modern Educational Systems." Dr. Johnstone said in part:

"It is said that the onlooker in chess sees most of the game. So it is probable that, although I am not yet six years in America, I can make a more unprejudiced estimate of American education than Americans themselves. At the outset I would say that it is impossible to regard any system, controlled by the human mind, as absolutely perfect. But this I can assert unaffectedly, and without a feather's weight of bias in any direction, I believe that the public schools of America are the chief glory of a land that can pride itself on many accomplishments. The United States today gives to the world a splendid example of free institutions, of freedom of worship and free education. May I say to this audience that the last transcends in dignity and importance all other means and agencies which subserve a nation and make it great. Why is it the duty of the State to see that all its children are educated? I shall answer that question from the standpoint of history and philosophy. A study of the rise and fall of Nations, and the permanence and decay of social systems, will prove to the reader that no people steeped in ignorance can remain free and prosperous. It is the only enlightened among men who know the full value of liberty. In political as well as all other life, knowledge is power. The Constitution of the United States is safeguarded, not by its police force, but by the intelligence of a people who as children have learned in the public schools that liberty is obedience to law.

But the system of public school education has a still more practical result. It is the high average of education and intelligence possessed by individual Americans that has secured the pre-eminence of their country among the Nations of the earth. What is the source of American prosperity? The economist will reply that it is the resultant of the wealth and variety of our natural resources. The politician will assure us, in fervid rhetoric, that prosperity walks hand in hand with free institutions. Both answers are correct, but do not enshrine all the truth. It is intelligence which makes the superiority of Nations as well as individuals. The value and amount of products depend more upon intelligence than nature; for the increment of profit is created by the brain, and not the hand. Let me give you an example of the difference between educated and uneducated labor. Down in the iron mines of Pennsylvania a laborer blasts out the metallic crust of the earth. Physically he a rough untutored Hercules, with sinews as strong as whips of steel. His work requires no mental training or at least very little. As a consequence he is not able to earn more than two or three dollars a day. The world practically sets no value upon physical strength. But let us follow the history of that same iron when it has been smelted in the furnace and rolled in the mills. Then it comes under the control of the mechanical engineer, who moulds it, and shapes it to his will, not by strength of muscle, but by the magic of science, till at last he has created a locomotive, a metallic leviathan, a miracle of grace and power that whirls in a few days a thundering train from New York to San Francisco. Or, with the same material he may construct what I regard as the greatest marvel of civilization, a modern printing press, that moving, throbbing and revolving agent of the world's enlightenment, which, with every revolution of its gigantic cylinders, sends out into the world the chequered story of life, as depicted in the newspaper, the song of the musician and poet, and the high thoughts of patient philosophy. Thus we all know the superiority of mind over muscle, of brain over brawn; and we wonder no longer that intelligence makes a reputation and a fortune.

"But the chief glory, I am convinced which attaches to the American educational system, is the remarkable culture and intelligence of American women. On this subject I can speak dispassionately, because I have known life both in its highest and lowest, in two continents. The influence of the American woman does not depend on her physical attractiveness, although that is undoubted, but upon the strength and grace of her mental equipment. Of course, she has larger opportunities for intellectual development than her father, or husband or brother. It is alleged in favor of the latter that they have the battle of life to fight and have no time in which to cultivate their mind. But this does not altogether account for the fact that the average American woman is intellectually superior to the average American man. In charm of conversation, in the acquisition of varied thought, in versatility and vivacity, and in the play of well disciplined mental powers, American women reflect its highest glory upon the system of American education."

The doctor's address was most cordially received by hearty applause, after which "Swing Storm" and "The Storm-Fiend" were sung by the scholars.

President McCutchen then arose and made a few remarks. He said in part: "I regret exceedingly that Mr. Boss is not present tonight. For fifteen years he has been identified with the school as principal, and for the past five years I have been closely associated with him. He has developed the school in a noteworthy manner, and has been faithful, earnest and industrious. He has not shown any petty spirit which would in any way

CORNELL FAVORITES

Everything Ready for the 'Varsity Race This Afternoon.

CLOSE, EXCITING CONTEST EXPECTED

The Four Crews in Splendid Condition and Friends of Each Confident of Victory for Their Favorite—The Course.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 26.—Lowering skies, a chilly atmosphere and an occasional drizzle of rain makes the opening of the day of the great 'varsity race a dismal one. Even the enthusiasm of the colleg lads, who are packed like sardines in the hotels, is affected by the low barometer. Nevertheless, the wearers of college colors began early to show signs of the lively interest they take in their respective crews. Followers of the different crews are sure that their favorites will win, and wagers were made on college loyalty more than on the merits of men in the boats. Excellent arrangements have been made for viewing the race. An observation train of forty cars are in readiness. Seats are provided for 3,000 people. This train will start with the racing crews and follow them to the finish. The train runs on the West Shore track, from which no obstructed view of the course is had. On the river a fleet of excursion boats, private yachts, all kinds of water craft will occupy positions near the finish. United States revenue cutters Manhattan and Hudson will keep the steamers clear of the course. The steam yachts Walla Walla and the tug Susi, with two naptha launches will assign boats to anchorage positions and preserve order in the flotilla.

The Course.

Aside from the crowd on the train and the crowd on excursion boats, other crowds will gather on the river banks from which portions of the course may be seen to good advantage. The crews will be started opposite Crum's Elbow, a point on the west bank of the Hudson, three miles above the Poughkeepsie bridge. Four lanes marked by stakeboats are laid out. The positions drawn by lot, and numbering from the west bank are: 1, Harvard; 2, Pennsylvania; 3, Cornell; 4, Columbia. At the mile and two-mile flags are placed stakeboats to mark the lanes. The bridge is the three-mile point. All four crews will pass under the second span. Above each lane is a huge square of white board, with a numeral to indicate the position of the crews. One mile below the bridge, the finish will be marked by sail boats anchored in the stream. From the three-and-a-half-mile point to the finish the excursion steamers and yachts will be anchored well outside of the Columbia's lane. Should the water prove too rough this afternoon the race will be postponed until Saturday.

Grand Race Predicted.

A visit to the various quarters this morning elicited the fact that the representatives of the brawn and sinew of Harvard, Pennsylvania, Columbia and Cornell were ready and fit to row the race of their lives for the honor of their Alma Mater. There seemed to be an individual feeling amongst the men that not only would the race be the greatest ever rowed in American waters, but that the struggle would be one to call forth the most intense efforts, and that the issue would be in doubt up to the last moment. At Cornell's quarters the habitual reserve that characterizes the training of Coach Courtney was manifested, but underlying was an air of satisfaction that indicated that the eight that carried the red and white colors were confident of a measure of success. Guy Richards, who has helped coach the Columbia 'varsity in the unavoidable absence of Walter Post, was non-committal, but it is well known that all those concerned in the management of the blue and white crew fondly expect to see a repetition of last year's victory. The Harvard crew have done most of their work in a secret manner as was possible. The followers of the crimson are very sweet on their chances, and the work of the eight since they came to Poughkeepsie has given the utmost satisfaction to those who followed the doings of the Cambridge men. Good judges say that the 'varsity crew of '96 is one of the best crews turned out by Harvard for years. The pratice work of the Pennsylvania crew has been criticised somewhat unfavorably by the experts. Coach Ellis Ward, however, is by no means dissatisfied with the Quakers' showing. Columbia has the heaviest crew engaged. The men average 177 pounds, Harvard comes next with an average of 170⅛, Pennsylvania averages 167 5-6, while Cornell has the lightest crew of all, the Ithacans averaging 161⅞.

Cornell the Favorite.

The prevailing opinion as to the result of the close struggle that is looked for is, Cornell first; a desperate battle for second honors between Columbia and Harvard, with a slight tide of sentiment in favor of the blue and white, and Pennsylvania for the outsiders' position. However, the Quakers, like the proverbial dark horse, may upset the calculations of the sharps.

Honored by Oxford University.

London, June 26.—Oxford university has conferred the degree of Doctor of Divinity upon the Rev. Eugene A. Hoffman of New York, dean of the General Theological seminary of the Protestant Episcopal church.

Racing at Hamburg.

Hamburg, June 26.—In the trotting here yesterday the race for a prize of 1,500 marks, at 2,400 metres, was won by Eddie Hayes. Josie Chimes was second and Shadeland Lamott third.

That Young Man Again.

"Did you ever pay any attention to theosophy, Mr. Slogo?" she asked, with deadly sweetness in her tones.

The young man admitted that he had not.

"Oh, it is just lovely!" she continued. "I have often thought how perfectly charming it would be to send one's astral self down into the parlor to entertain, while one's real tired self was sound asleep."

The ticking of the little clock became so painfully loud that the young man was forced to look at it and suddenly discover that it was really growing so awfully late.—Indianapolis Journal.

The Glorious East.

"Out in Oregon," said a man from that state, "the air is so clear that you can see the peak of Mount Shasta in California, from the peak of Mount Hood in Oregon, a distance of two hundred and seventy-six miles."

"Here in the east we can see much farther than that."

"O, come now."

"It's a fact. The moon is two hundred and forty thousand miles away, but we can see it on a clear night."—Life.

Symptoms.

He pondered in silence for a moment. When the ormolu clock had measured a moment he spoke:

"Darling," he said, "do you think your father divines my purpose?"

The lovely girl did not ponder at all. She answered at once.

"Egberthold," she whispered, "I think he suspects. For upward of a week now he has devoted an hour each afternoon practicing the drop kick with a bag of sand."—Detroit Tribune.

Most Cordial Frankness.

Mr. Dobbins had been urging a friend whom he met to come and dine with him at his home. The gentleman still hesitated in accepting the invitation, so Master Thomas concluded he had best put in a word.

"You better come," Tommie advised him. "We don't have any great shakes of dinners right along, but ma always slings herself when we have visitors."—Judge.

A Peculiar Simile.

Mr. Westside—Doosenberry's wife has died. She was an excellent woman—a much better woman than he is a man.

Mr. Eastside—That's so. Now Doosenberry is a widower, and he reminds me of a stalk of asparagus growing in a garden.

"How so?"

"Well, you see his better half is under the earth."—Texas Siftings.

This Is Highly Practicable.

Mrs. Maryatt—I always manage to get my husband furiously mad at me if I want to get a favor out of him.

Mrs. Nuwed—That's queer. What for?

Mrs. Maryatt—Then he always scolds me frightfully and afterward when he's repentant has to make it up by granting my request.—Chicago Record.

An Ornithological Reason.

Mamma—Why are you always drumming on the side of the house, Tommy?

Tommy—Because I am like a gobbler, mamma.

Mamma—Why are you like a gobbler?

Tommy—Because I have a pair of drum sticks, but no drum.—Puck.

A New Beginner.

Young Wife—When my husband gets cross I always threaten to go home to my mother.

Old Wife—Mercy, child! how simple you are! You should threaten to have your mother come to you.—Judge.

Brothers.

"How many are you, sweet maid," I asked,
With a smile like the light of heaven
She counted her two and her sister's three
Fiances by them set free,
And answered: "We are seven."
—Detroit Tribune.

CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE.

"Well, well, I really and truly believe that our young lady has had an appointment with her beau."—Fliegende Blaetter.

A Short Wait.

Witherby—I forgot my latchkey last night, and when I came home I couldn't get in, so I had to wait until the family got up.

Plankington—How long was it, old man, about half an hour?—N. Y. World.

Neatly Put.

He—I am in love. Will you be my confidante?

She—Certainly. I am at your service.

He—Well, would you advise me to propose to you?—Brooklyn Life.

She Could Not Pass It.

Miss Hojack—Hasn't Miss Tomdik passed her twentieth birthday?

Miss Flypp—No; she has been carrying it with her for several years.—Town Topics.

Short But Sarcastic Dialogue.

"Do you have to treat your maid as if she were a member of the family?"

"Mercy, no! We have to be very kind and polite to her."—Standard.

A Woman's Idea.

Dentist—Madam, you will have to have some bridge-work in your mouth.

Patient—All right, doctor—suspension or cantalever?—Judge.

THE FASHION.

It seems to be the fashion in some stores to charge as much as they can for a thing, no matter what it is worth. Now, we don't do that. We are not claiming any extraordinary merit for ourselves, either. We are simply honest. We sell furnishings for every one. We sell for the man who wants his tastes satisfied, irrespective of cost, and for the man who doesn't want to spend his last cent on a tie. We give satisfaction to each and all.

June 28--Dedication of Mt. Pleasant chapel.

Good roads improvement still goes on in this city, and the people are glad.

Once again Plainfield is reminded by the annual commencement exercises that she has a public school system to be proud of. And likewise North Plainfield.

A movement is on foot among Republican leaders of Essex county to discountenance the uniforming and parding of political clubs during the coming campaign. Franklin Murphy and Carl Lentz are reported to be at the head of the movement. They believe that money spent in uniforms and parades can be put to better advantage.

GHASTLY FACTS.

Awful Condition of Things Prevailing in Oppressed Armenia.

Miss Koikorian, an Armenian refugee, was to have spoken in the chapel of Grace P. E. church yesterday afternoon, on the sufferings of her people at the hands of the Turks, but owing to illness she was unable to be present and Miss Leach, who has been closely associated with Miss Koikorian, spoke in her place.

Miss Leach is a very earnest speaker and told in an able manner of the sufferings of the Armenian people at the present time. She spoke of the great need of relief for the Armenians and said that the one sure way of getting it was by simply stating the plain facts. Some of these facts are as follows: The region devastated is 500 miles long, 300 miles wide; 50,000 male (mostly) bread-earners massacred; 47,600 houses and shops plundered or burned; 41,000 Christians forced into Mohammedanism; 300,000, mostly women and children, without food, clothing or means of support. These last are the unfortunates for whom the relief is intended, and unless something is done soon to send them relief, thousands will die before fall.

The $500,000 which was raised by the governments of America and England has been used up completely in the relief work, and about 100,000 sufferers have been aided, one-third of the whole number. $500,000 more is needed, and as soon as this relief is sent to the Armenians so soon will their sufferings cease. The work of the missionaries so far has been very successful, but they are sorely in need of funds.

She said that one sure way of helping the work along was to get people interested in it. Once you do there is no trouble to raise funds, and to this end she had each one present take several cards stating the plain facts in the case, and asked them to give them to their friends and if possible get them interested in the work. A collection was also taken up and quite a sum was realized.

A Baby's Funeral.

The funeral services over the remains of little Edith L., infant daughter of Charles E. and Laura Doane, of 56 Norwood avenue, were held last evening. The little darling lay at full length in an open white casket, and looked too sweet to put away from view. Rev. Dr. Barnes was present and read portions of scripture and spoke words of comfort to the bereaved parents and friends present, and offered a tender prayer to the throne of grace that they might bear their affliction, trusting in God, and that at the final day all might be reunited in Heaven. This morning the remains were interred in family plot, Hillside cemetery.

—The graduating class of the North Plainfield School, assisted by the members of the alumni association, are today decorating the school hall for the reception to be given this evening.

and nation, they have had just the government they wanted; they have been punished just as they deserved. To obey conditions. How easy to select as a maxim, but how hard to put into practical life!"

He then addressed a few words of advice to the graduates in particular. He spoke about the necessity of encountering hard work and drudgery before the goal could be reached.

"You will meet this distaste to discipline everywhere," he said. "There is no royal road to learning. there are no stolen marches in modern life. The greatest masters knew that final mastery meant temporary servitude. Let us accept restriction, but only because beyond those restrictions lies liberty."

After the applause had died away "American Relles Waltz," by Voelker, was given by the orchestra, and then followed the presentation of rewards by Leander N. Lovell. They were as follows:

English Composition—The George H. Babcock prize, given by Mrs George H. Babcock. First prize, Hudson's Shakespeare, 12 vols., Florence May Bowman; second prize, Irving's works, 9 vols., Florence May Beal. Honorable mention, Chas. Anthony Squires and Ruth Potter Maxson.

Mathematics—The Dr. C H. Stillman, given by Mrs. C. H. Stillman. First prize, $15 in gold; Julia Francoise Bourgeois; second prize, $10 in gold, Charles Marvin Dolliver. Honorable mention, Fred Squires.

After "Themes from Cavalleria Rusticana" by Mascagni, by the orchesta, Frank Wilbur Cornwell, the valedictorian, gave his essay on "The Power of the Invisible." He is a pleasant speaker and a fitting representative of his class. He said:

INVISIBLE POWERS.

Strength and power are elements which even today are often estimated by size and weight. The massive stones and great cables of the Brooklyn bridge produce an effect of enduring strength, yet the less visible details of arrangement of construction are perhaps more important than the material. Beneath and preceding all was the power of invisible thought of the designer's mind that evolved the plan, and carried it to a successful conclusion. All power, then, and the greatest power—for the created cannot be greater than the creator—may not be considered within the limits of a text book on physics.

One of the most powerful of physical factors which have contributed to the advancement of civilization in the past half century, is steam. The child thinks he sees steam issuing from the mouth of a tea kettle, and does not know that it is invisible. The bursting of the strongest boilers reveals the strength of the imprisoned giant. The ponderous engine is driven along at the rate of 60 miles an hour, carrying its precious freight of human lives. We hear the hiss and noise and see the great mass tremble and start as if it were alive, but the power which drives those great wheels remains hidden.

Although steam is invisible, its nature and laws are well understood; but what of gravity, that force which acts everywhere and through immeasurable distances? Here we are on a great globe with a surface rotary speed of seventeen miles a minute, and an onward movement of eighteen miles a second, yet we are held in perfect equilibrium. How are the planets as they speed along their courses so swiftly, held to habits of regularity and order? They are attracted this way and that by other bodies, ever deviating from a regular path, but always controlled by the finely adjusted power of gravity, coming to their places year after year, without the error of a fraction of a second.

In connection with gravity we think of magnetism, that invisible force which holds sway over the magnetic needle, and of electricity, which bids to supplant steam as a motive power. Through its agency the continents are brought together, and the east knows the deeds of the west almost as soon as they happen. Not only is sound repeated, but its very characteristics are recognized. In the electric car we see no motive power. yet at the turning of a switch the wheels begin to revolve, and the car moves. Surely there is power in that which gives us light, heat, motion, communication, and even bestows life or death.

Is not the wind an unseen force, whose power is felt everywhere? A ship lies lazily on the water's surface. Soon the sails fill out, and there is motion and life in response to the freshening breeze. Or the wind increases and blows a gale, and the sails and masts are carried away, and the ship is numbered among the lost. Or again, with a rotary motion, the wind sweeps a path of death and destruction through city and country.

While all these forces are in themselves invisible, in their effects they are so common and so great, that not one among us is wholly ignorant of their laws. Less understood, and, therefore, more mysterious are the subtle disease germs. So small are they that a thousand might pass abreast through the hole made by a needle's point, yet their action may be more destructive than a civil war. How can we compare a fire which may be seen fifty miles, and may perhaps destroy a million dollars worth of property with that invisible disease germ which for years paralyzed the silk-worm industry of all France, bringing disaster and ruin to thousands of peasant families! The effects seem inversly proportional to the size. Surely that deadly germ which traveled from Russia across Europe to this country in two weeks time, is no mean foe!

But we may not here confine our attention to merely physical force, or think of disaster alone. What a power is music! Filled with joy or pathos, it makes one merry or sad. Vergil says that music to a wearied mind is like a dancing stream of cool water on a hot summer's day. It is capable of the greatest change, sometimes enlivening, sometimes saddening, or calming and soothing. Martial music has often inspired armies to fight with renewed force and valor. It is only a legend that Orpheus swayed the trees as he played upon his lyre, but it shows how greatly the ancients felt the power of music.

The lives of those whose blood was shed to create and preserve our nation are a potent influence which ever acts for the preservation of the nation's honor and integrity. Their example inspires us to defend our country and its rights when they are attacked, either from without or from within. The tale of bravery and sacrifice excites our blood and rouses our patriotism until our country and its honor stand first in every heart.

"Might makes right" is an unprincipled maxim which is often reversed. Two armies are drawn up for battle. The one is composed of men well uniformed and drilled; their arms are bright and their bayonets shine, for they are the hired soldiers of a great nation. Look at the other band, smaller in number and clad in homespun clothes—surely they must be defeated. Silent, scattered, determined, they wait the approach of their haughty foe. Volley after volley is fired from those advancing ranks. But see! at close quarters the patriots open fire, desperate, even careless of their own lives, and their defense is irresistible. The royal soldiers cannot withstand them. They fall back in disorder. What gives these men such invincible power? What but the thought of wrongs unrighted; of homes to be defended of a downtrodden country for which they would gladly die!

Unseen, invisible are all these forces? Yes, truly and therein lies their power. Terrible as they are as masters, how willing, how tireless as servants! The lightning harnessed, the steam guided, the germs cultivated and made harmless, all these but work the will of man. His superiority rests upon his power of thoughts, his ability to guide and control forces too powerful to crush. On such as Newton, Pasteur and Edison, depends his advance from age to age. Thus nearer and nearer he grows to that Invisible, all powerful Ruler who "Moves in a mysterious way

His wonders to perform."

VALEDICTORY.

Gentlemen of the Board of Education:—As we bring to an end our long-standing connection with the public schools of Plainfield, we wish to express to you our gratitude for the time and thought which you have so generously devoted to the cause of our education, and for the kindly interest which you have shown in our welfare. In many ways you have added much to the pleasure which our class has experienced during these years of school life—pleasures which now culminate in this commencement season.

To our teachers, with whom we have been so closely associated these past years, we owe more than words can express. Patiently, amid trials and discouragements, you have stimulated us to be faithful to our tasks from day to day. We have learned that knowledge alone was the less important result to be derived from our studies. Problems and facts may be forgotten, but the trained mind is always ours. We do not expect to meet again with the same problems which we have solved, but success in those solutions will help us to overcome more difficult ones.

Classmates:—If a man's life, as is said, consists of several ages, we dimly remember tonight that first transition, when school life began; while vividly this second change confronts us when school days end. These past years have been a time of training for that part of our life which is about to commence. Those years of life which are best suited to the disciplining of the mental faculties and the acquirement of knowledge have now been spent, yet as we enter into fresh fields of effort to use those powers and apply that knowledge, let us not fail so wisely to use those abilities that they may be continually increased. Hitherto we have been pursuing almost the same course, but now the ways diverge. When we are parted may the memory of these pleasant school days be a bond to hold us always together. Let us remember our class colors, not only for their beauty but because of their significance. The white stands for integrity of purpose; the green, not for that quality of mind it might suggest, but for life and action. It bids us to keep alive and not become dead to the world; it reminds us that it is the live green tree that bears the fruit; it warns us that we have something to do and that we must not lose sight of it. And now we part, some to go to college, some to business, some to employ themselves at home. But wherever we go or whatever we do, let us forget neither our class nor our colors, nor our motto: "No excellence without great labor."

After the orchestra had rendered "Melodies from Robyn's Jacinta," Miss Bulkley, who arrived in this country yesterday morning, spoke a few words of encouragement and welcome to the class. It was the same Miss Bulkley that all had known four years ago and she was given a rousing welcome. Then followed the presentation of diplomas by President Probasco. The graduates in the different courses were:

The General Course—Julia Francoise Bourgeois, Clyde Barrington Burnet, Elizabeth Mott Cahoone, Annie La Rue Carle, Ada Hamilton Clarke, Frank Wilbur Cornwell, Charles Marvin Dolliver, Felix Layat, Mary Grace Steiner and Mildred Titsworth.

The Classical Course—Fred. Chester Gaskill, Charles Anthony Squires and Fred. Squires.

The English Course—Florence May Bowman, Raymond Barnes Carroll, James Hazelwood Craig, Henry Eggerding, Mary Scott Hull, Harriet Isabel King, Minnie Viola Mitchell, Grace Elting Overton, Alden Wagner, Marion Alice Maynard.

The honor pupils were as follows: First honor—Clyde Barrington Burnet, Frank Wilbur Cornwell and Fred. Chester Gaskill. Second honor—Julia Francoise Bourgeois, Florance May Bowman, Elizabeth Mott Cahoone, Charles Marvin Dolliver, Henry Eggerding, Fred. Squires, Mary Grace Steiner and Mildred Titsworth.

Then the orchestra started the inspiring "Handicap March" and Commencement was over. Congratulations was showered on the graduates and prize-winners and an impromptu reception was held on the stage.

During the intervals in the exercises, handsome bouquets and baskets of flowers were handed to the graduates by several lower class men, Arthur Lederer, Paul Kimball and Henry Brower.

—Patrick Ward, of Lee place, who was knocked down by a wagon on West Second street a few days ago, is reported as much improved.

Eli Hill, Lumber City, Pa., writes, "I have been suffering from piles for twenty-five years and thought my case incurable. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve was recommended to me as a pile cure, so I bought a box and it performed a permanent cure." This is only one of thousands of similar cases. Eczema, sores and skin diseases yield quickly when it is used. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

SCHOLARS' TESTIMONIAL.

Pleasant Words to Prof. Boss From Those Whom He Taught.

Last evening when the Commencement exercises of the North Plainfield Public School were being held Principal C. E. Boss remained at home still confined to his bed by illness. But, while the graduating class could not be with their principal on that eventful event, they sent him a letter that showed, even in the excitement of graduating, they had not forgotten all the kindnesses of their principal that had filled their school life. The letter was as follows:

Mr. Chas. E Boss, Dear Principal:—We miss you tonight, and our happiness is lessened by the absence of him to whom we have looked with confidence and respect during the years of our school life. We wish you a speedy return to health, and our prayer is that health, happiness and success may ever attend you.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by continually failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

Wonderful Bargains.

Makers of merchandise had, at the beginning of the season very rosy theories of the amount of goods they could dispose of, and as a result there was an over-production of certain lines of goods, and when the prices have touched bottom that is the time when White of Plainfield jumps in. Quantity does not frighten him when the price is right as their out-let for goods is something wonderful. Think of children's shirts for a cent a piece. Wash goods cut to half what they cost the manufacturer, silk goods for the same price as cotton and so it goes right throughout the store, goods of the right sort at half the usual prices.

NEW MARKET.

Miss Allie Brower, of Pluckamin, is spending a few days with friends in town.

Mrs. Johnson, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Rupell, has returned home to Jutland.

DEMOCRATIC FIELD

Two Aspirants for the Vice-Presidential Nomination.

JOHN R. M'LEAN WANTS THE PLACE

The Ohio Editor Said to Have His Friends at Work — Representative McMillin Also Mentioned for Second Place.

Washington, June 26.—John R. McLean, proprietor of the Cincinnati Enquirer, wants the democratic nomination for the vice-presidency, it is currently reported. Those closest to him assert that a generous campaign contribution would be forthcoming. The convention references to McLean in Ohio, Kentucky and elsewhere are all clearly traceable to the influence of Senator Blackburn and other friends who would not work up a sentiment contrary to McLean's wishes. Any attempt to secure instructions for him for president is designed, it is asserted, merely to head off ex-Gov. Campbell of Ohio, and put McLean in for the second place. His candidacy would represent three ideas: outspoken support of free silver, hostility to Mr. Cleveland and his two administrations, and a big campaign fund. Another prominent candidate for the vice-presidency may be Representative McMillin of Tennessee. This candidacy, some of the democratic leaders assert, is especially likely to materialize if Senator Teller should be accorded the presidential nomination. Mr. McMillan, they say, would be a fitting complement to the ticket since he is the leading advocate of an income tax, which promises to be an issue hardly less a favorite at Chicago than free silver itself. Mr. McMillan is one of the few men in congressional life prominently identified with the low-tariff movement, which would be used to offset Senator Teller's protection record. Like Teller he is for free silver.

OPPOSED TO FUSION.

Attitude of the Populists as Set Forth by Senator Peffer.

Washington, June 26.—Senator Peffer, pop., Kas., left for home last evening. Before starting he said concerning the populist attitude on the presidential campaign: "The recent pronunciamento of a few populist gentlemen at St. Louis, urging the democratic convention to nominate Mr. Teller was, in my judgment, an impertinence and it was treacherous so far as it attempted to speak for the populist party as a whole. These gentlemen spoke without authority from the populist party, and I do not believe the party will sustain them. They had not conferred with the party and had been given no commission to speak for it. Personally I have a high regard for Mr. Teller, but I have no idea that the old party spirit of the democratic organization will be so far relaxed as to bring about his nomination. In any event, I do not think existing conditions warrant populist endorsement of the democratic presidential ticket, even though the nominee is for free silver and the platform contains a positive free-silver declaration. I regard the integrity and perpetuity of the populist party as essential to carrying out the plan of reforms we have espoused. The money question is but one of these. While the democratic convention doubtless will be for free silver, yet it will not be expressive of those other great questions of land tenure and of labor which the populist party regards as vital."

North Carolina for Silver.

Raleigh, N. C., June 26.—The democratic state convention yesterday, which was perhaps the greatest ever held in North Carolina, devoted most of the afternoon to speechmaking and there were scores of declarations for free silver in which two prominent federal officeholders, Revenue Collector Simmons of Raleigh and district attorney R. B. Glenn of Winston, heartily joined. The platform adopted appeals to the people to sustain the Jeffersonian anti-centralization principles; favors independently of other nations free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold without discrimination of either at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1; condemns paying government debts in gold which were specifically made payable in coin and instructs the delegates at Chicago to advocate as a unit for the restoration of silver. The resolutions further declare in favor of a graduated income tax and oppose all monopolies and trusts The resolutions are fervent in their endorsement of the state admistration. A resolution was adopted by the convention extending sympathy to the Cubans struggling for liberty.

Big Stove Works Sold.

Albany, June 26.—The Perry Stove works property on Rensselaer island, just below Albany, was sold yesterday afternoon at the hands of the receiver, Gen. Marvin, to Edgar Peckham of the Rondout Electric Car works, for $25,100. The property sold ought to have brought at least $75,000. It was inventoried at $250,000 and is one of the most thoroughly equipped plants in the country.

Surrounded by Insurgents.

Buluwayo, June 26.—It is officially announced that Fort Charter is surrounded by the insurgents, and that wagons with food supplies for Gwelo have been stopped at Marendella, which has been looted by the enemy, who secured 25,000 rounds of ammunition.

Held for Murder.

Boston, June 26.—John Glennon is held without bail on the charge of murdering Annie Powers. He waived examination and was committed to the Charles street jail.

AS A 4TH OF JULY ORATOR.

Major McKinley in Great Demand—May Speak at Columbus.

Canton, O., June 26.—Major McKinley is in gaeat demand as a 4th of July orator. Invitations have been received asking him to take part in celebrations. Last evening a very strong delegation from Columbus, O., headed by Mayor Allen, called on McKinley and urged him to visit Columbus on the 4th, not as a presidential candidate, but as an old friend among his own people. It is proposed to have an old-fashioned muster and 4th of July celebration and it is expected that a hundred thousand people will go to Columbus to participate in it. Major McKinley is strongly inclined to accept the invitation because it is from the capital of his own state, but he will not make a definite answer until Tuesday next. Preparations are being pushed forward on a vast scale for the entertainment of the Cleveland people, who are coming to participate in the ratification of McKinley's nomination to-morrow. Fifty thousand strangers will be provided for and it will be the largest ratification meeting ever held in this part of the country. Among the callers at the McKinley residence yesterday was Mrs. Robert Peer Fuller of Cheyenne. She told Major McKinley that she would vote for him, and that he would receive the ballot of every woman voter in Wyoming. "The woman of the country like your quality of manhood," said Mrs. Fuller. "It appeals to us all. We believe in you, and you may be sure that the influence of the women of the United States will be exerted in your behalf." Col. Thomas Ochiltree cabled his congratulations from London last evening. Cotton Allen, the democratic mayor of Columbus, said last night that he would vote the republican ticket if the democrats adopted a free silver platform.

CITY OF PHILADELPHIA.

The Missing Ship Was Probably Lost in a Storm on March 22.

New York, June 26.—The mystery of the missing ship City of Philadelphia has probably been solved by the report of the British bark Loch Bredan, which arrived at Liverpool from Iquique. The City of Philadelphia sailed from New York on February 2 for San Francisco with a general cargo, and has never been heard from since she was spoken on March 3, in latitude 14 deg. 56m. south, longitude 34 deg. 10m. west. Sixty guineas premium were paid this week on her insurance. Capt. Connell of the Loch Bredan states on March 21, in latitude 36 south, longitude 40 west, he experienced a heavy gale from north northwest, with a mountainous cross sea, which swept decks, washing everything movable overboard. On the morning of that date he sighted a full-rigged ship, distant two miles, under three lower topsails, rolling heavily. Next morning (Sunday) he sighted her again, the sea getting very dangerous and breaking on board over both sides. During the height of a terrific squall at midday the stranger was seen to lurch over and suddenly disappear, and although the captain of the Loch Bredan went aloft, he was unable to see her again. He describes her as of about 1,400 tons, with a monkey poop. This description tallies with that of the City of Philadelphia, which was of 1,384 tons, and she would naturally be in just about the position specified at the time. The missing ship was built in Bath, Me., in 1875, and was principally owned by Walter F. Hagar of Philadelphia. She carried a crew of thirty men, all told.

NOT A TRUE TESTAMENT.

Decision of the Jury in the Famous Holt Will Contest.

Washington, June 26.—The Holt will case which has been on trial in this city for several weeks, was closed at a late hour yesterday afternoon and at 8 p. m. the jury returned a verdict in favor of the caveators, the effect of which is to set the alleged will aside, or in the words of the decision of the jury, is substantially a declaration that the paper presented for probate is not a true testament. This case has been one of the most interesting of its character that has engaged the attention of the courts here for a very long period. The application for probate has been earnestly urged and as stubbornly resisted as any similar case ever presented in the courts of this district, and able counsel on both sides have fought bitterly in the interests of their respective clients. The verdict has been looked for with more than usual interest in this community. The result leaves the case exactly where it was before a sudden anonymous presentation of the alleged testament reached the office of the register of wills several months ago, and the heirs, who have had a desperate legal fight on their hands, are to-day receiving the congratulations of their friends.

Not Guilty of Bribery.

Columbus, O., June 26.—Last evening the jury returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of the state against ex-state senator L. C. Ohl of Youngstown, charged with offering bribes to influence legislation. The jury was out seven hours.

Mme. Bey Seriously Ill.

PROPOSALS.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION, PLAINFIELD, N. J., June 22d, 1896.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Board of Education of the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, at an adjourned meeting held June 22d, 1896, notice is hereby given that the Board of Education will meet on Monday, June 29th, 1896, at 8 o'clock, p. m., at the Board Room in the High School, corner of West Fifth street and Arlington avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at which time and place said Board of Education will receive sealed proposals for doing the work and furnishing the material in the constuction of the new Lincoln School and for alterations at the Washington, the Franklin, the Bryant Schools as provided in the plans and specifications now on file in the office of the Board in the High School, corner of West Fifth street and Arlington ave., Plainfield, N. J., also proposals for furnishing coal as specified below.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals the Board will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided such parties or agents choose to be then and there present, and also to make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Board.

LINCOLN SCHOOL.

Separate bids will be received for the masonry, carpentry and painting or one bid for the entire work. Plans may be seen at the office of architect Mr. C. P. Karr, 70 Fifth avenue, New York, or obtained at the office of the Board of Education, High School building.

No bid will be considered unless the same is accompanied with a certified check to the order of the "Board of Education of the City of Plainfield," the amount of check in each instance to be as follows: If bid is for entire building, $600; if for mason's contract only $300; if for carpenters contract only, $300; if for painting only $50.

Checks from unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned as soon as the contracts are awarded. Checks from the successful bidder or bidders will be retained until the contract is accepted and bonds furnished.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a satisfactory bond for one-half the amount of his contract, accompanied by two sureties thereto, each surety to qualify to the full amount of the bond.

Each bidder is to state the earliest date at which he will agree to complete the building.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, or to ask for modifications of the same.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL.

Heating, ventilating and repairs in the main building and alteration of the toilet.

Bids may be divided, the ventilating, heating and plumbing being given in one bid, and the carpentry and mason work in another bid, or the bid may cover the whole work.

FRANKLIN AND BRYANT SCHOOLS.

Alteration of the toilet. Bids for each school must be presented separately and include the work complete.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids for work on these three schools or to ask for modifications of the same.

COAL.

350 tons (more or less) of the best coal suitable for steam and hot air heating, in pea, No. 1, chestnut and egg sizes.

All coal to be thoroughly screened and placed, and trimmed in the bins within the public school buildings without any extra expense to the board for such handling, and to be delivered at such time as the Board may direct.

Bids to specify the quality of coal and whether long or short tons.

Payment for all coal contracted for to be made after September 1st, next.

All proposals to be endorsed "Proposals for Coal."

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

By order of the Board,

PUBLIC NOTICE!

The subscriber hereby gives notice to al concerned that Section 8 of the City Ordinance concerning encroachments on streets and sidewalks requires all trees standing along the public streets, whose branches extend over sidewalks or roadways, to be trimmed from the main trunk to a height not less than ten feet from the surface of the ground so as to prevent injury to the public health, impediment to travel, and obstruction to street lights, unless the Street Commissioner shall otherwise direct or permit. The Street Commissioner is further required to see that the ordinance is carried into effect. In the discharge of that duty, the subscriber now gives notice to property owners to comply with the ordinance referred to, and in that default of compliance therewith, the work will be done by the city at the expense of the property owners.

Dated, June 22d, 1896.

Get all You can

Some say that the hypophosphites alone are sufficient to prevent and cure consumption, if taken in time. Without doubt they exert great good in the beginning stages; they improve the appetite, promote digestion, and tone up the nervous system. But they lack the peculiar medicinal properties and the fat found in cod-liver oil. The hypophosphites are valuable, and the cod-liver oil is valuable.

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites contains both of these in the most desirable form. The oil is thoroughly emulsified; that is, partly digested. Sensitive stomachs can bear an emulsion when the raw oil cannot be retained. As the hypophosphites, the medicinal agents in the oil, and the fat itself are each good, why not have the benefit of all?

SCOTT'S EMULSION has been indorsed by the medical profession for twenty years. (Ask your doctor.) This is because it is always palatable—always uniform—always contains the purest Norwegian Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

Put up in 50 cent and $1.00 sizes. The small size may be enough to cure your cough or help your baby. All druggists.

Delicate Dress Goods.

Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable. NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redyeing. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? Laundry drivers will receive your work.

THE PROTOCAL OF '77

Spanish Senate Rejects the Motion To Denounce It.

44 MEMBERS AGAINST THE TREATY

The Subject Brought Up During Discussion of the Competitor Incident—History of the Agreement Between United States and Spain.

Madrid, June 26.—The senate by a vote of 88 to 44 has rejected the motion made by Senator Comas last Monday, during the discussion of the Competitor incident, providing for an amendment to the royal address demanding the protocol of 1877 with the United States be denounced in view of the inequality of the rights of Spanish and American citizens under present conditions.

The reference is to a protocol signed on January 12, 1877, between Caleb Cushing, minister of the United States, and Don Fernando Calderon y Collantes, Spanish minister of justice, and relating to the trial of American citizens by Spanish tribunals. In the chamber of deputies, the same year, Senor Collantes gave his understanding of treaty and protocol to be that the guarantee of trial of Americans by the ordinary tribunals did not extend to Americans "captured with arms in hands," who, he maintained, might be tried by "exceptional tribunals." It was under such interpretation of the protocol that the Americans captured in the Competitor expedition last May were tried by court-martial and condemned to death. Secretary Olney protested and demanded a civil trial for the accused men, under both the protocol of 1877 and the original treaty of 1795. It is doubtless the friction growing out of these rival interpretations of the protocol which has led to this effort to denounce it.

Newspaper Correspondent Expelled.

Havana, June 26.—A man named Jimenez, said to be a Venezuelan and a companion of Thomas R. Dawley, the American artist, who was recently arrested and subsequently released, has been detained on the charge of taking photographs of the defenses composing the military line across the province of Pinar del Rio. W. W. Gay, a correspondent of the New York World, was notified last night that he would be expelled from the island and must leave Cuba on the first steamer. Gay will leave the city to-morrow.

Yellow Fever Very Prevalent in Cuba.

Washington, June 26.—The marine hospital service is advised that yellow fever is very prevalent in the island of Cuba, but not particularly bad in the city of Havana itself.

MODERN PRIZE FIGHTING.

"Denver Ed" Smith Starts in To Whip Corbett in the Up-to-Date Style.

New York, June 26.—In an interview with a representative of the United Press last night "Denver Ed" Smith, speaking of the Corbett-Sharkey fight, said: "I knew Corbett was overated and is only a newspaper fighter. I have been after him for years, but he has made all kinds of excuses, saying among other things that I am a second-rater. Corbett's class must now be a tenth-rater, if I am a second-rater, when he could not lick a novice like Sharkey. If Corbett don't cover my money and will make a match with Sharkey it shows he is afraid to fight me. And should they fight they cannot fight for the championship unless they meet me as my money is up and, under the rules of the ring, I am the champion pugilist of the world. I will meet Corbett anywhere or any place and will fight him with bare knuckles or gloves. Now, if he is a man and not a coward, let him show the public that he will fight and I will guarantee to punch his big head off. I would also like to have a few rounds with Tom Sharkey, either in the Madison Square Garden or California, to show the admirers of boxing that I am a better man than Corbett."

State Contracts Awarded.

Albany, June 26.—State Superintendent of Public Works Aldridge has awarded the following contracts: For iron bridge over the Black river at Carthage, substructure, to Dunfee, Belden & Co., Syracuse, for $4,916; superstructure, Buffalo Bridge & Iron works, for $15,170. Reconstructing west abutment of bridge No. 210 over Clark and Skinner canal, Buffalo, to Dodge & MacGregor, Buffalo, for $3,293.90.

Secrecy of the Confessional Upheld.

Montreal, June 26.—The court of appeals has unanimously reversed Justice Lynch's decision in the case of Bouchard vs. Gill, and upheld the Rev. Father Gill in his refusal to answer certain questions in respect to what had passed between him and one of his parishoners during confession.

Sailboat Picked Up at Sea.

Philadelphia, June 26.—Steamer Berks from Newburyport reports that on June 22, ten miles southeast of Fire Island, picked up small sailboat which was floating bottom up and found her to be the Rambler, with no hailing port. Her mast and sail were gone. Anchor and main sheet were in boat.

Tremblie Escapes the Guillotine.

Paris, June, 26.—The sentence of death passed at Douai upon the Frenchman Raoul Tremblie, who was convicted of the murder in Buenos Ayres of another Frenchman, named Francois Farbes, has been commuted to penal servitude for life.

The Japanese Tidal Wave.

Yokohama, June 26.—It is now stated that 27,000 persons were drowned and 8,000 were injured during the recent tidal wave and earthquakes in the northern provinces of Japan.

DEATH OF LYMAN TRUMBULL.

Brilliant Career of the Late United States Senator.

Chicago, June 26.—Lyman Trumbull, former United States senator, who died at his home in this city yesterday, was born in Colchester, New London county, Conn., in 1813. For more than sixty years his had been a life of ceaseless activity. He had been school teacher, lawyer, judge. He had played his part in politics—on the stump, in the halls of congress, in the deliberations of parties and as a non-combatant counsellor. In the beginning he was an anti-slavery democrat. As a republican he fought side by side with the immortal Lincoln and the men who founded the republican party of to-day. Then his party, as he thought, departed from its true mission and followed a line his conscience would not indorse. Resolutely he turned his back on his former associations and became a democrat. In the latter years of his life he parted company with that party. He took such a ground against the extension of power of the United States courts that he became the hope of the populists and, in a sense, their counsellor. Judge Trumbull's last appearance in a court room was made as counsel for the American Railway union officers before the supreme court at Washington. Judge Trumbull was twice married. His first wife was Julia Maria Jayne of Springfield, to whom he was wedded in 1843. She died in Washington in 1868. In 1887 he married Mary J. Ingraham of Saybrook, Conn.

LETTER FROM CLARA BARTON.

Relief Work Appreciated and Aided by the Turks.

Washington, June 26.—Miss Clara Barton, who has charge of the Red Cross relief work in Armenia, writes an interesting letter to a friend in this city under date of Constantinople, June 10, from which the following excerpts are taken: "I am glad to report that no obstructions are placed in the way of our men, and that they are regarded with favor and respect by all parties and persons with whom they come in contact. Physicians are few in these regions and medical skill at a very low ebb, and Dr. Hubbelll and his medical assistants have been called upon to treat in the families of the officials since leaving Alexandria. Their presence has been a great comfort to the missionaries stationed at the various points, most of whom had seen no visitors since the massacres. The co-operation and assistance has been mutual and most hearty. We hear only kind words and blessings on every side. The government here has neglected no opportunity of doing any favor which has been asked of it, both kindly and promptly. With the exception of poor Mrs. Mason, the health of every one of us has been excellent."

ORDERED TO RETIRE.

British Surveyors Must Not Resist Determined Opposition from Venezuelans.

Kingston, Jamaica, June 26.—According to advices received here from Georgetown, British Guiana, an armed police force has been dispatched to Acarabisci for the purpose of protecting the Brithish surveyors, who, while engaged in opening a road from Barima to the Cuyuni river, were stopped by a body of Venezuelans and their leader, Crown Surveyor Harrison, arrested. An endeavor will be made to continue the survey, but the party have been instructed to retire should determined opposition be met with.

LYNCHING FEARED.

The Tramps Who Murdered a Minnesota Sheriff Captured.

St. Paul, Minn., June 26.—The tramps who murdered Sheriff Rodgers near Arlington, Minn., Wednesday have been captured and are on their way to Glenco. A company of militia has been ordered on guard there, as a lynching is feared if the prisoners reach Glencoe,

After an Arctic Expedition.

FREE SILVER ISSUE

Big Meeting of the White Metal Advocates in New York City.

TILLMAN ONE OF THE SPEAKERS

Resolutions Demanding the Adoption of a Free Silver Plank by the Democratic National Convention at Chicago Adopted.

New York, June 26.—The silver mass meeting at Cooper Union last night filled the large auditorium and all the available standing room was occupied. The audience was enthusiastic and applauded loudly every time an opportunity offered itself. Senator Benjamin F. Tillman of South Carolina occupied a prominent place on the platform and was cheered lustily when he entered the auditorium a few minutes before 8 o'clock. George P. Keeney, general organizer of the American silver organization, presided. There were several speakers including Senator Bixby and Hon. Alexander Delmar, and then Senator Tillman stepped to the front of the platform. It took several minutes for the vast crowd in the auditorium to to get through cheering when Tillman was introduced. It was after 9 o'clock when the senator began speaking, and by this time the aisles were so full of standing people that it was difficult for one to get out and in. "Three cheers for the man with a pitchfork," yelled a man in the audience. The senator said he came from a part of the country from which many believed no good could come. Notwithstanding this he had received a welcome that touched him deeply. He began by paying his respects to the newspapers. He said that the night would give an opportunity to show the members of the audience that the newspapers were unconscionable liars. The owners of the newspapers, he said, were prostitutes of journalism, and not a paper in New York would dare to print his speech in full. The speaker said that although he had been much talked about and lied about, he had written his name on a page of South Carolina history in such a way that it would remain there always. Coming to the money question, he said: "If the Chicago convention does not give us democracy and return to the faith of Washington and Jefferson I will have nothing to do with it afterwards. The money question is up and has got to be settled. It is as important as was the slavery question, and if enough of you can get together to reverse the verdict of the two millionaire conventions you will deserve the thanks of the whole country." The senator said that if he were on the senate committee investigating the recent bond sale he would ask President Cleveland why he made the private contract to sell bonds at 104½ per cent. when they were selling on the public market at 117. The senator then talked about unemployed labor, which, he said, was a lever by which those employed were ground down to low wages. "You see on your own street car lines," he continued, "cars labeled U. S. Mail. Those cars don't carry any mail. They are on there so the car lines can claim the protection of the United States troops in case of a strike." Senator Tillman characterized John Sherman of Ohio as the high priest of Mammon and the joint owner with Hanna of McKinley. The speaker said as he sat down: "America for Americans and to hell with England and all other countries." Resolutions demanding the free coinage of silver were then adopted and that William P. St. John be requested, with a committee, which the chair shall appoint, to attended the national democratic convention and urge the incorporation of the free silver demands in the platform of the national democracy.

THE HENLEY REGATTA.

Yale the Fifth American Crew That Has Entered the Races.

London, June 26.—The Yale crew yesterday received a dispatch from the Harvard class of '71, on the occasion of the 25th anniversary of the class, expressing best wishes for the success of the crew. The Yale team is the fifth American crew that has visited Henley. Last year, it will be remembered, Cornell crew took part in the regatta. In 1888 another Cornell crew visited Henley. In 1878 Columbia university sent a four, who captured the Visitors' Challenge cup. The first visit of all was that of Harvard, who sent a four in 1869. Columbia is the only American university that has won a prize at Henley.

Denied by Secretary Carlisle.

Washington, June 26.—The statement sent out from Kalamazoo, Mich., giving the substance of an interview with H. H. Smith, in which he is quoted as saying that Secretary Carlisle told him last winter that he (Carlisle) would vote for the republican candidate in case the democrats nominated a free silver platform, is denied by Secretary Carlisle.

SPORTS

FRIDAY, June 26. Sun rises 4:29 a. m., sets 7:34 p. m. Lanterns must be lighted between 8:34 p. m. and 3:29 a. m.

Cyclists desiring to join the League of American Wheelmen will be furnished with application blanks and necessary information by addressing the Cycling Department of the Daily Press.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Miss M. G. Morse, of Franklin place, has just received a Crescent wheel.

The F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company received a Dayton combination tandem yesterday.

There will be a short bicycle run tonight by the young people of Trinity Reformed church. The start will be made from in front of the church.

The fifth annual race meet of the Tourist Cycle Club, of Paterson, will be held at Tourist Oval, their new one-third mile track, July 3d and 4th. The first day's racing will consist of a one mile novice, one mile open, two-mile handicap, two-thirds mile open, one mile tandem and three-mile club handicap. On the second day there will be a one mile novice, one mile open, one mile handicap, one-third mile open, two-mile tandem handicap, five-mile handicap and one mile city championship. The prizes consist of diamonds, all of which are guaranteed to be of full value. There will also be a special prize, a $35 diamond, which will be given to the racer making the fastest time, under 2:15, during the meet. The entries closed at noon today.

INS AND OUTS.

Jones, of the "Old" Crescents, will catch for the Flemingtons in their game with the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday. W. McLaughlin will pitch.

The ball game between the Plainfield A. C. and the Westfield Y.M.C.A. tomorrow at Westfield, will no doubt be very interesting as each team has won one game each. Game called at 3:45 sharp.

Remember that on the morning of the Fourth a great game of baseball will be played on the Y. M. C. A. ball grounds between the bachelors and benedicts of the Park Club. It will be worth going miles to see Mayor Hegeman umpire the game.

There will be great playing on the Barnaby golf grounds on the afternoon of July 4th, and there will probably be a display of pyrotechnics in the evening. The arrangements are not yet quite complete, and additional particulars will be given out within a few days.

WITH ROD AND GUN.

Fred Firstbrook and Frank Marsh spent yesterday angling at Bound Brook. No one outside of themselves know how many fish they caught, but it is safe to say they could carry them all home without help.

Acquitted Himself Creditably.

For the first time for many years the music at the commencement exercises was given under the charge of a local musician. P. Ludwig Conde was the one to be thus specially distinguished and the music last night compared very favorably with that of previous years. The choice of selections was excellent and all were given with a spirit and dash that greatly pleased those who heard them. Now that a Plainfielder has demonstrated his ability to furnish as good music as New York leaders, the contract will probably remain here in the future.

—Danced the Night Away.

An enjoyable festival and dance was held in Central Hall last night by Iona Council, D. of P. There was a large attendance in spite of the storm. Dancing was the feature of the evening and continued until about 3 o'clock this morning. Prof. Guttman furnished the music. Those in charge were: Mrs. Edward Bowman and Mrs. D. C. Allen, waitresses; Mrs. R. Mattis, tickets; Mrs. Horton, soda water; Mrs. H. W. Angleman, ice cream and cake; Miss Kate Cortwright, flower booth.

POWER OF KNOWLEDGE.

retard the school's advancement. As a friend and neighbor he is loved by all as well as by those connected with the school. We all wish for him a happy and successful future in whatever field he may be called. I also regret to say that we are to lose Miss Cutler, a faithful teacher of the graduating class. It is a serious loss. She was industrious and effective. We wish her God-speed, also the other teachers who will probably leave us." Mr. McCutchen then announced that A. D. Warde had been secured as principal, and that he will take up the good work where Mr. Boss left it. He asked for the co-operation of all the people with Mr. Warde in his work. Continuing the president made a few remarks to the graduates, after which he presented diplomas to them as follows:

James Kneringer Arnold, Jr., Chas. Barlow, Mabel Margarette Conover, Edith Haviland Cooley, Achsah Wagoner Holmes, Sara Vosseller Holmes, Josephine Elizabeth Joseph, Adele Hope Kirby, Lydie Evodie Loizeaux, William Samuel Loizeaux, Nellie May Martin, William Ellsworth Pearson, Bertha May Stevens, Emma Lois Stevens, John Henry VanWinkle, Jr., Thomas Rowland Western.

The decorations at the chapel consisted of a neat arrangement of evergreens over the platform, in the centre of which the words "Class of '96" were placed. The class motto is "Soar Not too High to Fall, but Stoop to Rise." The singing by the scholars of "Auf Wiedersehn" brought to a close the happy event.

To Make a Fine Store Front.

Ed White, the enterprising proprietor of White's department store on West Front street, has arranged for improvements to his present store. An entire new front is to be put in the store at once and probably be completed by July 4th. Instead of the two entrances, as at present, there will be one large one in the centre with large show windows on either side. B. R. Cain has the contract for the carpenter work, Wm. C. Smith is to do the mason work, and Wm. T. Kirk furnishes the iron.

Pay Only to Authorized Persons.

Of late, reports have come to Adjutant Taylor, who is in charge at the Salvation Army, that certain persons have been collecting money from Plainfield people for the Army who have no authority to do so. He desires to warn the people against their giving money to anyone except those who are authorized and they will carry proper credentials which should be asked for. Adjutant Taylor will give receipts to all donors of $1 or over.

Testimony Concluded.

Ex-Mayor John H. VanWinkle, special master, has concluded the taking of testimony which has occupied his attention for several days in the partition matter, in which Oscar W. Ulrich is complainant and Mabel Conlanson and others are defendants. The report was concluded yesterday.

Society on the Trolley.

A company of twenty young people, living in the vicinity of East Sixth street, will enjoy a trolley ride next Tuesday evening, after which they will have a dance at the home of one of the party.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Charles Wakefield, of Somerset place, is confined to his home with illness.

Miss May Woodruff, of New York, is the guest of Miss Ida Angleman, of West Front street.

Fred Barker, of the New York and New Jersey Telephone company, is ill at his apartments on North avenue.

Peter B. Hodge, of Plainfield avenue, returned to his duties at Randolph's pharmacy this morning after an absence caused by illness.

—Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., will hold a regular meeting tonight, and officers will be elected for the next term.

VACATION IS AT HAND.

CLOSING EXERCISES OF ST. MARY'S PAROCHIAL SCHOOL LAST NIGHT.

The Building Filled With Friends of the Graduates—Father Murphy's Words of Admiration and of Advice.

The annual closing exercises of St. Mary's Parochial School, held last evening in the school hall, marked the passing of another milestone in the successful history of the institution. Notwithstanding the fact that the weather was exceedingly unfavorable, the hall was filled to its utmost capacity with parents and friends who greatly enjoyed the well selected programme.

The first selection was an overture, "Aurora," by Miss Katy Quinn, piano, and Miss Alice, violin. The rendition was heartily applauded for its excellence. The salutatory was then given by Miss Mary Smith one of the two graduates. A portion of it follows:

"We welcome you tonight to our hall. I look back to where others stood, where I am standing tonight, when I thought my time would never come. Your presence gladdens our hearts as we give our parting words. To you, my companions, I say farewell, and to you, our teachers, whose tender and loving lives have taught as much, we say farewell. We say farewell to all those pleasant school hours and associations, and turn our eyes to the future and hope that we may prosper. To you, our friends, we extend cordial greeting and we hope that our labor has not been in vain."

The address was heartily received by all, and it was a most excellent composition in every particular. This was followed by a song, "Sleep, Dolly Darling," by the "Tiny Tot Girls;" a recitation, "The Brook," by pupils of the senior classes; and a song, "Pretty Bobolink," by a chorus of girls from the school. Each number was finely rendered and received hearty applause. One of the best numbers was a recitation, "Bernado del Carpio," by Lawrence Doyle. It was given in a masterly manner and won great admiration from those present.

The first part of the programme closed with a chorus, "The Terrible Tale," by "The Tinny Tot Boys;" a recitation, "Rock of Ages," by Miss Eleana Barelle; and a chorus, "'Tis a Race with the Sea Gulls," by the boys of the grammar department.

Part second opened with several well rendered selections by the St. Mary's Fife and Drum Corps. Their playing was exceedingly creditable. A pleasing number followed. It was a concert recitation, "The Angels of Beuna Vista," by the senior class. It was marked by unison and excellence. A vocal solo, "Ave Maria," by Miss Elizabeth Day, accompanied by Miss Katy Quinn, piano; Miss Alice Quinn, violin, and Miss Ellen Kelly, organist, won hearty approbation. An amusing number followed entitled, A Scene from School Life—The Strike, by pupils of the primary department. The young scholars came together and selected a chairman, after which they discussed humorously their grievance, which was shorter hours. Some wanted the latter, while others desired longer hours. The sketch was laughable and brought down the house at times when bright remarks were made by the little ones. "The Bells" was then rendered by a chorus in a commendable manner. Rev. Father Murphy then stepped to the platform and spoke in part as follows:

"I want to thank you all for coming tonight. I am particularly well pleased with the work of the school for the past year, especially for three reasons. First, It is the duty of each scholar to uphold the honor of the school and parish, and during the year all have behaved well. No complaints have been received regarding the scholars. Secondly, The scholars have advanced well in their studies. The questions for examinations were all selected at the Mother House, at Madison, and were not opened till examination time. This was a new departure and the scholars passed their examinations in a very creditable manner. Thirdly, I am particularly proud of the school as regards morality. The scholars attend mass very well, and only in a few exceptions have the children been absent. I desire to thank all for the hearty cooperation given, and I congratulate you all on your success."

At this time Father Murphy announced that those in charge of the Mother House, in Madison, have offered a scholararship free for competition to all the school children in this diocese. The scholarship includes a four years course with board and tuition free. Father Murphy hoped that someone in the Plainfield school would secure the scholarship. The examinations will be held this summer.

Miss Mary Smith and Miss Anna O'Keeffe, the two graduates, were then presented by Father Murphy with their diplomas, and each also received a gold medal. The following received honorable mention for excellence:

First grammar—Mary Doll, Josephine Murphy; second grammar—Lawrence Doyle, Anna Ryan, Josephine Walsh; third grammar—Harry Shannon, M. Owens, Elizabeth Corrigan, Mary Callahan; fourth grammar—Julia Lutz, Thomas Mack, Josephine Birmingham, Martin Muldowney; fifth grammar—Mary Brady, John Callahan, Mary Hammond, Ellen Cooney, Mary Whalen, Charles McCann, Loretta Flanagan, Catherine Muldowney, Sarah Hahrahan, Master Monsell; first primary—Catherine Kelly, Margaret Higgins, Martha Lutz; second primary—Ellen Hanrahan, Sarah Barelle; third primary—Margaret Kane, Margaret Bray, Margaret Lutz, Anna Casey, Wm Owens, Martin Flatley, Albert Ayers, J. Kyle; fourth primary—Henry Roche, Joseph McCauley, Frances Hepner, James Buckley, Beatrice Young, Ada Flatley, Elizabeth Young, May Huntington, Rosa McDevitt; fifth primary—James Motley, Martin Walsh, Geo. Fosbre, Ed Carty, Mary Kiely, Catherine Powers; sixth grammar—Charles Townley, Madeline Sutton; sewing class—Margaret O'Keefe, Mary Smith, Josephine Birmingham, Elizabeth V. Day, Anna Daley, Elizabeth T. Day.

Miss Anna O'Keeffe, the second graduate, then delivered her essay on "Education." It was a finely prepared article and was very well given. It spoke of the value, necessity and fundamental principles of education. Both graduates were the recipients of large baskets of flowers from their friends The next number was the singing of "Excelsior," by the chorus. The closing selection was entitled "Home Circle," and was rendered by the Misses Quinn on the piano and violin.

The exercises being concluded, all left for their homes thoroughly well pleased, with the programme presented.

Those who served as ushers were: Fred Hughes, Michael Mack, C. Guinee, M. Owens and M. Higgins.

If it required an annual outlay of $100.00 to insure a family against any serious consequences from an attack of bowel complaint during the year there are many who would feel it their duty to pay it; that they could not afford to risk their lives, and those of their family for such an amount. Any one can get this insurance for 25 cents that being the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. One or two doses of this remedy will cure any ordinary case. It never fails. Can you afford to take the risk for so small an amount? For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

Whiskey Got Him in Trouble.

J. Cowvitz, of Elm place, got into trouble yesterday afternoon. He drank too freely and as a result became disorderly. While in this condition he attempted to break in the house of Edward Schenck on Chatham street. The neighbors discovered him and notified Street Commissioner Emmons who went to the place and arrested Cowvitz. He was placed in the lockup and this morning Judge Crosley presented him with a souvenir in the shape of thirty days which he will enjoy at Somerville.

Struck by a Train.

Peter Brady, of Bound Brook, aged twenty-two years, who is employed on the P. & R. railroad as switch-tender, was struck by an engine about 1 o'clock this morning at the above place, while in the performance of his duty. He received a lacerated wound in the head and a contused wound in the side and back. He was brought to the hospital, where he is now under treatment. It is thought that he will recover.

Preparing for a Campaign.

The leading Republicans of the State will have a big time at the Hotel Brunswick, Asbury Park, today, when a banquet will be enjoyed and campaign plans laid. Among those that expect to be present from this city are Assemblymen Codington and Reed, City Judge DeMeza and Sheriff Kyte.

Have You Got a Place for Them?

The lady managers of the Children's Home are anxious to find a place in the country for four boys, ranging in age from 10 to 14 years, where they can remain through July and August and assist in doing chores and light work.

Now it is Prideville.

ASK A YEARLY RENTAL.

CONCESSIONS UNDER WHICH THE TROLLEY CAN HUM IN DUNELLEN.

The Railway Company Only Want to Comply With the State Statutes, But the Dunellen Council Want Other Conditions

Speaking of the proposition to extend the trolley road into Dunellen, The Call of that place has the following to say concerning the Council's side of the affair:

The trolley officials were given to understand that if they would accept a franchise on the south side of North avenue from the borough line to the station park and leave the macadam alone they would get it without cost, but they said "we will have the centre of the road or nothing." Then they made application for a franchise through the centre of the street and agreed for the privilege, to put the road between the tracks and eighteen inches each side in good order, leaving the balance, after they had established the grade, for the council to repair as they saw fit. When they were advised of the resolutions adopted they replied that they could only accept a franchise with such restrictions as are imposed by statute. Here the matter rests.

We must admit that the extension of the trolley road through the borough would be a good thing for the place. We want it and the sooner it comes the better. Now are we willing to give away a franchise that becomes more valuable each year without any restrictions except those imposed by law? We answer decidedly, No! The privilege is worth something to the company and we ought to receive a fair and equitable compensation. Now comes the question as to what would be just and right.

Do the citizens of Dunellen think that eight round trips per day for one passenger would be an exorbitant sum to exact from the company for a franchise that will become more and more valuable as the years roll on? This amount in round numbers would be $300 per year, and we venture the opinion that upon this basis as a yearly rental a franchise could be obtained from the present Council through the centre of North avenue from boundary to boundary in only the necessary length of time to pass the ordinance.

This may be too much or too little, but we believe that upon the basis of a yearly rental is the only way a franchise should be granted and let the Borough Council repair its own streets.

Let the trolley company present an ordinance upon the above terms and see what disposition would be made of it.

MIRTH AND MUSIC.

Baptist Boys' Brigade to Close the Season With an Entertainment.

The Baptist Boys' Brigade of the First Baptist church, known as Co. B, Third Regt., are to close their drill season with an entertainment of a unique character on Tuesday evening next at 8:15 o'clock.

The programme will consist of selections on the phonograph by H F Ingalls, of Montclair, who has given entertainments before in this neighborhood and, therefore, needs no commendatory words. Suffice it to say that he is up-to-date in everything he handles, his instrument being of the finest, while his "Records" have been selected with judicious care from the large stock at Thomas Edison's Labratory in Orange. They will consist of mirth and music. The members of the company are promising some little relief to the programme by some original representations. Admission 25 cents, children under twelve years, 15 cents. All this is to help the boys get their uniforms.

Billy's Change of Menu.

John Shroope, of Jackson avenue, is a humanitarian. John owns a horse and to protect the equine from the ravages of a persistent army of flies, he purchased a leather fly net to cover the steed. Besides being a humanitarian, John is also the father of a bright young lad, and to please the youngster he bought a goat a short time since. The voracious maw of the goat is well known, and when the leather fly net was laid upon the barn floor, and the chinwhiskered stabled in the same quarters, there was bound to be devastation of some kind. Billy saw the thin strips of leather. They provided a little variation to Billy's usual menu of tin cans and so the leather fly net soon reposed in the animal's stomach.

Mothers will find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy especially valuable for and whooping cough. It will give prompt relief and is safe and pleasant. We have sold it for several years and it has never failed to give the most perfect satisfaction. G. W. Richards, Duquesne, Pa. Sold by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

THE ALUMNI RECEPTION

PLEASANT TIME AFFORDED NORTH PLAINFIELD GRADUATES.

Resolutions Passed Regretting the Resignation of C. E. Boss From the Principalship of the Borough Public School.

On Thursday evening sixteen young people completed the school course prescribed by the North Plainfield authorities and last evening those same sixteen graduates attended their first meeting of the Alumni Association which was given in their honor. Business came first, then an entertainment and the alumni reception closed with a dance that lasted far into the morning.

When the guests assembled in the school house, they found it far different from its usual appearance. The reception was held in the second floor and from the class rooms there all the desks had been removed. The large folding doors had been opened wide, making one large hall. The four front class rooms made up the dancing hall, while the other two rooms were arranged as drawing rooms, with chairs, rugs, banquet lamps, and other little decorations.

The sudden shower early in the evening made the crowd late in coming and it was not until 9 o'clock that President Clarence L. Murphy stepped to the front of the room and called the annual meeting of the alumni association to order. John McLaughlin acted in the place of Secretary Robt M. Clark, until he arrived later in the evening, and called the roll. The minutes of the last meeting were read. Treasurer Frank J. Blatz was unable to make a report as he had not heard from all financial matters.

Stacy Raynolds, the nominating committee, then made his report and nominated the following officers, who were unanimously elected: President, Harry L. McGee; first vice-president, second vice-president, Miss Nora Williams; secretary, Henry B. Drake; treasurer, Frank J. Blatz.

Each member of the graduating class and the alumni, had pleasant memories of their old principal, Chas. E. Boss, and it seemed to be the general wish that some expression should be made of the sorrow the alumni felt in his departure. Paul Loizeaux, after a long speech, presented a resolution which was adopted. John McLaughlin then introduced the following resolution.

Whereas: Mr. Chas. E. Boss, Principal of the North Plainfield Public School, has tendered his resignation of the position which he has so ably and efficiently filled during the past fourteen years, to take effect at the close of the present school year, and

Whereas: Mr. Chas. E. Boss, has with so much personal love for his task performed his duties to the satisfaction of the inhabitants of North Plainfield, and left in the hearts of his scholars, the present Alumni, a deep and loving affection, which is now enhanced by his unexpected and unfortunate resignation, and

Whereas: The Alumni and many future members of the Alumni, feel that his loss is personal to them, as well as the loss of a just and capable leader of growing minds in the community, therefore be it

Resolved, That we the Alumni Association of the Public School of the Borough of North Plainfield, N. J., extend to Mr. Chas. E. Boss, our hearty sympathy in his unfortunate withdrawal from the midst of us, and also extend to him the assurance of our affection for him as our instructor, and our loving gratitude to him for his supervision during the days of our apprenticeship in the branches of knowledge, and be it also

Resolved, That these resolutions be inscribed and filed in the minutes of this Association, and a copy thereof be presented to Mr. Chas. E. Boss, by a committee chosen from the members of this Association.

They were unanimously accepted.

President Murphy then addressed a few remarks to the graduates telling something of the association and its objects and welcoming them into it.

This ended the business session.

The programme opened with a selection by a quartette from the class of '96, who sang a class song written for the occasion by Miss Adele Kirby. The music for it was composed by Prof. Carpenter. The Lotos Glee Club, Plainfield's flourishing musical organization, was present and gave a selection as the next number on the programme. It was well received and the club responded with an encore. A well rendered piano solo by Miss Maud French followed and then came a recitation, "Lasca," by Miss Grace E. Overton. The selection was a thrilling one and Miss Overton gave it so that her audience could fairly see every incident she pictured. In answer to the prolonged applause, she gave a witty little selection as an encore. After another pleasing glee by the Lotus Glee Club, the Misses Carroll sang a pretty duet. The programme closed with another selection by the Glee Club.

After a little interval, an inspiring two-step was played and the dance had begun. The floor had been waxed for the occasion and was soon in fine condition. Waltz and two-step alternated, while once in a while the lancers were danced.

As midnight approached there was a cessation of dancing and all enjoyed the refreshments that were passed by the young men. Again the orchestra struck up, and it was not until after 2 o'clock that "Home, Sweet Home" was played. Then those that remained gathered around the piano, and led by the remaining members of the Glee Club and our jolly William N. Runyon, the "Quilting Party," "Good Night, Ladies," and several of the latest popular songs, sounded sweet on the night air.

Prof. Warde, the new principal, was present at the reception and made the acquaintance of a number of the alumni. The success of the reception was due in a large measure to the work of the committees. The entertainment committee was composed of Stacy Raynolds, chairman, Miss Alice Needham and Robert M. Clark. The refreshments were looked after by a committee composed of Miss Alice Carroll and John McLaughlin. The hall was tastefully decorated with yellow and white bunting. This part was done by a committee of which Miss Bertha Needham was chairman.

HAPPY APPLICATION OF WIT.

James E. Martine Turns the Tables on a Jollying Republican.

By way of Uncle Sam's postal service, yesterday, Farmer James E. Martine received an envelope in which was enclosed a McKinley and Hobart campaign button. Now what use the Farmer Orator could have for a Republican campaign emblem would puzzle even Abe Slupsky, the St. Louis sage. Naturally, Mr. Martine concluded that some frolicsome G. O. Pite was indulging in a little jollying, but to turn the laugh on Farmer Jim is no easy matter. Unfortunately for the sender, the button possessed nothing by which it could be attached to the coat—it was just the mere shell containing the pictures of McKinley and Hobart, and thereby hangs the tale by which Mr. Martine turned the tables. Mr. Martine skirmished around among his friends and found that the address on the envelope very much resembled the chirography of Charles J. Fisk. Here is the letter that Mr. Martine indicted to Mr. Fisk this morning:

To the Hon. Charles J. Fisk.

My Dear Jir:—The enclosed button came to me in an anonymous letter. My friends say the handwriting is unmistakbly yours. Permit me to return the same, as it is of no value to me. There is no base to the button, also pin usually attached missing. It is but a shell—in this a fit and true emblem of the doctrine of protection, which your party would teach. With sincerest sympathy for your misguided intellect, I am

Very respectfully yours,
J. E. Martine.

UNION BIBLE CLASS.

Rev. D. M. Stearns Will Probably Organize One Here in September.

Rev. D. M. Stearns, pastor of the Reformed Episcopal church, Germantown, Pa., has, upon the earnest solicitation of a number of Bible students in this city, consented to come to this city and organize and conduct a Bible class. The date he has set for the organization of the class is September 7th, and it is his calculation to have sessions every two weeks. Membership in the class will not be confined to any one denomination but will be open to all who care to take up the study of the Bible. Rev. Mr. Stearns is one of the best known Bible instructors in the country and now has a number of classes throughout this section of the country. The membership of his classes ranges from 350 to 50.

Knights of Pythias Elect.

An important meeting of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., was held last evening. The officers for the ensuing term were elected as follows: Master of work, Louis Mohring; chancellor commander, Thomas Milligan; vice-chancellor, Robert Jackson; prelate, Edwin Mackey; master at arms, William Young; inner guard, Robert Kenney; outer guard, James Armstrong; trustee, for six months, Jos. C. Blimm; trustee, for balance of term, J. E. Flannery. The officers will be installed next Friday evening.

Dr. Russell to Preach.

Rev. Frank Russell, D. D. of the South Congregational church, Bridgeport, Conn, is to preach in the Congregational church in this city tomorrow morning in exchange with the pastor. Dr. Russell is a very able and interesting speaker and is widely known through his connection with the Church Alliance movement and the lectures he has given at various colleges and seminaries.

—The case of Charles Fry, for being disorderly, was adjourned for one week in the city court this morning.

SHE WANTED HER MONEY

INSTEAD OF GETTING IT SHE WAS BEATEN AND CALLED NAMES.

A Quarrel on West Fourth Street Over a Debt is Carried to the City Court and Much Lively Testimony is Given.

Fifty dollars has managed to stir up quite a rumpus on West Fourth street. The money in question was lent by Mrs. Charles Jaeger, of that street, to her former friends and neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Saueracker. It was lent some time ago but no effort was made to pay it. Several weeks ago Mrs. Jaeger asked Mrs. Saueracker for the money. According to the former's testimony in the city court this morning, the reply was a string of naughty words. When Saueracker himself was asked, he disclaimed all knowledge of any loan, referred Mrs. Jaeger to his wife, and finally, according to Mrs. Jaeger, closed by punching the latter in the eye.

There was a general hustling for the Judge's office to make a complaint but Mr. and Mrs. Jaeger won by a neck and Saueracker and his wife were arrested on the charge of being disorderly.

The case was adjourned several times but it came up this morning, Chas. J. McNabb acting for the Sauerackers and ex-Judge W. A. Coddington for the Jaegers.

For two hours the court listened to the wrangling between these two families. The Jaegers had a very strong case with the testimony of Mr. and Mrs. Jaeger, Mrs. Jaeger's sister, and Mrs. Heffrin, a neighbor who "just happened" to be looking through the blinds when the scrap was going on.

The trial was rather exciting, for Mrs. Saueracker liked to talk when she pleased.

"You seem to be wound up like a cleck," remarked ex-Judge Coddington to her, as he was cross-examining her. Her brother was quite remarkable in that his memory was wonderfully poor when he tried to remember what happened on the eventful day.

Although McNabb argued the case in an excellent manner, the odds were too great and the City Judge declared them both guilty. Mrs. Sauracker was fined $5 and her husband $10.

NO CONCERT TONIGHT.

The Musical Event Postponed to Next Tuesday Evening.

There will be no band concert this evening. Owing to the serious illness of Mrs. William Newcorn at the corner of Madison avenue and Front street, it was thought best not to have the concert on the vacant lot next to the Babcock building this evening, as it would likely disturb her, and owing to the moist condition of the ground, it was also deemed best not to have it in front of the Crescent Avenue church. Consequently, the concert has been postponed to next Tuesday evening, when it will be held in front of the church.

To Purchase a Banner.

The Republican Executive Committee held a preliminary meeting in their rooms last evening. The members decided to purchase a McKinley and Hobart banner, and also a transparency. Another meeting will be held at an early date.

A City of Homes.

Through Mulford's agency, today, G. L. Douglass has been located in the Musgrave's handsome residence until May 1, 1898. Also Mrs. Twedle of Peru, South America, has been located in I W. Rushmore's West Seventh street house.

A Political Repast.

A grand dinner will be given at the Hotel Brunswick, Asbury Park, next Saturday evening by G. A. Hobart, Republican nominee for Vice-President. Several prominent Republicans from this city will attend.

First Hop Tonight.

The first hop of the season at Mountain Park Inn, invitations for which were issued recently, will take place this evening. Stages will meet every trolley car so that those going will not be obliged to walk.

Sheriff's Sales.

The following sheriff's sales, in which Plainfield people are interested, were adjourned last Wednesday until July 1: Byrd against VanNess, decree, $2,595; Vail, etc., against Odam, etc., decree, $1,070.

A Word of Warning.

Plainfield boys want to bear in mind the fact that it is against the law to shoot firecrackers, or revolvers except on July Fourth.

WOMEN AT CANTON

Five Thousand Attend the Reception to Major McKinley.

SPEECH BY MRS. ALICE DANNOS JONES

She Draws a Delightful Word Picture of the Republican Candidate's Home Life—The Major Touched by Allusion to His Mother.

Canton, O., June 27.—The reception yesterday afternoon by the ladies of Canton to Major and Mrs. McKinley and the venerable mother of Major McKinley indicates that the candidates nominated at St. Louis appeal in some way with great power to the sentiment of the women of this community, for they came forth by the hundreds, without regard to party, or sect, or color, to do honor to Major McKinley and the two ladies. For more than two hours an unbroken stream of women, two and sometimes three abreast, passed in at the front doors of the spacious McKinley residence, thence to the receiving room and out by a side door. There were women of all ages and conditions. Young girls of 12, grandmothers and great-grandmothers pushed in, side by side. Substantial matrons of the city, wives of the great manufacturers, were crowded between bevies of shop girls, stylish girls and girls plainly from the country and the country dressmaker. It was a good-natured, smiling crowd and it numbered 5,000. While the women walked through the house the orchestra, concealed behind a great bank of ferns, palms and flowers, played, and the movement of a half thousand tongues did not wholly drown it. The house was a bower of bloom and verdure. Hundreds of roses, carnations and potted plants had been used with a happy skill by the decorator. The girl typewriters all said it was "simply elegant," and there is no doubt that the effect was a charming and satisfactory one. The flowers and palms were thickly studded with tiny electric bulbs. The light of day was excluded and when the incandescent burners blazed forth amid the bloom and leaves and from the ceiling the spectacle was a radiant one.

Women Addressed by a Woman.

The reception commenced with a speech. It was made by a Canton lady, Mrs. Alice Dannos Jones. Mrs. Jones stood in the window of the reception room and spoke to the sea of bobbing parasols on the lawn. This was before the doors were opened and the assembling hosts of women had to listen to the speech or go away. None of them went, for the speech was good and is destined to have wide currency in the campaign. It was just the sort of speech the good people of Canton wanted to hear and during its delivery many a woman indulged in the luxury of a furtive tear. Among other things Mrs. Jones said: "Fourteen years ago on the Sunday following his nomination, James A. Garfield walked into the old home church bearing on his arm his aged mother, and on last Sabbath morning into the church of his early faith walked our future president, and with him walked his mother. With home anchorage such as this, we woman have no fears that the coming administration hearth fires will burn dimmer or counting rooms be close. Our men may deal with questions of tariff and finance and political policy; we women believe that the importance of pure living is higher than all and are satisfied that should you be called to preside over the destinies of the nation we shall have a man at the head with a character so pure and a record so untarnished that any mother here to-day would feel proud to know that the steppings of their little boys might be in the lines parallel with this." Major McKinley, in a dozen words, thanked the ladies for their presence, and took his place with his wife and mother to receive the women of his town. It was an effective group. Mrs. McKinley and the major's aged mother, who is an attractive old lady, sat in large chairs on a dais. There were palms and flowers around them. Major McKinley stood at the left of his wife and made the introductions. He was deeply touched and visibly moved by the character and the manifest sincerity of the interest which the women of his town showed in him and his family. Last evening a delegation of cheerful shouters from Norwalk, some 300 in number, called upon Major McKinley and trampled the last spots of verdure from his beloved lawn. Major McKinley took much pride in his lawn and counted it the most beautiful in Canton. To-day it is a complete wreck.

Seawanhaka's Final Race.

Centre Island, N. Y., June 27.—In the fourth day's races of the Seawanhaka Yacht club, in which there were five selected starters, El Heirie, designed by the Crane brothers, won, beating Riverside by eight minutes and twenty-three seconds on the final leg to windward, after the latter had led during ten miles, by outpointing and outfooting her antagonist in the best wind of the day. The Ideal finished third.

"YELLOW JACK" IN CUBA.

Believed That the Fever Will Soon Become Epidemic Throughout the Island.

Washington, June 27.—The most alarming report from Cuba with respect to yellow fever comes from Sagua la Grand, where the marine hospital service is advised by its last report there are forty-one cases and four deaths. It is expected that within a very short time the fever will become epidemic and if it does not become virulent in the city of Havana all previous experiences will be set aside. The department has, however, received no advices to the effect that cholera has appeared anywhere on the island. The present war and its relation to the sanitary condition of Cuba is referred to in the last annual report of Surgeon-General Wyman and the statement then made will represent the conditions of this summer, only in a more aggravated form. On this subject, Gen. Wyman then said that the insurrection had interferred to a great extent in the transmission of exact information from the disturbed provinces, and the normal condition of health in the island had been largely modified by the presence of a great body of non-immune Spanish soldiers. These persons have taken the disease and added to the natural number of cases annually prevalent in that island. The difficulties experienced last summer will be met with again this year. Accurate knowledge as to the number of troops stricken with the disease is denied by the Spanish government. The reports from Havana last year showed a total of 1,593 cases, and a mortality of thirty per cent. This summer special precaution will be taken to prevent the introduction from Cuba into the United States of yellow fever. Each of the four revenue cutters patrolling the Florida coast carries sanitary inspectors to intercept any fishing smacks and other vessels coming direct from Cuba with no intent to enter legally any port of entry; and also for the purpose of intercepting any returning filibustering expedition of refugees seeking to land surreptitiously. Sanitary inspectors have been or will be stationed permanently in Havana and Santiago, and such inspectors will be sent to every seaport of Cuba to report to the marine hospital service on the prevalence of yellow fever.

CAPULET A TOTAL LOSS.

Much of the Mail and Baggage May Be Recovered.

St. Johns, N. F., June 27.—The revenue crusier Fiona has arrived from the wreck of the steamer Capulet. She reports the steamer still keeping together. The afterpart is under water. There is every likelihood of recovering a goodly portion of the mail and baggage, for which object the Fiona will return to the wreck with diving apparatus. She brought four bags of mail and also Capt. Fillis, the second officer and a seaman of the Capulet. The ship has been surveyed and declared to be a total wreck. The captain complains of the ship being looted by fishermen. The revenue officers declare his story much exaggerated. An inquiry into the loss of the ship begins to-day.

Hartman's Welcome Home.

Butte, Mont., June 27.—Representative Hartman, one of the signers of the Teller bolting manifesto, was given an enthusiastic reception upon his arrival from St. Louis. He was met at the depot by thousands of people and a band, and after he entered a carriage the horses were unhitched and a rope attached to the vehicle. Several hundred enthusiastic silver men from all parties pulled the carriage a mile up the hill to the city. Buildings were decorated and people with brass bands paraded the city all day. In the evening Mr. Hartman addressed 5,000 people and explained in detail the St. Louis bolt.

American Greengoods Circulars in Japan.

Washington, June 27.—American greengoods men are operating in Japan and complaint has been made to the state department by some of the intended victims through Mr. McIvor, United States consul at Kanagawa. Mr. McIvor has sent to the department copies of greengoods circulars sent to people in his consular district. The greengoods operator directed that communications be addressed to Carlos Lapez, Weston, West Virginia.

Holt Will Case.

Washington, June 27.—A motion for a new trial of the Holt will case will be made to-day or Monday. If the motion is overruled the jury's findings will be certified to the orphan's court, which will necessarily reject the will. The attorneys for the repudiated paper will then note an appeal and if the court of appeals reject this, the case will go to the supreme court of the United States.

Castellanes Short of Cash.

New York, June 27.—The Count and Countess of Castellane are, according to certain rumors that have been published here, in need of money. The story goes that a French lawyer has been sent here to try and induce George Gould to raise his sister's allowance. The alleged need of extra cash is, it is asserted, due to the count's mode of spending his American wife's money.

To Fight the Silver Move.

St. Louis, June 27.—A large number of business men of this city will go to the Chicago convention to work against a free-coinage platform. Ex-Gov. Francis will head about 250 members of the Merchants' exchange, and John C. Wilkinson a delegation of the wholesalers and jobbers.

Railroad Incorporated.

Albany, June 27.—The New York & Queens County Railway company has been incorporated by the secretary of state, with a capital stock of $2,000,000.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Board of Education of the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, at an adjourned meeting held June 22d, 1896, notice is hereby given that the Board of Education will meet on Monday, June 29th, 1896, at 8 o'clock, p. m., at the Board Room in the High School, corner of West Fifth street and Arlington avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at which time and place said Board of Education will receive sealed proposals for doing the work and furnishing the material in the constuction of the new Lincoln School and for alterations at the Washington, the Franklin, the Bryant Schools as provided in the plans and specifications now on file in the office of the Board in the High School, corner of West Fifth street and Arlington ave., Plainfield, N. J., also proposals for furnishing coal as specified below.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals the Board will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided such parties or agents choose to be then and there present, and also to make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Board.

LINCOLN SCHOOL.

Separate bids will be received for the masonry, carpentry and painting or one bid for the entire work. Plans may be seen at the office of architect Mr. C. P. Karr, 70 Fifth avenue, New York, or obtained at the office of the Board of Education, High School building.

No bid will be considered unless the same is accompanied with a certified check to the order of the "Board of Education of the City of Plainfield," the amount of check in each instance to be as follows: If bid is for entire building, $600; if for mason's contract only $300; if for carpenters contract only, $300; if for painting only $50.

Checks from unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned as soon as the contracts are awarded. Checks from the successful bidder or bidders will be retained until the contract is accepted and bonds furnished.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a satisfactory bond for one-half the amount of his contract, accompanied by two sureties thereto, each surety to qualify to the full amount of the bond.

Each bidder is to state the earliest date at which he will agree to complete the building.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, or to ask for modifications of the same.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL.

Heating, ventilating and repairs in the main building and alteration of the toilet.

Bids may be divided, the ventilating, heating and plumbing being given in one bid, and the carpentry and mason work in another bid, or the bid may cover the whole work.

FRANKLIN AND BRYANT SCHOOLS.

Alteration of the toilet. Bids for each school must be presented separately and include the work complete.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids for work on these three schools or to ask for modifications of the same.

COAL.

350 tons (more or less) of the best coal suitable for steam and hot air heating, in pea, No. 1, chestnut and egg sizes.

All coal to be thoroughly screened and placed, and trimmed in the bins within the public school buildings without any extra expense to the board for such handling, and to be delivered at such time as the Board may direct.

Bids to specify the quality of coal and whether long or short tons.

Payment for all coal contracted for to be made after September 1st, next.

All proposals to be endorsed "Proposals for Coal."

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

By order of the Board,
F. B. CLARK, Clerk.

PUBLIC NOTICE!

The subscriber hereby gives notice to all concerned that Section 8 of the City Ordinance concerning encroachments on streets and sidewalks requires all trees standing along the public streets, whose branches extend over sidewalks or roadways, to be trimmed from the main trunk to a height not less than ten feet from the surface of the ground so as to prevent injury to the public health, impediment to travel, and obstruction to street lights, unless the Street Commissioner shall otherwise direct or permit. The Street Commissioner is further required to see that the ordinance is carried into effect. In the discharge of that duty, the subscriber now gives notice to property owners to comply with the ordinance referred to, and in that default of compliance therewith, the work will be done by the city at the expense of the property owners.

Dated, June 22d, 1896.

Delicate Dress Goods.

Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable, NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redyeing. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? Laundry drivers will receive your work.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

JOHN W. KELLY DEAD.

Well Known on the Variety Stage as "The Rolling-Mill-Man."

New York, June 27.—John W. Kelly, one of the cleverest and best known monologue performers on the variety stage and who was known and billed throughout the country for years as "Kelly-the-Rolling-Mill-Man," died last evening at the residence of his mother in East 93d street, from an attack of gastritis. He was taken sick on Sunday last and grew steadily worse. For twenty-four hours previous to his death he was unconscious. Kelly was 24 years old and was born in this city. He made his first appearance on the variety stage about fifteen years ago in Chicago in company with Lou Hawkins, and this co-partnership continued for one season. The next season Kelly appeared at Monroe's theatre, and from there he went to the Park theatre in Chicago, where he filled the positon of general utility man for eight or nine years. He came to New York in 1892 and his success was at once so great that Tony Pastor made a contract with him for three seasons. His last appearance on the stage was on June 14 last, when he came from Boston to take part in the benefit performance for William F. Kaye. Kelly was quick-witted and never lost an opportunity to mak a hit on the prevailing topic of the times, or any incident that might occur in the audience. He was also a bright after-dinner speaker and, furthermore, wrote many popular songs, the best known among them probably being "Throw Him Down McCloskey."

THE CUSTER MASSACRE.

Sioux Indians Celebrating the Awful Event on the Little Big Horn.

Omaha, June 27.—Six thousand Sioux are celebrating the great event in their war history—the twentieth anniversary of the annihilation of Custer's command on the Little Big Horn, June 25, 1876. They are gathered at the scene of the terrible massacre, and, though peaceable, are indulging in all the fantastic dances and ceremonies incident to their traditions. The celebration will continue until July 4.

Surveyor Harrison's Release.

Washington, June 27—Senor Rojas' dispatch announcing Harrison's release relieved state department and diplomatic circles of the tension they have been under for several days, notwithstanding the prevailing confidence that the blame would not be found to rest altogether with the Venezuelans.

British Press Comment.

London, June 27.—The Chronicle, commenting on the statement that Venezuela had ordered the release of Crown Surveyor Harrison, will today say that President Crespo acted gracefully and wisely. It adds that the incident has done good in showing great Britain and America are now on such terms that the former can request the good offices of the latter when Venezuela misbehaves.

To Induce Us To Love England.

New York, June 27.—Samuel Plimsoll, in whose honor the safety loadline of British ships is called the "Plimsoll mark," has just arrived in New York with the avowed intention of studying and trying to cure America's alleged dislike of England. Plimsoll deprecates the so-called prejudice, and says he believes it starts among school children who gather it from their history books. His object is to reform such books, cutting out the unkind allusions to the mother country.

Cecil Rhodes is Out.

London, June 27.—It was officially announced to-day that the resignations of Cecil Rhodes, Alfred Beit and Dr. Rutherford Harris as directors of the British South Africa company have been accepted. The first-named tendered his resignation some months ago as a result of disclosures made regarding the raid into the Transvaal, which implicated Rhodes, Beit and others.

Steers Sentenced at Paris, Ky.

Paris, Ky., June 27.—William Steers, who killed John Alexander, grandnephew of Jefferson Davis, two months ago in this city, was yesterday sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary. The jury was out fifty-six hours, and eight were for hanging.

Justice Gummere decides that it is not necessary to specify the precise place where each pole shall be located in designating the streets through which a telephone company may construct its lines, nor to require the company to obtain the consent of abutting owners before erecting poles in front of their respective lots.

Mr. Whitney, in the advice which he gives to his countrymen relative to the money question, cannot be accused of any selfish motive. He is not of that class who offer advice to the public with the hope that he shall be made the hero of the hour and rewarded with some prominent public position, or at least be put in nomination for it. He declares in the clearest manner in which words can express it, that he is not a candidate for the nomination for the Presidency, as some would be forward to suggest; moreover, he "will not run if nominated, nor serve if elected." What he says, then, may be accepted as the honest expression of his convictions on the question under consideration.—True American.

Knute Nelson, of Minnesota, enjoys the somewhat singular distinction of being the only member of the United States Senate born on the European continent—Europe outside of the British isles. He is a native of Norway, and the most conspicuous representative in office of the Scandinavian population of the great Northwest. It is a fact not generally known that there are four Englishmen in the present United States Senate, or more properly four natives of England—Pasco of Florida, Mantle of Montana, Wetmore of Rhode Island, and Jones of Nevada. There are two Canadians, McMillan of Michigan and Gallinger of New Hampshire. There is one Irishman—William J. Sewell of New Jersey. There are nine Ohio men.

The young man who undertook to criticise The Daily Press at the North Plainfield Alumni reception, last night, because The Press published the report of the Board of Education committee appointed to inspect the condition of the school, appeared in a very flippant light. This rash youngster alleged that the publication of the report so chagrined Prof. Boss that he immediately handed in his resignation. As a matter of fact, Mr. Boss handed in his resignation two weeks before the report was printed in this paper. Its publication, therefore, had no effect on the Principal's action, and the young man who was prone to act as a censor of what should be printed, was a trifle off in his calculations. As he grows older and comes more in contact with the ways of the world, the young man will doubtless know his place.

We have heard a great deal through the newspaper and on the stump during the last quarter of a century about "death warrants" having been or which are about to be served on the Democratic party, and the same threat is now being re-galvanized and given the semblance of life. None has been served yet, however, nor has the constable been born who will serve the document. The doctrine of Democracy and the leading issues of the Democratic party are too well-known by every intelligen Democrat to need recapitulation, and they will endure as long as this country retains a Republican form of government. The mistakes and dissensions of the Democratic party have alone aided the Republican party to maintain its ascendancy, inasmuch as that party simply exists as the abettor of trusts, the friend and partner of rapacious corporate interests, and the promoter of geographical and class division, having had no excusable claim for existence as a National party since the close of the war.—Hackensack Democrat.

Miss Ada Smock, of Washington avenue, has issued invitations for a "porch tea" to be held at her home Thursday evening, July 2d, in honor of her friends, Miss Magonigle and Miss Wilkins.

Miss Elsie Horne and George A. Horne, of Willow avenue, were in New York today and bid good-bye to their cousins, Raymond and Harry McGee, who sailed with the Honeyman party for a European trip.

Miss Ariadue Gilbert, of Crescent avenue, has returned home from the Massachusetts Normal School, at Framingham, from which she has just graduated. She will teach in the Bryant public school next year. She graduated from the High School in '93.

"For several years my husband and myself have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla whenever we found ourselves run down in health. We have also recommended it to our friends."—Mrs. F. T. Voteler, Rahway, N. J. Hood's Pills cure indigestion.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND.

The Best Remedy in the World--It Makes People Well.

There is one true specific for diseases arising from impure blood and a debilitated nervous system, and that is Paine's celery compound, so generally prescribed by peysiclans. It is probably the most remarkable remedy that the scientific research of this country has produced. Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., of Dartmouth college, first prescribed what is now known the world over as Paine's celery compound, a positive cure for dyspepsia, biliousness, liver complaint, neuralgia, rheumatism, all nervous diseases and kidney troubles. For the latter Paine's celery compound has succeeded again and again where everything else has failed.

SCOTCH PLAINS PROUD.

Creditable Closing of a School Year in a Plainfield Suburb.

People in Scotch Plains and Fanwood disagree about a great many things, but there is one thing they are solid on. They all agree in thinking that they have the best school, the best Board of Education, the ablest principal, the best and prettiest corps of young lady assistants, and the brightest lot of boys and girls to be found in any one place in the State of New Jersey, and that means in the world. Therefore, when such a storm as set in on Wednesday, saw fit to come on commencement day we thought we had a right to find fault and we did, for we all like to go to commencement and applaud and glorify our boys and girls, and if like the writer of this article, we unfortunately have no boys and girls of our own, we feel the same pride in the boys and girls of our neighbors. Of course such a storm as that of Wednesday kept a great many people from attending, but those who did attend were well pleased.

Five rooms in the beautiful school building were used to exhibit specimens of the work of the past year and proved the care and attention of the teachers as well as the ability and ingenuity of the pupils. At about eight o'clock the visitors went to the Assembly room where the commencement exercises took place and which was handsomely decorated for the occasion. The singing by pupils of the school was excellent and spirited and brought forth hearty applause from the audience. The piano playing by Miss Florence Nicholl and Miss Josie Marsh was greatly admired, especially a duet in which both young ladies took part. Drills, recitations, by the smaller children and library exercises by the more advanced pupils amused, instructed and pleased the audience. There was also a contest in recitation for a prize book in which the following named pupils took part. "Launching the Ship," Miss Edith Douglas; "St. Jonathan," Leonard McAneny; "A Leak in the Dyke," Miss Reignette Marsh; "The Hedge Hog and the Hare," Clinton Hall.

Three unfortunate gentlemen, Geo. R. Nicholl, Harry Robinson and J. Robison, were selected to act as judges. We felt sorry for them as it was a very difficult position and all the pieces were so well rendered that we don't see how they arrived at a decision. However, they gave the decision in favor of Leonard McAneny, and while he well deserved the prize, it appeared to us they ought to have had one apiece. After a few excellent remarks by Dr. F. W. Westcott, president of the Board of Education, and the presentation of certificates, the audience took their way homeward, damp but happy, and glad they came. There were no graduates this year. Those receiving certificates were:

Grammar Grade, Janet Carter, Bertha Ellar, Bertha Frentz, Ethel Kyte, John Maguire, Eddie Miller, Leonard McAneny, Christian Bettman, Clinton Hall. Primary Grade, Edith Marsh, Ethel Marsh, Ethel Schenck, Sadie Walker, Anna Jahn, Lily Fancher.—A Citizen.

A Tennysonian Text.

"And what delights can equal those which stir the spirits inner deeps?"
Unless it be what Collier keeps
To make in all admiring throes?
Such orange spoons and butter knives
You never saw in all your lives.

Eli Hill, Lumber City, Pa., writes, "I have been suffering from piles for twenty-five years and thought my case incurable. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve was recommended to me as a pile cure, so I bought a box and it performed a permanent cure." This is only one of thousands of similar cases. Eczema, sores and skin diseases yield quickly when it is used. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

ROYAL Baking Powder is reported by the United States Government, after official tests, highest of all in leavening power. It is the best and most economical; a pure cream of tartar Baking Powder.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The street laborers resumed work on West Front street this morning, removing surplus mud.

—Asa Collier is selling a new style of patent collar button that promises to be very popular.

—A subscription has been received from the Misses Tweedy for the children's summer camp.

—The Sunday-school of the Church of the Heavenly Rest went on a picnic to Boynton Beach today.

—The last regular meeting for the summer of the Boys Brigade of the First Baptist church will he held this evening.

—Henry Wedemeyer and Gustave Sutterlin went to Somerville yesterday and renewed their government licenses.

—Members of the Plainfield Volunteers will conduct the evening service at the Liberty Street mission tomorrow evening.

—George J. Tobin, the North avenue plumber, has just completed the work of putting a hot and cold heater in fire headquarters.

—A number of the Young Men's Association of Monroe Avenue chapel started on a stag picnic to Boynton Beach this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

—John Wierenga has just completed laying out a fine spacious driveway on the property occupied by Marion S. Ackerman, corner of Crescent and Park avenues.

—Edsall says if you want to know the results of some right smart up-to-date buying look into his large show windows tonight and read the price cards displayed on the goods. They will bear investigation.

—Many board walks, especially on the cross streets in the borough, are in a dilapidated and dangerous condition and should be repaired before some serious injury is done to pedestrians, especially children.

—Many regrets were expressed last evening that Rev. Father Smyth was unable to be present at the closing exercises of the parochial school. Important business called him to Europe sooner than was anticipated. Rev. Father Murphy took his place very acceptably.

—Fred Caspar, of East Front street, has a very happy family in the shape of a New Foundland dog, a pug, and a good sized land turtle. The three play around the back yard of the hotel in company, and neither one molests the other only in play.

—The merchants on Liberty street are clamoring for crushed stone on that thoroughfare. A long time ago, they say, a few loads of crushed stone were dumped promiscuously on the street, but the stone has sunk into oblivion or some other place, and at the present time the roadbed is way "out of sight" on account of mud.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by continually failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists, 75c.

It would be hard to convince a man suffering from bilious colic that his agony is due to a microbe with an unpronouncable name. But one dose of DeWitt's Colic and Cholera Cure will convince him of its power to afford instant relief. It kills pain. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The Congregational Sunday-school will meet at 9:30 a. m., hereafter, until further notice.

—A new crosswalk was laid today on East Front street in front of the City National Bank.

—The trolley line between Dunellen and Netherwood still continues to carry a large number of people.

—A sure cure for dyspepsia is to get your meals at Rogers' restaurant, Hotel Tuilleries. Try it. No charge for this advice.

—A new crosswalk is being laid at the corner of Watchung avenue and Fifth street to replace the one demolished by the steam roller.

—The lady who admired Mrs. ——'s laces, who sat in front of her at Music Hall Thursday evening, is informed that they were bought at Peck's.

—Would you like to learn the secret of beautifying your home at a small expense? They will tell you at Edward Love's wall paper store on North avenue.

—Carlos Aguerre has pleaded guilty to larceny from the store of his uncle, Dr. Gale, of Westfield, and sentence will be imposed by the Court at Elizabeth next week.

THEATRICAL.

Proctor's Pleasure Palace has set the amuse world agog by the boldness and novelty of its latest idea—a double stage, where performances are seen by two distinct audiences seated face to face. Already the luxurious Garden of Palms, certainly a lovely and artistically embellished spot, has become immensely popular as a summer evening lounging place. One may see the performance there and at the same time eat, drink and chat without restraint or to the annoyance of his neighbor. And it is very odd, while doing this, to be able to look across an open stage at the throngs of people in the Grand Auditorium. The latter enjoys the cooling effect of the breezes admitted through the open roof of the Garden. Nature is enabled to discount all the efforts of ice plants and patent blower systems. The whole establishment must be cool on the deadliest of dog days. The decoration and tropical embellishment of the Palm Garden admit of no adverse criticism. There is a delightfully artistic touch to the most trivial detail. The light effects, subdued by quaintly shaped Japanese lanterns in which electric bulbs are concealed add to the beauty of the scheme. On pleasant evenings a special performance will be given on the Roof Garden, over the Grand Auditorium. When cold or stormy, the acts will be blended with those below.

Mr James Perdue, an old soldier residing at Monroe, Mich., was severely afflicted with rheumatism but received prompt relief from pain by using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says: "At times my back would ache so badly that I could hardly raise up. If I had not gotten relief I would not be here to write these few lines. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done me a great deal of good and I feel very thankful for it." For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

"Wake up, Jacob, day is breaking!" so said De Witt's Little Early Risers to the man who had taken them to arouse his sluggish liver. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

Customer— I want a remedy for catarrh.

Drug Clerk—All right, sir. Here's a blood tonic that is advertised to build up the constitution.

Customer— Young man, do you think I'm going to dose myself with a blood tonic for months, just on the chance of it doing me some good? Not much! I want immediate relief; besides, catarrh is a local affection, and no tonic or blood purifier ever made can cure it. Here's 50 cents. Let me have Ely's Cream Balm. It's the only hing I know of to cure catarrh.

Real Estate Transfers.

The New Jersey Contractor reports the following transfers of Plainfield property that have been recorded at the County Clerk's office this week: Ellen Gill to Aaron Higgins et ux, lot on Liberty street, 41 feet, $3,000; Mary Moran to James Wilkinson, lot, Third street, $1; Plainfield Building and Loan Association to Charles Hand and George J. Tobin, corner lot on LaGrande avenue, $1,200; John L. Brewster to Leslie M. Daniel, power of attorney; John L. Brewster to Thomas Mumford, tract Woodland avenue with the centre of Putnam avenue, $1,666.50. The contracts filed by Plainfield people during the last week were James H. Knapp, of Bayonne, with Seaman Williams & Co., of Plainfield, mason, dwelling, $975; same with Walter S. Arthur, carpenter, same house, $2,350; Plainfield Real Estate Co., with Seaman Williams & Co., two-story frame dwelling, complete, $1,618.

Planning for Higher Work.

Prof. Warde, the new principal of the North Plainfield public school, is contemplating the extension of the present course by making it two years longer, thus completing the regular High School course. Such a change, if it was made, would place the North Plainfield school as high as the Plainfield High School. This was merely a suggestion on the part of Prof. Warde, but if it finds favor with the Board and a sufficient number of pupils can be secured, it is likely to be adopted.

Miantonomoh Tribe Elects.

The following officers were elected at the meeting of Miantonomoh Tribe No. 118, I. O. R. M., last evening: Prophet, Charles Fullmer; Sachem, Michael Leahy; Senior Sagamore, R. E. Seaman; Junior Sagamore, David Morning. The hunter's degree was worked on three candidates, after which the officers-elect provided a collation for the members.

Promoted to a Higher Place.

D. A. Schierenbeck, of Terrill road, who has served over twenty-six years in the office of the Comptroller of New York city, was yesterday promoted to the office of First Deputy Auditor of Accounts. The promotion carries with it a nice increase of salary.

Letter Carriers to Take a Vacation.

Important Borough Matters.

At the meeting of the Borough Council next week Friday the bids for opening Watchung avenue will be received, and the matter of erecting a fire house in Prideville (Bull Frog City) will be discussed.

—The Montezuma Social Club will hold their dance on Tuesday evening, June 30th.

—The case of Horatio Johnson, who was charged with building a shed on East Fourth street without a permit, was adjourned this morning in the city court for two weeks.

—If you want to save money on your Saturday needs, Edsall says there is no better place to go than his Commercial Palace, where you get everything right up to date and at the very lowest price.

—"We have used Hood's Pills in our family and have found them all they are represented to be. They are perfectly safe and do not cause pain." Mrs. Scheele, Westfield, N. J. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood.

Eczema is a frightful affliction, but like all other skin diseases it can be permanently cured by applications of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It never fails to cure Piles. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

The Latest Scientific Knowledge On Food and Digestion.

The real cause of most of our diseases is inability to digest food. This induces thinness, weakness, loss of flesh and fat, loss of vitality, wasting away. Loss of flesh and vitality means constant liability to sickness. Wasting away is consumption.

If getting thin is what ails you, there is only one thing to do—get fat. The only way to do it is to take something which will help your stomach and stimulate it to do its work.

If you are tired out you do not like to move your legs or arms. If your stomach is tired it does not like to digest; it cannot do its work.

To eat, or even to eat with relish does not necessarily mean that one is being nourished. Strength, vitality and flesh are the true indications.

Getting thin is a sign that you need the Shaker Digestive Cordial. You would not be getting thin if you could digest your food.

The Shaker Digestive Cordial not only contains artificially digested food, but it will digest other foods in the stomach.

A single 10 cent bottle will show whether or not it is going to meet the conditions of your case, and if so, its continued use may be depended on to effect a cure. All druggists keep it in stock.

Doctors Disagree

On many points, but all of them, no matter of what school, fully agree: That the Kidneys should filter every impurity from the Blood. That Healthy Kidneys insures perfect filtration. That Dr. Hobbs Sparagus Kidney Pills make the Kidneys Healthy, and increase their filtering power.

Rheumatism, Malaria, Gout, Chlorosis, Uraemia, Erysipelas, are all due to poisons circulating in the blood.

Get them cut, as nature meant they should come out, in the urine, by using Dr. Hobbs Sparagus Kidney Pills.

We are anxious to do a little good in this world and can think of no pleasanter or better way to do it than by recommending One Minute Cough Cure as a preventive of pneumonia, consumption and other serious lung troubles that follow neglected colds L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

Gorman Believes the Silver Men Will Win at Chicago.

HE WILL NOT GO TO THE CONVENTION

Believes Also That Boies Will Receive the Nomination—Senator Morgan Replies to Whitney—Perry Belmont Still Hopeful for Gold.

Baltimore, June 27.—Senator A. P. Gorman, dem., Md., will not go to Chicago; this, it is said, is a final decision. "If I were to go to Chicago," said he to-day, "what more could I do than can be done by gentlemen who composed the delegation elected by the state convention? Nothing." It is doubtful whether Mr. Gorman will accept reappointment on the national committee. Certainly he will not be on the executive committee of that body. He does not think that there is at this late hour any chance to stem the free-silver tide which he believes will sweep over the Chicago convention. When asked whom he thought the democrats would nominate at Chicago, he replied: "It looks like Boies." Ex-State Treasurer Jones has been designated to serve in place of Charles C. Homer, who was elected delegate-at-large, but declined to serve.

PERRY BELMONT'S VIEWS.

Does Not Believe the Silver Men Will Force Disunion at Chicago.

Paris, June 27.—A representative of the United Press had an interview with Hon. Perry Belmont at the railway station last night as Mr. Belmont was just about starting for Havre on his way to Chicago, where he goes to attend the national democratic convention on July 7. The full text of the democratic platform adopted at the New York state convention in Saratoga has not yet been received here, and therefore, Mr. Belmont said, its precise scope could not be correctly appreciated. If, however, as he believed, the platform declared that the New York democracy protested against any further purchase of silver by the treasury and against silver coinage otherwise than on the basis of an international agreement, and that the democracy will do everything possible to obtain and secure a fixed international ratio between the two metals, and if it has urged the cancellation of greenbacks and treasury notes hereafter presented to the treasury and paid in gold, that utterance will, Mr. Belmont is confident, command the approbation of an overwhelming majority of the voters in every eastern state. Mr. Belmont said he had known quite well during his years in congress a great many of the southern democrats who are pressing for the immediate free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, and had also met them four years ago at Chicago, when they contributed to the nomination of Mr. Cleveland. Mr. Belmont did not believe that those southern democrats now wished or would tolerate disunion at Chicago of the national democracy. "The state of New York," continued Mr. Belmont, "is now committed by both of its party organizations to international bimetallism and a world-wide bimetallic par. Democratic leaders, such as Tilden and Manning, have favored it in the past, and the southern democracy also. The governor of the Bank of France told me a few days ago that France cannot and will not consent to a ratio of 16 to 1. France prefers 15 1-2 to 1. If the national democracy will at Chicago remain united McKinleyism can be crushed in November, and a fixed international ratio for silver and gold put within the reach of practical effort. Another McKinley tariff can be prevented, the issuance of more government bonds made unnecessary, the national credit upheld, our exports increased, and the wages of workingmen north and south not to be reduced to a 50-cent dollar. It can but be that rather than have disunion in the national democracy, as in 1860, the southern democrats will consent to a reasonable plan whereby free silver coinage can be deferred until a practical international bimetallic ratio is secured by the efforts of a democratic president and a democratic congress."

MORGAN TO WHITNEY.

An Open Letter Concerning the Party Policy as to Silver.

Washington, June 27.—Senator John T. Morgan of Alabama has addressed an open letter on the silver question to William C. Whitney in response to the latter's statement of June 21. After saying that Mr. Whitney's letter is "entitled to the sincere respect which it receives from the whole people," Mr. Morgan says: "It seems to be a very vague and distant hope that Great Britain will ever yield to European or American states a real participation in her financial policy by treaty agreements." The senator then assumes that no American statesman can present a plan for international bimetallism such as our goverment would ever be content to adopt or could agree to under the constitution, and makes the friendly challenge to Mr. Whitney to state the plan "which you would advise the democracy to accept as a basis, at least, for an international agreement." He concludes as follows: "As you seem to agree with the democracy of the south and west that silver should be fully remonetized, I respectfully submit to your candid judgment whether this restoration of the rights of our people is not more justly to be expected from the action and power of our own government, that has never failed in such an effort, than from Great Britain or any combinatien of European powers, who will do nothing of the kind except upon the inducement of some selfish motive."

CHEAP PAINT.

The Kind That Soon Fades and Rubs Off.

Good Paint That Should Be Put On from the Inside, Instead of from the Outside.

You can make a very cheap paint by using an ordinary whitewash. It will cling to the house and barns just as well as it does to the upper walls of your rooms. To be sure it does not last very long and it rubs off. Perhaps you have seen young girls, and some not quite so young, try the trick of putting the color of health on their cheeks by using some red powder or paste. But it does not last long and it rubs off. Yet we can hardly blame them, for who does not like to see the rosy color of robust health, and who is not pained at the sight of the white lips and colorless cheeks? We advise all girls, whether old or young, to paint their cheeks if they are pale. But be sure to paint them with something which will last and will not rub off. Put the paint on from the inside, not from the outside.

The elements which give color to the blood are minute bodies, called the red blood corpuscles. If there is not enough of these in your blood, then you are pale, weak, without appetite, probably thin in flesh and quite nervous. In fact, everything seems to go wrong in the body when there is a deficiency in these life-giving red blood corpuscles. An abundance of these little bodies make rich blood, red blood. The circulation is improved and the bright tinge of color comes again to the lips and cheeks.

You have only to consult medical works to learn that cod-liver oil is one of the best remedies known to increase the number of these red corpuscles of the blood. Eminent medical writers declare that this is one of the most marked features of cod-liver oil. We prefer to recommend to you the oil after it has been broken up into minute particles, as in Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with the Hypophosphites. The stomach bears it better in this form and it makes the oil very palatable also. The hypophosphites are added because the nervous system needs a tonic, something to build it up on a permanent basis. If you are pale, do not get much benefit from your food, mentally and physically unable to work, simply dragging along day after day, take Scott's Emulsion. It puts color on the cheeks. It is a color that comes to stay, and you cannot rub it off.

Scott's Emulsion has been indorsed by the medical profession for twenty years. Ask your doctor. Because it is always palatable—always uniform—always contains the purest Norwegian Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites. Insist on Scott's Emulsion with trade-mark of man and fish. Put up in 50c. and $1.00 sizes. The small size may be enough to cure your cough or help your baby.

ST. PAUL IS A RACER

Lucania Put to Her Best To Beat the Crack Yankee Boat.

EACH VESSEL BREAKS A SPEED RECORD

Twenty-four Hours Occupied by the British Ship in Overhauling the American—The Latter's Performance Referred to in Glowing Terms.

New York, June 27.—There was much excitement among the passengers on the steamers St. Paul and Lucania on their inward trips completed last evening. The Cunarder sighted the flyer of the American line ahead of her at 6 o'clock Thursday morning. It was not until 6:20 o'clock yesterday morning that the mighty Britisher worked her way abreast of the Yankee and the Lucania had not left Quarantine before the St. Paul had been boarded by the health officer. Passengers on the Lucania were outspoken in praise of the St. Paul and referred in glowing terms to her performance. The Lucania beat her own best record for twenty-four hours' run of 560 knots by rolling off 562 knots from Thursday noon to noon yesterday: the best day's run of the St. Paul was made during the same period and was 540 knots, Her best previous performance was 532 knots, made on May 15. Her average speed this trip was 20.44 knots per hour as against 20.82 knots last trip. There was a steerage passenger reported missing on the St. Paul. His name was Dirk Jansen, aged 28, a native of Holland. He was last seen on Monday and it is a matter of speculation what become of him. The St. Paul brought in 239 cabin and 230 steerage passengers. Time of passage was 6 days, 8 hours and 19 minutes. Day runs: 457, 507, 498, 489, 514, 540 and 103 to Sandy Hook. The Lucania brought in 355 cabin and 403 steerage passengers. Time of passage, 5 days, 13 hours and 35 minutes. Days' runs: 524, 520, 507, 542, 562, 95 to Sandy Hook.

AMERICAN MISSION ATTACKED.

Story of the Kidnapping of Children Enraged the Chinese.

London, June 27.—The Daily News has a letter from Canton, China, giving an account of the attack upon the American mission at Kiang-Yin on May 13 last. The correspondent says that a crowd gathered on account of the slander which had been disseminated that the missionaries were kidnapping children. "Sure enough," the letter continues, "the body of a child was found beneath some dried leaves in a garden. The mandarin refused to protect the mission, and as the crowd were armed with poles, knives and sickles the missionaries would certainly have been killed if they had not escaped over a wall to the fort on a hill near by."

Exportation of Gold Coin.

New York, June 27.—Conrad N. Jordan, the assistant United States treasurer, invited representatives of several foreign exchange houses to a conference with him at the sub-treasury yesterday afternoon. The recent large shipments of gold to Germany have been in coin, and Mr. Jordan wanted to find out what was necessary to do to have them made in gold bars so as to save the expense of minting. It was suggested that a reduction in the premium charged by the government for bars from one-eighth to one-sixteenth of one per cent. might have the desired result.

No Lynching at Glencoe.

St. Paul, June 27.—The two tramps who murdered Sheriff Rogers Thursday at Glencoe were brought into this city yesterday, protected by Company D, First Regiment, Minnesota National guard. They were at once placed in the Ramsey county jail. The officials at Glencoe felt that while they had ample protection it would better to move the prisoners.

THE FASHION.

It seems to be the fashion in some stores to charge as much as they can for a thing, no matter what it is worth. Now, we don't do that. We are not claiming any extraordinary merit for ourselves, either. We are simply honest. We sell furnishings for every one. We sell for the man who wants his tastes satisfied, irrespective of cost, and for the man who doesn't want to spend his last cent on a tie. We give satisfaction to each and all.

MADE NIGHT HIDEOUS

College Boys Take Possession of Poughkeepsie.

CELEBRATE CORNELL CREW'S VICTORY

Cheers and College Cries Heard Late into the Night—Mirrors in a Hotel Smashed and Three Students Are Arrested.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 27.—This city has again settled down into its accustomed quiet, but last night was long to be remembered, for the Ithacan boys owned the town and the college cry, mingled with cheers, made sleep impossible, and the uproar continued late into the night. Three college boys were arrested about midnight for smashing a mirror in the Nelson house, which was about all the damage done this year. Eighteen thousand people grouped upon the picturesque banks of the Hudson with the last rays of the setting sun last eveaing casting a golden sheen upon the water, saw the stalwart eight from Ithaca win first honors over Harvard, Pennsylvania and Columbia. It was a great race. Probably no prettier has been rowed before a greater crowd in American waters. All conditions of air and water were perfect. Not a flaw marred the contest from the crack of the starter's pistol to the crossing of the finish line. Cornell won by two lengths in 19:29, official time. Harvard was second, Pennsylvania third and Columbia a poor fourth. As a spectacular scene the race was one long to be remembered. The course, a four-mile stretch straight as the crow flies, lay near the west bank of the Hudson and was spanned by the great cantilever bridge, the finish being one mile below that structure. The cloudiness of the morning had given way to bright sunshine, and the multitude which assembled on both banks of the river and filled the decks of an imposing fleet of yachts, excursion steamers and pleasure craft of all descriptions, added brightness and color to the scene. On every hand the flags, ribbons and banners of the respective colleges were seen. An observation train of forty-two cars with seats for 3,500 persons, and every seat occupied, pulled out of the Highland station and made its way to the starting point just before the crews were sent off. It started with the crews and kept abreast of them all the way to the finish. It was filled for the most part with college students or college graduates and ladies. Out in the stream anchored in a line from the 3½ mile point down to the finish, were over 100 yachts, excursion steamers and river craft of every description. Their decks were filled with spectators, and in this thick cluster near the line there was danger of serious accident.

The Start.

It was exactly 5:42.55 when the pistol was fired and the thirty-six representatives of the brawn and sinew of the four great rowing colleges of the east were started on their journey. The start was a pretty sight. Columbia being on the outside and nearest the referee caught the flash of the pistol before their rivals and they took the water first. The others got off in the order of their placings from the pistol, Cornell second, Pennsylvania third and Harvard last, but the start was a very fair one, and none of the crews had any too much the best of it. In the first thirty strokes Harvard drew away, and at the quarter led Pennsylvania by nearly a length. Pennsylvania was one-eighth in front of Cornell, with Columbia a length and a quarter to the bad. At the half Harled by three-quarters of a length; Cornell was second by a quarter of length, Pennsylvania third by two lengths. At the mile Harvard led by half a length, Cornell led Pennsylvania by half a length and was gaining rapidly on Harvard, while Columbia was beaten off fifteen lengths At the mile and a half Harvard quickened her stroke and led Cornell by one-quarter of a length, with Pennsylvania a length and a quarter in the rear. At two miles Cornell led Harvard by a nose, Pennsylvania two lengths off.

A Magnificent Struggle.

After passing the two miles Cornell increased her lead to a quarter of a length while Pennsylvania was dropping farther astern. Cornell was pulling thirty-five strokes and Harvard thirty-six. At two and a half miles Cornell led by half a length from Harvard, with Pennsylvania four lengths behind, and Columbia forty lengths in the rear. Coming up to the bridge Harvard spurted and cut Cornell's lead down to a quarter of a length, but the Ithacans would not be denied and passed under the bridge a length to the good, Pennsylvania four lengths behind. Just clear of the bridge Cornell increased her lead to a length and a half. Faster and faster the red and white sent their flying shell through the water. At the three and a half miles Cornell was two and a half lengths ahead of the crimson with Pennsylvania two lengths in the rear. Cornell led by three and a half lengths at the three and three-quarters miles with a clear length between Harvard and Pennsylvania. At the finish Cornell was four good lengths in the van, Harvard was second, a length and a quarter in front of Pennsylvania. Columbia was beaten off forty or fifty lengths.

Canal Bridge Contract Awarded.

Albany, June 27.—State Superintendent of Public Works Aldrich has awarded the contract for the bridge over the canal at West Genesee street, Syracuse, as follows: Substructure, Brummelkamp & Sons, $9,865; superstructure, Hilton Bridge Construction company of Albany, $9,950.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Miss Alice Borden, of Third place, has purchased a handsome new wheel.

The Yellow Jackets, Jr., has been organized by six boys of Watchung Park.

C. Guinee, of the West End, has secured a position at the works of the Jersey Wheel Company.

Roy Radford and "Manager" Wm. Sweeney rode to Elizabeth on a tandem yesterday afternoon. The ride was a muddy one.

Wm. M. McCutchen, Plainfield's crack rider, will not appear on the track again until the national circuit comes east, which it will in September.

The F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company have just sold two Dayton tandems—one to Howard F. Guerney, of Roselle, and one to R. H. Howes, of the same place.

The Jersey Wheel Company have just received a full line of leggings for women, also hose leggings. The quality is extra fine, and as the season is late the goods will be sold at popular prices.

The '97 cycle show of the National Cycle Board of Trade in the east will be held at the Grand Central Palace, Forty-third street and Lexington avenue, New York. The reason that Madison Square Garden was not selected is owing to a disagreement between Manager Sanger and the Board regarding the price. Manager Sanger wanted more than the regular rates.

Riders possessing a due regard for the rights and privileges of pedestrians never clang their bells unnecessarily. It is sufficient for the careful, observing cyclist to give timely warning only, not to ring his alarm after the occasion has passed, or in a hysterical manner when it is too late. The wheeling critics of the larger cities can best comprehend this statement. Take New York city for instance. Green cyclists run down pedestrians almost daily there, and in nine cases out of ten it develops that the rider rang too late, forgot to do it, or did it when too far away for his victim to note the warning. Common sense will dictate when to ring and when not to ring.

F. W. France, of Syracuse, is anxious to arrange a twenty-five-mile track race between Alec. McDonnell, the crack road rider, and some other fast man. With that object in view he has issued a challenge to match MacDonnell against any rider in the country. He offers to put up $300 on the race, $200 to go to the winner and $100 to the loser. At present Mr. France is awaiting a reply from Monte Scott, the time prize winner of the Irvington-Milburn road race. If the latter accepts the race will probably be run at the Driving Park very soon. Macdonnell's idea is to have it an unpaced race and to have himself and his competitor ride in opposite directions. This would do away with pacing entirely, and each man would be compelled to plug out the distance at his best gait. McDonnell holds the twenty-five mile competition road record of 1:00:59, while Scott's best time for the distance is 1:05:00, made two years ago. Since that time however, Scott has improved wonderfully, so that a race between the two would be most interesting. Scott is at present riding in the amateur ranks, but is expected to turn professional.

WITH ROD AND GUN.

Walter Long, of Park avenue, and Geo. Coard, of East Ninth street, went fishing at Tier's Lake the other day, and each caught a large cold.

SCOTCH PLAINS.

Scotch Plains seems to be quite a summer resort for New York people. At Flanders' boarding house there are now seventeen summer boarders, and more have engaged rooms for the months of July and August.

"Billy" Lee, who has been instrumental in winning many games for the old Crescent baseball team in Plainfield, is daily adding to the attractiveness of his wheelmen's rest on Front street. He has just recently cut down a big palm tree, and on the stump he has improvised a miniature flower garden, which looks very handsome.

Three new arrivals from Newark and New York are recorded at Lee's Hotel since yesterday.

Thomas U. Smith, of Westervelt avenue, William Kitchen, of Somerset street, and Wm. N. Runyon, of East Ninth street, were among those that went to Poughkeepsie yesterday to see the intercollegiate boat race.

GOLD IN DEER'S TEETH.

Man Who Found It Now Trying to Discover a Mine.

Gold has been found in a variety of queer places, among others in the dust shaken from chickens' feathers, in the crops of wild turkeys, and between the toes of a wolf hound. The latest odd place for gold is as a filling for a deer's teeth, and it is told of in the Nidologist by John A. Bryant, of Kansas City, Mo.

A Kansas City taxidermist was found in a great state of excitement by Mr. Bryant. He had recently got two deer heads for mounting from Colorado. The jaws of both deer were being scraped, and then the taxidermist observed a peculiar substance crusted on the teeth. This sediment was brownish yellow in color, and just for fool's luck the man scraped it off and sent it to an assayer. The assayer got a lump of gold, pure, yellow gold, from the stuff, and the taxidermist made haste to find out the precise locality where the deer were killed. Then he asked about the deer licks where the animals got their salt. He doesn't know yet whether the gold came from a salt lick or from the dust blown onto the grass or browse on which the deer fed.

The taxidermist said that the deer were killed not more than 100 miles from the Cripple Creek gold mines, and further, that he knows the spot exactly. He thinks that if deer can get gold filling for their teeth in the ordinary course of nature, a man can get bushels of it. He has so much faith in this that he is going to sell out his business, buy a burro, a grub stake, and a prospector's pick, and then go to prospecting on the deers' trails.

VENDETTAS IN SICILY.

Still Prevalent, and the Slightest Trifle Brings Them On.

In Sicily, young men who are eligible partis have to exercise extreme care in their demeanor toward young unmarried ladies. To dance with them so often as to be remarked, to attempt to talk to them alone, is, to use the ingenious expression of an Italian friend of mine, expected to make you their future-in-law. In the lower classes, says the New York Mercury, a vendetta results if a man pays attention to an unmarried girl without marrying her. Vendettas are quite prevalent still. I heard a characteristic and rather amusing story about one the other day. A gentleman's coachman did his part in a vendetta and was sent to prison for a term—there being no capital punishment in Sicily. His master went to visit him in prison, and asked if he could do anything for him. "Yes, signor; if you will pay half a franc a day for me I can have a better room and better food, and a shave." He attached most importance to the shave. If a man sees his brother being murdered, not more than anyone else in the crowd will he do anything to bring the offender to justice. He may not even interfere. But he will take it upon himself as a sacred duty to kill the murderer whenever he has him at his mercy.

BRIEF BUT INTERESTING.

The Story of an Interview with the Grand Old Man.

The correspondent of a London paper was seated on the stairs leading from the peers' gallery one day, when Mr. Gladstone happened to come downstairs unobserved by him. As the correspondent blocked the way the Grand Old Man said to him, politely: "Will you kindly let me pass?" The question at once suggested a brilliant idea to the newspaper man. He rushed to the telegraph office and sent this dispatch to his paper: "I had a somewhat brief but profoundly interesting conversation with Mr. Gladstone last evening, meeting the right honorable gentleman in the lobby," etc. Mr. Gladstone never denied the authenticity of the half column of conversation that followed.

A MYSTERY OF THE RIFLE.

Unaccountable Result of Shooting from a Vise.

Something that no man understands is why a rifle, clamped in an immovable vise, will not put a bullet in the same hole every time, even if the wind does not interfere. A correspondent of Shooting and Fishing tells how he put a rifle of 32 caliber into a vise and fired it ten times, the sights being always aimed directly at a mark. The bullets went all over a four-inch circle at 50 yards. Theoretically all ought to have gone into the same hole.

A man who holds his rifle gripped hard at one time and easily at another will not shoot as well as one who takes the same hold of his rifle every time. The best results are obtained from bench rests when the man puts his shoulder against the rifle butt.

Her Hat an Obstruction.

It is a literal fact, says a London paper, that the conductor of an omnibus had to press down a girl's hat at each side the other day before she could get in at the door. The wearer of the cartwheel could not make out what was hindering her from getting in, when the conductor, with a polite "Allow me," gently depressed the brim on either side.

A Big Shark.

A shark measuring 16 feet in length is announced as having been captured lately in the harbor of Sydney, N. S. W. The fish's stomach on being opened was found to contain a large dog's collar, a man's coat, a briarwood pipe, some coppers and a great number of safety pins.

The Platte.

The river Platte during the summer is dry along the greater portion of its course. The water runs underground, only an occasional pool appearing on the surface. By digging almost anywhere in its course a supply of fresh, cool water may be obtained.

Denmark's Egg Trade.

Denmark's foreign egg trade has grown to a tremendous size, mainly with Britain. Twenty years ago the annual Danish export of eggs was 900,000; now it is reckoned at 111,000,000.

BRITISH HOSPITALITY

Said to Be on the Decline—The Restaurant Too Convenient.

Is the art of British hospitality on the decline? A writer in the London World believes that it is, and assigns as the cause "the adoption for entertaining purposes of that practice of nomadic dining which has been so largely borrowed of late years from the other side of the channel." The home dinner party is disappearing, he mournfully adds, owing to the multiplication of gorgeous and palatial restaurants, with all their alluring possibilities of vicarious hospitality. No one can seriously pretend that to entertain at a restaurant is the same thing as to entertain under one's own roof. It is a trouble-shirking method of discharging social obligations utterly devoid of the sentiment associated with home.

"Flat life" is another "foreign" abomination which is contributing to the downfall of the once cherished British institution. Home life and flat life are two totally distinct things, and to a large exetnt antagonistic. Flat dwellers are debarred from entertaining in any but the most restricted manner, and their only resource is the restaurant. Again, the art of conversation, on which the home dinner depended so much for its success, is on the decline, for to-day "so great" is the dread of mutual boredom that hosts and guests at restaurant dinner parties frequently take the precaution to arm themselves en masse with tickets for the play, and thereby escape from the necessity of entertaining each other for a moment longer than is absolutely necessary by adjourning to the theater immediately the repast is concluded."

IN THE ANDAMAN ISLANDS.

Rather Spicy Sport in the Fishing Line Reported.

An Englishman tells in the London Field of a painful experience he had at the Andaman islands with a parrot fish. The parrot fish was of a dirty olive tint, with brown spots, and was possessed of a formidable beak, not unlike a macaw's, only the points met instead of overlapping, and it was composed of bone instead of horn. It was brought to the surface by some experimental torpedoes, and the Englishman picked it up and began poking his finger about it, supposing the brute to be dead. All of a sudden the open beaks came together with a snap and the Englishman lost the top of his thumb. The chunk bitten off was given by the coxswain to a panther (leopard) club.

The same coxswain and a number of sailors were drawing a seine for carnation carp, whose scales were the size of rupees and skin as tough as leather, when, as the seine closed up, a big fish fetched the coxswain a blow in the abdomen that knocked him galley-west over the boat's rail and into the water. That upset the boat, but all hands were rescued, and the fish were taken out to be eaten.

The Andaman islands furnish considerable sport with guns as well as rods, snipe and wild pigs being abundant at proper seasons.

To Be Worked on Early Purchasers of

The Spalding Bicycle

After the adoption of our 1896 model and a careful estimate of the cost of manufacture, we placed the price on the Spalding Bicycle at $100. The price is now $100 and will continue at $100 throughout the season, no matter what other manufacturers may do.

We don't believe it is fair, honest or good business policy to sell a standard article like the Spalding Bicycle at one price in May and reduce its value in June by a material reduction in price. As a matter of common fairness to early purchasers of Spalding Bicycles and as an evidence of good faith on our part we will, in case of reduction in price during the season, send a rebate check to every purchaser of a Spalding Bicycle of the amount of any such reduction that may be made by us during the season. This is our meaning of a Horrible Fatality Enacted at a LaGrande Avenue Home.

WERE FILLING A GASOLENE STOVE.

The Volitile Fluid Became Ignited and Exploded, Setting Fire to the Wearing Apparel of Fifteen-Year-Old Alice Morcum and Mrs. Gertrude Peterson—The Former Burned to Death in a Few Minutes, But the Latter's Life Was Saved by the Prompt Action of a Boarder and a Neighbor. Though She Lives in a Precarious Condition in the Muhlenberg Hospital—Details of the Affair.

Death in one of its most terrible forms, by fire, came to fifteen-year-old Alice M. Morcom, early yesterday morning, and the same explosion of gasolene, that ignited her clothing causing the fatal burns, also resulting in the probably fatal burning of Mrs. Gertrude Peterson, of 623 LaGrande avenue.

This frightful accident, that proved so fatal, happened at the home of Mrs. Peterson about seven o'clock in the morning. Alice Morcom was employed by Mrs. Peterson to assist her in the household duties, and together they were preparing the Sunday breakfast. The two kettles on the gasolene stove, which is kept in the little shed just outside the kitchen, were singing merrily, while Mrs. Peterson and her assistant were bustling about making the first preparations for the morning meal, little thinking of the awful disaster that was almost upon them. The little float in the reservoir of the stove signalled for more fuel. The gasolene can was always kept down cellar away from any fire, and a pail partially filled with the volatile fluid to reload the reservoir, was then brought up stairs. Mrs. Peterson put the pint tin pail of gasolene on the floor while preparing to turn out the flames before refilling it. The cap to the reservoir was unscrewed and the funnel placed therein so as not to lose any time so that the gasolene could be put into the reservoir as soon as the fire was turned off, as Mrs. Peterson never filled the stove when it was lighted. Mrs. Peterson went out into the hall for something, and when she returned she forgot, for the moment, that she had left the pail on the floor. She walked across the kitchen and accidentally struck the pail with her foot, upsetting it, while its liquid contents spread over the floor. Gasolene is very volatile, and the gas rose from it immediately. It ignited from the stove, and then there was bright flash and roar as the gasolene exploded, and the shed and kitchen were soon filled with flames, which shot out of the windows and doors. Both of the women were enveloped in flames in an instant.

"Help! Fire!" they screamed. Mrs. Peterson is a widow, and her three children live with her, Ella and Leon Peterson and Martha I. F. Merrill, for Mrs. Peterson has been married twice. There were also three boarders in the house whose rooms were on the second floor. They were Nathaniel E. Greenidge, J. J. Laughlin and George Eckhard. Greenidge is a cyclist, and Saturday afternoon and evening he went out for a ride with two friends. They went to Boynton Beach and on their return while near Rahway, an accident wrecked Greenidge's wheel. He took the train home and did not arrived here until quite late. It is no slight job to carry a disabled wheel and he was very tired, he threw himself on his bed just as he was in his bicycle suit, and in another moment he was fast asleep. He came down stairs a few minutes before the accident occurred, but had gone back and just entered Laughlin's room when he heard the screams of the frightened women. In an instant, he was out of the room and flying down the front stairs, four or five steps at a time. The sight that met his gaze when he reached the bottom was enough to unnerve anyone. There, in the hall, stood Mrs. Peterson enveloped in flames, apparently dazed by the suddenness of the explosion. It is supposed that she ran there there in her excitement. Greenidge took in the situation at a glance. The hall was too small for him to get at the flames, but the parlor door stood open and he rushed forward, trying to force her into the room. As he did so he called to his companions upstairs for blankets and quilts. While he was struggling with Mrs. Peterson, who, not knowing what she was about, resisted his efforts aided by the flames, the front door was burst open from without, and Eugene Heinerman, who lives next door, rushed in, clad only in his night robe, with his long flannel dressing gown in his hand.

Heinerman is an amateur photographer of considerable expertness, and it has been his custom to rise early in the morning to print some of his pictures. Sunday morning he was just preparing a plate for printing when he heard a muffled roar and saw flames issue from the windows of the kitchen and shed in the next house. Realizing that there was trouble he hurried to the scene of the disaster. As he ran across the intervening space between the two houses he heard screams of "fire," and so he removed the dressing-gown which he had put on to work in. He pushed open the door to find a woman whose clothing was all ablaze and a man trying to save her. Heinerman seized her by the arm, but the flesh had been burned and gave way in his grasp. Then, with Greenidge's aid, she was dragged outdoors, where Heinerman's dressing-gown and finally blankets were thrown over her. So the flames were extinguished, but Mrs. Peterson came out of her semi-unconscious state and began to feel the agonizing pains. Her screams were something dreadful to listen to and effectually roused the neighbors. She spoke very little, but her first question was for "Alice."

Eckhard had followed Greenidge down stairs as soon as he could pull on his trousers, and hurried into the kitchen to find Alice Morcum, who he knew must have been near the scene of the explosion. The kitchen and back shed were full of suffocating smoke and flames, for the curtains and part of the woodwork had caught fire. He could find nothing of the young girl, however, until the fire department arrived about ten minutes later, when he came to the dining room door and there on the floor lay a pitiful object. It was Alice Morcum burned beyond recognition and dead, or nearly so, when he discovered her.

All her clothing had been burned off her body with the exception of a portion of one stocking and a shoe, and the flames were rapidly carbonizing the flesh. Eckhard was already nearly stifled by the smoke and flames but seizing a quilt that had been thrown down stairs by Leon Peterson, he tried to extinguish the flames but it was not until water was used that they were completely put out.

But it was of no use, the aid had come too late and the fatal flames had been drawn into her lungs while her body was horribly burned, almost to a crisp.

The cries of the two victims of the explosion were heard by many of the neighbors who hurried to the scene of the fatality. Gilbert S. Martin, who lives in the next house on the left, was one of the first to reach the place. The flames in the kitchen and back shed were extinguished by Laughlin and several of the neighbors. They found the gasolene stove burning brightly and the kettle still boiling. The cap to the reservoir had been removed and the funnel was still in the reservoir. Driver Feiring of the chemical engine threw it out doors. The pail in which the gasolene was brought up from the cellar was found on the floor laying on its side near the stove.

One of the neighbors tried to send in an alarm of fire from box 24 as soon as he saw the flames but as that is only to be blown in case of fire at the Scott's press works, he had to run to box 23 from which an alarm was sent. The fire apparatus arrived at Mrs. Peterson's house about ten minutes after the accident.

As soon as the flames that had enveloped Mrs. Peterson, had been put out, Heinerman hurried to Keely's stables on LaGrande avenue and asked that a doctor be called and the fire department notified. The central office was requested to call any one, but the calls were not answered and another attempt was made. At last Chief Doane drove to Dr. Hedges' house, roused Dr. Ben Hedges from his slumbers and hurried him back to the scene of the catastrophe. It was nearly half an hour after the accident that the doctor arrived and Mrs. Peterson was in dreadful agony. She had been carried to Heinerman's house where the latter, who knew something about medicine, tried to partially soothe the pain.

Both Elkhard and Greenidge were burned, the latter quite badly about the hands.

County Physician Westcott was sent for and came at about 9:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Morcum, parents of the unfortunate girl who live on New street, were notified and were present at the examination. Both were completely overcome at the news of the terrible death of their daughter. She has been employed by Mrs. Peterson for the last three months. The Morcum family are English but came to this country sometime ago and moved here last spring from Rahway. Mr. Morcum is a gardener. He recently joined the First M. E. church.

Mrs. Peterson and family have lived here for over a year.

Dr. Westcott gave the parents per-

WHICH ONE IS THE BOSS?

COMPLICATION IN THE BUSINESS OF A LOCAL CONFECTIONERY STORE.

One Man Claims to Be Sole Proprietor, While the Other Asserts That He Is a Partner—The Latter Arrested.

A surprising complication has arisen in the affairs of the New York and Philadelphia confectionery store, for one of the men in charge there claims that he is a partner in the concern, while the other man claims to be the sole proprietor and that the other fellow is only an employe. George Sakelos, the man who claims to be the partner, took some of the funds last Thursday as his share, but the other man, Frank Polities, seriously objected to the confiscation of what he claimed was his, and so Saturday evening he swore out a complaint against Sakelos before Justice Newcorn charging him with receiving money belonging to him, Frank Polities, his master or employer, with intent to defraud. Constable Rockafellow arrested him and he was finally released on bail to appear for examination on Wednesday morning.

Polities does not know exactly how much money is involved, but it is about $100.

Polities and Sakelos are both Greeks and came here a year ago last spring, starting a candy store on West Front street, just above Somerset. Sakelos has apparently had as much to do with the store as Polities, as the goods often came addressed to him and he usually paid the bills. When anyone inquired who was boss, each usually pointed at the other, but now it seems that they have changed their opinions.

MARCH OF PROGRESS.

Another Big Real Estate Improvement About to be Consummated.

The march of improvement still goes on in Plainfield, and now the Press is privileged to record a movement which will open up another plot of desirable building lots for residential purposes, and add a thoroughfare that will be a credit to and enhance the beauty of the city. It is the plan to extend Sycamore avenue from its present termination at Myrtle avenue, midway between Girard and Washington avenues, to a point on Front street near Plainfield avenue.

A syndicate of gentlemen who believe that the growth and progress of Plainfield is bound to continue has purchased the property near the Park club, and now used as a base ball field, owned by L. E. Hart and Mrs. Carman Parse. It is their intention to lay out the property in building lots and extend Sycamore avenue across the lower end. Before the avenue can be opened to Front street, however, it will be necessary for them to acquire the Phineas Randolph property on Front street, owned by Frank S. Runyon. They have already made an offer for the property, but it was not satisfactory to the owner. The deal will probably be consummated though, as it will be necessary to have the property before the improvement can be made.

Among those interested in the scheme are B. A. Hegeman, Charles A. Reed and William J. Roome.

Death of Mrs. Everett.

The death of Mrs. Jacob Everett, aged 40 years, occurred yesterday morning at 11:30 o'clock, after an illness lasting three years. She was living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sheppard on Prospect place. A husband and two children, a boy and girl, survive her. She was a sister-in-law of Mrs. Joseph Bolsterli, who has just lost her husband by death. The funeral services will be private, and will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the house.

A Quiet Wedding.

Miss Susan Vail Runyon, daughter of the late Judge E. W. Runyon, of this city, was married at the home of her sister, Mrs. Robert Lowry, of 902 Madison avenue, on Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock, to Arthur E. Lee, of Forto Rico. The Rev. Robert Lowry, D. D., performed the ceremouy in the presence of the immediate family. Mr. and Mrs. Lee left on 6:30 train for a tour of two weeks, and on their return will make their home in New York.

M. C. Stewart, a former resident of Plainfield, but now of New York city, where he holds the position of Superintendent of Repairs for Trinity corporation, wears a very wide smile. It is a daughter, and she born Thursday last.

Mothers will find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy especially valuable for and whooping cough. It will give prompt relief and is safe and pleasant. We have sold it for several years and it has never failed to give the most perfect satisfaction. G. W. Richards, Duquesne, Pa. Sold by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

MADE MERRY AT THE INN

BRILLIANT RECEPTION HELD AT MT. PARK SATURDAY NIGHT.

Attended by a Large Number of Society People, Who Enjoyed a Most Pleasant Time—Those in Attendance.

The superb Mountain Park Inn was resplendent in all its beauty Saturday evening, when the first hop of the season and formal opening was given by the management. The evening was all that one could desire and not a thing happened to mar the event. The approach to the inn was brilliantly illuminated with a large number of electric lights. One could hardly realize that such a beautiful structure was located in this charming spot.

The guests were hospitably received by Manager George S. Moulton, whose genial manner has won for him a host of friends.

The spacious hall and parlor were beautifully decorated and the prevailing colors were green and pink. In the parlor Rogers and his orchestra were playing a choice programme and the sweet strains brought the merry dancers to the floor, where at frequent intervals the latest figures were danced by the young people and some of the older ones, too.

About 11 o'clock the dining room was thrown open and the guests were invited to partake of the supper provided.

The affair came to an end about 12 o'clock and it was with regrets that the guests left for home. All were exceedingly complimentary in their remarks about the hotel and the management. It is quite likely that the hops will be given frequently and thus the season will be made a gay one at Mountain Park Inn.

The guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. Chandler W. Riker, Corporation Counsel and Mrs. Craig A. Marsh, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Church, Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Thiers, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. ENDEAVOR NOTES.

Matters That Will Interest the Vast Army of Young Christians.

Below will be found some Christian Endeavor notes of interest to local members.

Nearly everyone of the seventy-five societies in the Essex County Union are holding Washington rallies for the purpose of sending a large delegation to the National Convention. The cycling members of the above Union will go to Washington on their wheels. Three days will be taken for the trip. Other members wishing to join the run should address A. W. Clark, 33 Chestnut street, Newark. R. B. Sinclair, superintendent of the correspondence department has resigned to enter Y. M. C. A. work, and Dr. William R. Ward, of Lyons Farms, has been appointed to the vacancy.

Those in charge of the State Junior Christian Endeavor Society have the following to say:

"Don't forget the roll of honor, which is to be displayed at the October convention in Plainfield. Every Junior society contributing not less than $5 to the work of missions, through its own denominational boards, will have its name inscribed on this roll, if it is reported before the convention is held. All correspondence should be sent to the State superintendent at 414 N. Second street, Camden.

"There is a Christian Endeavorer in the west who is a railroad conductor. In his train he has placed a paper rack which he keeps supplied with religious literature.

"The Junior Christian Endeavor Society, in the Philadelphia church of which Rev. J. R. Miller, D. D., is pastor, recently decided to attend church every Sunday morning in a body."

HELPUL, AND TO THE POINT.

Dr. Russell's Talk to Endeavorers at the Congregational Church.

The pulpit of the Congregational church was occupied yesterday morning by Rev. Dr. Russell, of Bridgeport, Conn. He preached a very interesting and helpful sermon, holding the careful attention of every hearer from the first word till the last. The offertory was an exquisite violin solo by P. Ludwig Conde, with organ accompaniment by Mrs. B. T. Barnes.

In the evening, the Christian Endeavor Society had an unusual treat in an address by Dr. Russell on the subject "True manliness and true womanliness." Every word of the address was helpful, practical, and to the point. He emphasized the fact that the true manly or womanly character should be complete, well-rounded, attention being paid alike to physical, intellectual and spiritual development; and gave many practical hints for improvement in the three directions. At the close of the address, there was a vocal solo with autoharp accompaniment by Miss Elfleda Alberti Whiting.

Peter B. Wright Takes a Wife.

A number of Plainfield people were considerably surprised yesterday morning to receive announcements of the marriage of Peter B. Wright, formerly of this city, but now manager of the Hotel Netherlands, New York, and Mrs. Tillie C. Wightman. The happy event was solemnized Saturday in New York. Mr. Wright's many friends in this city extend their congratulations.

Fractured His Collar Bone.

A young man named Burke, aged eighteen years, of this city, was brought to Plainfield this morning from Milford, Pa., where he has been stopping. On Saturday he met with an accident which resulted in the fracture of the collar bone. He was taken to the hospital for treatment.

—The landlord and tenant case of Wright against Luebeck, for possession of premises for non-payment of rent, was tried this morning before Justice Crosley, and a decision was rendered in favor of the plaintiff, who was represented by Lawyer McClure. The defendant was represented by Judge DeMeza.

—The quietude of Stone street, was rudely disturbed yesterday morning about 8 o'clock by shrieks and other discordant sounds. The residents of the neighborhood flocked to the scene to find that the commotion had been caused by a periodical quarrel of a family in that street.

—The fender on a trolley car struck and slightly injured a man at Somerset street and Greenbrook road about 9:30 o'cock Saturday evening. The man's name is not known, as he started limping away.

Did you ever think how readily the blood is poisoned by constipation? Bad blood means bad health and premature old age. DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills, overcome obstinate constipation. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 143 West Fron Street.

DEFEATED A CRACK TEAM

Y. M. C. A. BALL TOSSERS BEAT THE FLEMINGTON NINE 5 TO 2.

The Local Team Put Up an Errorless Game and Won by Bunching Hits at an Opportune Time—The Score in Detail.

There was civil war down at the baseball field of the Y. M. C. A. nine Saturday afternoon, at least it was brother against brother. The visitors were the crack players of the Flemington nine and they had for their pitcher Warren McLaughlin, of the borough. His brother, John McLaughlin, occupied the box for the local team. The game was a good one, indeed, it was excellent, and the Plainfield boys put up an errorless game. They batted well and although they did not make as many hits as their opponents, yet they bunched them and succeeded in rolling up a score of 5 to the 2 of the Flemingtons.

There was one thing that the visitors were far ahead in, however, and that was coaching. Dennis was the only one to do any for the local boys, but Rothfuss of the other side was a "peach" at it. His voice sounded something like the croak of a bullfrog and the roar of a bull. He danced about as if he had an epileptic fit and greatly pleased the cranks generally.

The Plainfield team took the lead at the start by one run, made on a two-bagger by Townley and an error by Freddie Jones. And, by the way, it is the same old Freddie that used to be such a favorite on the Crescents; he has a mustache now and is a little stouter.

The sixth inning was the eventful one. Major struck out, and then Captain Mac knocked a beauty right over his brother's head. Sansom followed with another, good for two bases, while MacLaughlin went on to third. Francis came up next and the younger brother made a mistake and gave him his base on four bad balls.

"Hit it, Corey!" yelled the crowd as that worthy came up to bat, and he did, making a clean hit. Mac scored and Sansom and Francis followed as the third baseman apparently lost his nerve for he toyed with the ball, threw it wild, and couldn't catch it when it was thrown in his hands. Cory was finally caught at the plate and Schenck hit an easy fly to left.

The Flemingtons made a run in this inning on a single by Wyckoff, a double by Jones and a sacrifice by Volk. Plainfield came near scoring in the seventh when Dennis reached third with two men out.

"Your name is Dennis, if you don't come in!" shouted a facetious rooter, but Dennis didn't.

The other run was made by Sansom in the eighth innings. He took first on a hit, stole second, and finished the circuit on two passed balls.

Two single hits and two sacrifice hits sent "Warry" MacLaughlin round the bases for Flemington in the ninth inning. The score in detail was as follows:

Honeyman Party on the Umbria.

The Honeyman European tourist party sailed on the steamer Umbria, which struck the wreck in Gedney's channel on Saturday morning. There was considerable apprehension among the party's friends in this city lest some harm should come to them. They breathed easier when it became known that the steamer had proceeded on her voyage none the worse for the temporary delay.

Injured Getting Off a Trolley Car.

John McKanna, of 198 Grove street, sustained a severe injury to his ankle late last evening while attempting to get off a trolley car at the corner of Front and Grove streets. It was found necessary to take him to the hospital, where he is now under treatment. He will be able to leave the hospital in a short time.

137 MEN ENTOMBED

Awful Result of a Mine Disaster at Pittston.

HEARTRENDING SCENES AT THE SHAFT

Believed That There Is Absolutely No Hope—Immeditate Death or Lengthened Anguish the Lot of the Imprisoned Miners.

Pittston, Pa., June 29.—Although there is still much confusion and doubt as to the number of those entombed in the mine disaster here, enough is known this morning to place the loss of life at 137, at a conservative estimate. To-day the head of the shaft is thronged by thousands of men, women and children, the latter wringing their hands and uttering most heartrending cries for their beloved ones who are imprisoned in the dark pit beneath. The hours following the alarm will long be remembered by those witnessing the sights, the anxious suspense of the workmen, the grief of the friends and the tender sympathy for the afflicted ones by the spectators requires more than the United Press reporter could describe. The foreign element, in particular, by their piercing harangues, with their wild demands for friends, gave to the weird and harrowing sight one of peculiar solemnity. Efforts were made to quiet them by tendering the little encouragement possible, but unavailing were those efforts put forth, as the mothers, fathers, daughters, sons, brothers and sisters reasonably feared the worst, and upon the first information received their fears were found to be well grounded.

First Report of the Disaster's Extent.

The first to come to the surface from the shaft below after the explosion was John Gill. The force of the concussion threw him with terrific speed against the wall, and with intense fear, more dead than alive, he crept to the foot and with great difficulty signalled to the engineer at the surface to hoist the carriage. When he was brought up his story, freighted with direful statements, gave to the few bosses present doubts as to the safety of any of the men or boys below. From him was secured the first information of the number who appear to be likely to be in the mine and to add another to those fearful disasters occurring in the anthracite coal regions so frequently. The closest approximation he could make was that 135 or more workmen have suffered a most horrible death.

The True and Frightful Story.

Just after Gill was brought up word came from the pit that more men were ready to be hoisted, but only momentarily did hope live, for but three came to the surface, and they told the true and frightful story. The men in the mine were there for the sole purpose of pillaring and propping up the sixth vein, which had been discovered to be in a dangerous condition some days ago, so that the regular force of miners could go to work in safety this morning. They were working about 3,000 feet from the shaft.

Excitement and Disturbance.

The repairing force had been placed at a point beyond that of the night hands and the terrible news brought to the surface by the three men, who will likely be the only ones to tell the tale, was that all of these 137 or more men had been caught and either crushed to immediate death or imprisoned to perish in a most horrifying manner. Responsive to this discouraging news the excitement and disturbance became more demonstrative. It was found, to the consternation of the few men present on the surface, that all the mine foremen, superintendents and bosses who had gone to supervise the work were also among the imprisoned. This gave the work of relief no systematic head, and yet nobly, unhesitatingly, the rescuers, providing themselves with safety lamps, hurried into the carriage and were lowered a thousand feet or more on their mission of relief.

Efforts at Rescue.

After a half hour of suspense they returned with expressions of discouragement and the story that the cave-in had become more extensive, and that the search party faced inevitable danger, and that no news had been secured of the unfortunate men. With no delay, however, they again went down to the foot of the shaft with other men and again made heroic efforts to get what information they could, but again baffled and discouraged they repeated their dreadful story of defeated effort. For a third time with renewed vigor and still more men, they went beneath the surface into the pit and tried by the counter-gangway to reach by a circuitous route the unfortunate prisoners. After a journey of nearly a thousand feet they met obstructions innumerable, the force of the concussion having created disastrous havoc, brattice work, pillars, air conduits, doors, cars and top rock having been piled promiscuously so as to interfere with all efforts that could be made by any human being. Then to add to the trouble a congregation of gas had occurred so as to endanger any and all efforts to reach anywhere near the imprisoned miners. Not subdued by these obstacles they again ineffectively tried their last resource to relieve and recover the men.

An Encouraging Report.

Gen. manager John B. Law, who has been for several days on a bed of sickness made his appearance at the shaft and untiringly worked to his best ability to give instructions to those outside and succor to those inside. Special messengers hurried forth calling to the shaft or mine all of the company's workmen, as it was indisputably learned that the mine was still caving, thereby endangering and making it practically impossible to continue the labor without propping up the way as the rescuers went in. Carriage after carriage of props were sent to the bottom and much progress was made in this work, and soon the imminent danger was prevented and at least fifty men were pushing their way to the foot of No. 3 plane, the scene of the extensive cave-in. To the brief encouragement of those who feared the explosion had ended the life of everything in the mine, word was sent up that the mules at work were running about with the liberty they enjoyed. The fact of these mules living, unscratched, together with the observances, rightfully left the impression that the explosive sounds heard were due to no gas explo on.

Shattered Hopes.

The supposition that a gas explosion had occurred was later repeated emphatically by General Manager Law, which shattered the hopes raised by the story of the unharmed mules. Later discoveries leave no doubt that all of the men are beyond hope. To the encouragement of all, the fan house has suffered no injury. So far as travel is possible, the air currents are perfect. This fact gives hope to those in control that perhaps a sufficient amount of air can be forced to the rear of the cave-in by a round-about way, but the hope is faint, and at a consultation of the leading superintendents of Lackawanna and Wyoming valleys it was decided that this idea could not be depended upon.

Number of Men Imprisoned.

At this conference reports were made by experienced foremen who had made these rescuing trips and the work done was most fully endorsed and commended, and in their opinion nothing more skillful could have been accomplished. At this conference the fear was expressed that possibly the Susquehanna river nearby the cave was running into the mine. This, however, was entirely supposition as nothing inside justified the opinion, but the fear was expressed. The pump in this locality is under the cave and its work is entirely prevented. At the meeting the possible number imprisoned was mentioned, but this question is wholly a problem as the entire force of bosses and company men, in fact all from whom this information could be derived are in the dark bosom of the pit below. For this rerson the subject of the missing ones is entirely conjectural.

Similar to the Avondale Disaster.

The accident is similar to that of the Avondale disaster, which occurred on Sept. 11, 1869, when 108 miners and laborers lost their lives. The rescuing party have cleared nearly 900 feet of debris away and are propping as they go along. The report sent out that the body of Superintendent Langen had been found is not true.

EXODUS FROM WASHINGTON.

The President May Leave To-morrow, Followed by a General Departure.

Washington, June 29.—Unless something now entirely unforeseen should happen to change his plans there is every probability of the president leaving here to-morrow for Gray Gables, where he will remain for the summer should not the even tenor of events be disturbed by complications not now expected from any quarter. The present week is also likely to witness a very general departure of cabinet officials whose personal presence in Washington is not regarded by them as absolutely necessary during the coming period of midsummer heat and stagnation.

Rev. Dr. Freeman's Golden Jubilee.

Haverstraw, N. Y., June 29.—The exercises of the fiftieth annivery of the pastorate of Rev. Dr. Freeman, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church of this city, commenced yesterday with jubilee services in the Opera house. Friends from far and near were in attendance. There was special music by a choir of fifty trained voices. The house was filled to overflowing, and many were turned away. Dr. Freeman preached a historical sermon. He has preached only in the one church, this being his first and only charge. He is 72 years old, vigorous and hearty Illinois Flag Law Unconstitutional.

Champaign, Ill., June 29.—In the circuit court here Judge Wright has decided that the state law requiring the national flag to be displayed over every schoolhouse in the state during school hours is unconstitutional and void. In doing so he quashes the indictments which were recently returned by the grand jury against Gov. Altgeld, the trustees of the University of Illinois here, and the officers of the city schools for violations of the law.

Dined by Ambassador Uhl.

Berlin, June 29.—United States Ambassador Uhl will give a breakfast on July 4 to Mrs. Ewing, wife of the United States minister to Belgium, the wives of the United States consuls at Aachen, Stettin, Mannheim and Bremen and Mesdames De Kay and Zimmerman respectively, the wives of the United States consul general and vice-consul general at Berlin.

Aid for Striking Coopers.

Brockton, Mass., June 29.—The Central Labor union last night voted financial aid to the Kansas City trades assembly to be used by the coopers' union in its fight against an injunction, said injunction being the case of the Armour Packing Co. serving notice on its men in the struggle for shorter hours and higher wages.

Wanted for Forgery and Bigamy.

Montreal, June 29.—W. F. Hansell, a druggist of Ann Arbor, Mich., is under arrest here for attempting suicide. The deputy sheriff of Ann Arbor is here to take him home to answer charges of forgery and bigamy.

HELLO GIRL'S DISCOVERY.

She Listened to the Vibrant Tenor Voice at the 'Phone.

In the Detroit Electrical works there is a night watchman who possesses an exceptionally fine tenor voice, and when he has nothing else to do he sings to keep himself awake, says the Detroit Tribune. Up in the big telephone exchange a dozen girls are told off for night duty. They are, like the tenor, fond of the songs of the day, but, unlike him, they are not allowed to sing, and they grow lonely after the calls begin to be few and far between and the murmur of the street traffic below has ceased.

Some months ago, it is related, one of the girls who had answered a call from the electrical works, overheard the watchman singing his favorite song. She listened as long as she could without arousing the ire of the unmusical individual at the other end of the line, and then confided her discovery to the rest of the girls. There was a short but eager council of war, and the girl who made the discovery was deputed to call up the harmonious watchman and ask him for a song. The watchman, who must be quite a phenomenon in that he is a tenor and also "an extremely bashful young man," required a little coaxing, but eventually complied with the request. All the other girls "cut in" on the line, and the watchman was encored so often that his throat was sore when the concert was finished.

But this unique tenor is as fastidious as he is shy. It is said that there was only one girl at the "central" who can induce him to sing, and she is the maiden who made the original long-distance-concert discovery. When the other girls begin to grow tired at night, she calls up the electrical works, and the watchman sings for her, unconscious of the fact that all the girls have "cut in" on the line, and that he is singing to the entire night force of the exchange. The others hint that there is a romance in it, but that is a matter which concerns only the young watchman and the girl at the "central."

OUR PLAYING CARDS.

Conclusion That the Suits Originated in Arrow-Shaped Characters.

"I have it," exclaimed an enthusiastic whistplayer who was engaged in a rubber at a Madison avenue whist club, relates the New York Herald.

"No you haven't," answered his partner. "It was trumped."

"I don't mean the trick," replied the first; "I refer to the origin of the characters on the cards. They have always puzzled me. I have studied the matter, read all that has been written on the subject and have never until this moment been satisfied as to how the cards came to bear the shapes we call hearts, diamonds, clubs and spades. Just now, as those spots representing the four suits lay there together, the signification of their forms flashed on me."

"Well what is it?" asked his partner.

"Simple as can be," answered the other. "Look at those four suits and see how much alike they are in form. Can't you see they are all arrows? Cuneiform, and no mistake. They quite evidently originated with the old Assyrian inscriptions. I have no doubt that these figures originally represented arrowheads. When the Germans adopted the heart, bell, leaf and acorn on their cards they preserved the ancient form. Here are four varying shapes of the arrowhead, likely coming from four different and opposing tribes. Hence conflict between the suits as we play the game to-day."

FROM THE ORIENT.

Homely Bridegroom Hires Another to Stand in His Place.

A queer Arabian Nights' tale comes from the Punjab. A few weeks ago a party of weavers formed a marriage procession and started for a village in Ferozpore. The bridegroom was bald and blind of one eye, and his father feared the bride's parents would refuse him, so the weaver advised them to present a barber's boy who was with them as the groom. The barber was dressed in the groom's wedding garments and was accepted. When the marriage was over and they had returned home the weaver demanded his bride, but the barber refused to give her up, and now they have gone to law to settle the question.

ENGLISH POTWALLOPERS.

A Picturesque Survival of One of the Oldest Franchises.

Says the London Globe: "The last of the 'potwallopers' is dead. His name was Richard Atkinson, his age 97, and the scene of his potwalloping glories the ancient borough of Pontefract. The 'potwalloper' was a man who acquired the franchise by the extraordinary process of having boiled his own pot in the constituency for six months before the election. As an electoral class they were, as was natural, sublimely corrupt, and were deservedly abolished in 1832. They were, however, a picturesque survival of, probably, the oldest franchise, next to that of the '40-shilling freeholder.'"

Cool Enough.

A Massachusetts congressman who was on board the train which was wrecked at Hyde Park, Mass., last fall, says that when the shock came one of the passengers was pitched over several seats just in time to receive the contents of the water-cooler, which tipped over and soaked his clothing with ice-water. A highly-excited passenger rushed up to him and told him to keep cool.

"Go way," said the wet man; "I am the coolest man in the car. I have just had two buckets of ice-water emptied down my back."

Old Bridges.

The most numerous of the medieval bridges existing in England are of one arch, of which the fine old bridge near Danby castle, in Cleveland, with its circular arch ornamented with the arms of Lord Neville of Raby and built in 1386, is a good example.

One Minute Late

It makes no difference whether you were one minute or one hour late, if you missed the train. Better get there on time, even if you have to wait. One hour early is better than one minute late. Delay costs thousands of lives each year. "Neglected colds" is the beginning of the story; and consumption is the end. Few remedies, and but little of them, cure in the beginning. Later, many remedies long continued, and tedious journeys, too frequently end in disappointment.

LI HUNG CHANG'S TOUR.

He Will Not Be So Effusively Received in London as in Berlin.

London, June 29.—Li Hung Chang will not receive in London the ceremonial state reception with which he has been greeted in Berlin. The English foreign office has no confidence in the prospective value of his mission. It is said, indeed, that he is not authorized by the emperor or the Tsung-li-Yamen to make any definite proposals whatever. His credentials to the respective chiefs of state with whom he confers recite his numerous Chinese titles, but do not accredit him as an envoy authoritized to negotiate anything. Whatever may be the Berlin belief in the importance of Li Hung Chang's visit, it is by no means shared in London. Pekin diplomatic advices represent him as undertaking the tour of the European capitals as a kind of personal diplomatic speculation. He has promised the Pekin government to obtain the consent of the interested powers to the modification of the commercial treaties, notably an increase from 5 to 8 per cent. in the customs duties. He promises in return the opening of more ports, extended freedom of inland navigation for foreign enterprise, reduction of transit dues, etc. But he has no power to pledge his government to any of these promises. These Pekin advices add that the majority of the members of the Tsung-li-Yamen want to complete the downfall of the old statesman, and are prepared to do so by foiling and discrediting any success he might obtain in Europe or America. Mr. Hart, the brother of Sir Robert Hart, head of the Chinese customs, accompanies him to London, and Mr. Drew, well known in Chinese-American commercial circles, will be with him in Washington

OUR MINERAL PRODUCT.

Increase for 1895 of More Than $80,000,000 Over 1894.

Washington, June 29.—According to official statistics just issued by the director of the geological survey the total value of mineral products of the United States for 1895 increased over eighty million dollars beyond the value for 1894; or from $527,368,594 to $611,795,290. This increase is considered a long step towards recovery from the depression to which the mineral industry, like all others, has been subjected. The total value is slightly less than the greatest recorded, which was over 648,000,000 in 1892. In terms of quantities produced, instead of value received, 1895 is greatest, prices being lower. The director declares that if the record of the total values recorded since 1880 be considered the increase from $350,319,000 to $611,795,290 is significant and gives a fair approximation to what our normal mineral product should have been half way between these dates, or in 1888. The great products of 1892 and 1895 show the ease with which the mines can respond to any unusual demand; also that the capacity is greater than the ability to market the product.

THOMAS THORNTON KILLED.

The Actor's Brother Was Resisting Arrest for Attempted Highway Robbery.

New York, June 29.—While endeavoring to escape from Policeman William J. Allingham of the West Twentieth street station, who had arrested him for attempted highway robbery, Thomas Thornton, a brother J. Thornton, the actor and song writer, was shot and instantly killed yesterday on West Twenty-fifth street. John Thornton, another brother, who was also arrested at the same time for the crime, was held in Jefferson market court by Magistrate Kudlich in $5,000 bail for trial on a charge of assault and robbery preferred by C. A. Melander. Agnes Thornton, the wife of the dead man, was also arraigned in court on a charge of intoxication and disorderly conduct and was committed by Magistrate Kudlich to the work house.

Golden Jubilee Ceremony Closed.

Worcester, Mass., June 29.—St. John's golden jubilee was brought to a close yesterday by the holding of solemn pontifical mass in the morning, in which Rt. Rev. Bishop Beaven was celebrant. A cablegram was received from Rome conveying the papal blessing to Rt. Rev. Mgr. Griffin, the pastor, and his people. The clergy was tendered a reception in the afternoon by the laity, when an address was delivered by Edward J. MacMahon.

GOSSIP FROM BERLIN

Socialists Promised Repeal of an Obnoxious Law.

TALK OF A NEW CHANCELLOR

Rumors of Prince Hohenlohe's Retirement Revived—Comment on a Recent Speech of the Grand Duke of Baden.

Berlin, June 29.—At the close of the debate on the question of the second reading of the government's civil code bill in the reichstag Prince Hohenlohe, the imperial chancellor, made an important announcement in relation to the existing prohibitory regulations in regard to political associations having ramifications with each other. The socialists, upon whom the prohibitory regulations have been especially operative, had moved the repeal of the measure, but the chamber would not assent to its abrogation. The chancellor stated that the debate need continue no longer, as modifications of prohibitory measure, which were tantamount to its repeal, were already under consideration by the bundesrath.

The Chancellorship.

In the talk in the lobbies the matter of Prince Hohenlohe's early retirement from the chancellorship is revived, and members of the reichstag who are associated with the chancellor's inner circle affirm that it is absolutely certain that he will resign within a very short time. Indeed, they assert that the chancellor is only awaiting the passage of the civil code bill, when he will hand his resignation to the emperor. Count von Eulenburg, German ambassador to Austria and a close personal friend of the kaiser; Prince Furstenburg, and Prince von Hatzfeldt zu Traehenburg are mentioned most prominently for the succession.

Does Not Want the Office.

The claims of Count Eulenburg are based wholly upon the favor of the emperor and Prince Furstenburg, although recovering from his recent attack of gout is said to have disclosed to his physicians a tendency to diabetes, which would render the active performance of the duties of chancellor a source of danger to him. According to the Court Circle the kaiser recently communicated with Prince von Hatzfeldt Trachenburg expressing his intention to appoint the prince to the office of chancellor of the empire, to which letter the latter replied that he did not feel sufficiently energetic to undertake the arduous duties of the post. The emperor, according to the authority quoted, rejoined by saying that the prince's energy would develop once he had assumed the office, but it is understood that the prince is still begging off, and it is generally believed that his reluctance to take the office is genuine.

A Reply to Prince Ludwig.

The newspapers throughout Germany are quoting and commenting upon a notable speech recently delivered by the Grand Duke of Baden upon the occasion of his inauguration of the ceremonies marking the twenty-fourth anniversary service in memory of the soldiers of Baden who were killed in the war of 1870. The speech was clearly in response to the remarks of Prince Ludwig of Bavaria at the dinner given to the German princes by the Deutsche verein at Moscow upon the occasion of the coronation of the czar, when the heir apparent to the Bavarian throne protested against being alluded to as a member of the suite of Prince Henry of Prussia and declared that he was an ally, not a vassal of Germany, and was also intended to rebuke those who have taken part in the consequent particularist demonstrations in the south German states. The grand duke in the course of his remarks said: "What ought to be the practical outcome of the celebrations in honor of the foundation of the empire? We must swear to maintain it and must be ready to engage in a struggle not only against foreign enemies, but against internal enemies I wish to hold fast to German unity. Let the attack come from whence it may or from whomsoever it may, it concerns us to hold firmly together and to maintain our respect for the empire. God keep us from failing in our devotion and love for the crown and the empire." The grand duke concluded his remarks by calling for cheers for the kaiser, adding, in alluding to the emperor: "Whose mission to preserve and protect the empire in so increasing its power."

McLean's Candidacy.

Cincinnati, June 29.—John R. McLean is in earnest in his candidacy for the democratic presidential nomination. Peter Schwab, a leading Butler county democrat, is authority for the statement that McLean told him he would be a candidate for the first place on the ticket, and that seeing that the tendency of the democracy was toward free silver, he had taken a stand on free silver with the avowed purpose of making a fight for the presidency.

Another Expedition Landed.

Galveston, Tex., June 29.—Agent Perres, the local representative, has received the following self-explanatory telegram, signed by J. D. Peyo, agent at Key West: Richard Trehuillo, with eighteen men, 400 Winchesters, 50,000 cartridges, medicines and explosives, has landed in Cuba from Florida.

New York State Mortality.

Albany, June 29.—The bulletin of the state board of health on the subject of vital statistics shows that during the month of May there were 2,541 deaths throughout the state, a daily average of 308, against 350 in April and 358 in March.

Any one can get this insurance for 25 cents that being the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. One or two doses of this remedy will cure any ordinary case. It never fails. Can you afford to take the risk for so small an amount? For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

OWN HOUSE OF WORSHIP

THE MT. PLEASANT CHAPEL DEDICATED YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

Of Colonial Design and Conveniently Arranged for the Purposes to Which It Will be Put—The Special Services.

The dedication of Union chapel at Mount Pleasant took place yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Owing to the disagreeable weather many who expected to be present were detained at home, but notwithstanding this fact the pretty little chapel was filled with members and friends whose hearts were made glad to know that the chapel was a reality.

As will be seen by the cut, the chapel is of the Colonial style and very substantial. The architect,

UNION CHAPEL AT MOUNT PLEASANT.

Charles H Smith, of this city, very generously donated the plans for the building, which is well arranged to suit its needs. The building is frame and contains two rooms. The main room is 22x36 and the other is 12x17. The latter will be used for the primary department of the Sunday-school. The interior is finished in hard work and is exceedingly pretty.

Howard Runyon, superintendent of the Sunday-school, presided yesterday afternoon. The exercises were opened with a selection, "Gently Lord, O Gently Lead Us," by a quartette consisting of Miss Katharine Glen, soprano; Miss Lottie Messerschmith, alto; W. M. Miner, tenor; and William E. MacClymont, basso and organist. Mr. Runyon then offered prayer, and followed with a few introductory remarks in which he emphasized the fact that the chapel was a union one and all were expected to assist in all of the services. The congregation then sang "Blest be the Tie," after which Dr. D. J. Yerkes read the Scripture selection. Another selection, "Jesus Lover of My Soul," was rendered by the quartette.

Mr. DeForest, who is chairman of the building committee, made a brief report of the work in erecting the chapel. He stated that, exclusive of sand and stone, the entire cost was $1,227.75. The incidental expenses were $22.75. The young women of the chapel gave the first $100 and in all they have contributed $283.55. The chapel furnishings cost $123.80. A large amount of the total cost has been contributed by Plainfield people. Mr. DeForest spoke very highly of the fact that Charles H. Smith had given the plans free of cost and had superintended the construction of the building. He also mentioned the earnest efforts and prayers that had been offered.

Dr. Yerkes followed the reading of the report with a prayer and the quartette rendered "Nearer My God to Thee."

Rev. C. E. Herring was then introduced and made a short address. His remarks were taken from the text "One thing have I desired," which is found in Psalm 27:4. Mr. Herring said in part:

"A person does not get one tenth of the things desired. We don't get answers to our prayers because we do not penetrate far enough. David wanted one thing, and that was to behold the beauty of the Lord. He was intense in his prayer and he sought persistently. The Saviour once said to Martha, 'You have the one thing needful,' and to the rich young ruler he said, 'One thing thou lackest.' This chapel means that you want to come together and that you want one thing, that you want to see the beauty of the Lord. You must ask and seek with perseverance. This is God's resting place. Let man be hid and God's glory revealed. May you learn more of God's word and may this chapel be consecrated to His service."

Mr. Runyon stated that Mr. Munger was unable to be present and had sent a note in explanation. Mr. Runyon said that in 1825 Rev. Mr. Bond, now deceased, used to preach in the old chapel and Miss Payne, sister of Mrs. Shotwell, of this city, also taught in the Sunday-school.

E. E. Anthony, president of the Christian Endevor Local Union, was called upon and made a few remarks appropriate to the occasion. He said the first time he ever spoke in public was in the old chapel. He hoped that while the people were dedicating the chapel they would also dedicate their hearts to God. After the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers" the benediction was pronounced by Rev. B. W. Hand.

A large number of persons were present from this city and enjoyed the exercises very much.

mission to remove the body to the home, which was done.

Mrs. Peterson was visited by her daughter, Martha Merrill, at the hospital yesterday afternoon and told the story of the accident and how it occurred in short, disjointed sentences as, in her present condition, she was unable to talk much. There are still hopes of her recovery and this afternoon her condition is about the same.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by continually failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. DIED IN THE FAR WEST.

WORD RECEIVED OF THE SUDDEN END OF JOS. BOLSTERLI.

He Was Quite a Noted Rough Rider, and the Supposition is That He Lost His Life by Being Thrown from a Horse

Three weeks ago this morning Jos. Bolsterli, of Chatham street, left town for Wyoming, and Saturday evening a telegram was received by his relatives informing them that Mr. Bolsterli had been accidentally killed and asking what disposition should be made of the body. Mr. Bolsterli's wife was in Newark at the time, and the telegram was received by her sister, Mrs. Kline, of Chatham street. Mrs. Kline went at once to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Caspar Bolsterli, parents of the dead man, to inform them of the death, but the parents were not at home, and the sad news was told to the daughter. The parents learned the news soon afterwards. Word was sent to Mrs. Joseph Bolsterli immediately, and she returned home.

The telegram was signed by Frank W. Cooley, Master Workman of the A. O. U. W., of Sheridan, Wyoming. Mr. Bolsterli was a member of Central Lodge, No. 48, A. O. U. W., of this city.

A. M. Runyon & Son telegraphed Saturday night to Mr. Cooley, telling him to send the body to this city; and also asked for the particulars of his death.

This morning a Daily Press representative called on Mrs. Caspar Bolsterli, mother of the dead son. She had no knowledge of how her son met his death, but the supposition seems to be that he was killed in attempting to ride a horse. He was considered an expert rough rider, and for the last few years has been associated with equines of a fractious nature.

Joseph Bolsterli was born near Detroit, Mich., in March, 1864, and came with his parents to New Jersey when a year old. The family located at Lebanon, Hunterdon county. At the latter place he attended school for a time. Later the family moved to Plainfield, where Joseph entered one of the machine shops and learned the trade. When he reached his majority he was married to a Miss Everitt. It has been his custom to make a trip occasionally to the west and he has visited Dakota, Wyoming, Texas and several other places. While in the west he invariably worked at his trade and at odd times devoted himself to riding wild horses. A year ago last winter he was associated with Buffalo Bill's wild west shows for three weeks, during which time he sustained an injury which laid him up the following summer. He entirely recovered, however, and worked last winter in the Pond Tool Machine Works. When he made up his mind to go west three weeks ago he was out of work and the prospects seemed bright for his securing work in the west.

Mr. Bolsterli was also a member of Miantonomoh Tribe, No. 118, I. O. R. M., and is the first member to die since the lodge has joined the Funeral Benefit Association. His widow will receive $2,000 from the A. O. U. W., of this city.

It is expected that the body will be received here in a few days.

Eczema is a frightful affliction, but like all other skin diseases it can be permanently cured by applications of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It never fails to cure Piles. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

Mr James Perdue, an old soldier residing at Monroe, Mich., was severely afflicted with rheumatism but received prompt relief from pain by using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says: "At times my back would ache so badly that I could hardly raise up. If I had not gotten relief I would not be here to write these few lines. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done me a great deal of good and I feel very thankful for it." For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

"Wake up, Jacob, day is breaking!" so said De Witt's Little Early Risers to the man who had taken them to arouse his sluggish liver. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

Customer— I want a remedy for catarrh.

Drug Clerk—All right, sir. Here's a blood tonic that is advertised to build up the constitution.

Customer— Young man, do you think I'm going to dose myself with a blood tonic for months, just on the chance of it doing me some good? Not much! I want immediate relief; besides, catarrh is a local affection, and no tonic or blood purifier ever made can cure it. Here's 50 cents. Let me have Ely's Cream Balm. It's the only thing I know of to cure catarrh.

UPBUILDING OF A NATION

PATRIOTIC THOUGHTS IN REV. DR. BARNES' SERMON TO THE J.O.U.A.M.

Rise of a Nation Marks Its Growth in Righteousness and the Fall in the Growth of Sin—Other Sentiments Also.

Rev. C. R. Barnes, pastor of the First M. E. church, delivered a special sermon last night to the Jr. O.U.A.M., and large delegations of Franklin and Somerset councils attended.

The speaker told how Jonah once shipped on a vessel to Tarsus and a storm arose and the sailors cast lots to see who it was had angered God and caused Him to send the storm upon them. The lot fell upon Jonah and they questioned him. Among the questions was, "What is Thy Country?" and when he had answered and told them he was a Hebrew, they knew that he was fleeing from the Lord, so they cast him overboard.

Suppose some one asks us what is our country. Our country is the United States, and we are united in every sense of the word. The thirteen original states that comprised the country were like little children, each one waiting for the slightest cause that they might withdraw from the union. But today we have the United States. In our country but one language is spoken, and there are very few people out of the 70,000,000 who cannot speak it.

Every man has his individual rights, which no man can take away from him. God has given them to him and anyone who tries to take away those rights is a traitor to God. The law also looks after man. The law itself says that a man may do what he wishes as long as he does what it right, but if another person steps in and tries to injure that man the law steps in and protects him.

You have the training of the future generation to do. Will they look up to the flag and cherish it and love it as you do? Righteousness is the upbuilding of a nation. The rise of a nation marks its advance in righteousness, and the fall of a nation marks its growth in sin. You have the training of the future generation on your hands and with our present excellent school system there is no reason why they should not grow up brave, intelligent men, to love and cherish our country as their forefathers have done.

FRACTURED HIS COLLAR BONE.

Disastrous Results of Bicycle Coasting on a Metuchen Hill.

Charles Newman, a machinist, of Richmond street, enjoyed a costly bicycle ride on Saturday, which resulted in the fracture of his collar bone. He and Harry Connett, also a machinst, went out on a tandem, and and a machinist named Carhart, of Bound Brook, accompanied them. They were returning home by the way of Metuchen, and were coasting down the hill which passes under the railroad bridge at the above place. In the descent Carhart run into the tandem, and a serious spill resulted. Connett escaped with an injured nose, Newman fractured his collar bone and Carhart escaped injury. Both the tandem and single wheel were completely wrecked.

Newman was assisted to the railroad station and was taken to South Plainfield by train. At the latter place a carriage was secured and the injured man was brought home. Dr. Jenkins was called and treated the man properly. It will be sometime before Mr, Newman will be able to work. Both Connett and Carhart reached home in safety.

Doctors Disagree

On many points, but all of them, no matter of what school, fully agree: That the Kidneys should filter every impurity from the Blood. That Healthy Kidneys insures perfect filtration. That Dr. Hobbs Sparagus Kidney Pills make the Kidneys Healthy, and increase their filtering power.

Rheumatism, Malaria, Gout, Chlorosis, Uraemia, Erysipelas, are all due to poisons circulating in the blood.

COIN HARVEY'S PLAN

Endeavoring To Combine the Silver Forces of the United States.

BLAND IS HIS MAN FOR PRESIDENT

To Have Only the Naming of the Secretary of State — How He Would Dispose of the Other Cabinet Officers.

Chicago, June 29,—A special from Ashland, Wis., says: W. H. ("Coin") Harvey, in an interview here, said: "My plan is to combine the silver forces of the United States. I am trying to combine the democrats, silver republicans and populists, and have suggested the following plan to the leaders of the parties: For president on the democratic ticket, 'Silver Dollar Bland of Missouri. If elected, give him the appointment of one cabinet officer only—secretary of state. Let democrats endorse the populist nominee for vice-president on the populist ticket, Senator Butler of South Carolina. Let the populists endorse the democratic nominee for president. Let Mr. Butler, if elected, dictate the appointment of secretary of the interior, secretary of agriculture, secretary of war and secretary of the navy. Concede to the silver republicans three cabinet positions: Senator Teller of Colorado, secretary of the treasury; Judge Caldwell of the United States circuit court, attorney general, and Mayor Pingree of Detroit, postmaster general. The silver cause is desperate and we cannot beat McKinley without we combine as I have indicated. I have suggested the plan to Altgeld, Bland and other leaders, but it has not been made public yet. I tell the democrats not to make their platform too democratic. They cannot win as democrats, but as combined democracy, populist and silver republicans. I am in favor of Bland for president, because his name is a platform in itself, just as McKinley's name is a whole platform."

SUIT FOR $1,000,000.

Fraud Charged in the Sale of the Detroit Gaslight Company.

Detroit, June 29.—A suit involving $1,000,000 has been brought against the defunct Detroit Gaslight company by the Guaranty Trust company of New York. In an answer filed in the Wayne circuit court the Guaranty company asks that the purchase of the Detroit Gaslight company by the Detroit Gaslight company be held as fraudulent and void and that a mortgage of $1,000,000 given in payment by the Detroit Gaslight company be declared worthless. The holders of this mortgage are nearly all non-residents of Detroit. They say that the representations made by the Detroit Gaslight company that it possessed a grant by virtue of the franchise of 1851 was false and fraudulent, because there was a later franchise dated 1861. The Detroit Gas company by the discovery of the 1861 franchise was forced to accept terms of compromise by which it sustained great loss.

CANTON'S BIG DAY

McKinley To Be Formally Notified of His Nomination.

SENATOR THURSTON THE SPOKESMAN

Major McKinley's Reply Not Expected To Contain an Outline of the Dominant Issues of the Campaign.

Canton, O., June 29.—The city of Canton has witnessed a good many demonstrations of an enthusiastic nature since Major McKinley was nominated, and there have been thousands of strangers within her gates. Men of wide reputation in politics, statecraft and business have called upon the candidate to pay their respects. All the demonstrations and visits up to this time, however, have been of an unofficial, if not informal, character. To-day the advent of the notification committee, composed of one member from each state and territory, selected by the national convention at St. Louis for the purpose of conveying to the candidate official notice of his nomination, will be of more significance and importance than the coming of all the other visitors and delegations which Major McKinley has received. The chairman of the committee, Senator Thurston of Nebraska, was the permanent chairman of the St. Louis convention and achieved a large measure of national distinction in that capacity. He is an orator and will be the spokesman of the committee to-day. His speech is an excellent one and indicates in a brief way the lines upon which the campaign will doubtless be conducted by the republican managers. Mr. McKinley is very fond of Senator Thurston and said a day or two ago that his selection for chairman of the committee was the best that could have been made, with the possible exception of ex-Governor Foraker.

Gov. McKinley's Speech.

Gov. McKinley's speech in reply to Senator Thurston will be scanned with interest. It will not be long, and he will not at this time attempt to discuss in a significant or elaborate way the dominant issues of the campaign. Nothing in the way of an exhaustive formal utterance may be expected until he publishes his letter of acceptance, which will be in a month or six weeks. That is the usual time which a candidate allows to elapse between the date of his official notification and the publication of his official acceptance of the nomination. Major McKinley is not disposed to depart from custom in the matter. He knows there is an abundance of time before the election in November next for the discussion of all political questions of moment, and he does not wish the campaign to commence too soon and too vigorously. The publication of the letter of acceptance really opens the campaign, and for that reason all of the candidates will be disposed to defer the writing of their letters for a few weeks. In the meanwhile the national committee will organize and be ready to go forward with the campaign work in an active, comprehensive way when the letter of acceptance shall have been launched. Before Major McKinley gives his letter of acceptance to the public he will probably make a short visit to the seaside.

The Candidate in Great Demand.

He wants rest and immunity from visitors when he takes his vacation and for that reason will either spend a fortnight with his cousin, Col. Osborne, at Roxbury, Mass., or make a tour of the lake on one of Mr. Hanna's boats; some of his friends are urging him to adopt the latter course. Major McKinley has received upwards of a hundred invitations from friends asking him to spend his period of vacation with them, and many handsome country places at the seaside and in the mountains have been put at his disposal, but he has declined them all, and it is quite likely, if the weather should remain cool here, that he will not leave Ohio this summer. When the campaign is well under way and a host of minor candidates are in the field each one hoping or expecting to carry his district or his state the demands upon Major McKinley for speech making will be urgent and frequent. Several republicans of influence and high standing have talked with Major McKinley upon this point and some of them have endeavored to secure from him a promise to make speeches in their states. Major McKinley has not committed himself nor has he said he would not yield to their demands upon his strength and time. He prefers to remain in Canton during the campaign, and at present his close political friends incline to the belief that this will be the wiser course to pursue. If Major McKinley makes a speaking tour it is safe to say among the states upon his itinerancy will be Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Missouri Kansas and Nebraska.

Delicate Dress Goods.

Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable, NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redying. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? Laundry drivers will receive your work.

SURRENDERED.

They called her the daughter of the confederacy in that southern city. She has a daughter of her own now, who should, of course, be called the granddaughter of the confederacy, but probably isn't. That, however, is anticipating.

The daughter of a cause so long dead could not have been so young and beautiful. She must have been the child of a memory, that grows more beautiful with each year, and knows a new youth with each succeeding generation.

She was very beautiful the day that Howard Pearce saw her. He sat on the window ledge of his second-story office—he was a young lawyer from the north—and looked down upon company K, —— Tennessee national guards, lined up at "parade rest." He knew their captain, Saunders, who was also a lawyer, and whose office adjoined Pearce's. It was annual encampment time, and K company was about to go to the grounds at the foot of the ridge.

"Order—Harms!" commanded Capt. Saunders.

"Carry—Harms!"

"Shoulder — Harms! Right for'ad, fours right—M'ch!"

Company K moved off up the street. As the last four swung into the column, there came a clatter of hoofs on the pavement, and a girl rode past the company and took her place at its head, saluting the captain gravely and with ceremony.

"What a beautiful girl!" Pearce exclaimed.

She wore a gray riding habit, with a double row of brass buttons leading up to two black stars on the collar. On her sunny locks a small gray slouch hat rested, tilted just the least bit over one eye. She rode well.

Pearce leaned so far from the window to catch a parting glimpse of the girl in gray that he almost fell. The crowd had dispersed, and the young lawyer returned to his desk. It was a warm day toward the end of July, and he was not sorry that he had no business on hand that must be rushed. He reflected that as almost everyone had gone to the camp ground, there was no reason for remaining in the office, which the little breeze that stirred outdoors carefully avoided.

Evidently, the girl in gray had gone to the camp ground. And with Saunders. But Saunders was married; happily married, Pearce hoped. Anyhow, he was glad that Saunders was married.

That evening he sat before Capt. Saunders' tent, with the captain, his wife and Miss Moore—the girl in gray. To the east of the camp ground the ridge rose in a gentle slope. To the southwest, seemingly towering just over them, was the mountain.

Pearce's heart beat faster as the thought came to him that 30 years before white tents marked the foot of the ridge as they did that day. But then they had stretched for miles north and south.

"Captain," he said, turning to Saunders, "it is easier to get up the ridge than it was once. There are no men in gray there to-night."

"No," the captain replied; "but the sons of some of those men are there," pointing to the company street, in which blue-clad figures lounged. "Loyal? Without doubt. Listen!"

The bands, which had united for the evening concert, had just struck up "The Star Spangled Banner." When the air was recognized, a cheer arose from the tented wood.

"Hear that?" said the captain.

"Wait," said the girl in gray.

"For what?" Pearce asked.

"They will play 'Dixie' after awhile."

"What then?"

"Then they will yell," she said, looking at him with a bright smile and nodding a confident "You'll see—or hear."

And he did. When the national air was finished there was a brief wait. Then the quick, stirring notes of "Dixie" started the woods into life with sharp echoes, which were drowned by one long, loud yell.

Pearce looked at the girl to receive an expected "I told you so." But she was not looking at him. Her cheeks were dark with color, her eyes, brightened by excitement, were fixed upon the young men, tossing their caps high above the tents and shouting with all their sturdy lung power.

"I wonder," he mused, "if she hates the north as much as she loves the south."

When the tumult had ceased he turned to Saunders.

"Well, captain," he said, "what do you say to that?"

"Of course they love 'Dixie,'" said the captain earnestly. "So do I. But there is no deeper meaning in that cheer than the love of a memory. They are loyal."

Miss Moore said that she must go back to town.

"As it is late, I shall have to leave my horse with you, captain. I shall send for him to-morrow. I reckon I can walk to the train in this rig."

She looked down somewhat doubtfully at her riding skirt. Pearce said that he would be glad to go with her, and though it was not apparent in just what way he could overcome the disadvantage of the long dress, she seemed to be grateful for his escort.

Well, that was the beginning of it; and the end is not yet. An incident that occurred under a large tree in the old confederate fort on the mountain may give a hint of the trend of events.

Pearce and Miss Moore were under the tree because it was the shelter nearest when the rain suddenly began to fall; and it rained, probably, because a number of young folks of the city had come up on the mountain to spend a September day that promised, in the morning, to be pleasant.

Mr. Pearce was not in good humor. He and Miss Moore had separated themselves from the others. One topic of conversation had led to another, which, in this instance, was a declaration by Mr. Pearce that he was irretrievably in love with Miss Moore, and that if she refused to make him happy he should be forever miserable. At a critical stage of this declaration a raindrop kissed the girl's cheek.

"Oh, it's going to rain!" she cried.

The next instant the downpour began, and both rushed through a breach in the earthen wall of the fort to the tree, whose branches, to which the leaves yet clung, offered protection. There they stood in silence for several minutes, she busily brushing raindrops from her hat, which she had taken off, and he watching her, moodily.

The silence became oppressive, and she glanced at him, curiously and apprehensively, from under her lashes. He caught the glance, and, moving toward her, said:

"Well?"

"Oh, don't," she exclaimed, starting away, her eyes still fixed upon a ribbon with which she was working.

"Why, Katherine—er, Miss Moore—"

"Oh, you mustn't!"

He walked to the edge of the circle protected by the leaves and looked out over the clay wall of the fort, down which tiny red rivers ran. She, having dried her hat, placed it again on her head and began brushing her skirt where, here and there, rain had spotted it. She glanced several times at his back, stubbornly turned toward her. He evinced no intention of moving, nor of speaking again, and she became nervous. The situation was unbearable, and she exclaimed:

"We must get back to the others!"

"We can't very well go through this rain," he said, without turning around.

Another prolonged silence, broken only by the monotonous fall of the rain. Finally, when she had almost made up her mind to gather up her skirts and run to the hotel, a quarter of a mile away, he turned and came quickly toward her. He put out his hand as though to take hers, but she quickly put her hands behind her and stepped back. He folded his arms and stood before her, looking earnestly into the eyes that she raised to his, almost appealingly.

"Katherine," he said, "I love you. Will you be my wife?"

A beautiful color stole slowly from the ribbon at her throat, up, up, until it tinted the edges of her small, perfectly formed ears. His gaze held hers for a moment; then her eyelids fell, and their long lashes swept her cheeks.

"Mr. Pearce," she said, slowly and hesitatingly, "I am sorry, but I—I can't!"

"Because you do not love me?"

She looked up quickly into his face; then down again; but she did not reply. "Katherine, tell me," he said. "Why is it that you cannot marry me?"

"Because—" she was very busy dislodging a half-buried stone with the toe of her shoe—"because—because you are a Yankee!" Another swift glance met his steady look. Then she moved a little further away, and stood half turned from him. His first impulse was to laugh. But that passed almost as it came. The gray, brass-buttoned riding habit, the flushed cheeks and bright eyes with which she had listened to "Dixie," flashed across his mental vision. The "Yankee" might be an obstacle not to be laughed away.

"But I am not a Yankee," he said, with emphasis. "I am from Illinois."

It seemed a long time to both that they stood in silence. Again she was the first to speak.

"This is an awful rain," she said.

"Yes, a very wet rain," he replied.

"Oh, you are going to jest about it—"

"But I am not jesting," he answered, walking rapidly to where she stood. "What I mean is that you will get wet. The water is beginning to drip from the leaves. Here," stripping off his coat, "let me put this around you."

"Oh, no," she said, stepping back.

"But you must. The air is chill, and if you get wet you will catch cold."

"But you—you—"

"It won't hurt me a bit. Come."

He assumed a commanding tone, and that, or something else, accomplished his end, for she made no effort to free herself when he placed the big coat about her shoulders. It took a long time to get it fixed just right, and his arm was still around her when he looked into her face and saw that she was looking up into his. Something in her eyes prompted him to draw her close to him and to say, very tenderly:

"Sweetheart, I come from the north, but I love a southern girl. Don't you think that she can love a northern man just a little—if he is not a Yankee?"

She studied the arrangement of his necktie closely, and then transferred her scrutiny to his watch chain. But evidently she was not thinking of either, for when she spoke she asked:

"Illinois people aren't Yankees?"

"Certainly not," he replied, with conviction. "They are a long way from Yankeedom. More than a thousand miles."

She examined the necktie again, looked into his eyes for a moment, then over his shoulder off into the rain.

"Katherine," he said, softly, "do you love me?"

She turned her head slowly until their eyes met. A wave of color rushed into her cheeks, and she murmured faintly: "Yes."

"And you will be my wife?"

With perhaps a sudden thought of her surroundings, and of a stormy day thirty years before, she replied: "I—I surrender!"

The rain, as if to hide from the scene any possible observer, fell more heavily for a moment. Then it ceased altogether, and soon the sun shone through from a blue sky where the gray clouds had parted.—St. Louis Republic.

MEDAL PLAYING ENDED.

Harry D. West Proves to be the Best Local Golf Player.

Saturday afternoon was the last of the medal play among the golf players of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club and a large number were out trying to reduce their averages as much as possible. Quite a number of visitors were present to watch the game. The greens were in excellent condition and the weather was delightful. Harry D. West has proved himself the best in the club at present while there were several whose averages were very close to second place.

The medal was on exhibition and was greatly admired by both players and visitors. It is made of solid silver with a raised figure of a golf player on the centre. Inscribed on it in blue enamel was "Best Average, Hillside Tennis and Golf Club. May-June, 1896."

The following averages are computed from the cards handed in. Only those who finished the six rounds required, were eligible to compete for medal: H. D. West, 53.16; Dean Ryder, 57.00; Evarts Tracy, 57.66; Howard Beebe, 57.75; Fred Walz, 60.33; W. T. Kauffman, 60.66; F. O. Warren, 60.75; J. S. Anthony, 63.00; Harry Runkle, 63.50; W. C. Baker, 66.40; Laurens VanBuren, 67.16.

There were a number of other entries but they did not complete the required six rounds.

INS AND OUTS.

The Plainfield A. C. and the Westfield Y. M. C. A. played the third game of baseball Saturday at Westfield. Each team had won a game and this one was to settle the tie. The Plainfield boys won by the score of 22 to 11.

PARADISE OF THE STATE.

Plainfield Can Never Be Surpassed for Healthfulness and Natural Beauty.

No painter's brush or work of art can excel the grandeur of the scenery about Plainfield. There appears to have been no attempt to better the grand foliage, the shady nooks, and the famous views of the country close about the city, and now made of easy access to the heart of the city and the railroad stations by trolley cars which encircle the city, and climb the elavated points within a half and a whole mile of the city. The location about Netherwoods Heights, just south of Central railroad station was visited by the Editor of the Contractor and Photographic Artist W. F. Marsh, who were attracted by the beautiful scenery in this section, where a number of views were taken of the palatial residences which are erected on the brow of the hill in this section. Art has also played a part in this section, where sidewalks and road beds have been made. To those who have not traveled over Union county, this region offers a revelation.—New Jersey Contractor.

Eli Hill, Lumber City, Pa., writes, "I have been suffering from piles for twenty-five years and thought my case incurable. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve was recommended to me as a pile cure, so I bought a box and it performed a permanent cure." This is only one of thousands of similar cases. Eezema, sores and skin diseases yield quickly when it is used. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

A baseball team from among the members of the Dunellen Athletic Club played the Juniors of the Pond Machine Tool Works Company, in this city Saturday afternoon, and defeated the home team by the score of 27 to 7. A return game will be played at Dunellen next Saturday.

RAILROAD TRAVEL.

Modern Civilization Has Made It Quick, Comfortable and Secure.

In the Ladies' Home Journal John Gilmer Speed writes entertainingly and instructively on the construction and operation of railroads, under the caption, "Running a Train at Night." He prefatorily asserts that "the most remarkable achievements of modern civilization, probably, are those which affect traveling, making it at once quick, comfortable and secure. We cross states and continents at the rate of 30 miles an hour, with greater security against accident than our grandfathers enjoyed in their stage coaches, and we have, even when on the cars, comforts unknown in the palaces of kings when our grandfathers' grandfathers were young. During the year (from interstate commerce commissioner's report for year ending July 1, 1894), one passenger was killed for every 1,985,153 passengers carried, and one was injured for every 183,822 carried. This surely is as safe as living ordinary humdrum lives in large cities."

The report further shows that a man's chances against injury were such that he would have to travel 4,406,659 miles before getting hurt, and go 47,588,966 miles before being killed. At the rate of 30 miles an hour a man could travel, if nature permitted, on American railways for 181 years, without leaving the cars, before being killed, or with the same amount of security against accident he could go round the earth 1,903 times before meeting his death by accident, and 176 times before getting hurt.

HELD IT IN THE FIRE.

Medicine Man Proves His Powers to a Zulu King.

Among the great characters of the Zulu is the medicine man. He uses his craft wholly by superstition, and states to his astonished people that the great spirit of the moon had revealed to him the cause of the complaint, whether it be sickness or crime.

The great Dingaam was a chief who was a terror to his medicine man. There was no punishment that was too severe but he would inflict it in an insinuating way on the man of witchery. It is related that his confidential man and the great medicine being of the whole Zulu tribe had come under his suspicion. He was sent for by the king, who welcomed his witch doctor in cordial terms. A large fire was burning near by. The king stated:

"My man of medicine, your hands are cold; go nearer to the fire—nearer. Yes, the right hand is very cold. Put it into the fire."

Thus the poor man was obliged to keep his hand in that fire of white heat until the member had burned to a crisp. The command of the king was supreme, and one indication of the pain would mean instant death. After the seeming suspicion of the king had been gratified he stated that the hand was warm now and that all was well.

HIS FIRST LION.

Hunter Stands Still and Simply Stares at the Beast.

In "Lion Hunting in Somaliland," Capt. Mellis tells how he met his first lion—or, rather, two. He had been out on a hunt, finding nothing better than gazelles and antelopes, and at nightfall, after supper, lit his pipe and strolled to the river bank. After a few minutes spent in meditation he started to return and saw a lion and a lioness, not more than 20 yards distant, eyeing him attentively. Capt. Mellis had not even a knife with him, and felt certain that if he called for help the beasts would pounce on him. So he did the only thing possible—he stood stock still, hoping they might take him for an inanimate object. They growled once or twice, as if they suspected something, but finally drank and went away quietly. After that he never stirred without a weapon of some kind.

A RUSSIAN PHILANTHROPIST.

Bought the Freedom of the Serfs of His Native Village.

There died recently in Moscow a man who in the last 20 years gave $5,000,000 to charity. He was State Councillor Jermakoff, who came from a poor family. His first public act which excited general attention was the purchase of the freedom of all the serfs living in his native village. This cost him $120,000. He came to the rescue of the poor people time and time again when the harvests failed. His funeral was one of the largest ever seen in the old burial place of the Russian czars, thousands of the poor of the capital following the philanthropist's body to the grave.

Stupid Litigation.

A stupidly obstinate piece of litigation has just been settled by the house of lords. Two Aberdeenshire land owners quarreled over the right to fish in the River Dee, which borders their estates for 150 yards. Both admitted that the fishing was of no value, but they had spent $15,000 to have their rights decided.

The Sea Cucumber.

The sea cucumber, one of the curious jelly bodies that inhabit the ocean, can practically efface himself while in danger by squeezing the water out of his body and forcing himself into a narrow crack, so narrow as not to be visible to the naked eye. He can throw out nearly the whole of his inside, and yet live and grow it again.

TWO SKELETONS.

One Is Over Four Times as Large as the Other.

The largest and smallest skeletons of humanity ever preserved are kept in the museum of the Royal College of Surgeons, in Lincoln's Inn Fields, London, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. One is eight feet four inches in height. The other is less than two feet.

Charles Byrne, the famous Irish giant, who was more generally known as O'Brien, died in 1783, when he was 22 years old. His capacity for liquor was in keeping with his high physical proportions. So keen was his anguish over losing all his property—to-wit, a £300 note, that he drank a cask of ale in one day. The day following he was dead.

Bryne had a great dread of becoming a dissecting-room subject. He made a bargain with a fisherman before he died to take his body out into the channel and throw it overboard.

Hunter, the English surgeon, learned of this arrangement, and by paying the fishermen $500 he prevailed upon them to carry out their bargain to the letter, but to attach a rope to the body and drag it up again after it had been immersed. The fishermen served two masters and Hunter got the body.

The tiny skeleton is that of Caroline Crachami, the Sicilian dwarf, who was exhibited in Europe in the early part of the century. The child did not grow after birth, and before she reached her teens she died.

Her body, it is said, was sold to a British surgeon by her parents.

Beside the giant's frame stands one of the boots he wore when he died. The skeleton of the dwarf can be slipped into it as easily as a pipe stem.

A MASCULINE WEAKNESS.

Every Man Carries His Favorite Remedy Always with Him.

It is customary for men to sneer good-naturedly at the physical weakness of the opposite sex, but women would doubtless be surprised could they know how generally the medicinal remedy habit permeates the ranks of their masculine friends. Think over your list of male acquaintances and pick out the few who have no ailments and carry no bottles, powders or preparations. They will be very few indeed, unless your list includes but very few young men, says the New York Herald.

It has been said that every woman knows the best face wash on earth and is willing to part with her secret only on compulsion, but will try anything else suggested by a friend. But men are the most obstinate believers in sovereign remedies. Every man carries at least one remedy in his inside pocket and is willing to unload it on anybody who will listen or dare to test its infallibility. I have known four or five healthy-looking men in a group, not one of whom would be suspected of ever being ill, draw concealed vials or pellets and little unsuspected boxes of pills and astonishingly worded prescriptions from their confidential hiding places, and discourse most learnedly upon their miraculous power.

In every case of this kind there has been at some time, more or less remote, an apparent justification of merit claimed, from which time and henceforth forever that particular individual goes contentedly and even boastingly bound to that medicinal chariot wheel

THE MUSTACHE.

How It Became a Symbol of Liberty an Fraternity.

The mustache, that questionable adornment of a man's upper lip, is trembling in the balance. The fashionable man of the hour who eschews this time-honored ornament will tell you that it is a crying and unnecessary evil, and is bound to go. And where can one find a better criterion of such momentous subjects than the fashionable man of the hour? In years to come the grandchildren of a beardless race may have to turn to their encyclopedias to find out what a mustache was. Anticipating this, says the Cincinnati Enquirer, a sort of advance sheet may be found in the following:

The home of the mustache is in Spain. After the Moors first invaded the country the Christian and Moslem population became so mixed that it was difficult to say which were Moors and which were Spaniards.

The Spanish then hit upon a means by which they could at once distinguish their brethren. They did not shave their lips any longer, and they allowed a tuft of hair to grow below the mouth, so that their beards formed the rude outline of a cross.

Thus the mustache became a symbol of liberty and fraternity.

Imprudent, But Gushing.

Young women who take books at the circulating library are imprudent to use their pages as blotters. They are doing wrong also, for it is against the rules. A copy of "Lord Ormond and His Aminta," which has been in use in a Philadelphia library, held in front of a mirror revealed the inscription: "I send you my heart with a kiss." All women finish their letters with that phrase, which cannot therefore betray anybody, but in this case the signature was there.

Shoes of the Gauls.

Before the Gauls were conquered by the Romans they had boots or shoes with soles in which were silver-headed nails. Some of these have been discovered in late years. The latter kind of boots and shoes—the long pointed ones—so familiar in pictures of the 14th century, and others, are more generally known.

Sabbath in Scotland.

Scotland's Sabbath is losing its sanctity. Driving, cycling and golf on Sunday have now been followed by a vote of the Glasgow corporation throwing open the public bath-houses for four hours on Sunday morning.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN

The Park Club has placed through me the order for all the fireworks to be used in its exhibition on the Fourth.
They are representative business men who do not do business with their eyes shut.
Why did they place the order here instead of in New York?
Because they get just as many goods and at the same price as the finest estimate they had from the city.

CRUSHED BY CAR WHEELS

JAMES NOLAN LOSES HIS LIFE ON THE CENTRAL AT DUNELLEN.

Was Crossing the Track at Prospect Avenue and Did Not See the Approaching Drill Engine and Freight Car.

A shocking fatality occurred yesterday afternoon shortly after 5:30 at the Prospect avenue railroad crossing, Dunellen, when James Nolan was instantly killed. There was only one or two persons who saw the man struck, and the accounts of the sad affair are varied. The true story, however, seems to be that Nolan, who is employed by the Central railroad to look after a certain section of signal lights, had finished his work and was on his way to his home, which is about one hundred yards from the track on Prospect avenue. A short distance below the crossing on the extreme east-bound track was drill engine No. 115 in charge of Engineer Fred Wilcox. Attached to the engine in front was a freight car. As Nolan was crossing the track his attention was attracted to a Royal Blue Line train going west, and consequently he did not notice the drill engine and freight car which was rapidly moving toward him. Before he could regain his presence of mind the freight car struck him and he fell over. The car passed over him and the cow-catcher on the engine also struck him. Nolan did not know what struck him, for death resulted instantly. His body was horribly mangled especially about the stomach. His head was also crushed. The motion of the train threw the body into the switch, where it was discovered by those on the engine.

Undertaker Walter Runyon was sent for immediately and took charge of the body, placing it in his morgue at Dunellen. County Physician Brace was notified at once and arrived early in the evening when he gave a permit for burial. Almost as soon as the accident occurred Mrs. Nolan, wife of the dead man, learned what had happened and became frantic with grief. It was impossible for friends to pacify her. Mrs. Nolan has been seriously ill for sometime and it is feared that the shock may prove disastrously. Beside a wife, two children, a boy and a girl, survive him.

Nolan was thirty-five years of age and has been employed by the Central railroad for four years. He was well known in Dunellen and had a large number of friends who mourn his death. The men on the drill engine were completely prostrated by the accident and it was sometime before they regained their nerve and strength. The fact that the freight car preceded the engine gave the engineer no opportunity to see the man and reverse his engine until too late.

To Attend the Summer School.

At the meeting of the Primary Teachers' Union held yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Baker led the devotional exercises and Mrs. Batchelor taught the lesson on the subject "David, King of Judah." It was stated that the summer schools will be held as follows: Schooley's Mountains, July 6th to 13th; Asbury Park, July 13th to 18th; Ocean City, July 20th to 24th. The following members from this city will attend the schools: Miss Beeching, Miss Bainbridge, Mrs. Smalley, Miss Runyon, Mrs. Mosher, Mrs. Darby and a few others. They will start next Saturday for Schooley's Mountains.

To Take A Rhode Island Bride.

James Jordan, an employe of E. E. Marshall and Co., will go to Providence, R. I., about the middle of July to take unto himself a bride in the person of Miss Lillie Watts of that city, formerly of Ottowa, Canada. Mr. Jordan came here from Canada in February last, and will probably take up his residence in this city after the nuptials, on or about August 1st.

Miss May Woodruff, of New York, is the guest of Miss Nora Williams, of Somerset street.

KEEP THE STREETS CLEAN.

Wholesome Advice Given By the Town Improvement Association.

Complaints are coming to the Town Improvement Association about neglected vacant houses and lots, where the grass is left uncut and entangled with weeds going to seed, which seeds are borne on the wind to places well kept and so cause much mischief by propogation. If each owner would by a little preventative care have their places attended to before seeding time much trouble would be saved, to say nothing of the unsightliness of such neglected places in neighborhoods where others strive to keep their places clean and beautiful. In view of the aforesaid complaints, an appeal is hereby made to all owners of vacant houses and lots to have the grass cut and kept in order, thereby contributing to the beauty of our city.

An appeal is also made to the merchants to refrain from throwing, rubbish, hay, etc., on the sidewalks and in the gutters.

Advertising circulars are thrown broadcast on piazzas and in dooryards. Those who distribute them rarely notice where they throw them, and frequently a handful will be scattered in one yard. They seldom reach the householder, for whom they are intended, and only serve as a means of annoyance to the public and often a source of danger by frightening horses.

Would it not be more advantageous to advertise in the newspapers?

MARK HANNA IS COMING.

Garret A. Hobart Will See the National Chairman Soon About the Campaign.

Garret A. Hobart will attend the meeting of the State Republican Committee, at Newark, today, and will not form any definite plans until after its organization. He expects to leave for Canton shortly, but has not decided upon the particular day. It will not, however, be for two or three days yet, probably not until the end of the week.

Mr. Hobart, when asked yesterday if he expected a visit from Mark Hanna, said he thought the national chairman would be in Paterson soon, as some business arrangements for the campaign must shortly be made.

Mr. Hobart will leave the matter of his resignation from the National Committee to the State Committee. If its members decide that as a candidate it would be more appropriate to resign he will do so, but otherwise he will continue as a member.

Just as Good as Any.

Borough residents who find fault with the quantity of noise in their new fire bell, should remember that there never was a bell made, the sounding of which could be heard in all directions at all times. Atmospheric conditions regulate the distance and direction from all bells, and even if a large tapper was used the sound would not be increased. A prominent citizen in talking to a Daily Press representative recently said that when fire alarm box 47 in front of the Pond Tool Works was pulled, the person standing at the box was never able to hear the fire gong.

Boys to Enjoy Themselves.

The Baptist Boys Brigade, Co. B, Third Regiment, of the First Baptist church, will, together with their friends, enjoy a pleasant entertainment this evening in the lecture room of the church. Mr. Ingalls, of Montclair, who is making a study of the phonograph, has visited Edison's laboratory at Orange and selected 35 of the best records, including dialogues, songs, etc. The members of the brigade will also give a series of tableaux. The entertainment is given for the benefit of the uniform fund.

Church Dedication.

The dedication of the recently completed portion of the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church will take place next Sunday. There will be services all day. At the morning service, Rev. Walter Thompson, of New Brunswick, will speak; at the afternoon service, Rev. O. J. Scott; and the evening service will be led by Rev. S. Sterges, D. D., of Madison. The dedication will take place in the afternoon.

To Branch Out in Business.

Sternberg, the Central avenue clothier, will remove his place of business to the second floor of Voegeler's building, 207 West Front street, about the 1st of September. Meyer Leichentritt, his manager, will reside on the top floor of the building. The present store on Central avenue is advertised for rent in today's Press.

Mothers will find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy especially valuable for and whooping cough. It will give prompt relief and is safe and pleasant. We have sold it for several years and it has never failed to give the most perfect satisfaction. G. W. Richards, Duquesne, Pa. Sold by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

SEWER TAX PROBLEM.

THE ASSESTMENT COMMISSIONERS HAVE A HARD QUESTION TO SOLVE.

The Law Will Not Permit Property Owners to Fix the Tax—Non-Taxpayers Therefore Constitute the Commission.

DeWitt C. Ivins, J. Parker Mason and George R. Cornwell, the commissioners recently appointed by Mayor Gilbert to make assessments in regard to Plainfield's system of sewerage, will meet in August probably and sit until their work is completed. There is no doubt but that more friction will be caused by the discussion growing out of these sessions, as the taxpayers are already beginning to discuss the matter. The composition of the commission has caused some talk, but according to law no real estate owner can be a member of this commission. Neither can he hold real estate in his wife's name, so the Mayor made these appointments of men prominent in business and social circles who are not owners of real estate.

One large property owner said to a Daily Press representative today: "The question of how the assessments shall be laid to pay for our sewer system will cause considerable talk. The amount to be laid on our property will probably be according to the present tax system. Owners of farming lands who do not receive any benefits from the sewer system will doubtless make a protest, but after the tax has once been laid no further tax can be made in future years when their land is cut up and sold for building lots. The sewer system has been economical. The whole indebtedness, however, when distributed, will be a small amount for each taxpayer to pay, and will probably not be over $10 or $12 for each 25-foot front lot."

SUING FOR FALSE ARREST.

Nicholas Kelly Commences an Action Against Policeman Cash.

About three weeks ago the Daily Press told of the arrest and trial of Nicholas Kelly in the city court on the charge of being drunk and disorderly. The complaint was made by Special Officer Jeremiah Cash but testimony was offered that showed pretty plainly that Kelly was neither drunk or disorderly. The latter claimed that the arrest had been made by Cash in an attempt to "get even" with Kelly. The evidence submitted was overwhelmingly in favor of Kelly and City Judge DeMeza dismissed the complaint.

Kelly was not satisfied with this, however, and has started a suit against Cash for false imprisonment which will be tried at the next session of the circuit court at Elizabeth next fall.

Picnic at the Beach.

Fourteen young men of the Young Men's Association of Monroe Avenue chapel went by Conover's stage to Boynton Beach Saturday afternoon. On the way over it looked as if the party wouldn't reach their destination. They went across by the way of Islen and the mud was so deep that the wheels sank in up to the hubs and the young men expected to have to go the rest of the way on foot or in boats. They reached the beach safely and returned by the way of Rahway and Westfield, reaching home just in time to be home on Saturday night instead of Sunday morning.

A Paying Station.

Some people are inquisitive even to the extent of knowing what the receipts of Central railroad company in this city amount to monthly. So for their especial benefit and to keep them from asking Station Agent Haynes all sorts of ridiculous questions, it can be stated upon the best of authority that 965 commuters, under the graduated scales netted the company about $15,000 this month, and the freight traffic for a month is said to be nearly double that amount. So it can be readily seen that Plainfield is no station along the entire line to be ignored either for freight or passage traffic, and it cannot either be wondered at that the residents of this city and North Plainfield want the "best in the market," especially in railroad facilities.

The Trolley Cars to Run Silently.

The gear cases have arrived for the trolley cars and they were equipped with them last night. They will do away with the unpleasant noise.

Fourth of July Tea.

A tea will be held at the golf course of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club next Saturday afternoon. There will be no fireworks there in the evening.

—The exterior of Mt. Olive Baptist church parsonage, now presents a pretty appearance with its new and attractive coat of paint.

PUBLIC SCHOOL BIDS.

CONTRACTORS MAKE PROPOSALS FOR IMPROVEMENTS TO BUILDINGS.

Crowd of the Bidders Present, But They Had to Retire Without an Award as the Bids Were Referred to a Committee

Although the contract for the building of the new Lincoln School was not awarded at the special meeting of the Board of Education last evening, yet the meeting was an important one.

Bids for the work entire and for portions of it were received, while estimates were also made on the repairs at the Washington, Bryant and High schools. Of the Board, Drs. Probasco and Jenkins, and Messrs. Abbott and Lovell were present. Architect Karr also attended. The room was crowded with the different bidders and their representatives who came to learn who received the contract, but they had to go away unsatisfied as the entire matter was referred to the building committee to report at the next regular meeting of the Board, which takes place next Monday evening.

The bids for the Lincoln School were as follows: A. W. Burritt Co., Bridgeport, Conn., for everything except heating and ventilating apparatus, $30,538; George Riker, Bloomfield, complete, $26,000; Wyman & Haberle, Plainfield, all except masonry and heating, $11,554.33; Wyman and Haberle, Plainfield, carpenter, slate and iron work, $9,066; John Abbott, Plainfield, carpenter work and masonry, $24,443; Pearson & Gayle, Plainfield, carpenter, slate, iron and sheet metal work and plumbing, $1200; John P. Emmons, North Plainfield, mason work but not structural iron work, $13,397; Woolston & Buckle, Plainfield, painting, $873; A. A. Stryker & Brother, Bound Brook, carpenter work, including tin, electrical and iron work, $13,480; Marsh, Ayres & Co., Plainfield, painting, $770; Galbraith & Walsh, Plainfield, plumbing and gas fitting, $285; Cleveland & Taylor, New York, electrical work, $450; J. L. Chapin, of New York, electrical work, $394.

The bids on the repairs in the Washington School were: Pearson & Gayle, complete, $1,700; J. P. Emmons, not including heating, plumbing and ventilating, $1,521; G. & C. W. Hummer, complete, $1,736.46; Chas M. Wilson, not including heating, plumbing and ventilating, $1,575.33; A. B. Thorn, heating, plumbing and ventilating, $1,116.39; Galbraith & Walsh, heating, plumbing and ventilating, $1,153.90; Wyman & Haberle, not including heating, plumbing and ventilating, $1,363.08; D. W. Littell, heating, plumbing and ventilating, $1,330.

The bids for the repairs at the Bryant School were all for the complete work except that of D. W. Littell, whose bid for plumbing, heating and ventilating was $530. The others were Pearson & Gayle, $1,162; J. P. Emmons, $1,121; G. & C. W. Hummer, $1,129; Chas. M. Wilson, $1,050; Wyman & Haberle, $1,059.80.

In bidding for the repairs at the High School building, D. W. Littel was again the only one not to bid for the complete work, his bid being $802, for the heating, plumbing and ventilating only. The other bids were Pearson & Gale, $1,435; J. P. Emmons, $1,331; G. & C. W. Hummer, $1,398.96; Chas. M. Wilson, $1,275; Wyman & Haberle, $1,226.80.

All of the bids mentioned were filed according to the requirements. There was one bid for the Lincoln School of $24,976, for everything except heating and plumbing, that was not signed, and had no certified check accompanying it.

The Board decided to instruct Archi-Karr to ask Abbott, Riker and the Burritt Company to separate their bids for the carpenter, painting and mason work.

The question of coal is a very important one as it is necessary to lay in a large supply. The local dealers remained at the combine prices, charging five dollars for nut and egg coal and four dollars for pea coal, most of which was Upper Lehigh. The local men bidding were Boice, Runyon & Co., F. W. Hand, George O. Stevens & Co., and C. H. Rugg. TenEyck & Harris, of South Plainfield, who had the contract were awarded it again. Their bid was $4.75 for short tons of egg, $4.70 for same of nut and $3.50 for same of pea. Their coal comes from Packer vein.

The other out-of-town bidder was E. Kelly & Co., of New Market. His bid was $5 for nut, stove and egg Jeddo coal and $3.50 for pea Jeddo coal.

The Board received notification that the insurance on the Wadsworth property expired July 1 and 7.

It was ordered renewed for three years. The Board then adjourned.

—A sociable will be held at the Monroe Avenue chapel this evening.

WARING BEATS CORSA.

Appellate Court Decides That Colonel Waring's Dismissal Was Justified.

The appeal of Henry C. Corsa, of this city, against his dismissal by Commissioner Waring from the office of district superintendent in the New York street cleaning department, was dismissed by a decision handed down yesterday by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court. Col. Waring first dismissed Mr. Corsa, and then, when the legality of the dismissal was disputed, reinstated him. Corsa had already begun suit for reinstatement under the Veteran law, and, as he did not report for duty when Col. Waring reinstated him, Col. Waring dismissed him for being absent. The Court held that the dismissal was justified, and that the Veteran act did not protect Mr. Corsa in neglecting to report for duty when ordered.

HAD NO LICENSE TO PEDDLE.

An Arabian Woman Who Did Not Understand Plainfield Ordinances.

An Arabian woman, named Mary Joseph, was arrested yesterday afternoon on the charge of peddling without a license. Her knowledge of American laws and customs was very slim and she did not see why she could not continue her business, but Roundsman Frederickson's invitation to leave town at once was too plain to be mistaken and so she hurried away as soon as City Judge DeMeza suspended sentence on her, wiping her eyes as she went. She said that she was going to walk back to New York and exhibited her stock of valuables which consisted of about seventeen cents.

A Little Fellow's Good Time.

Luther Banks, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Banks, of Mount Pleasant, celebrated the fifth anniversary of his birthday yesterday afternoon in a thoroughly enjoyable manner. He invited ten of his young friends to his home, and the time was passed on the spacious lawn, in playing games, etc., after which they adjourned to the house where ice-cream and cake were served. Those present at the festivities were John DeForest, Howard Melick, Grace Melick, Lester Melick, Belle Melick, Catharine Edgar, Harold Dayton, Willie Henry and Leaura Henry.

First Trolley Party.

The first trolley party of the season was given last evening by Miss Cora Richardson, of East Sixth street, in honor of her friend, Miss Lane, of Jersey City. The guests started from East Fifth street at 9:15 and rode to Dunellen and back. On the return they went to the home of Miss Richardson where a pleasant time was passed in dancing. Those who made up the party were the Misses Giles, Mabel Force, Mamie Steiner, and Ernest Millard, John Steiner, Wm. Tallamy, Bert Tallamy, Fred Dietz, Wm. Moore and George Bininger.

Cases Adjourned.

The cases of Morgan against Pound and the Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Company against Evans were adjourned in Justice Newcorn's court today. They will come up July 7th. The case of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals against Bunawanna was adjourned for one week. Justice Newcorn has issued summons in the cases of Swain against Vermeule, and the Eastman Lumber Co. against the C. A. Smith Co. They are returnable July 7th.

Funeral of Miss Morcom.

The funeral services of the late Miss Alice Morcom, who was so terribly burned to death Sunday morning, were held this afternoon from the home of her parents, on New street, at 2:30. Rev. Dr. Barnes officiated. There was a large attendance and the services were very impressive. Interment was in Plainfield avenue cemetery.

Off to Chimney Rock.

A picnic party started from the home of Miss Grace E. Overton, of Rockview avenue, this morning, in Huff's stage, bound for Chimney Rock, where they intend to spend the day. The picnic was given in honor of Miss Overton's cousin, Miss Margaret Hazeltine, of Belfast, Me., who is visiting her.

Still in a Precarious Condition.

The condition of Mrs. Gertrude Peterson, who was injured in the gasolene explosion at her home on LaGrande avenue Sunday morning, is still the same. The physicians in charge have hopes of her recovery, but the injuries are very dangerous ones.

A Great View.

Guests at the Mountain Park Inn on Saturday evening could see distinctly the searchlight in the Barnegat lighthouse.

BETTER FIRE PROTECTION

BOROUGH OFFICIALS WILLING TO AID CITIZENS OF PRIDEVILLE.

If the Residents of That Section Will Form a Company, a Hose Carriage Will Be Bought for Their Especial Use.

Councilmen Woolston, Peck and Schutt, composing the borough street Committee met last evening in the borough council rooms and received bids for opening, laying out and grading Watchung Ave. There were three bids. Those bidding and the approximate estimate of each bid is as follows: David Bowden, $2,175; John L. Dean, $2,580; Smalley Bros., $3,120. The above will be presented at the meeting of the council Friday evening, July 3d.

Councilmen Peck, Lounsbury and Valiant, the fire, water and lamps committee, held a meeting after the street committee concluded their business. It was stated that the new fire bell would no doubt give better satisfaction after having been used awhile.

The committee agreed that if a hose company could be organized among the citizens of Bull Frog City, they, the committee, were willing to erect a fire house in that section, and place a hose carriage and hose in the house. It is necessary that the citizens take action quickly in the matter, as the council want to settle the matter at any early date.

A Daily Press representative interviewed Mayor Hegeman on the subject and the latter stated that he was anxious to know what the citizens in that locality were willing to do. Continuing, he said, "the Council is now willing to give the people in that part of the borough what they need, but they must form a fire company first or the Council will give up the matter entirely."

TEST OF THE FIRE ALARM.

If You Hear the Gong on Friday Don't Get Frightened.

A general test of the fire alarm system will be made on Friday morning at 10 o'clock. One round will be sent in from boxes 42, 12 and 15. If more than one round should be blown, it will be understood that something has really happened, and the apparatus will turn out as usual. The object of the trial is to thoroughly test the entire system, especially the clock work that blows the whistle.

Queen City Elects.

The semi-annual election of officers in Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., was held last night. resulted as follows: Noble grand, Louis DeCamp; vice grand, B. Higgins; recording secretary, R. J. Neal. These officers and the others that are appointed will be installed on July 27th by District Deputy Grand Master Pocock and staff.

Bolsterli's Body Sent East.

A. M. Runyon & Son, the undertakers, have received a telegram from Frank W. Cooley, of Sheridan, Wyoming, which stated that the body of the late Joseph Bolsterli was shipped to Plainfield at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. As yet no further particulars have been received.

To Commence Installing Officers.

District Deputy Grand Master Pocock and his staff, of the Odd Fellows, will begin their work tomorrow of installing the officers in the various lodges in this district. Tomorrow evening they visit Westfield Lodge, No. 169.

Justice Nash's Court.

Justice Nash issued summons today in the cases of Johnson against Markham, on contract, and Terry against Gorton, on contract, both returnable on July 6th. Winfield S. Angleman was the attorney for the plaintiff in both cases.

Donations for the Summer Camp.

Druggist L. W. Randolph has donated to the Fresh Air Camp two empty alcohol barrels to be used for rainwater receptacles. A donation of two hammocks has been received from Mrs. E. L. Walz.

—Don't forget while making your preparations for the Fourth to order a brick of Tier's ice cream.

—A test of the borough fire bell was made last evening about 8 o'clock. An official test and acceptance will take place at an early date.

—A horse belonging to Howell, the grocer, was taken suddenly ill this morning while being driven through East Fourth street. The animal recovered quickly however, and is able to make his rounds.

Mrs. J. J. Crouse, infant daughter and nurse, left this morning for Lamberville, Pa., for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hyde and Miss Hyde, of East Front street, accompanied by Miss Smalley, of Netherwood, will sail on the Augusta-Victoria of the Hamburg-American line, July 16th, for Europe, where they will spend the summer.

PITTSTON DISASTER

The Entombed Miners Beyond Hope of Rescue.

EVEN THEIR BODIES MAY NOT BE FOUND

Feared That the Entrance to the Twin Shaft May Be Entirely Closed Within Twenty-four Hours — The Mine Is Filling with Water.

Pittston, Pa., June 30.—The situation at the scene of the Pittston mine disaster remains practically unchanged this morning. The company is making every possible effort to reach the victims, but there is absolutely no hope that any of them will be recovered alive. The friends and relatives of the entombed men haunt day and night the head of the shaft hoping against hope that some of the rescuing party may bring up a word of cheer. But as one gang after another reaches the surface and answers the eager questions with only a sad shake of the head, then hope dies out again and despair sets upon the countenances of the unhappy ones. It is known that the situation inside is changing almost hourly owing to the contiouous caving or "squeezing," and on this account nothing whatever can be told as to when the men can be reached. The rescuing party to-day are working their way to the point where they propose to start digging. They still continue to timber as they go and the work of the rescuers is a most dangerous one.

Their Bodies May Never Be Recovered.

When it became known last night that it was more than probable that the men would never be found, the excitement was renewed. The rescuing party that came out of the shaft reported that the situation is worse than at any time yesterday. The workings are crushing nearer the foot of the shrft and the outlook is very sorrowful. The strain is something terrible. The night shift of rescuers were driven back by the roof caving in and closing up the work that had been accomplished during the afternoon. It is now feared that the opening or entranc to the Twin shaft may be closed in twenty-four hours.

No Doubt They Are All Dead.

James McMahon, one of the bravest miners in the valley, crawled about the mine, and it is claimed that he was within 600 feet from where the unfortunate men are supposed to be. He called out to them on many occasions, but could not get an answer. That they are all dead is beyond any further question.

Criticisms on the Calamity.

Criticisms are already unmerous regarding the awful calamity, though it is too soon to express opinions as to the possibility of having averted this almost unprecedented accident or to pass criticism upon those who authorized so large a body of men to enter a mine in so dangerous a condition. An official investigation will follow, and it is believed that it will in every respect be thorough and impartial. The several acts of assembly for the safety of the men employed in the mines of this state provide ample machinery for an investigation and the proper authorities will doubtless see to it that the provisions of the law are put into full operation in this most distressing case.

Drowning Probable.

It is learned from some of the miners coming out of the shaft that water has been pouring into the pit since yesterday. Near this shaft runs the Lackawana and Susquehanna rivers and what is also known as the river wash, which is located on the surface. The cave being just under this wash has affected the surface to such an extent that water is pouring into the shaft. If the men have not been killed by the falling of the mine roof, they certainly have been drowned. Fissures can be seen on the surface and no little excitement prevails in the neighborhood of the ill-fated shaft.

WANT HIM TO REMAIN.

Efforts To Induce Minister Romero To Withdraw His Resignation.

City of Mexico, June 30.—A movement is on foot in the American colony to induce Senor Romero, the Mexican minister to Washington, to withdraw his resignation, on the ground that he is the best and most acceptable minister Mexico ever had there. It is believed that the difficulty, which was caused by an article on the Guatamalan boundary question, published by an official journal, will be smoothed over, as the Mexican government is anxious to retain his services.

Pennsylvania Railroad Statement.

Philadelphia, June 30.—The Pennsylvania Railroad company's statement of comparison of earnings and expenses for the month of May and five months of 1896 with the same periods of 1895 just issued is as follows: Pennsylvania railroad, lines directly operated: Gross earnings month of May, increase, $40,100; five months, increase, $629,300. Expenses month of May, increase, $140,800; five months, increase, $789,100. Net earnings month of May, decrease, $100,700; five months, decrease, $159,800.

Appointed by Gov. Coffin.

Hartford, June 30.—Gov. Coffin has appointed James H. Webb of Hamden to be a member of the board of control of the Connecticut Agricultural society for three years from July 1. He also appointed Fred W. Mills deputy judge of the town court of Manchester until February 1, 1897.

Jameson's Brother Killed.

London, June 30.—The Standard to-day publishes a dispatch from Buluwayo saying that a brother of Dr. Jameson, the leader of the raid in the Transvaal, is among those who have been killed by the Matabeles.

AS BARKER VIEWS IT

How the Gold Men Can Be Defeated Next Fall.

THE BIMETALLISTS MUST UNITE

Enough Votes Can Be Drawn from the Republican, Democratic and Populist Parties To Insure Victory for a Silver Candidate, He Declares.

Philadelphia, June 30.—Wharton Barker, who has announced himself as a candidate for the nomination for the presidency, gives to the press the following statement: "If I read the signs of the times aright, Mr. Whitney's threatened bolt will not swerve the purpose of true leaders of the democratic party, of those men who are patriots, not partisans, who have the welfare of the producing classes at heart and who revolt at the prospect of continued subserviency to the money cliques. The fall in prices that is sapping the wealth of our producing classes, that is bankrupting our manufacturers, ruining our farmers and reducing our wage-earning classes to poverty must be checked, and it can only be checked by removing the cause. That cause is the appreciation of gold consequent on discarding silver and throwing on gold alone the burden of effecting the exchanges of the western world, and to check this appreciation we must restore silver to its place as money side by side with gold.

Whitney's Words Paraphrased.

"To paraphrase the words of Mr Whitney this is a time when all men who love their country must stand together to avert the impoverish want of our peoducing classes, check the transfer of the wealth of the industrial classes into the hands of the few through the agency of an appreciating dollar that requires the repayment of two dollars' worth of produce to meet interest and principal, where justice requires but one, and to prevent the virtual enslaving of our producing classes to an oligarchy of wealth. Mr. Whitney tells us to pay our debts in anything but gold will be dishonest and dishonorable. On the contrary to require the payment of our debts with two hundred cent dollars is confiscation. It is not a question of repudiation, but confiscation. Justice requires that where one dollar is borrowed one be repaid. The gold contractionists demand that for every dollar borrowed the creditor shall have the right to exact a dollar in payment of interest and principle worth double the dollar loaned. This is not honest; it is dishonest, it is confiscation. Dishonesty lies at the door of the gold contractionists, not of the bimetallists.

No Time for Compromise.

"Truly this is no time for compromise; no time for partisanship. There are but two parties; a gold party, the party of an appreciating, a two hundred cent, a dishonest dollar, and a bimetalic party, the party of justice, equity and honesty between creditor and debtor. In joining the republicans and supporting Major McKinley, Mr. Whitney and the gold democrats will but join the camp to which they belong, for the republican party has declared its subserviency to the dictation of the creditor classes of Great Britain as to its financial policy, it has declared its advocacy of the gold standard, of a measure of value that has doubled the burden of all debts, that is enriching our foreign creditors and impoverishing our people.

Says McKinley Can Be Defeated.

"If the democrats are wise, if they will adopt a platform and nominate a candidate who will be a platform himself, who stands for the restoration of silver to its place as money, for financial and industrial, as well as political independence, as opposed to subserviency to foreign money cliques and their American allies, such candidate will receive the enthusiastic support of bimetallists of all parties and will be chosen by the people as their leader by an overwhelming majority, for the bolt in the democratic party will be infinitesimal compared to the great number of populists and bimetallists, heretofore republicans, who will loyally and enthusiastically support such a candidate. If the leaders of the democratic party at Chicago will act so as to unite the bimetallists of all parties, democrats, populists and republicans, Major McKinley and the money clique will, I repeat, be overwhelmingly defeated."

Gen. Stevenson in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, June 30.—Vice-President Stevenson passed through Philadelphia yesterday on his way to Washington whence he will go to Chicago. The vice-president came to Philadelphia from Cape May on the special train which brought the journalists of Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia, who have for the past few days been enjoying a sojourn at the seaside. He did not care to be interviewd, and declined to talk about public questions.

Two Men Killed by a Train.

Elkton, Md., June 30.—Southbound train No. 1 yesterday ran into a gang of laborers on the tracks of the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore railroad near Fortheast, instantly killing John Sheckenbaugh and William Sylvester.

Fitzsimmons Willing To Fight Sharkey.

London, June 30.—Bob Fitzsimmons, the pugilist, says he will accept a challenge from Sharkey, the California sailor, without delay and upon any terms.

Treasury Gold Reserve.

Washington, June 30.—The treasury gold reserve at the opening of business to-day stood at $101,322,393. Yesterday's withdrawals were $824,300, of which $750,000 were for export.

Advice about the Treatment of Coughs and Colds.

Constitutional Treatment to Prevent the Recurrence of These Dangerous Ailments.

A person may be very wealthy and yet not be inclined to give away any of his property. Lawyers who have great knowledge of the law are not noted for giving service for nothing. Physicians are known to be generous to the poor, yet they will not serve everybody free. Even the wealthy railroad companies, who could so easily and quickly carry us to our distant friends, will not do so without first receiving our dollars and cents. But there is one thing everybody has and everybody is anxious to give some of it to everybody else. We mean, advice. It is so cheap, and we never miss what we give away. Therefore, we follow the custom and give you some advice.

Do not neglect your cold. You may need no medicine for it, but do not neglect it. When first taken, try and break it up. Take a hot foot-bath; drink a bowl full of hot lemonade or ginger tea, get into bed, cover up well, and let the body perspire. Be very careful the next day. If the cold hangs on, or if one cold quickly follows another, then something more is needed. Constitutional treatment is necessary. This is especially true if your health is frail, or if there is a tendency to weak lungs in the family. Sore throats and colds inflame the delicate membrane which lines the throat, and which continues directly down into the bronchial tubes and lungs. One attack predisposes to another, and a slight attack invites another more serious. The best preventive to serious lung affections is to keep all the air passages in a healthy condition. Therefore, do not neglect an acute cough or cold. This is our advice, which is given freely.

But it will cost you fifty cents to procure a small bottle, and one dollar for a large bottle, of the remedy we recommend, which is Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites. It cures acute attacks, and thus prevents chronic ones. It builds up the tissues, invigorates the nervous system, and prepares the body to resist disease. The system only needs some such aid at the right time in order to completely master the germs of consumption, preventing them gaining a firm foothold in the lungs. One bottle taken in season will often accomplish as much as five bottles taken later.

Scott's Emulsion has been indorsed by the medical profession for twenty years. Ask your doctor. Because it is always palatable—always uniform—always contains the purest Norwegian Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites. Insist on Scott's Emulsion with trademark of man and fish. Put up in 50c. and $1.00 sizes. The small size may be enough to cure your cough or help your baby.

PLAGUES IN CUBA.

Yellow Fever and Smallpox Very Prevalent at Many Points.

Washington, June 30.—Advices received by Surgeon-General Wyman of the marine hospital service from Santiago de Cuba state that there are over 100 cases of smallpox in that city. There are a number of families down with it within 300 feet of the United States consulate. The officer making the report states that the whole south coast of Cuba, from Cienfuegos to Baracoa, is a "plague spot of smallpox," and he advises the quarantine officers in the United States to be on guard to prevent the transmission of the disease to this country. Dr. Henry S. Caminero, sanitary inspector of the marine hospital, in his report on the sanitary condition of Santiago for the week ended June 20, says that the total number of deaths was eighty-six. Of these thirty-nine were from smallpox and five from yellow fever. "Smallpox," he says, "is now raging epidemically, the total number of cases as far as known reaching up to about 900. The authorities and citizens are doing all in their power to prevent its ravages as far as possible. Commission and committees have been organized to succor the poor with medicines and food. Yellow fever is also on the increase this week and affections of the intestinal canal are also very common. Malaria, as usual, is causing many deaths. A large shipment of raw hides was prevented on account of non-compliance with the law which orders such material to be thoroughly disinfected." In response to a cablegram of inquiry United States Consul Brice, stationed at Matanzas, Cuba, has notified the marine hospital service that there is no cholera there. He states, however, that yellow fever is prevalent among the troops and one case of smallpox is reported in the city.

INTERESTING TO AMERICANS.

Unveiling of a Memorial Stone in a Lincolnshire, England, Church.

London, June 30.—The town of Gainsborough, in Lincolnshire, was the scene yesterday of a ceremony of interest to Americans. This was the unveiling of a memorial stone in the John Robinson church, so named after the Rev. John Robinson, "Pastor of the Pilgrim Fathers," who after severing his connections with the Established church in 1604 connected himself with a body of dissenters in Gainsborough. Among those present were the Hon. Thomas F. Bayard, the American ambassador, and the American pilgrims who recently arrived in England for the purpose of visiting scenes of interest connected with the pilgrims. When Mr. Bayard arrived he was presented with an address of welcome by the municipal council, in reply to which he repeated the sentiments heretofore expressed by him, and said that the entente between the United States and Great Britain was strengthened by such occasions as the present, which assisted in smoothing any difficulties between them. He added that if there was anything unpatriotic in the sentiments he gave voice to he was willing to meet and answer any charge that might be made against them. At luncheon, after the toast of "The Queen" had been drunk, Earl Brownlow, lord-lieutenant of Lincolnshire, proposed the toast "The President of the United States," to which Ambassador Bayard made a felicitous response.

MANY FAMILIES HOMELESS.

Fierce Forest Fires Sweeping Over Northern Newfoundland.

St. Johns, N. F., June 30.—Dreadful forest fires are sweeping over the northern portion of this island. On Friday twenty families were rendered homeless at Botwoodville and the extensive saw mills there were barely saved. On Saturday night Pilley's island was swept by fire. The Methodist church, court house, Salvation Army barracks and thirty-five houses were destroyed. The mining property, including a magazine containing a large quantity of dynamite and blasting powder, was saved with the greatest difficulty. Women and children, almost naked, had to seek refuge in open boats in the harbor. The government is sending relief.

LEADERS GATHERING

Chicago Already Assumes Appearance of a Convention City.

LINING UP FOR THE MONETARY BATTLE

Silver Men with Tons of Literature Already on the Ground—Convention Hall Will Be Ready Tomorrow

Chicago, June 30.—Contrary to the established rule of such occasions, the generals of the great political battle to be fought out next week are arriving in advance of the rank and file. Senator Jones of Arkansas came in late last night, and this morning Col. Towles of Missouri, secretary of the bimetallic democratic national committee, opened up headquarters at the Sherman house. Comptroller of the Currency Eckels led the list of morning arrivals at the Palmer house and was closely followed by John F. Shaffroth, the republican silver congressman from the first district of Colorado. At the Auditorium annex the first signs of the Bland boom became evident with the arrival of George W. Allen, one of the delegates-at-large from Missouri, who was joined later by Nicholas P. Bell, John A. Knott and J. T. Bradshaw, constituting the executive committee of the Bland forces. Gov. Stone, with Moses C. Wetmore, the millionaire tobacco merchant, will be here to-day. A carload of literature concerning the public career and the speeches of the Missouri advocate of the white metal is being unloaded and will be at once put into circulation. There will be two Bland headquarters, one at the Auditorium annex and the other at the Palmer house. Naturally enough the headquarters of the bimetallic democratic national committee at the Sherman house is the chief centre of interest. A hundred men worked yesterday on the speaker's platform and arranging seats in the Coliseum for the national democratic convention. The hall will be ready to-morrow. The greater part of the work has been done. The platform will be finished to-day, a small army of men will arrange the 15,000 chairs. A test made yesterday showed that the acoustics of the hall are good. An emphatic "Mr. Chairman" was heard distinctly from one side to the other of the great room. To-day the decorators turned themselves loose.

COAST DEFENSES.

Work of Fortification at Various Points To Begin To-morrow.

Washington, June 20.—The work of constructing the coast defenses authorized by congress will begin with the fiscal year July 1. Preliminary arrangements for carrying out the projects contemplated have been made by Gen. Craighill, the chief of engineers, and one-half of the $5,000,000 available under the law will be expended immediately under plans already approved. The remaining amount will be expended by contract. All important points along the Atlantic coast and the Gulf of Mexico from Portland, Me., to Galveston, Tex., and on the Pacific coast from Puget sound and the mouth of the Columbia river and San Diego, Cal., will be fortified under the present arrangement. As soon as these projects are under way, bids for the work to be done by contract will be called for.

War Department Publications.

Washington, June 30.—In consequence of numerous applications for the publications of the war department military information division it is announced that all the past editions are exhausted. In the future the division will not undertake a reply to an applicant in case his request cannot be favorably considered. The limited number (1,000 copies) of future publications, as fixed by law, will not permit more than a very restricted distribution. It will not even warrant copies for many army officers of high rank.

Death of George C. Fenton.

Washington, June 30.—George C. Fenton, until recently chief of the appointment division postoffice department, died here yesterday of consumption, after an illness of six months. Mr. Fenton was prominent in Indiana, having at one time been sheriff of Jefferson county. He served throughout the war and was a member of the G. A. R.

Six Persons Seriously Injured.

Jersey City, June 30.—A collision between an open trolley car and a loaded brewery wagon occurred yesterday afternoon at the junction of Communipaw avenue and Grand street, which resulted in the serious injury of six persons, the wrecking of the car and the killing of one of the horses attached to the brewery wagon.

Freedman Upheld.

Pittsburg, June 30.—The board of directors of the National league held a meeting in this city yesterday afternoon and decided that the fine of $100 imposed on pitcher Amos Rusie last year at Baltimore for alleged drunkenness by President Freedman of the New York club was just and proper.

Foster M. Voorhees seems to have dropped out of political sight in the last few weeks.

Franklin Murphy will probably remain chairman of the Republican State Committee.

Sheriff George Kyte looms up most prominently as the most probable candidate for Senator on the Republican county ticket.

The band concerts provide a happy feature of summer life in this city. The more of this class of public amusement we enjoy the better it will be for the city.

Garret A. Hobart is waving the wand of harmony in the camp of the Republicans over in New York. They evidently need some sort of harmonizing influence.

The delegates from this Congressional district to the National Democratic convention at Chicago are Fred C. Marsh, of Elizabeth, and Thomas F. Noonan, of Bayonne.

The News' publication of the report that the trolley would soon invade Washington Park was read with smiles by the boroughites who reside in that section. The trolley will not hum in Washington Park in many a day.

OBSERVATIONS ON TELEGRAMS.

J. E. Martine Draws a Striking Example of How McKinley's Nomination is Received

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—The following telegram from Carnegie and his friend to McKinley, speaks volumes:

Paris, June 19, 1896.
Carnegie joins in heartiest congratulations. Feeling that prosperity is now assured for our Republic. KING.

But what say the scores of widows and orphans whose husbands and father were shot down at Carnegie's "Homestead Mills" because they rebelled at the tyranous exactions and reductions of wages, until the pittance of wages would scarcely buy bread and butter. Reader, you find no congratulatory telegram from them.

New York, June 19.
Accept my heartiest congratulations on your nomination. McKinley and Hobart will sweep the country.
DAVID L. EINSTEIN,
President Raritan Woollen Mills.

Hoboken, N. J., June 19.
At dock arriving from Europe. Hearty congratulations. JOHN WANAMAKER.

Nor from the poor workmen of the Raritan shoddy mills who, blackened and begrimed with the filth of the rags they handle to pour wealth into the pockets of David L. Einstein, while receiving wages that scarcely keep American women (their employes) from a life of shame. Oh! No! None from these. Mr. McKinley, get all the satisfaction from these telegrams you can. The poor workmen and women, wage earners, who pay tribute in sweat and toil to the false doctrine and demagogy of protection, can get none. J. E. M.

A POPULAR EXCURSION.

The Central to Run a Special Trip to Mauch Chunk on the Fourth.

Mauch Chunk is the most popular one-day resort within the same distance of New York. The Central Railroad of New Jersey always runs a popular low-rate excursion from New York on July 4th, stopping at this city to take on passengers. No better way could be chosen to spend a holiday than a trip of this kind, made as it is through a region whose attractions are as varied as they are beautiful. The tourist need not take along any lunch, unless preferable to do so, as a lunch car will be attached to train from which food can be obtained at a reasonable price. One of the interesting points reached is old Mauch Chunk on the Lehigh River. The Switchback Railroad is always a great attraction for excursionist. It extends nine miles up and down hill and its trains return to the point of starting and run by gravity. Glen Onoko is one of the most romantic spots to be conceived of. It contains a beautiful cascade, shady walks, with here and there a rustic bench, cool grottoes, and steep inclines that almost challenge the explorer to pursue his way. Train leaves here at a desirable hour and returns in good season in the evening.

Rheumatism Cured in a Day.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by continually failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists, 75c.

It would be hard to convince a man suffering from bilious colic that his agony is due to a microbe with an unpronouncable name. But one dose of DeWitt's Colic and Cholera Cure will convince him of its power to afford instant relief. It kills pain. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

Mr James Perdue, an old soldier residing at Monroe, Mich., was severely afflicted with rheumatism but received prompt relief from pain by using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says; "At times my back would ache so badly that I could hardly raise up. If I had not gotten relief I would not be here to write these few lines. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done me a great deal of good and I feel very thankful for it." For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Druggist.

"Wake up, Jacob, day is breaking!" so said De Witt's Little Early Risers to the man who had taken them to arouse his sluggish liver. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

Customer— I want a remedy for catarrh.

Drug Clerk—All right, sir. Here's a blood tonic that is advertised to build up the constitution.

Customer— Young man, do you think I'm going to dose myself with a blood tonic for months, just on the chance of it doing me some good? Not much! I want immediate relief; besides, catarrh is a local affection, and no tonic or blood purifier ever made can cure it. Here's 50 cents. Let me have Ely's Cream Balm. It's the only thing I know of to cure catarrh.

THEATRICAL.

DeWolf Hopper and his excellent company are still in "El Capitan," at the Broadway Theatre, New York city. The opera has scored a prodigious success The size of the audiences ever since the opening night has been simply phenomenal, and if the present nightly average is kept up for the next four weeks the run of "El Capitan" will be the most profitable, as well as the largest in general attendance, in the history of comic opera at this theatre. The beauty of the production, with its wealth of superb scenery and gorgeous costumes, is a source of constant delight to the auditor, and the performance in its entirety, being a most admirable one, stands the test of several visits. The interior of the theatre has been completely tranformed, and in its summer dress is fully prepared for summer weather. The cool and comfortable rattan chairs have replaced the plush ones, and the huge cooling apparatus, which forces fifteen thousand cubic feet of cool air into the big auditorium every minute, has again been brought into requisition. These two great features, together with its numerous and spacious exits, as well as its perfect ventilation, combine to make the Broadway Theatre an extremely pleasant place to spend the hottest summer night.

THE ADVANCE AGENT.

Most Useful Character in a Traveling Theatrical Company.

How One of the Brotherhood Floated Himself, His Manager and an Aggregation of Decidedly Questionable Merit.

[Special New York Letter.]

The manager of the Hard-Boiled Egg Comedy company, which came to grief out in Nebraska last December, has pulled himself together after three months of lively hustling, and has organized his ninth annual summer snap. The three servant girls who contributed the sum total of their savings for the privilege of being advertised as leading lady, ingenue and soubrette, respectively, of the Hard-Boiled Egg aggregation, have consented to hold similar positions in the summer snap enterprise. There were plenty of applicants for the other positions in the company of actors; but when it came to getting hold of a really desirable man for advance agent the manager began to fear that he would have to do his own advance work.

AT FIGHTING PITCH.

"I found it difficult to reconcile myself to the idea," he said, confiding his difficulty to a dramatic agent of his acquaintance. "You see I am not the man I once was. I am getting along in years. I can remember the time when I liked nothing better than having a scrap with a gang of unruly bill posters, but that time is past. It is as much as I can stand nowadays to stay back with the company and make the regulation bluff on salary days.

"I suppose you remember when I was ahead of Van Dusenberg's circus? Well, that experience was the most valuable of my lifetime. The concern had no end of money, but they had their ideas about developing the highest type of advance man. I had never done any work of the kind. When I applied for the job I simply put up the most astounding bluff I was capable of. So they put me in charge of a bill car and told me to go ahead. I supposed they had forgotten to provide me with money for expenses, so I mentioned the matter. The old man gave me a queer look over his glasses and told the treasurer to give me seven dollars. But I was game and said to myself that there was nothing the matter with the telegraph wires when it came to needing a couple of hundred in a hurry.

"At the end of a week I was 500 miles away from headquarters and stone broke. I felt that I was doing good work, so I sent a rush dispatch for a hundred to be forwarded to my next town. I reached the next town all right, which is more than I can say for the hundred. Thinking there was some mistake, and knowing the concern to be good for any amount, I drew on my folks at home and kept on with my work, making it a point, though, at each town I struck, to send a collect message demanding money. At the end of six weeks I had doubled back to within 50 miles of the show. I had sent 20 or 30 collect messages and had received absolutely nothing in response—not even a jolly. I tell you I was hot. I took the train next morning fully decided to bust up that show, and you can bet your life it was a stiff talk I gave the old man when I arrived. He merely looked over his glasses at me in his exasperating way and wanted to know what I had done with the seven dollars I had started out with.

"Well, you ought to have heard me then! If anybody ever got a tongue-lashing that outfit got one right then and there. When I got worked up to a fighting pitch and told them all to come on, one at a time or all at once, whichever way suited them best, the old man got up and said he guessed we'd better go and have some lunch. There were only three of us—the old man and I and the treasurer—but if that lunch didn't cost $15 it didn't cost a cent. When we had finished it the old man put his hand in his vest pocket and pulled out five $100 bills, which he handed me, and what do you suppose he said?

"'I thought you'd do,' said he, 'but I wanted to make sure. There's nothing like putting a young fellow on his mettle in this business. Go and take up your I O U's, wherever they are, and let us know when you need more money. There won't be any trouble about it after this.'

"Then I saw the point. You can bet your life I never said a word about having drawn on my folks."

The manager sighed and said that times were not what they once were. Nowadays, he said, between themselves, not to let it go any further, it was ten to one that the advance agent would never be able to take up his I O U's. The worst of it was, nobody any longer had any use for that kind of paper.

The dramatic agent gave his thigh a sudden slap and exclaimed:

"Why didn't I think of him before? I've the very man you want," and he rang the bell on his desk.

The office boy responded and was told to go out and find Fisher.

"Right on hand," said a thin, nervous-looking young fellow, sticking his head in at the door. "What's wanted?"

Fisher was introduced to the manager, and negotiations at once began.

"Ever been ahead of a summer snap?" demanded the latter, bluntly.

"Brought up on 'em," replied Fisher. "It's the only sort of a show that's really interesting—to the man ahead."

"Of course, we are not overburdened with capital, and—"

"You mean you're doing the whole thing on wind," interrupted the nervous man. "You can't have money and a summer snap at the same time. The two won't mix. So let's confine ourselves to the bare facts."

"Well, the first bare fact is that if I can get the company to the first town it will be a miracle."

"Nonsense; you leave that to me."

"How will you do it?"

"How far is it to the first town?"

"Thirty miles."

"Three times 30 is 90—have you got a dollar about you?"

The manager took a silver dollar from his pocket, kissed it and laid it down on the table just out of the other's reach.

"First rate," said the agent. "That will get me to the first town and that settles it."

"How?" said the manager.

"You've got a layout of bills haven't you?"

"Yes."

"Well, I'll stick them up, and then I'll get notices in the papers saying the show is straight from New York with the special indorsement of the Astors and Vanderbilts, and then I'll canvass the town for a guaranty fund. If I can't get the real signatures I'll fake 'em. Then I'll take the subscription list to the railway company and sing my song. When they see the guaranty I'll give 'em—on paper—they'll send you on in a special train."

The manager rose and clasped the agent in his arms, saying:

"Why didn't we meet a dozen years ago? In that case the world would have been ours. But, tell me, supposing there isn't enough money in the house to pay the railway fares and the hotel bill. What then?"

"Why that's dead easy," said the agent. "Before you arrive I will have moved on to the next town, and—"

"But hold on, how will you pay your own hotel bill?"

"I'll have it charged to you to be paid with your own and the company's bills."

"Great head. Well, and then?"

"Well while I'm giving the next town the same song and dance you settle up with the railroad, pay your hotel bills—"

"But supposing there isn't enough left to pay the hotel bills?"

"Why, in that case you simply invite the landlord to go on with you to the next town and get his money from the receipts."

"WHY, THAT'S DEAD EASY."

"And supposing we're in the same fix at the next town?"

"Well, what's to hinder your taking that landlord along with you, too? Landlords are overworked, anyway. They'll enjoy their outing."

"Ah," said the delighted manager, "I see that you know your business. The chances are that inside of a month we will have more landlords than actors in the company."

"Well," said the agent, "we'll be eating and drinking in the meantime, won't we? What more can you ask in these hard times?"

"True, but supposing the actors strike for their salaries?"

"Discharge them and put the landlords in rehearsal. Make 'em earn their living."

Without further words the manager handed over the silver dollar, and the summer snap organization was complete. CURTIS DUNHAM.

Those Idiotic Questions.

He was one of those men who are not really incredulous, but who seem so through an unfortunate inability to express their emotions as they feel them. He overheard some acquaintances in the hotel lobby discussing the demise of one Bill Brown, and immediately joined the group, whereupon the following conversation ensued:

"Did I understand you to say Bill Brown was dead?"

"Yep. Died Tuesday of last week."

"Is it possible?"

"Yes, that's right."

A short pause.

"So Bill Brown is dead? Well, well!"

"Yes, he's dead."

"Do you know I can scarcely believe it. Poor chap!"

Another pause.

"Poor Bill! I knew him well. So he's really dead, is he?"

"Well, if he ain't he's in a d—d bad position. I saw him buried."

The conversation ended very abruptly and the man who was not really incredulous moved off, looking hurt.—Philadelphia Record.

Cures Talk

"Cures talk" in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla, as for no other medicine. Its great cures recorded in truthful, convincing language of grateful men and women, constitute its most effective advertising. Many of these cures are marvelous. They have won the confidence of the people; have given Hood's Sarsaparilla the largest sales in the world, and have made necessary for its manufacture the greatest laboratory on earth. Hood's Sarsaparilla is known by the cures it has made—cures of scrofula, salt rheum and eczema, cures of rheumatism, neuralgia and weak nerves, cures of dyspepsia, liver and kidney troubles, catarrh and malaria.

Such Cures as This Prove Merit.

"My little nephew was a plump and healthy baby until a year and a half old, then sores broke out behind his ears and spread rapidly over his head, hands and body. A physician said the trouble was scrofula humor in the blood. The child became one complete sore. We had to restrain his hands to keep him from scratching the sores. We were induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and in a short time he had more life. He improved rapidly, his skin became entirely clear of sores and he is now a healthy child." MRS. FLORENCE ANDREWS, Clearfield, Iowa.

Delicate Dress Goods.

Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable, NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redyeing. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? Laundry drivers will receive your work.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN

The Park Club has placed through me the order for all the fireworks to be used in its exhibition on the Fourth.
They are representative business men who do not do business with their eyes shut.
Why did they place the order here instead of in New York?
Because they get just as many goods and at the same price as the finest estimate they had from the city.

M'KINLEY FOR GOLD

He Stands by the St. Louis Platform on Every Point.

NEEDS OF THE TIMES SET FORTH

An Open Declaration in His Speech Replying to the Address Officially Notifying Him of His Nomination.

Canton, O., June 30.—The republican notification committee, having finished its business here and departed, the excitement attending its presence has somewhat subsided, although its visit to this city will long be a theme of conversation for the inhabitants. Major McKinley received the committee standing on the veranda. The streets about the house were filled with men, women and children, who surged through the gates and pressed close up to chairs where the committee and guests sat. Senator Thurston, as chairman of the committee, made the speech of notification. In it he likened the people of the country to the "scourged and repentant Israelites of old, who adjured their idols and resumed unquestioning alliance to Moses and the God of Moses. Even so the people who scorned your counsels speedily witnessed the fulfillment of your prophecies and turn to you and to those glorious principles for which you stand, in the full belief that in your candidacy and the republican platform the end of the wilderness has come, and the promised land of American prosperity is again to them an insured inheritance."

Major McKinley's Reply.

In reply, Major McKinley spoke, in part, as follows: "To be selected as the presidential candidate by a great party convention, representing so vast a number of the people of the United States, is a most distinguished honor, for which I would not conceal my high appreciation, although deeply sensible of the great responsibilities of the trust and my inability to bear them without the generous and constant support of my fellow-countrymen. Great as is the honor conferred, equally arduous and important is the duty imposed, and in accepting the one I assume the other, relying upon the patriotic devotion of the people to the best interests of our beloved country and the sustaining care and aid of Him, without whose support all we do is empty and vain. Should the people ratify the choice of the great convention for which you speak, my only aim will be to promote the public good, which in America is always the good of the greatest number, the honor of our country and the welfare of the people.

Great Issues Involved.

"Great are the issues involved in the coming election, and eager and earnest the people for their right determination. Our domestic trade must be won back, and our idle working people employed in gainful occupations at American wages. Our home market must be restored to its proud rank of first in the world, and our foreign trade, so precipitately cut off by adverse national legislation, reopened on fair and equitable terms to our surplus agricultural and manufacturing products. Protection and reciprocity, twin measures of a true American policy, should again command the earnest encouragement of the government at Washington. Public confidence must be resumed, and the skill, the energy and capital of the country find ample employment at home, sustained, encouraged and defended against the unequal competition and serious disadvantages with which they are now contending. The government of the United States must raise enough money to meet both its current expenses and increasing needs. Its revenues should be so raised as to protect the material interests of our people, with the lightest possible drain upon their resources, and maintain that high standard of civilization which has distinguished our country for more than a century of its existence. The income of the government, I repeat, should equal its necessary and proper expenditures. A failure to pursue this policy has compelled the government to borrow money, in a time of peace, to sustain its credit and to pay its daily expenses. This policy should be reversed, and that, too, as speedily as possible.

The National Credit.

"The national credit, which has thus far fortunately resisted every assault upon it, must be upheld and strengthened. If sufficient revenues are provided for the support of the government, there will be no necessity for borrowing money and increasing the public debt. The complaint of the people is not against the administration for borrowing money and issuing bonds to preserve the credit of the country, but against the ruinous policy which has made this necessary, owing to the policy which has been inaugurated. The inevitable effect of such a policy is seen in the deficiency in the United States treasury, except as it is replenished by loans, and in the distress of the people who are suffering because of the scant demand for either labor and the products of their labor. The party that supplied, by legislation, the vast revenues for the conduct of our greatest war, that promptly restored the credit of the country at its close, that from its abundant revenues paid off a large share of the debt incurred in that war, and that resumed specie payments and placed our paper currency upon a sound and enduring basis, can be safely trusted to preserve both our credit and currency with honor, stability and inviolability. The American people hold the financial honor of our government as sacred as our flag, and can be relied upon to guard it with the same sleepless vigilance. They hold its preservation above party fealty, and have often demonstrated that party ties avail nothing when the spotless credit of our country is threatened. The money of the United States, and every kind or form of it, whether of paper, silver or gold, must be as good as the best in the world. It must not only be current at its full face value at home, but it must be counted at par in any and every commercial centre of the globe. The dollar paid to the farmer, the wage earner and the pensioner must continue forever equal in purchasing and debt paying power to the dollar paid to any government creditor.

This Year's Contest.

"The contest this year will not be waged upon lines of theory and speculation, but in the light of severe practical experience and new and deadly acquired knowledge. The great body of our citizens know what they want and that they intend to have. They know for what the republican party stands and what its return to power means to them. The platform adopted by the republican national convention has received my careful consideration and has my unqualified approval. It is a matter of gratification to me, as I am sure it must be to you and republicans everywhere, and to all our people, that the expressions of its declaration of principles are so direct, clear and emphatic. They are too plain and positive to leave any chance for doubt or question as to their purport and meaning. But you will not expect me to discuss its provisions at length or in any detail at this time. It will, however, be my duty and pleasure at some future day to make to you, and through you to the great party you represent, a more formal acceptance of the nomination tendered me."

THEODORE D. WILSON DEAD.

Former Chief Constructor of the Navy Expires Suddenly at Boston.

Boston, June 30.—Theodore D. Wilson, formerly chief constructor of the navy, died suddenly here yesterday, the result of heat stroke received while superintending the docking of the monitor Passaic. Theodore Delevan Wilson was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., May 11, 1840, and served an apprenticeship as shipswright in the navy yard there, at the beginning of the civil war, becoming a carpenter in the navy, from which grade he rose steadily to the position of chief naval constructor in 1872. In the latter office he had charge of the design and construction of most of the new navy until three years ago, when he was compelled to take a leave of absence on account of failing health. Last July, upon partial recovery, he was given active duty at Boston. Constructor Wilson was for many years senior officer of his corps, and almost as well known in naval circles abroad as in this country. He was the first American to be elected a member of English Institute of Naval Architects, and has always been prominent in scientific societies. His work on "Ship Building, Theoretical and Practical," is the text book at the naval academy and quoted as authority by the profession generally. He leaves a widow, two daughters and two sons, the elder of the latter being a surgeon in the navy.

REV. DR. FREEMAN'S JUBILEE.

To-night's Exercises Will Exceed Anything Ever Given in Rockland County.

Haverstaw, N. Y., June 30.—The exercises to-night in celebration of the golden jubilee of Rev. Dr. A. S. Freeman's pastorate of the Central Presbyterian church will exceed anything given in Rockland county. The civic parade will be composed of all the local societies, firemen and citizens. The meeting in the Opera house will be presided over by Gen. J. M. Hedges, and eminent speakers will make addresses. Arrangements have been made to hold an overflow meeting in the church. Last night's services were conducted by the Sunday school and Christian Endeavor societies. Addresses were made by J. D. Hopkins, Alonzo Bedell, D. A. Melvin, Alonzo Wheeler and Rev. Dr. C. L. Thompson of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian church, New York. Recitations were given by Miss West and Miss Ethel Wheeler. The choir sang the "Hallelujah chorus" by Handel, and there were several duets and choruses. The church was crowded and the floral decorations were exquisite. Telegrams of congratulation have been received from all over the country by the aged minister. One was also received from Asia Minor.

Charles Field Haviland Dead.

Washington, June 30.—The department of state is informed by Walter T. Griffin, United States commercial agent at Limoges, France, of the death of Charles Field Haviland, an American citizen who went to Limoges in the year 1851, became interested in the manufacture of China, built up a large trade with the United States and continued in the same business until his death. He died at his country seat, Mas-Marvent, near Limoges, on June 12, in the 64th year of his age.

Big Mills To Shut Down.

Lawrence, Mass., June 30.—Notices have been posted in the Pemberton mills announcing a shutdown from July 3 to Sept. 9. The mills employ 900 hands and manufacture awnings, towelings and fancy cottens. The announcement states that the management will take advantage of dull trade to make improvements. The Pemberton mills are practically owned by the Nevins family of Boston.

Was a New York Dressmaker.

New York, June 30.—Mrs. S. M. McKeen, who is reported to have committed suicide at the Hotel Lafayette, Philadelphia, formerly lived at 20 West 24th street, in this city, where she used to keep a dressmaking establishment.

SPORTS

TUESDAY, June 30. Sun rises 4:29 a. m., sets 7:34 p. m. Lanterns must be lighted between 8:34 p. m. and 3:29 a. m.

Cyclists desiring to join the League of American Wheelmen will be furnished with application blanks and necessary information by addressing the Cycling Department of the Daily Press.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Ex-Professional Bren, the well-known racer, was in town today calling on friends.

E. Cole, of East Front strset, is riding a new Relay wheel, which he recently purchased.

W. E. Hultz, captain of the Harlem Wheelmen, visited F. L. C. Martin on Sunday.

The New Market Cycle Club, composed mostly of young women, enjoyed a spin to Metuchen last night.

Frank Richards and Harry Woltmann expect to ride in the bicycle races of the Boonton Athletic Club on July 4th.

The cycle run of young people from Trinity Reformed church will take place this evening. The start will be made at 7 o'clock.

Mrs. Rowland Cox, of West Seventh street, gives a tea this afternoon from 4 until 7 o'clock in honor of her daughter, Miss Fannie.

Quite a party of bicyclists, under the command of Robert M. Clark, enjoyed a run from Washingtonville and return last evening.

Herbert Moore, of Grove street, and Edward F. Randolph, of West Eighth street, went to Boynton Beach on their wheels today, for the day.

Charles VanMiddlesworth has been compelled to give up bicycle riding on account of his health. Mr. VanMiddlesworth only recently purchased a brand-new wheel.

Rev. Father Murphy, of St. Mary's church, in company with about twelve boys from the Parochial School, enjoyed a cycling trip to New Brunswick yesterday afternoon.

Plainfield's army of lady cyclists has at last been recognized by the governing body of wheelmen in the country, the League of American Wheelmen, and Mrs. S. A. Cruikshank, of Belvidere avenue, has been appointed local consul.

AROUND THE BASES.

Fred Winn, of the Plainfield Athletic Club, is pitching fine ball.

The Plainfield Athletic Club make a fine appearance in their new uniforms.

The Plainfield Athletic Club has a very good shortstop in Sprowl, who covers a good deal of ground.

The picked nine from the Leal's School boys that was defeated at Somerville several weeks ago, will play the return game in this city on July 8th.

The Plainfield Athletic Club will play the Dunellen Athletic Club, at Dunellen, next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. A very interesting game is promised as both teams are considered very strong.

GOLF.

A meeting of the members of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club will be held at the clubhouse, Watchung avenue, on Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock, to decide whether or not the club shall be incorporated pursuant to the act of the Legislature of New Jersey, entitled "An act to incorporate boat clubs and other associations for the promotion of athletic exercises, approved April 21, 1876," and the acts amendatory thereof; and to transact other business.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

Henry Brown, of North Plainfield, ran an exhibition 100 yards and 220 yards at the Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon in the games of the Alis Athletic Association. A strong wind was blowing at his back. His time for the 100 yards was 10½ seconds and for the 220 yards 24 seconds.

LAWN TENNIS.

Rev. Mr. Johnston and Raymond Carroll will play Edward and William Loizeaux a match game of tennis this afternoon at 3 o'clock on the courts adjoining Grace M. E. church.

Rev. John DeWitt, D.D.

of the THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY, New Brunswick, N. J., writes: "I am satisfied that Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills are all right. They have mastered my case."

Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills.

Clergymen, college professors, physicians, and lawyers, universally find them, as do all others, the one great remedy for dyspepsia. Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills are scientifically prepared, and cure. That's why they have so large a sale. White wrapper if constipated, yellow if bowels are loose. Send for a free sample.

To Be Worked on Early Purchasers of

The Spalding Bicycle

After the adoption of our 1896 model and a careful estimate of the cost of manufacture, we placed the price on the Spalding Bicycle at $100. The price is now $100 and will continue at $100 throughout the season, no matter what other manufacturers may do.

We don't believe it is fair, honest or good business policy to sell a standard article like the Spalding Bicycle at one price in May and reduce its value in June by a material reduction in price. As a matter of common fairness to early purchasers of Spalding Bicycles and as an evidence of good faith on our part we will, in case of reduction in price during the season, send a rebate check to every purchaser of a Spalding Bicycle of the amount of any such reduction that may be made by us during the season. This is our meaning of a

GUARANTEE OF PRICE.

Ride the Spalding and you will be happy, contented and assured that you will not be "film-flammed" in price or quality.
